UNCUT CORRESPONDENCE

Dear FQ,

I happened to be going through New York City on my way back from Germany and ran across your Foreskin Quarterly. The articles were interesting, many of which I read during my twenty-four hour layover in New York City, and leading me to send in this letter. I plan on keeping my foreskin.

Both my wife and I like the way the excess skin bunches at the mouth of the vagina when I am having sex with my wife. My head is supersensitive when its curtains are back. It is hard to keep from coming when I've been without sex for a while, and then slip my "root" into my wife's vagina. I think that nature planned a foreskin on a penis to make the penis very sensitive and responsive.

I have read that men who are cut have as sensitive a penis as their uncut colleagues, but I don't believe that. You can't strip the protective sheath of the penis head off without destroying a substantial portion of the delicate "touch" of the penis.

By the way, I had to sort through several pediatricians before I found a doctor who didn't seem to be always looking for a reason to circumcise our twins. One doctor said the baby's foreskins were too long, another too tight, and another said emotional problems would occur in school because the other children would consider the twins "different." The last argument was the one that almost swayed my wife and I to have the twins clipped, only changing our minds at the last minute. The babies are about fourteen months old now, and will probably stay intact until they want to change, if ever, their privates.

I just got back from six months overseas and got to see my twin sons for the first time. Each has inherited my dark, curly hair. Each has four front teeth and each has snug, long curtains, all just like their father.

I've always been fascinated with the uncut penis. I managed to escape intact because I was born prematurely while my parents were vacationing in Nova Scotia, Canada. I'm sure some "helpful" doctor would have cut me the first time I would have ever had to have any hospital surgery. Lucky for me, I was only in the hospital once, and that was for pneumonia. I got the usual "ribbing" from my peers growing up about "tassel," and even thought once about asking my parents to arrange a circumcision for me after an adolescent girlfriend called my penis "dirty." She came to my house to visit when we were both sixteen. I had just got back from an all-weekend camping trip with my buddies, and she insisted on "petting" some before my parents got home later that evening from a weekend trip of their own. I had built up some cheese from not washing for the previous three days, and she didn't like the aroma when she peeled back the foreskin for a "head job." She and I broke up a few weeks later, anyway.

I knew my wife was about three months along in her pregnancy when I left the States for a year's duty in West Germany. When she told me she was carrying twins, I was very happy. She called me shortly after she was back in her room after delivery, and happened to mention that the obstetrician was going to circumcise the twins "free" as part of the delivery fee. I told her that I wanted them left intact, and she told me she would tell the nurse as soon as she got off the phone. The nurse barely reached the nursery in time, because the twins were strapped down in a device called "Circumstraint," awaiting their turn at the hands of an Ob-Gyn resident physician working his way down a line of eight infants who were being cut that morning. Another twenty minutes later, and their "curtains" would have been debris in a trash can.

Dear FQ,

The new format of Foreskin Quarterly is great (a much more convenient size for posterity). I really enjoyed seeing the infibulated cocks on pages 26 and 38. George is one sexy stud; the final photograph of George's partially shrouded, erupting cockhead is marvelous (a first for FQ and hopefully not the last of such type photographs)! Mark Beaumont's article "Care of the Foreskin" is most interesting, the section on the early years especially so, in this country where foreskins on boys are almost (unfortunately) nonexistent. The overhang in the picture on page 38 is most impressive; the skin shown on page 25 is "tastefully" displayed. Don Dean's fantasy "Don and Wally at the Glory Hole" certainly caused reaction from my uncut member. I shall look toward such a time when FQ features an article on docking accompanied by some great photographs.

Dear Bud:

I'm sure I'm not the only one who's written a letter like this and I'm sure there are many, many out there who feel the same way... but I'd like to express gratitude for having awakened me to the delights of foreskin and the sheer pleasure possible with my own foreskin.

I didn't always feel that way, even though I was certain that it afforded me greater pleasure, more intense ecstasy than my cut partners, beautiful though they and their love-limbs were. I knew the velvety caress of my thick foreskin on my large cockhead made for far more sensitive, deeper feeling than they seemed to experience. With my thick, large-headed, 1/2" overhang cock, the need for me is only to keep just this side of that wonderful peak, prolong the sweet ecstasy of cockheat as long as possible, before it gets just too damned good and can't be held back any longer and that thick, wet skin slipping over and back, just slips my whole cock, balls and body over the rim into utter bliss, convulsing wildly with spurt after spurt of joyous spillcum, in a heaven where cock, cock, cock pleasures and thrills the entire body, down to the fingertips.

Today's cautions being what they are, I can now, without any shred of reserve, enjoy my own beautiful cock, thanks to the men who've written you and your book FORESKIN filled with wonderful cocks. I now fully love looking down over my hairy torso at my hot, wet dick, losing myself in its sturdy, thick handsomeness, caressing its swollen veined bulk in ways I hadn't thought of before, using my luscious skin with pride as it was meant to be used.

Lord, what I've been missing! Thank you for releasing me into a wonderful love of cock and uncut men I never guessed at before. You've made my sex-life a helluva lot richer and prouder than it ever was!

Dear FQ,

Just received my first two issues of FQ—WOW! I practically pop a load every time I open the cover.

I'm really glad to have found an organization devoted to foreskin love. Unfortunately, I was a child of the '50s, brought up on Dr. Spock and lost my "phallic flap" at birth. I've been searching for another one ever since. I've spent a great deal of time cruising tea rooms, bookstores and baths in order to satisfy my obsession for those glorious uncut slabs of meat. One whiff of that cheese does more for me than a gallon of amy! I could spend hours sucking, chewing, licking and docking those hot skins, although I seem to find a good number of them poking through glory holes skinned back.

I pull that manly skin back over the head to chew on or run my tongue under. This seems to freak a lot of those lucky foreskinned guys out and they lose interest real fast—especially if I try docking. Although I find many men very receptive—even grateful—to my manipulations and, surprisingly, a lot of these guys have never tried docking before—and love it (I find my greatest pleasure shooting a load in another man's skin).

Anyway, to make my point, I'm very grateful to have at my access a whole list of intact men wanting my specialized service!

Dear FQ,

My husband brought your magazine home, and since I am the letter writer in this household, I am taking my typewriter in hand to encourage more women to write letters and articles for your magazine. You may underestimate your silent female audience.

I, for one, have been turned on by the sight and touch of cock as long as I can remember, and sucking comes to me as naturally as breathing. My greatest thrill is a long, slow, sensuous suck, and my tongue would feel that something was missing if I did not have a foreskin to play with. Without it, sucking would be like playing a violin with only one string. The foreskin gives me more chance for artistry and more control to hold back my husband's climax. My husband's foreskin is a beauty. It is long, loose, and delicate, fitting neatly over the bulging cockhead or sliding back like a sleeve until every fold vanishes.

With suction I pull it out full length to tickle the tip and roll it under my tongue before slipping my tongue between the skin and the head for some side-to-side motion. Then I press the skin halfway back to work on the head and the skin at the same time. When I am really hungry, I push the skin all the way back to slurp on the red plum, but I do not do this very much until I am ready for the jism. I forgot to mention that I also like to slide the smooth skin back and forth with my hand to watch the cock smile at me. However, I get the most out of sucking. It turns me on to feel the cock throb under my touch. Men, who were born with cocks, can't imagine how interesting a cock can be in all its changing moods. If you are as crazy about it as I am, you can come just from sucking.

Let us hear from some other women who want their cocks complete with foreskin.

Dear FQ,

In a past issue, a reader suggested travel to Yugoslavia or other European destinations to see foreskins in their natural habitat. Well, you covered-wagon covetors, there is plenty of skin to be seen and had right on Vancouver's nude sunbathing Wreck Beach. Visit Expo in the morning then tour the international tubesteak display at Wreck all afternoon.

Warm weekends bring as many as 6,000 sun lovers to this beach and at least half our men are UNCLIPPED! All manner of food and drink are available from beach vendors.

Take 4th Avenue west to UBC. Pull in at UBC's gate 6, park, and then follow the crowd down beach trail 6. From the bottom of trail 6 the beach extends north to the second gun tower (about 3/4 of a mile). This is a nice mixed crowd. Once you make friends with someone and their convertible top dick, take them south for privacy along the shore trails that go on for miles in this mainly gay section of the beach.

Forget Europe. Warm hospitality awaits you just north of the border!

FORESKINS IN THE NEWS

FORESKIN GREETING CARDS

AUREUS, the company which produces the FASCINUS penis charms, the USA cut/uncut amulets and the anticircumcision pin, forges ahead in the growing foreskin market and has announced production of the sexiest greeting cards to date! These cards come right to the point... they show only a healthy, veined foreskin wrapping its folds around a fat, slick cockhead in five different angles and states of retraction. Beautifully photographed and produced in black and white on 5x7-inch quality stock, these cards are a must for every foreskin worshipper alive. The cards do not have messages, leaving it up to you to make your own comments about sex-skin. The cards are available through mail order at $12.50 (plus $2 shipping and mailing) which includes ten cards (two cards of each picture) and envelopes. Send orders to: AUREUS, 23906 Sofia, Mission Viejo, CA 92691.

NEW CONDOM FOR UNCIRCUMCISED PENISES

STUBS, a "cap" type condom which covers only the cockhead, is being manufactured by the Circle Rubber Corp. of Newark, NJ. With only the glans snugly fitted into a rubber, the foreskin can move uninhibitedly over the entire range of the cock. Both the uncut man and his lover can feel the rolling skin and still have the protection which is so necessary these days. If you cannot find STUBS at your local store, please ask your merchant to order it. We cannot find a mail-order supplier as yet, but if any USA member of FQ reader finds such a supply we would like to hear about it. Anyone with a long foreskin knows what a struggle it is to keep the skin from pushing off the standard size condoms. Some of us have a real need for STUBS.

