PERSONALITY

- Loner
- Psychopath

- Sociopath

Arnold Turner III is a notoriously silent and apathetic serial killer from Chicago. With a confirmed kill count of 20, and over 30 additional confessions, Arnold is was one of the most prolifics serial killers in the US. Arnold remains a mystery to psychologists, investigators, and even the afterlife itself. A creature of silence and stillness, he displays no remorse nor interest in anything, save routine.

BACKGROUND

Little to nothing is known about Arnold's childhood, family, or early life. The man simply existed—like a shadow that learned to mimic people. He lived alone, moved often, and left a trail of silent victims in his wake. Authorities struggled to piece together his motivations, as he never gave one.

ARNOLD

Despite extensive interviews, psychological profiles, and attempts to "understand" him, Arnold never explained why he killed. When asked, he would simply respond with: “I was there. So were they.”

DEATH

While serving multiple life sentences (and awaiting three separate death penalties), Arnold was murdered in prison. During a routine work detail assignment, he was ambushed in the prison gym showers and shanked repeatedly by another inmate with a sharpened toothbrush. He bled out before guards intervened. His killer allegedly said: “God told me to do it, Arnold Turner is dead.”

Arnold had stated in his will that he wished for no services to be conducted and that he wished to be cremated.

AFTERLIFE

Arnold currently resides in Purgatory Jail, where he is kept under maximum watch. Due to the nature of his crimes and emotional detachment, he was not allowed to pass into Hell or standard reincarnation. Instead, he was placed into the H.O.P.E. Rehabilitation Program Human Oversight for Purgatory Evaluation) as a last-ditch redemption effort.

He’s been in the program for 20 years without a single sign of progress.He never speaks during sessions. He fails every empathy test. And he remains utterly, disturbingly unchanged.

As a result, Arnold is transported outside only when required, for example, attending Carrie’s Class in a secure experimental group. He wears iron shackles and a chest harness, and is moved via steel dolly flanked by a guard. He’s seated in the back of the classroom, silent and still, but not disruptive.

He shows no signs of aggression or hostility. He simply… stares.
