Buryat's Backstory

Buryat was born to Officer Matej Poglavnik and an Unknown woman in the coal-mining town of Vorkuta, Russia. Buryat's birth was planned ahead by Matej in an attempt to have genetically pure children, Growing up, Buryat was isolated from everyone so his father could put him through harsh military-like training in order to take advantage of his genetics. He never went to school nor leave the house, Matej disguise this as "homeschooling" for everyone in the town, At home, Matej dedicated himself to educate his son, in nothing but philosophy and fascist doctrine along with physical training. Buryat went through brutal physical training; crawling across gravel, punching trees till bleed and a variety of exercises in the tundra, all this while he was only 6 years old, by age 10 Buryat had already trained to fight feral dogs with nothing but a knife, these sessions gave him deeps scars on his body and cost him his left cheek who was poorly stitched together by his father, refusing to take him to a hospital. later in that day for disobedience, Matej poured boiled water in Buryat's face as punishment, leaving him scarred for life In 1994, his sister Katya was born, at this point of his life, his mother was slowly losing her sanity, when Katya grew old enough not needing to breastfeed, his mother escape and leave Matej alone with the kids. Ending his training at the age of 17, Buryat was completely brainwashed and inspired by his father, Buryat keep training and exercising because that was everything he knew. His relationship with Katya was always caring and protective since he was taught that his sister is the most valuable thing in life, his family, in 2012 Matej Poglavnik was murdered on his police cruiser, while this notice devastated his sister, he didn't cry or felt sad, but anger, and wanting vengeance for this act, especially since the murderer was an African refugee. From now on, Buryat would be the head of the home and be the one to put bread on the table, so he went to look for a job. since he didn't have any studies degree, getting a stable job would be hard, he managed to get some small part-time jobs as a security guard and after failing for weeks he finally got one at a sugar factory as a packager. In March, Katya found out about a far-right political party hosting a meet up the Russian Radical Front Party "RRFP" The day of the event comes, and Katya brings Buryat with her to meet the members of the party at dinner, he accepted. the event takes place in a popular high-class restaurant Buryat meet Anatoly and Miloš. Buryat finds out that the party's ideology was right-wing Libertarian, but that was just the look since Anatoly cleared that he was a neo-Nazi skinhead and he would try to fix the Russians "problem", with a clear motto "Russia for Russians". Anatoly found himself in private with Buryat to ask him to be his bodyguard, since he and his party started to get more popular and needed someone like him to protect him. Buryat tried to decline, but Anatoly told him that his sister has already talked about the financial problems and how much she wanted to be part of the party, Anatoly offer him good pay and membership for both of them if he accepted, after thinking it for a moment Buryat accepted, after that, they come back to the table and finish the dinner with the others.

The Poglavnik Sibling seems to enjoy being part of the party, Buryat because he earned more money than working on the factory and Katya for meeting up with other local skinheads on the town, Anatoly announced to the party, that the elections would take place in January of the next year if Anatoly wins the local elections that would help him be more close to the final goal of being a national political party. In January of 2013, the party loses the election with 73% of the differences between all the other political parties. The RRFP lost every chance of competing again. The party slowly dissolved into having nothing more than a few members, Anatoly call every one of them and give them a final speech and how he's planning on another group called "New Triumph Party" a blue version of the Blutfahne as a flag and use an old farmhouse near Promyshlennyi

While Katya was the "Commander" of the group, Buryat was the muscle, Torturing and assaulting people, he had the intimidation factor thanks to his muscular body and large height. Because of his training, Buryat had the advantage in a fight, something the Party used to have a reputation in the town By this time, the New Triumph Party started to take more drastic measures on the night, with a van, they drive around the refugee's camp and kidnap two Syrian Muslim teenagers, Because of the rape of a Russian teenage girl, later in the morning, the two of them were executed in the wood by Katya, while some members didn't really believe those were the accused of the rape, Buryat claimed that they where Muslims anyway and "Sooner or later they'll do the same" The days went by and they heard about another rapist, who they, once again, kidnap in the van and execute, this time, Katya behead him with a combat knife as revenge for the Tourist girl who was murdered Because these were refugees who didn't speak clearly the language, nobody notified them as missing until months later. Because of Anatoly, The group dig up the bodies and brought them to the farm's basement, and planned to dismember them without leaving any evidence, they left the bodies under a blanket in plain sight in the basement.

After some time, the whole group went back to the headquarter and find out from the outside that the house has been vandalizing it, they say broken windows and "nazi scum" paints everywhere this alert the group who went inside to see the damages, they found out that some people have been there, even a smell of gasoline in the house like someone would have planned to burn the place, after walking around for a moment they realize that the thugs were still on the house, at that moment 2 guys came running from the closet to the door trying to escape, but Buryat manage to catch them. One of them says that they're from a branch of "Antifa", that they wanted to burn the farm to the ground but didn't realize the Party was so dangerous, they found the bodies and quickly hide when they heard them come, they both begged for their life and swore to never speak about this again, crying Anatoly gave Buryat the order to kill them, this act was reprehensible since the 2 Antifa members were "just kids" Anatoly stated that they know too much, Buryat beat them both to death and the Members carry their body to the farm, now the "RRFP" has 5 bodies in their basement.

Now the party was paranoid and didn't have any idea on how to deal with the bodies, thinking someone will look for the teens, the days passed and one member who was guarding the farm notice 2 man trespassing, without hesitation he opened fire with a hunting rifle, this call the attention of all the group who went quickly to the arsenal, the two men start firing back at the sniper and took cover in the trees with the wounded man the gunfight lasted a short time, one of them was dead with a shot in the head, Katya and the other members approach the wounded man and his dead partner and discover that they were police officers, Katya quickly go to Anatoly and await orders. Anatoly has just signed his death sentence by killing a policeman on his property, he made the group take the wounded cop to the house and assist him in the basement, the wounded cop said they were looking after the disappeared refugees and thought they were hiding in the farm. Anatoly leave the wounded man in the basement with a group member guarding him and warned the group that they're in trouble, the group (obviously) split up and some ran away, so only Anatoly and 5 more members stayed in the house, including Buryat and Katya

The Party started to entrench the house, putting mattresses on the window and wardrobes on the door, everything that could delay an entry on the police, they'll not make it easy for the police, Anatoly was decided to not go on the jail, along with the other, so they lock the wounded police in the basement and wait for the rest of the cops to negotiate 25 hours passed and finally, the police surrounded the house, Anatoly (lying) said that they have children inside and don't try to use tear gas or anything to break inside, that the police officer is stable in the basement, but they're not letting him go till they remove the search charges and leave, clarifying that everything was in self-defense but the police were not there to negotiate, they wanted Anatoly and everyone inside to surrender, the party refused. the days pass and the siege continues, with the police surrounding the mountain and having snipers around the house, inside the group was still trying to negotiate, but at this point, they feared for their lives, in September of 2014, the siege lasted at least a week, the food supplies for the party were about to run dry, the wounded cop has fallen sick and needed professional attention, Anatoly decides, alongside 2 members and Buryat to carry the wounded cop to the entrance, and exchange him for their liberty (at this point Anatoly thought that the serious condition of the hostage would help him granting his demands), so they carry him to the garage of the house Inside the garage, they were discussing how they would leave him without making the police reduce them, that moment, a group member grabbed Anatoly's gun and pointed at his comrades, saying he was undercover all this time, the panic froze Anatoly, and catch off guard Buryat and the other member, the undercover member order Anatoly and the others to surrender. Buryat quickly tried to grab the gun from the undercover member but was shot dead in the head by this one, killing him instantly.