NEW "BLOW JOBS" FOR UNCUTS

Talk about the latest thing in "blow jobs," the DUST AIR is the new fad among the foreskin set in Los Angeles. The DUST AIR is a gadget sold in camera shops to blow dust out of cameras. All you have to do is to slide the gadget's nozzle under the foreskin (see photos: USA member CA 54 demonstrates the DUST AIR with his more-than-ample waif of skin) and pull the trigger. The result is that the foreskin blows up with air and gets stretched to its outer limits. Stretching foreskin keeps it healthy and loose and just think what those inner-foreskin nerves experience with all that wind circulating in there! WOW! CA 54 reports that he checked with his doctor about the safety of using DUST AIR for foreskin stretching and his doctor not only agreed it was safe but couldn't wait to get home and try it on his own foreskin! The cost of DUST AIR is about $5 per can of air and the nozzle (which is reusable) is $18. Is there no end to all the safe-sex ways a foreskin can be enjoyed?

lunteered" for something in the Navy. I believe that if enough ex-military people, who were pressured into circumcision, would come forward and unite in bringing a halt to these unnecessary mutilations by bringing a class-action suit against the government, circumcision would stop in our country. I don't know about the present military situation concerning circumcision, but I know a large number of GI's returned home without foreskins they had when they joined up. Let me know your thoughts about this.

Fighting Mad

Dear Fighting Mad,

Such a lawsuit has been discussed in anticircumcision circles for several years. However, the statute of limitation pretty well wipes out the possibility of such action for most ex-servicemen who got a military clipping. What is needed is the testimony of some young recruit who lost his foreskin within the past few months and is willing to get up on the stand and say he was forced to sign the medical release which allowed the medic to carve off his sex-skin. But you and I both know that to get a shy, green-assed, apple-cheeked kid to even discuss what "they" did to his "short arm," much less get on the witness stand to tell the world about it, is a remote possibility. After all, his current training has him accepting AUTHORITY without question.

If the corpsman who detailed him to the circumcision bench after the short-arm inspection said it had to go, I am sure the kid fully believed that it had to go. Of course, a few years later and some sexual mileage under his belt, he might have some second thoughts. Anyway, we might be spinning our wheels considering a lawsuit at this late date, Mad.

There are indications things are changing. The USA (Uncircumcised Society of America) does have several members currently in the armed forces and several of them remain uncut and have had no pressure to get circumcised whatsoever. One member who IS a corpsman claims that the Navy no longer indicates on medical records whether or not a man is circumcised.

Another man claims that the closest thing to a medic on his post is a pharmacist who passes out the aspirin, etc., and is so dumb he probably doesn't know what the word "circumcision" means (it seems that the military is sending its personnel to nearby private doctors at many installations rather than pay for a large medical staff with nothing much to do). Also, with the "new" concept of the all-volunteer, "professional" Army the civil liberties of GIs is being considered and it is easier for a man to say "no." And, to illustrate just how times have changed,

Dear Bud,

I thought I would share with your readers some observations seen during my stay in the U.S. Navy.

I was a commissaryman in the supply department on a ship, and in 1968 we left San Diego for a tour of the Far East. We encountered a typhoon and spent longer at sea than scheduled and everyone got bored as hell. One particular hospital corpsman aboard the ship became quite friendly with supply department personnel. He would hang around and shoot the breeze, I suppose hoping to get special favors from us in the way of food and supplies.

One day I recall him strolling in with his green surgical garb. He complained that he had to work all alone that day because the young apprentice corpsman just assigned to him was so fidgety while he was performing circumcisions that he told the kid to leave the room.

We all were sort of shocked and embarrassed at his doing circumcisions and when we questioned him about it he said that he had gone through most of the foreskins aboard the ship and was to receive a special letter of praise from his superior officer for performing the operations. I spoke up and asked if he felt whether all those circumcisions were necessary and he said that all he cared was that the men had requested it and he was merely giving them what they wanted. He went on to say that he "didn't mind" circumcising a dick and there wasn't much else to do on the ship anyway.

I later found out that this corpsman was, himself, still uncircumcised. I have no doubt that by the time we arrived in the Philippines his was just about the last foreskin to survive our tour.

Bud, I was circumcised at birth and have always resented the fact. I am not gay, but have often wondered what those men, who got trimmed by the military, thought about their circumcised penises after they returned to civilian life. I was not fooled when told that someone "vo-the US Army hospitals in Frankfurt and Nurnberg, Germany, tried to cease performing infant circumcisions in 1985 (more about this later).

However, while all seems to be quiet on the GI foreskin front, we must not forget that we have had several years of peace since Vietnam...and most of the large-scale circumcision campaigns of the past occurred during the heat of battle during WWII and Korea. And, you might say, there just aren't that many foreskins left for the military to worry about anyway. However, the Navy reportedly still maintains its special circumcision clinic in San Diego...and according to one USA member who is a graduate, most of the "volunteers" are Hispanic.

Actually, Mad, it is true that no branch of the Armed Forces has ever had an official policy of requiring its male personnel to be circumcised. However, all you have to do is dig through the old Navy medical bulletins of WWII and find loads of "how to" articles about quick circumcisions (to get the man back to his post), etc., to realize that the operation was number one of the "elective procedure" list. The Navy even had a one-size-fits-all adult circumcision tool patented in the early 40s. Why? Military medics were expected to keep the men under their charge combat ready. Most of these medics were just out of med school where they were taught that circumcision prevented VD, cancer and masturbation.

So, many a medic simply took preventive measures and removed all the foreskins he could get his tools on before anything happened to keep the man off the battlefield. Sometimes orders to circumcise did come from medical commanders. But then there were those particular corpsmen who "didn't mind circumcising a dick." In fact, there are stories of circumcision fetish cases in military lore. I will never forget seeing that ad in a New York newspaper during the 60s in which a retired Navy doctor was offering for sale his collection of 900 foreskins preserved in bottles.

Another ex-Navy doctor admitted to me that he promoted circumcision during Vietnam because it was easy way to get his hands on a cock. Another strange case that came to me through the grapevine was about a ship's commander who scanned the medical records of men seeking transfer and when he spotted one who was uncircumcised he would arrange to have him receive duty on his ship. Then, once aboard, he would eventually have the ship's medic circumcise the new man while he watched. I suppose you've got to do something to keep from being bored to death! Anyway, those were the good ol' days.

Today, we have the reverse situation in Germany mentioned above. The Army halted infant circumcisions in the two hospitals in 1985 only to resume them after the action prompted strong opposition. Army men and their wives demanded that their sons be circumcised! Lt. Gen. Quinn H. Becker, the Army Surgeon General, claiming that "this age-old procedure" serves no medical benefit and poses a small risk, said in an interview last September 3, "My objective is to educate folks so they can make a totally rational decision and not an emotional decision or one based on what's been done in the past." He went on to say that the hospitals will honor parents' request for circumcision of their children but he hopes to influence their decision away from circumcision by "information furnished through hospital commanders and the military news media." Well, what do you know?

Dear Bud,

I really enjoyed your UPDATE column (FQ4) in which you referred to cock sizes according to astrological signs. You listed readings according to where a fellow's MARS was in his natal horoscope. Well, you hit my MARS IN SCORPIO dick right on the mark! He is redder and stiffer than most other dicks because he certainly does belong to a guy who can't get enough. But when you wrote that SCORPIO meat belongs in the glory hole you blew me away! Right on! I can stand there for hours while one guy after another chews on my meat and I have no desire to see who they are. Scorpio secrecy, I guess.

The problem is that your article was garbled and left our readings for MARS IN VIRGO and MARS IN AQUARIUS. Can you fill us in? Also, I hope you'll include more items about astrology. You said that the Scorpio/Mars cock was hypnotic in his pure desire to be busy. That's my guy!

Glory Holer

Dear Glory Holer,

Yum! And thanks for the testimonial... I'm glad we were right about your MARS IN SCORPIO penis. He is just what one wants to see snaking through the glory hole...it makes those long waits worthwhile. Right, men? Yes, the astrology bit was slightly garbled in FQ4. Actually, the only reading missing was MARS IN LEO. The reading listed as MARS IN LEO was supposed to be for MARS IN VIRGO (the boy next door). And the second paragraph in the reading for MARS IN CAPRICORN was supposed to be the reading for MARS IN AQUARIUS (the MAN'S cock). Now, for the reading which was omitted:

MARS IN LEO: Long, narrow and exquisitely shaped, this is the aristocrat of penises. He loves to show himself off if someone is watching. An exhibitionist, but he reserves his true charms and pleasures ONLY for those whom he thinks worthy! If he is interested, he is an attentive and loyal lover and he expects plenty of attention in return. If he doesn't get it he might start poking around in other places. This penis belongs to the patriarch.

