Profile

Punk-Hippy Antifa Girl

Anita is a Portuguese-American resident for Pripyatory

She is a resident in Pripyat Purgatory.

PERSONALITY

- Loudmouth
- Stubborn
- Pot-head
- Extremist
- Hot-Headed
- Social Butterfly

Anita Taylor is a loud, volatile, and ideologically-driven resident of the afterlife. A self-proclaimed radical leftist and antifa warrior, Anita is known for her explosive temper, endless rants on class warfare, and violent outbursts... so long as no one swings back.

BACKGROUND

Born in a wealthy, gated community in LA, Anita's upbringing was anything but rough. Her father is Portuguese-American and part-owner of a Silicon Valley tech firm. Anita, despite her disdain for "nepo babies," is one herself. She attended university in California, studying vaguely defined liberal arts until she dropped out "on principle." Throughout her youth, she floated between dog-walking gigs, zine collectives, and protest circles. She idolized revolutionaries, fetishized unrest, and convinced herself that tweeting angry slogans made her part of the working class.

ANITA

Her home life was stable, yet Anita frequently brings up her allegedly abusive ex-boyfriends, using them to justify nearly all her poor behavior. To her, everything bad in her life is the result of “patriarchal systems” — except the things she does, which are “based and necessary.”

DEATH

Anita died during a protest in downtown LA. She was part of a left-wing dogpile attempt during a physical clash with counter-protesters. Charging in with her face half-covered and yelling “fascist pig!” she swung at someone in a MAGA hat. That someone punched back. Anita’s head struck the curb after a single blow, resulting in instant death.

AFTERLIFE

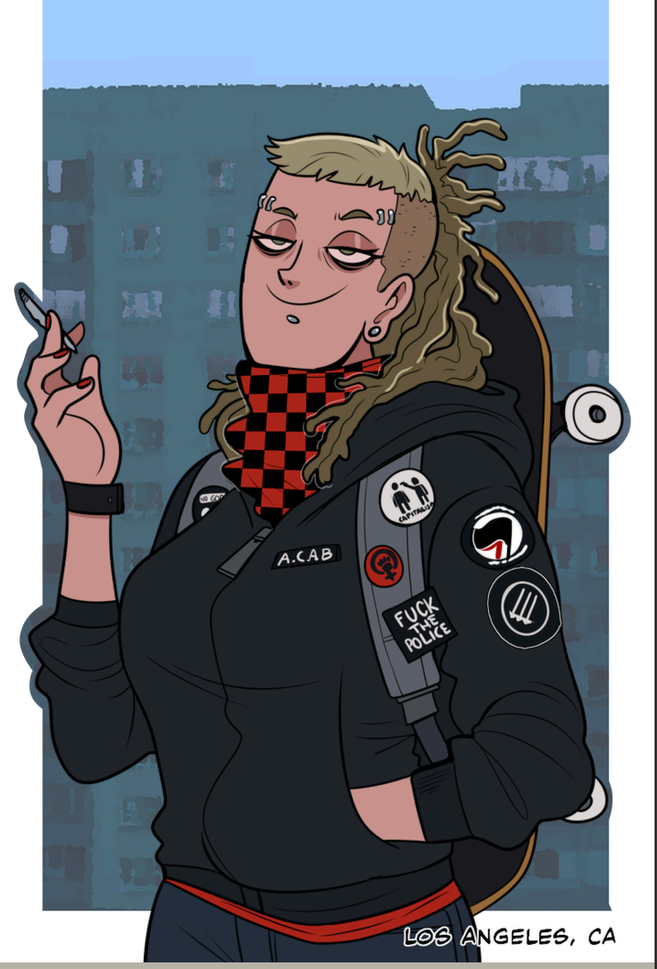

In the purgatory, Anita resides in an apartment complex, Her bedroom is decorated with anarchist flags, BLM posters, and fairy lights. Her apartment smells like weed, instant, and incense. She walks around barefoot, smokes weed, and plays off-tune acoustic guitar in the building's stairwell. She regularly holds “direct action workshops” that no one attends. One of her dreams is becoming an author and writing her own biography as an inspirational book

She gets into verbal fights with her neighbors — especially Gabe, the ex-legionnaire — but always manages to vanish when things escalate or when they spark one up.

Despite her many flaws, Anita does have a warm side — occasionally showing genuine care for people she calls “the oppressed” and defending weaker residents against bullying… right before blaming the altercation on capitalism.

Trivia

- Anita is clearly based on the Antifa girl/Pornstar that got punched at the Barkley rally
- Her name is taken from Anita Sarkeesian
- She doesn't believe in razor or shaves at all
- Despite carrying a Skateboard, Anita doesn't skate at all, only used as some sort of melee weapon
- While they're sworn Enemies, Anita and Katya have more in common than either would ever admit: both are political extremists to the point of shaping their personalities, both hate israel, and both of them are loud, obnoxious little shits