So, you want more astrology? Well, thanks to our "sexpert," here are some additional clues to a man's penis (according to his birth chart). While the key to the penis is the position of the planet MARS in the horoscope, if you recall your lesson in FQ4, we still have not found a clue as to whether or not a man still has a foreskin by looking at his horoscope. Our researcher is still looking over the USA files of those members who gave us a time and place of birth as well as his "foreskin status," and as soon as he has a proven indicator of skin we'll let you know. In the meantime he did come up with the following MARS/PENIS readings in terms of what to do with the various cocks in safe sex:

MARS IN ARIES: This fat-headed hunk of man-meat STILL likes all the action he can get and he can get carried away. However, he fits snugly into a condom and his wide proportions and flaring head make it a pretty safe bet that the rubber won't slide off. Besides that, get him hot and he'll do anything... especially group J/O where he will be a real competitor and strain himself to stand up higher than any other cock in the room. He is turned on by pretty people and if they are sexually passive he responds aggressively in kind. This penis belongs to the jock who will stick it into anything!

MARS IN TAURUS: This plump, meaty and downright beautiful steak merely wants to be admired. Once he is in the hands of an "admirer" he can be pumped on for hours. He really digs a strong grip...or a deep throat. He is turned on by physical beauty similar to his own, but if all the attention is directed at him he'll relax for anyone! This penis belongs to that great-looking hunk of whom you fantasize while you beat your own meat...not dreaming that with so much as a hint he'll pull it out and give it to you.

MARS IN GEMINI: This pretty penis is into everything! Don't worry to ask, "What do you like?" The only thing he requires is TWO-WAY ACTION. Mutual masturbation is just fine with him, but be prepared for occasional spats of chit-chat between strokes. He is also an exhibitionist and, whether he's the biggest guy in the crowd or not, he will get up on stage at a J/O amateur night for all the world to see. This penis belongs to the guy everyone likes and would like to get their first around...at least once.

MARS IN CANCER: This voluptuous cock wants love! Affection, kissing, hugging...he is the fellow who gets bone hard in his jockstrap with just a squeeze. Simple J/O isn't quite what he has in mind, so make sure the condoms are ready. He's somewhat shy and passive and you will NEVER find him on stage at the J/O tryouts. Of course, he might be in the back row standing straight up while his boss is necking. He is turned on by kindness and a nice smile. This penis belongs to the sharp-looking fellow who has invited you up for dinner...and a cuddle.

MARS IN LEO: This stately creature is into exhibitionism. Put him on stage, or in front of a mirror, and he will perform admirably. He'll call the shots though, because if you ask him to do something he doesn't dig he'll probably go limp... forever. Just tell him how beautiful he is...that's safe enough. This penis belongs to the executive type whose penis you are dying to see!

MARS IN VIRGO: This handsome fellow is meat for the brain. He is turned on by intelligence and a neat appearance. He is really into two-way masturbation in a big way and if you are lucky to find yourself beating off in front of a mirror with him, be prepared to have the action accompanied by some pretty heavy sex talk. Heavy head trips get the meat pounding...for hours. Not into public exhibitionism, this cock just wants one-to-one action. This penis belongs to that quiet, handsome guy who is turned on by YOUR cock.

MARS IN LIBRA: This beautifully-honed instrument is a lover of beauty. Visual sex is on the top of this meat's safe-sex list. Let's just sit there, possibly in front of a mirror, and inspect our two cocks. Then, gently and rhythmically start sliding the skins up and down, up and down. All very quiet and intense...but HOT. This fellow will never try anything that is not safe. This penis belongs to that lady killer at the office whom he would like to make it with... just ask!

MARS IN SCORPIO: This red hot rod likes to hang out in the strangest places. Give him some fantasy trips and he will respond with a night-long session of heated J/O so intense that orgasms come and go and you are both still beating on them...but he is still just getting started! He is a Master at SM (although not necessarily THE top man) and he might get carried away...except that his penis is usually so shrewd at anything he does you are safe in his hands. This penis belongs to that quiet, sexy-looking man who just breathes "sex" and, while you are wondering how you are going to get him into bed, he is wondering how he is going to get you into his web!

MARS IN SAGGITARIUS: This delectable piece of manhood is simply made to be eaten and there is just one thing that makes him stand up and take notice...a hungry mouth. Well, he is adaptable though, and mutual or group J/O is okay, although he might not get up on stage. Instead he will probably be in the audience pushing someone's tonsils. This penis belongs to the well-rounded, slender-but-muscular swimmer All-American Boy type who is attracted to you IF you want to eat his meat...otherwise he will go blithely out the front door.

MARS IN CAPRICORN: This pulsating piece of lust is a solo J/O artist supreme. If you are lucky to join him in his closet, you will get the penis pounding of your life! You couldn't get this guy up on a public stage if you tried...just the idea of it makes him go limp. But what really turns on this succulent slab of dark meat is fantasy! Sharing some head trips and a little SM on a one-to-one basis will get the party rolling...and some very serious meat pumping will be an experience you will not forget. He digs a tight grip, by the way. This penis belongs to the silent, conservative guy who never drops a pin...but wait until you get him into bed!

MARS IN AQUARIUS: This big, fat stump of meat is ready for anything. He will do anything with you as long as it is inventive and he gets attention. He is always ready to experience a new sensation. He will also show himself on stage and the audience will be amazed at his staying power...as he pumps on and on. He is turned on by masculinity and manliness, and takes well to condoms. He likes to pump in places other than a fist, too! Very versatile fellow so you don't have to worry about pleasing him...although he might not worry about pleasing you. That's okay, he's worth the trip. This penis belongs to the clean-cut dude who'll stand there and let everyone in line take a lick...until he finally gets bored with the scene.

MARS IN PISCES: This succulent penis likes privacy and prefers to be passive. He is also into fantasy and a little SM (although not always the bottom man). He would be satisfied with or without J/O and is turned on by gentle, effeminate things...and certainly by a pretty face. He prefers more dominant people than himself and loves to be tied down and "used." For the right guy this penis is all he could ask for; incredibly responsive. This penis belongs to that nice guy everyone likes but you wonder, "What does he do for sex?"

Well, anyway, I have been wondering why some guys are more inclined to show off "what they've got" than others at all the J/O parties and theatres that are springing up around the country. All I can add to this is that if it is foreskin you want to see exhibited, go to one of the J/O groups associated with the USA, or listed elsewhere in this edition of FQ. And if you happen to have a MARS IN ARIES cock equipped with a healthy, long foreskin WE WANT TO SEE IT, MAN! In fact, why hide any of them. Right, men? Visual appreciation of the penis, uncut or cut, is the best part of safe sex. □

DR. SKINNON

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

Your FQ column is great and I read every word of it. You are one of those rare doctors who is not afraid to talk about sex and the penis. You blew my mind a few columns ago when you admitted that you suck on your own cock! How do you do it? I have tried many times but I can barely get my lips to the tip of my foreskin. Even that slight touch of my own lips on my foreskin feels great, but I want to swallow the whole meat. Do you have to have a special build to be able to bend enough in the middle? I am young and athletic with a twenty-eight-inch waist and about as limber as anybody. I even do yoga. After reading about you I started fantasizing about getting my lips firmly around my foreskin tip and slowly "lip" my foreskin back down the shaft and then get my teeth around the skin and pull it back up front. Can you do that? What position do you get into when you suck your dick, Doc? Can you give me any pointers?

One more thing. I have noticed that it feels different having your meat beat by someone else's hand than when you do it yourself. Doc, does your dick feel different when you are sucking on it than when someone else has it down in their throat?

Solo Meat

Dear Solo Meat,

Thanks for the kind words. I may blow your mind, but blowing cock is even better and self-suck is the absolute apex for me. We all have two sex lives...one with other people and one with ourselves. I emphasize that fact when I interview my patients and it always makes them more comfortable to know that I understand their need to masturbate. If everyone would just accept self-sex as a normal and natural outlet there would be fewer 12/FQ miserable people. I have been able to auto-fellate (suck my own cock) since I was 12 years old. My first ejaculation was in my own mouth. Perhaps that association has made it the most intense orgasm for me and one which I so pleurably repeat.

I am 6 feet tall and weight 145 pounds. Solo, your trim frame sounds like it should work. Answering your questions: I must sit in a bath tub since it is essential for the hot water to relax my back muscles. I usually do back exercises before hand which limbers me up and I also don't have any solid food in my stomach as the pressure may almost precipitate upchucking when bending so far. The back exercise that helps the most is lying flat on my back and lifting my legs back over my head (like you are going to get fucked) and then dropping my knees almost to the sides of my shoulders...once in this position I find my delicious cock right in front of my mouth. I find that the best time of day to self-suck is when you are tired (for me after a long day of surgery). Do not try this early in the day before your back and joints have been given the usual daily workout...once everything is loose you are ready for the tub.

The uncut cock smell is such a terrific turn-on that once my cock is near my nose I never have a problem getting an erection. If I happen to be too clean I just smear some Parmesan cheese inside my foreskin...I learned that from an FQ reader. Another thing I learned from USA members and FQ readers was the new horizons of watersports, especially when the fluids are coming from your own cock. Now I empty my hot, uncut cock of its load of heavy cream only after I finish pissing in my mouth. I let hot piss fill my foreskin sac by holding it shut with fingers while it balloons out. Then I simply take the closed-off foreskin into my mouth and bite the skin with my teeth and let the river of hot, yellow cockjuice roll into my throat as fast as I want it to. The cistern of life is really delicious and has no bad effects whatsoever. (Editor's note: For information of the Hindu/yoga practice of drinking your own urine, refer to the classic book, The Water of Life.) These smells and tastes are impossible to obtain when you have a commitment to another person...and, yes, it does feel different when I have my own meat down my throat!

One more suggestion: A hand-held mirror adds to the excitement, since you can really see how far down you are eating your shaft, watching your foreskin bag fill up with piss and seeing your cock pumping into your mouth.

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

I am the father of an uncircumcised four-year-old boy. I was circumcised when I was born. I am basically straight (had a few homosexual experiences in my youth) and am very happily married, but I also have a fascination with the male body and especially with uncircumcised penises. I have never had an intimate male friend who still had his foreskin. I long to be able to handle and examine an adult's uncut cock without having sexual obligations with it. I do have an intimate friend (straight) with whom I can discuss sex but his penis is circumcised. One reason I want to learn about uncut cocks is because of my son. My concern is that I don't know what to expect with him. Even at four, he likes his foreskin. He knows the difference between himself and me. After infancy, his foreskin got looser but seems to be at a stopping point now and still adheres a little up onto the glans. I let him stretch it and push it himself, but he won't push it too far back because it hurts.

On his last physical exam, the pediatrician (who has a European background and may be uncut) looked at his penis and said, "You know, that last part would give way if you gave it a quick thrust down."

I said, "Won't it give way by itself in due time?" I knew his suggestion would hurt my son.

I am still confused about this. Dr. Skinnon, there are a lot of young circumcised fathers of uncut boys these days (who refused to allow our sons to be mutilated) who could really use your advice. Assuming my son has a normal foreskin, can you give me a general chronology as to what to expect at each age up to puberty (or beyond) of what to look for to determine whether the foreskin is healthy and developing into the loose sheath it should be during adulthood?

Also, what should parents do, if anything, to aid in the process of foreskin development?

Thankful Dad

Dear Thankful Dad,

Thank God your four-year-old likes his foreskin... it will give him a lot of pleasure before he starts sharing its joys with others. I feel that by his age he could use a fully exposed glans to best allow adequate cleaning and feeling. That last thrust can be done by you. It may or may not be physically exciting for you, but I would like you to try. Sure it will hurt a little. Your pediatrician or urologist can help if you are reluctant, but I prefer the family figure, if possible, and not an outsider. It sounds as if he is ready for full retraction and if it is delayed the retained smegma will set so thick it might actually adhere tightly to the margins and might not allow the most beautiful development of the coronal sulcus (the depression behind the glans-corona). After freed, gentle cleansing of the newly exposed area is all that is needed forever. Nothing will subsequently happen to a healthy foreskin between four and fourteen years of age, except to get looser, longer and more pliable as his penis grows to its full dimensions.

I just gave my 3½-year-old grandson his first retraction. His mom and dad were totally unsuccessful in giving his foreskin that final thrust. I bathed with him. He wanted his penis to be able to do the same thing so he was prepared for the brief hurt session but it was over quickly. He is now proud he can get his skin back all the way. One last point: For about 4 to 5 days after the first retraction your son will have a burning sensation when he urinates, but don't be alarmed because it will merely be due to the tender lining of the inner foreskin. If you find him hesitating to urinate during this period, let him sit in a warm bath while he urinates as it will reduce the discomfort. This situation will not persist.

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

My penis is tightly erect and wet with precum as I write, thanks to rereading your hot response to a delightfully "brazen faggot" in the summer FQ! How about a photo! Super photo man Joe T. might need his wide angle, but I'm sure he'd do it justice and it would give an aspiring cut like me something to strive for! I was neonatally cut. As I look down at my sex-ready penis, I see a nicely shaped, thick-shafted organ packed into its skin so tight it shines. I cannot pull anything over the coronal rim without pulling my scrotum and balls up the shaft with the skin. I want my own foreskin, but so far, despite my efforts, it remains unborn in the pregnant folds of the penile epidermis.

I am having problems coaxing it out and I hope you can help. I can pull and tape the skin over the head of my flaccid penis, but when I do so the shaft retracts! I find it extremely uncomfortable to have the penis pushed in like this and I'm further concerned that any gains I'd be trying for will just be cancelled out by this retrograde accommodation in the shaft.

I've tried rigging a sleeve or collar and even used tape to squeeze my penis out and hold it there, but I'm afraid it takes all this for play. Very soon I have a full-scale erection on my hands, the tape has popped and then the precum starts flowing! The tape won't stick and "Down, Boy!" is just a challenge to get stiffer. I tried reasoning: "It's for your own good; we'll both be better off! etc." Penises don't respond to logic. Finally, I am forced to beat it into a more cooperative mood, but now with its spirit broken, I'm back to the spineless shaft I started out with.

Since mine is the only penis I've tried taping, I can't be sure how others might respond. But given the flexible nature of a penis on soft, I wonder whether other men don't have similar problems. I'd sure welcome your comments/suggestions, Doc, as to how I can pull my foreskin project off without risking shortening my shaft to get it. I can just barely graze the 6-inch mark on a ruler at peak (orgasmic) erection volume so I can't afford any losses.

Finally, assuming (with great hope) your answer succeeds in pulling me through on the front end, I have another related concern. Could sustained, daily erections adversely affect the program maybe even cancelling out a day's worth of stretching? I ask because I find stripping down and indulging my penis after a tough day is a great way to unwind. The greater the erection pressure, the more relaxed and satisfied I seem to feel. This has gotten to be a habit with me and I often defer an orgasm up to one or maybe two or more (weekends) hours as I walk my hard around the house doing chores or just give in and sit down for some one-to-one playtime. Is this a problem, or am I okay on this one?

Thanks, Doc! One last question, is night taping recommended given the fact that most penises do not "sleep" all night?

P.S. You and Bud are some terrific guys. Really enjoy and appreciate your spirit and dedication. Keep us up!

Self-Shafted

Dear Self-Shafted,

I have some good news and some bad news. First, the good news is that nothing you are doing is going to adversely affect the program. If all the events you describe are fun, continue them. You cannot hurt yourself and, as you read above, I firmly believe in self-eroticization. Enjoy your cock. The bad news is that you will not be successful in fashioning a foreskin on it. The key to my judgment is your statement that your organ is "packed into its skin so tight it shines." You cannot pull anything up because there is no pliability and no extra skin to stretch. To anticipate a full foreskin is unrealistic. Divorce yourself from thoughts that you must have a full skin in order to enjoy your cock... I would say you are enjoying it right now! Keep it up, Self-Shafted, and, if it's the feel of a long, warm tube of skin you want over your husky six-incher, I am sure there are loads of uncut USA members who'd be glad to supply you with it... and share in some mutual stretching as well. Sounds like fun to me!

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

My pubic hairs keep creeping inside my foreskin, Doc, and it's driving me crazy. My foreskin is a half-mast job in that it only covers half my cockhead. No matter whether I wear boxers, jockeys or go naked, the hairs keep getting trapped inside my skin roll and it irritates my sensitive glans. If I start getting a boner in my pants, it's even worse because it pulls at the root of the hair. The only way I can get the hair out of my cock is by pulling the whole thing out of my pants, retracting the foreskin and picking off the hair. It takes time, so I can't do it at work or on the crowded subway, so I have to live with hair tugging on my dick. Well, I have shaved off my pubes, but then it itches when it grows back and dudes complain about the stiff bristles in their face when they eat my meat. Now I am considering permanent removal of my pubic hair. Is there a safe way of doing this? Could I do it myself with tweezers? Do you have better suggestions?

Pube Trap

Dear Pube Trap,

Pubic hair has a texture different than other body hair and, when freshly washed, has a wonderful aroma that helps to make the sexual experience better. Instead of doing away with your pubes, I suggest that you do something about your "half-mast job." Creeping hairs are seldom a problem for the man with a long foreskin. In your case, I believe that stretching out the skin will work. Twist your penis as you roll the foreskin forward and you will make it almost impossible for hairs to get into the curves and crevices. Of course, some people have an erotic response to shaving off the pubic hair and if you enjoy doing it that is your privilege. But sooner or later those "prickly" hairs will be as uncomfortable as the hairs creeping inside your foreskin. As a doctor I have learned to shave as small an area of hair as possible because all of my patients complain about the unpleasantness of stubble around the crutch. Eroticize about a longer foreskin, not about shorter pubes, is my advice. □

TELL IT TO THE SARGE

"Still Uncut?" the ad in Drummer reads. Running for several months in Alternate Publishing's magazine, Sarge has been offering his special brand of circumcision for anyone who qualifies by sending him their circumcision fantasies. As you have read in previous editions of FQ, Sarge is a genuine prepucephobe and is happy to admit it... and even happier when he is "taking care of" skinheads.

Well, Sarge is temporarily unavailable for his services, having received duty elsewhere. He has allowed FQ editors to accept his letters, include our "Tell It To The Sarge" column and to promote the cause of circumcision for those who are seeking it for erotic reasons. If you have such fantasies and want to share them with FQ readers, please send them to the editor (Bud Berkeley, PO Box 26011, San Francisco, CA 94126). Your confidentiality is safe and anonymous letters gladly accepted. At this time, successful letter writers will not commit their foreskins to Sarge's talents (contact the ACORN society for such commitment, address elsewhere in FQ). We feel that uninhibited self-expression of our reader's sexuality is an important ingredient in FQ's message. All letters will be forwarded to Sarge.

Dear Sarge,

Man, you are the best thing in FQ! You've got me beating my uncut dick like crazy. One thing a lot of uncut guys won't admit is that they have masochistic fantasies about their foreskin coming off, and one that I suspect I share with more than a few other guys is that some mean old dude is circumcising me with his teeth. That portrait of you in FQ4 really got me going. I wish that long, narrow cigar in your mouth was my dick and that instead of chomping down on the end of the cigar you were chomping on my skin. Ever consider taking care of a "skinhead" that way? Well, here's a "punk" that's long overdue for it.

Chewing Tobacco

BRANDON GETS WHAT'S COMING TO HIM!

From the anonymous author of "The Circumcision Ship" fantasy (FQ4 & 5) we now find out how SARGE and our story's hero get their revenge on Brandon. If you recall, our hero (a Navy corpsman stationed at a military hospital) met Sarge while he was x-raying his broken jaw and discovered that the old Marine was a true prepucephobe: "You can't make a Marine out of a goddam skinhead!"

Later the same day, our hero met Brandon while he was x-raying his broken wrist. He soon learned that Brandon was a prisoner at the Marine brig and he was the skinhead who cracked Sarge's jaw, because Sarge wanted him to show the platoon his cheese. While he was in the x-ray chair Brandon offered to show our hero his cock: "My weenie. My meat roll. Everyone wants to see Brandon's dick. That's my name, Brandon James. Jesse James is my ancestor. Yep, my rod shoots the same seeds that Jesse's shot. Ain't that somethin'. Wouldn't you like to see a historical piece of American manhood?"

But when our hero was inspecting Brandon's good meat he couldn't resist pushing back the foreskin despite protestations, "Stop! Don't push it back!" Continuing to retract the foreskin our hero got decked by Brandon's good fist who was yelling, "Queer! Queer!"

Furious, our hero was out for revenge. He told the Sarge what Brandon did to him and Sarge said, "Why that fuckin' no-good skinhead punk bastard asshole. I'll skin him alive!" That gave our hero an idea and he suggested that Sarge could skin Brandon alive... by circumcising him. He told the old foreskin-hating leatherneck about the new laser beam circumcision tool the hospital had been developing for use on the European troops stationed at the battlefield in Arabia. He assured the Sarge that you didn't have to be a doctor to use the tool and Sarge snarled, "Git me one of them tools!" So, our hero made arrangements to meet the Sarge at midnight to go to Brandon's hospital room and give him what he deserves.

I couldn't believe I was doing this, but I was so mad I didn't give a damn if we got caught. The Sarge and I were sneaking through the empty hospital corridors with the laser beam circumcision tool I had stolen from the supply room. We entered the prison wing of the hospital which was entirely empty except for Brandon. We knew no one would hear him yell!

Before entering his room, we went into a closet, turned on the lights and read the instructions that came with the tool, "Quick Removal of the Prepuce in Six Easy Steps."

"Shiiit! This thing's a cinch," Sarge smirked and we returned to the hallway and found the right room. I had stolen the key to Brandon's room and quietly opened the door.

"Okay, you bastard," I thought to myself. "Whatever you've got hidden inside that foreskin isn't going to be secret anymore. After tonight, Brandon James, you won't have an inside, it's all going to be outside!"

We locked the door behind us. In the dim light we could see Brandon's muscular hulk sprawled out stark naked; he was sleeping like a baby. I focused the flashlight on what we came for... his penis. It was half erect but still encased in folds of skin. It really was a beauty; too bad it hung on such an asshole!

Sarge quickly grabbed Brandon's ankles and yanked him to the foot of the cot. I grabbed his arms and shackled them over his head, while the Sarge tied his ankles to the legs of the cot. Brandon's legs were spread wide over the edge of the cot and his fat genitals were dangling over the edge waiting for its fate.

"Hey, what the fuck?" Brandon stammered as he came out of his groggy sleep. "Wha... what the shit?" I put the flashlight directly in his face and he squinted his eyes and strained at his bonds as he tried to see us.

"Who's there?" He began to struggle and said, "Ouch. Don't you know I've got a broken wrist?"

Then Sarge broke our silence and said in a low, husky voice, "Yea, pig shit. How'd you git it?"

Brandon's eyes widened and his mouth dropped open, "Er... is that you Sarge?"

"Yea. It's me," Sarge calmly replied.

"Well, what are you doing here?" Brandon asked like a puzzled little kid.

"I've come to take care of you," Sarge growled as he pushed his face right into the boyish blond Marine's baby face.

"Wha... What do you mean, Sarge?" Brandon's voice was getting high-pitched.

The Sarge put his fist up in front of Brandon's blue eyes and said, "See this here fist? This fist is going to skin you, James! It's going to skin you alive. Ready to have your manhood skinned, leatherneck?"

Brandon was obviously puzzled, "Huh? My manhood, Sir? I don't... OH! Oh, no! You mean you are going to scat back my short arm and look inside it, Sir?"

"Well, yea," Sarge smiled, "for starters we're going to take a look inside your dick."

"Please, Sir, I am sorry I broke your jaw. It's just that I can't stand havin' people lookin' inside my dick, Sir. Please don't look, Sir. Don't..." His voice faded as he watched Sarge's fist move down his rippled stomach and reach down for his fat, limp cock. The Sarge lifted it into his huge palm, tightened his biceps, slowly brought his five fingers into a tight grip around the skin-draped shaft. I held the flashlight steady as the fist brought its captive up into the light and slowly the skin began to retreat.

"Oh, no! Sir!" Brandon was almost whimpering.

Gradually, a perfectly clean, well-shaped and boyishly tender cockhead was revealed as the fist shoved the skin down to Brandon's huge ball sack. Sarge's fist held steady at the base of the penis and it responded by stiffening out as all eyes studied its newly exposed parts.

"Shiit!" the Sarge growled. "There ain't nothing hidden here! Ain't nothing inside this dick but what you'd expect to find in it." Firmly keeping the shaft skin tautly pushed to the bottom of the pole with one hand, the Sarge opened his other palm and with a great swipe he made a ferocious slap at Brandon's tender glans. WHACK!

"What the fuck's wrong with you, James? Ain't nothing inside your foreskin but what every man's got. Are you ashamed of it or something?"

Brandon, almost hypnotized by the sight of his penis caught in the grip of his drill sergeant's fist, murmured, "You wouldn't understand, Sir. It's too personal, Sir."

That enraged Sarge and his face reddened as he took another swipe. WHACK! By this time the exposed glans was flaring out as if to make itself an easier target. WHACK!

"Goddam. I hate skinheads!" Sarge suddenly bellowed into the face of the startled Marine. WHACK! "Jeeze, what an ugly dick!" WHACK! "How come you've got this skinhead cock, James?" WHACK! WHACK! WHACK! Both Brandon and I were spellbound at the sight of this prepucephobe venting his hatred onto a poor, defenseless penis. What had I done? What had I released? What was going to happen to Brandon James' beautiful uncircumcised manhood?

The whacks suddenly stopped. Almost foaming at the mouth, Sarge released his stranglehold on the penis and we all watched, with some relief, as the foreskin crawled back up the shaft and swallowed the victimized glans as if to protect it from further insult. Once the foreskin had slithered back into place, the fist returned to the now skin-encased shaft and began to masturbate it.

"I'm going to beat the shit out of your meat, James, and if you crack your nuts into my face I'm going to rip that filthy skin off your dick." He began a furious jack-off on Brandon's poor, doomed foreskin. Brandon began to pant heavily as he watched transfixed.

"Understand, James? If you shoot this thing off I'm going to circumcise it!" Sarge shouted into Brandon's face. The boy's expression didn't change, his eyes were set on his penis. His pant got heavier. The Sarge screamed, "Don't you understand me, you stupid punk? As soon as you pop your nuts I'm going to skin your cock. I'm taking you right back to the balls! Don't you know what I am saying? You are about to get circumcised!"

Suddenly, Brandon must have realized what the Sarge was trying to tell him and he shouted, "Let go of my dick! Sir! I don't want to pop off. I don't want to get circled...er, circum...er, clipped or whatever you call it. Please, Sir! I'll tell you why I don't want people looking inside my dick. I'll tell! Please don't circle me, Sir!"

The Sarge abruptly stopped pumping. "Okay, mister, let's hear it. It had better be good!"

"You were right, Sir," Brandon was almost crying, "I am ashamed of it. My cockhead is so small and soft and pink. All the other leathernecks have fat, tough ones on their dicks. I'm glad I have enough foreskin to cover it. Please don't take it off, Sir!"

The Sarge was stopped dead in his tracks. He quietly pondered Brandon's admission as he continued to hold the penis in his fist. He slowly looked up at me and raised his eyebrows as if to say, "Is that ALL that was bothering this guy?"

With sudden compassion, Sarge said quietly to Brandon, "Son, there is something no one bothered to tell you. Your cockhead is soft and pink because you are still uncircumcised. You just wait, after I take care of your skin tonight, your cockhead will get fat and tough and it will stand up to any cockhead in the Corps."

"Huh?" Brandon responded quietly, "You sure, Sir?"

"Hell, yes, I'm sure. How in hell did you expect your meat to get tough while its all wrapped up in its baby fat just like it was still in the womb," Sarge slowly began to pump the skin on Brandon's dick again.

"You sure, Sir?" Brandon questioned just like a little boy.

"I am going to circumcise this for you tonight, son, and you will soon be damned proud of your Marine dick. It will be clean cut, tough and streamlined... just the way all Corps meat should be!" Sarge began pumping faster.

"Well, Sir, I am not sure." Brandon was becoming putty in the Sarge's fist.

"Yes you are, James!" Sarge began slamming away even faster. Brandon's dick was stretching out to a rigid, pulsating piece of man-meat and Sarge was beating on it so fast the foreskin began to snap.

"Oooh, Sarge, Sir, that feels good!" Brandon purred.

"Brandon, son, I am doing this for you because it will be the last time you will have the feel of skin rolling up and down your rod. You ought to thank me; hell, the Corps medics would just cut it off and you'd never have your last beat-off with skin. Yeah, mister, now you want me to cut off your foreskin, don't you?"

"Well...oh...I'm not sure...ooohh... ." Brandon obviously was enjoying having his drill sergeant pump his foreskin, but he wasn't too sure about the circumcision.

Then Sarge made a mistake, "Don't you want good ol' American meat between you legs, James?"

"WAIT! STOP! My daddy said all of James have dicks just like my ancestor and all the James dicks I have seen have long skins on them. Oh, no, Sir! Thanks anyway but I have got to be like my ancestor. You can stop pumping now, Sir!"

Sarge, who hadn't heard the bit about Jesse James before, looked up at me as if to say, "What in hell is he talking about?"

I had to think quickly and make up some American history, "Why Brandon, didn't you read about your ancestor getting caught by Indians in New Mexico? I read in a history museum how the James boys were taken prisoner and tied to stakes and the Indians circumcised them. Their gang freed them before they got scalped, though. So, Brandon, you are not like your ancestor when he died with his boots on because he had a circumcised penis by then."

After a long, long silence Brandon murmured suspiciously, "You sure?" Sarge resumed his pumping slowly and then Brandon raised his thighs into the air and said, "Oh, all right, Sarge, he's all yours to circle!"

"What do you want the ol' Sarge to do with your dick, James?" the victorious prepucephobe gloated as he pumped Brandon's skin faster than ever.

"Oooohhh, Sarge...I want you to... uh...circle it. I mean circum...whatever it's called, just skin it, Sir!"

Sarge stopped pumping and said, "The word is circumcise, mister. Circumcise." He motioned for me to give him the circumcision tool.

Brandon's eyes widened in surprise, "Sir! I haven't popped my nuts yet! You promised that I could crack 'em, so damnit don't stop pumping it...oh, Sir! Excuse me, Sir!"

"Shiiit, Marine, you don't want to shoot your seeds through a skinhead cock ever again. As soon as we are finished you are going to pump them right through a circumcised Marine dick. Understand?" Sarge retorted.

"Okay! Okay!" Brandon panted heavily, his eyes transfixed on his tall, stiff pole. He was now excitedly anticipating his circumcision. He wanted it! His muscles were tense, his fists clenched, his balls tight, his penis quivered. He was about to watch the Marine drill sergeant make a Marine out of him.

I held the flashlight close to the penis. "How far back?" Sarge asked me.

"Ask the owner," I suggested.

"Okay, Brandon James, where do you want to see your circumcision ring?" Sarge asked the spellbound boy. Sarge began to run the laser tool down the erect penis and suddenly Brandon shouted. "THERE!"

"Fuck, man, that's nothing!" Sarge growled, and he kept running the tool further down the shaft. He was at least three-fourths down the shaft before he stopped and said, "HERE! Here's the place, son. This will give you the cleanest, slickest, most tightly skinned dick in the Corps. Okay, James? Let's start peeling..."

The Sarge ran the laser tool around Brandon's shaft at the designated place like a pro, around and around.

"Ooooooh, fuck...I mean, Sarge...I can feel it, Sir...you are skinning my manhood like you said. Hurry Sir, TAKE OFF THAT SKIN! PEEL ME OFF, MAN! HURRY, I CAN'T WAIT ANY LONGER, SIR!"

Not wanting to get Brandon's nuts spilled all over the new tool, Sarge quickly finished the job and ended up with the tool in one hand and a wad of James' history in the other. WHEW!

Brandon James was no longer a skinhead! Sarge handed me everything and then said to the young Marine, "Mister, let an old hand at beating circumcised dicks show you how to do it!" He began to pump on the freshly skinned penis.

"HOLY TOLEDO, SIR. HERE I COME OVER THE TOP...SIR...Aaawww." The kid was wiped out. He fell sound asleep. We untied him, pulled him back up on his cot and left Brandon with just the half hard-on we found him with... except now it no longer had an inside.

The next afternoon one of my fellow Corpsman stopped me in the corridor and said, "Did you hear what happened at the circumcision demonstration this morning? Well, you know that blond Marine who took a swing at you?" OOOOPPS! My friend continued, "He was supposed to be the one to donate his foreskin to the program and when he was brought in and his penis came through, the ceiling/circumcision bench they were surprised to see that he was already circumcised. He said that he had been circumcised during a dream. Ha. Ha. Ever hear of anything so stupid? They really have some dumbbells in the Corps these days."

I laughed in relief. Poor Brandon, such a big, beautiful dumb Marine. I hope his cockhead gets fat and tough so he can show it off proudly, but I'll never forget that beautiful, long foreskin he used to have. Fuckin' old prepucephobe! Wish I didn't give him the laser tool to take back to the brig with him. He said he had a few more scores to settle with it! The world won't be safe any more for skinheads, as long as the Sarge has that damned laser beam. □

TRUE EXPERIENCES

GREEK DEMIGOD

On my last trip to Greece I had just completed a cruise of the Isles and had returned to Athens. Several friends that I made aboard ship and I decided to hire a guide and driver and van to make a trip throughout the country to include Olympia. We were fortunate enough to get Dr. Sophianos who was an expert in Greek history and art.

While in the ancient port city of Naplia, I strolled into an inviting lounge one night. As I sat down at the bar, I noticed a young man sitting across from me that looked more like one of the statues I had been seeing than a living person. I could not keep my eyes off him and he returned the stares.

After a while I went upstairs to relieve myself. It was only a small room with one commode. I was about finished when that boy walked in and right up in front of me across the toilet. He pulled out a big, uncut cock which matched the rest of his good looks. It was about half hard and when I saw that he was slightly stroking it I reached over and took it in my hand. It almost jumped to a full hard-on. He reached over and took mine, which was completely hard and standing out in front of me. We had only made two or three pulls on each other when another guy came in. Somehow we managed to get those stiff pricks back into our pants and out the door.

We exchanged names. He was Stratos. He spoke no English and I no Greek, but I was determined to get that Greek demigod into my bed one way or another. I reached into my pocket and pulled out my hotel key and showed it to him. He nodded yes and we walked to my hotel and into my suite. Just as we were really getting excited with each other, the phone started to ring. I did not want to answer it but felt I must. It was the desk clerk who said, "Sir, I am sorry, but it is a hotel policy that our local citizens cannot visit in the rooms of our guests. May I suggest that you bring your young friend to our lounge and have a drink with our compliments."

I have never felt so frustrated in my life. I led Stratos out onto my balcony and we noticed a car parked directly below. I motioned for him to climb up on the car and onto the balcony and he smiled and nodded in the affirmative.

We walked through the hotel lobby, past the desk clerk, and he waved goodbye and I am sure said the same in his own language so the clerk could hear. I returned to my room to wait for him. As I stood on the balcony looking for him, he came around the corner of the building and climbed onto the car. As I was pulling him up over the rail and had one leg and arm over it, I noticed our professor walking below. My reaction was, "Oh, shit, now everyone in our party will know." However, at this point nothing could stop me.

We undressed each other and got into bed. I am sure that he kissed, licked and sucked every inch of my body. We got into a 69 position and I could not hold back any longer as I was more excited than I have ever been before or since. We took each other's loads and I have never tasted such sweet cum as he shot gobs of into my hungry mouth, and I was doing the same shortly thereafter. It was heavenly to have that big, full-skinned organ in my mouth.

We fell asleep in each other's arms. I do not recall how much later it was when I was awakened by him sucking on my fully hard cock again. As soon as I began to respond, he got up and walked over to the dresser and took a bottle of suntan lotion, came back and started to lube up my hard cock. He then sat down on it while facing me. As my prick slid up his ass, I could hardly stand it as it was so tight and felt so good. Now I know why it is called Greek action.

He did not have to make many humps until I was filling him with my jism. Then, in no time, he was pumping my face with that tasty fluid from his beautiful member. I could not believe that he had so much left after the first time.

We snuggled together again as close as we could get. I lost my load five times that wonderful night, which I had not done since I was a teenager. The next morning after we finished our shower and got dressed, he took out a pen and wrote "2100" and pointed to the balcony. I understood that he was letting me know that he would be back at 9 P.M. The most difficult thing I have ever had to do was to pull out a map and show him the next town and write "1000" as we were to depart at 10 A.M.

He hugged and kissed me and as I pulled away finally, I saw tears in his eyes as he walked out onto the balcony, climbed over the rail and down to the street. Several times he turned to wave goodbye while at the same time wiping his eyes with the other hands. It was though he was looking back to see if I would motion him back.

That morning I avoided our professor at breakfast, however later in the day he caught me alone and said, "I see that you have learned to truly appreciate Greece." I am sure I was red all the way to my ears, but I knew my secret was safe. I shall never forget that night with Stratos, the real Greek demigod.

NO FORESKIN

A man recalls his thoughts and feelings as a child over 50 years ago when he realized that part of his penis had been cut off.

My family never used the word "penis" because it wasn't in the Bible. They used the word "foreskin" instead. This caused me endless confusion.

When I was about seven I asked my mother why my "foreskin" always stuck out but my older brother's didn't (since the head of his penis was covered with skin but mine was always exposed).

"Oh, don't you remember?" she said. "The doctor sewed your foreskin so it would stay back."

To my young mind something that was only sewed could become unsewed. I would ask her, "When is the doctor going to unsew my foreskin?" But she always turned my questions off, never telling me the truth.

When I was nine a house was being built near ours. One afternoon, when the men had quit for the day, the man who ran the steam shovel asked me if I'd like to see how it worked. Naturally, I was thrilled. I climbed on and he showed me all about it. He was about 40, a smooth talker, and somehow quickly got onto the subject of "skin."

He asked, "Can you slip your skin all the way back? Does it ever pull tight or hurt?"

I didn't know how to answer him because, unlike my father and brother, I had no skin to slip back; but I managed to say, "The doctor sewed my foreskin so it stays back all the time."

He said, "I've never seen a foreskin that was sewn back."

Anxious to understand what had been done to me, I said, "I'll show you my foreskin if you'll show me yours." (He had no way to know I really meant "penis.")

"Sure," he said, "I'll show you my foreskin. Let's see yours first."

I opened my pants and took my little rough-cut penis out. I was watching his eyes and saw his astonishment as he said, "I've never seen a boy's foreskin sewn back like that." Then he took out his penis, the head completely covered with skin. "See my foreskin?" he asked.

I could see it all right!

He slipped the skin back slowly until the head was exposed, and said, "I can make mine look like yours too. See yours? See the scar all around it?"

Yes, I could see it clearly. "That's where I was sewed," I said.

"Son," he said gently, "you are circumcised."

"Oh no I'm not," I said bravely. "I'm a Christian. I'm not a Jew." (I had heard in Sunday school that Jewish boys were circumcised and Christian boys were baptized.)

"See the little marks going all around?" he asked.

"Yes," I said.

"That's where you were sewed. Look here." He pulled gently on the skin of the shaft but it was too tight to move. "See?" he said. "There's no loose skin like mine." Then he slipped his foreskin back and forth over the head of his penis and I could see exactly what had been done to me. I could see that that part of me had been cut OFF!

I panicked. "How will I get my foreskin back again???" I asked.

"Son," he said quietly, "you will never get it back. You are circumcised, and you will always be circumcised. Nothing can ever change that. You have no foreskin."

I was too stunned to speak. I burst into tears. I didn't want him to see me cry. I climbed down and ran until I was out of sight. I was so enraged I couldn't talk. The people I had trusted had told me all those lies about being "sewed," and I realized I would be cut like that—an amputee—for the rest of my life.

I went back the next day, but the steamer was gone, and I never saw the man again.

I never told my mother I knew she had lied to me. I couldn't make myself talk about it. Several times I worked up the courage, but when I tried to speak, the words stuck in my throat and no sound came out.

This was over 50 years ago, but I remember it as clearly as if it happened yesterday—and the words, "You have no foreskin," still resound in my head. □

AT THE BATHS

Monday morning and SO much do do (rushing) to do, in the few free hours that are available to me. Of course I cannot take as much time as I would like to dash off to the Melrose Baths (the one that I always used and found most rewarding for me). Also, since the AIDS awareness of danger, one is more cautious and realizes that to go at all or in any way play around with unknown partners involves certain risk. However, I've stopped altogether taking the "body fluid" into the mouth or ass, and that I will not is made clear at the outset of each encounter.

Still, that part never was so important to me as to some and my last visit to the baths was a four-star event. Like a "sleeper" movie that turns out to be a smash, the place seemed almost empty when I got there about 1 P.M. and the few numbers wandering the aisles were unappealing superfats. I am too nervous and restless to play the waiting spider game so that usually, if I don't get involved in something good pretty quickly, I give up on it and leave. Sure, the entry fee, good for eight hours is now seven bucks for a room, but it's still easier for me to give up the seven bucks than the eight hours.

I had been there twenty minutes or so and was going to give it ten more when I saw a door ajar about six inches. Pushing it open a few more with my finger and peaking in, I saw a large man, not fat, just big, lying on his back with legs spread and knee raised. The phallus was enormous, like a fat plantain banana and white, with carrot-red pubes. Above this was a fairly vast expanse of fine-skinned, snowy abdomen. The skin of the cock was thick and uncut.

As I first looked at it I saw the rose-colored tip of a gleaming glans surrounded at halfmast by a roll of fleshy foreskin that did not cling in the thin-edged way, but was as thick there as a baby's teething ring and, baby, I couldn't wait to get my teeth onto it. The cock so large and thick, almost as big around as a beer can and laid there curved and vaguely tumescent. As I gazed at it and him, it flickered an affirmative Hello! and this was the only body movement of the otherwise statue-still figure.

I gazed now at the guy's red-bearded head. The beard was barber-controlled in good shape under the white skin and dark black glasses, blind-man style. Now the shiny red lips of his mouth parted and he ran the tip of his tongue over the lower one, pulling it back then into his head without a sound. It was invitation enough and of course all this happened in no more than three seconds.

I moved into the booth, put one knee on the cot and leaned forward, grasping that thick-curved tool near the base and slid my gently clutching fingers forward to the base of the glans as I wanted to see how much foreskin there would be at maximum. It did not cover completely, but made a ring of flesh (for a still barely visible meatused tip) that was as thick as my pinky finger, and pinker to be sure. Oh, the gloriousness of the mancock in its infinite variety. Much as I have and continue to relish the mallable, chewable, thinner, longer type of foreskin, here was a marvelously different one.

Each booth at the Melrose Baths has a TV apparatus attached high near the ceiling and angled for from-the-bed viewing. It was on and had been casting a glow of moving colored reflections onto this wide, white body. The skin of redheads is so fine-textured and I now ran my fingers over the surface to enjoy its quality as one would do with a piece of heavy silk satin. Then I ran an index finger in several rings over the aureole of a hardening pink tip.

He now took his glasses off and, looking right at me with rather flinty deep-set eyes, said, "I only want to be sucked. That interest you?"

Oh, Hallelujah, God Priapus was being good to me today (I didn't yet know how good it was going to be). I plunged and played and stroked and nibbled in every way I know to evoke pleasure for my partner. Mainly he was still (God knows I hate the pumpers who try to do my job for me) just lying there like some marvelous larger-than-life reclining statue of marble come-to-life.

Quietly he would moan, or say things like "Oh, God, that's good. Oh, God, don't stop." Well, I didn't for about a half hour, I guess. He never came and he never got really rock hard, which was a break and as you know almost a preference for me, as a big, semihard cock allows more variety of oral technique, and with this one, as long and particularly as thick as it was, I might not have been able to deep-throat the lovely monster in a fully blood-engorged state. That would have been mainly because of the thickness in this case, for length has not often been a problem, and I can usually bury my nose in the thicket of pubic hairs of as much as eleven inches, staying down there contracting and decontracting my throat muscles for 30 seconds or so before withdrawing in a long slide, in reverse, on that saliva-lubricated shaft.

One of the drawbacks at the baths is that the cots are something less than Simmons, a fucked-out pad on a plywood bunk, and there is a board from top surface to the floor, which keeps dust from getting under there, also one's knees, as one can do with a normal bed. (I haven't yet gotten to the point of packing a pillow in a knapsack for these sex forays, but I'm considering it). As the floor is my position of preference, and kneeling as in prayer, for God knows, to me I am at the altar of worship before the more sumptuous manifestations of male sex equipment, I usually get the guy (after a while) to lie crossways on the bed or cot, letting his buttocks be as near the edge as will support his weight, and his balls either lying onto the cot's edge, if they are sufficiently large or low-hanging to do so, or even hanging over the bed edge, allowing me more grope and grasp to fondle, twist, lick or swallow, depending on the techniques of tease and torment that they inspire. In the case of my redheaded Texan (for that is what he claimed to be) the balls were simply supporting cast to that three-character cast of which the fabulous cock was unquestionably the star. Quite red, large as a small apple and distinctly a pleasant handful, they stayed quite high and close to the groin throughout my lengthy treatment. With this man arousal seemed to cause the balls to contract rather than the reverse, which, to my unbelievable joy, was to be the exact opposite of yet another and quite differently spectacular experience before leaving the baths on that day.

The Texan claimed to be in town from Phoenix. "Scottsdale," he added. I said, "Nothing wrong with coming from the right side of the tracks." Said he came into town every other Friday and suggested that we meet some place same time, two Friday's hence. As that is the weekend of post-Christmas it won't work for me, so we've agreed to the second Friday in January. I shall try to be there and he may or may not, we shall simply have to wait until next year to know if I am to gorge myself again on all that glorious handful of sex that seemed to weigh about two pounds as I lifted it all in the cupped palm of my hand.

As to the never-getting-hard aspect, I would grasp the huge thing at the base, squeezing all the blood in it, into the forward half. This made the glans as big as a light bulb with that thick collar of foreskin wreathed around it. Even with my whole fist squeezing from the base I still had a good six inches of fabulous material to work on, fat, thick-fleshed and flushed with those pink and blue rose tones unique to mansex and to redheads particularly.

It seemed impossible to believe as I left him that in less than 15 minutes forward from that hope-to-see-you-again parting, I would revel and wallow in another quite different and also quite marvelous experience. Looking back on them now, I think I may have enjoyed the second one even better. Though, if one had asked me just before it began to happen, if that could be, I would surely have answered, "Not bloody likely."

Despite that I had worked on the Texan for so long, I had not come. Because of cramped position of kneeling on the hard floor, I became too aware of discomfort at last to bring myself to climax. Moreover, the sheer quantity of his sexual equipment required that I use both my hands to pleasure him totally, so my own cock was getting somewhat less manual attention than the usual.

In order to give my legs, more than my cock, a rest, I retired to my own cabin briefly where I played quietly with my dick while viewing the projected porn tape above. It was getting a bit late and I had not yet done the dinner shopping for that evening. □

FORESKIN RESTORATION

In this issue of FQ we present one man's personal quest for a foreskin:

I started off life with a very well done circumcision. The cut was exactly at the junction between the white skin just behind the corona and the rougher skin on the shaft. There were only two very small lumps of skin that were evidence of my amputated foreskin. I didn't know there was any more to a cock than a little red head that stood on the end of a shaft of skin. In fact, my education about that part of my anatomy, by comparison with my friends at the time, didn't tell me any different since they were all cut too, though some did have a little ridge of skin just behind their caps.

I did notice that some were able to pull their cut skin a little higher up on their cockheads, but it never occurred to me that theirs felt any better for it. Maybe it didn't.

I was in the sixth grade when I first learned there were other kinds of peckers. It's almost hard to believe now, but one day after school two of the girls in the neighborhood suggested to me and my buddy that we show each other our private parts. We all went to one of the girl's house where there was a small cottage at the back of the lot. Once inside the girls took off their pants and for the first time I saw the difference between boys and girls. My buddy and I were standing there somewhat overwhelmed and still dressed.

"Well aren't you going to show us?"

one of the girls asked. Both my buddy and I took down our pants and shorts to fulfill our part of the bargain.

Feeling somewhat foolish standing there with my dick hanging out the girls inspected our tools. One of the girls said to my buddy, "Yours is different than his." I hadn't taken my eyes off their little slits, marveling in the difference between their anatomy and mine, but then I looked over at my buddy and saw that he had skin covering the place where the cap would be.

"Shall we show them what they really look like?" my buddy asked me. I said "Sure," and we both began to stroke our tools until they both stood straight out. The girls were both impressed and asked if they could feel our hard members. We eagerly agreed. The girl who took my buddy's dick in her hand said, "Look at this." She was moving his foreskin back and forth, alternately covering and uncovering about half of his cockhead. Both girls turned their attention to my buddy's cock and I was standing there with my unattended and now-drooping tool.

"Not too hard," he said. "It only goes back half way." Both girls took turns playing with his cock. "Do it like this," he told them. He put his fingers under his cock and put his thumb on top and moved the skin rapidly back and forth. One of the girls put her fingers over the end of his cock, holding the skin in her fingers and made rapid motions. Soon my buddy moaned, jerked around a bit and both of the girls laughed. His coming restored my tool to its full size. One of the girls tried to pull my skin forward, but it just bunched up behind the corona. "Is that all yours does?" she asked me. She left me to watch my buddy's shrinking tool cover itself.

When my buddy's tool had shrunk down the girls giggled, pulled up their pants and left. I pushed my still-hard tool back into my pants, disappointed in the lack of interest they had for my tool.

My curiosity was really aroused. I had never seen a covered cock before but it took almost a week before I worked up enough courage to ask him why his was different. He told me that I was circumcised and then I found out that I was the one who was different. "Do you want to see it?" he asked.

My folks both worked so we went to my house. Sitting on the edge of my bed we both took our pants and shorts off. His tool was half hard, and I could see a little hole at the tip where his foreskin was slightly spread apart. He let me feel it and I was surprised how easily the skin moved compared to the taut feeling of my tool.

"You do it to me, and I'll do it to you," he said. I started to move the skin back and forth as I had seen the girls do, but he told me to hold the shaft and work it back and forth that way. I almost came watching his cap appear and disappear from under his foreskin. I really wished I had a foreskin that would slide so easily over the cockhead. Soon he came. Then it was my turn. He took my shaft in his hand and began to work it.

"I've never played with anybody who was cut before," he told me. "It sure seems tight." It wasn't long before my tool went off and I felt the familiar wave of pleasure through my body.

We only got together a couple more times. The last time I learned a new way to play with my tool. We found that if I was sitting up, the skin on the shaft would almost reach halfway up on my cockhead. He told me that one of the best feelings was the slippery feeling of his skin sliding back and forth, so he suggested I put a little spit on my cockhead before he pulled the skin up on the head. He worked the skin back and forth as far as it would go over my now-slippery cockhead, and that made better feelings than I had ever felt before. After that day, that was my style for jacking off.

I moved to another part of town, so my adventures with my buddy stopped. It was probably just as well, because all I was doing was fantasizing about fore-skins. At my new school, I was always on the lookout for anyone who had not been cut, but I never did find anybody. After a while my obsession with uncut cocks faded and I resigned myself to my condition.

Probably that would have been the end of it, and I wouldn't have a covered cock today, if it weren't for another episode. In early high school, I had built a radio. It didn't work very well; it needed a big antenna. One Saturday I took the radio on my bike and rode out to a local radio station to see how close I would have to get before it would pick up the station. It finally worked when I was about a half mile from the station. Being that close I decided to ask if I could see the transmitter, being interested in such things at that time.

The engineer running the station was the only one there. He showed me the big transmitting tubes and endless knobs and dials. I now remember the station looking like a set for a '50s science fiction movie. When I was about to leave, the engineer asked me if I wanted to feel good. Not being squeamish about getting any cock stimulation I told him I did. "Well let's see it," he said. I took my tool out of my pants and showed it to him. "It's a shame all the kids are cut these days," he said. "Let me show you something."

He pulled up a stool and sat down on it just in front of me. Then he pulled out his cock. It wasn't cut. In fact, even though it was half hard, there was a little tail of skin still hanging from the tip. "I'm going to show you how good it feels to have a foreskin," he told me. "Wet the end of your cock and press it against mine." He pulled his skin back and I pressed my cap against his. My cock looked small pressed up against his.

"Now don't move," he told me and pushed his skin forward. I watched the skin slide down on his cap and then climb up on mine. He kept pushing until his skin completely covered my cap, and almost with a click it seemed to jump over my corona and hold my cap in place. "How does that feel?" he asked me. I said it really felt good.

I didn't believe anything could feel so good, the slippery feeling of his skin on my cap almost made me come right then. "Now push in close and move the skin over your cock," he told me. I moved the skin over my cap and each motion was pure pleasure, but I guess the excitement made his grow too, so soon the skin was sliding off my tool and moving back up on his. "Want to play with it?" he asked. Remembering how I liked that uncut cock I had played with before I told him I did.

When I first started working his tool, I was careful not to pull back too hard, because I remembered that I had been told pulling back too much would hurt. "You can do better than that," he said. "Take longer strokes." When his glistening dark-red cap was uncovered it looked so much more sensitive than mine. I worked his skin back and forth with long strokes that seemed ten times longer than I took with my tool. Finally my arm got sore and I stopped. He took over and in a few moments he was spurt-ing juice all over.

After he came he said, "Now to show you what you're missing." His cock became half hard. He told me to press mine against his. He had to hold his up when I pressed against it. This time he pushed the skin down over his cock and pulled it on mine. It went about half an inch beyond the edge of my corona. His hand covered the tube that connected our bodies. Gently he squeezed and released pressure. I felt my cap sliding inside his foreskin. It felt so good I don't think it took more than ten or fifteen seconds before I sagged with the pleasure of a climax. When I left he said I could come back any time, but I never did.

The fantasies began again. Soon I resolved that some day I would have a foreskin. I tried stretching and pulling until it hurt. There was a little progress, where I had never been able to pull my skin completely over my cap, I finally got it to go all the way by assuming a fetal position and pulling hard. It wasn't satisfactory, but better. One day I measured with a ruler how much skin I would need to get. It was a disappointing inch and a half. I didn't think that could ever happen, so finally I gave up. Besides, my pecker was sore. But by then having a foreskin was almost an obsession.

I tried various schemes off and on through my twenties and thirties. I tried taping the skin in place, but the restraint interfered with urination and all I got was sore kidneys. I pulled on the shaft, but that didn't produce any noticeable results. Finally, when I was in my early forties, I decided to go at this scientifically. I read everything I could find about the penis, its skin, and how a foreskin was really constructed. Then with all this background, I made a discovery. If I pulled at the place where I had been cut there was noticeable stretching. So I embarked on a program of stretching the shaft skin by pulling my tool over to the side so it would make the skin in my groin stretch, and also stretching where I had been cut. The two methods together began to produce results. In about a year I could get my cap covered when I was soft. It took almost another six years before I would stay partially covered when I had an erection.

It took nearly eight years before I had a respectable imitation of a foreskin. When my tool was soft I had about an inch of tail at the tip. Since that skin at the tip was no longer held apart by the cap it apparently shrunk a bit because when my tool was almost, but not completely hard, the skin at the tip opened to the diameter of a dime. The cap became more sensitive, looked smooth and shiny, and turned slightly purplish around the area near the corona. I even noticed that cheese began to appear. One problem remained, and still does. I have to push the cap into the skin, it won't cover itself. I'm not sure it ever will. The flare on my corona is much greater than what I have seen on uncut peckers.

You may wonder if all that effort was worthwhile. Eight years is a long time. If I had known it was going to take that long I probably wouldn't have bothered but now that I have been enjoying my restored tool for over a year, I'll tell you of some of the benefits it has brought me.

I used to wear Jockey shorts to keep my tool from flopping around, but now I wear boxer-type shorts because I like the feeling of my half-hard but covered tool bouncing against my leg as I walk. The experience of the skin peeling back from the cap as it gets hard is something I never expected. It is like having a slippery ring slide down the cap, where each little motion emanates feelings of pleasure.

There are psychological benefits too. I really enjoy hanging my uncut appearing tool out at the gym for the cut guys to stare at. Their surreptitious looks at my tool makes me wish I could tell them what they are missing. It's surprising how ugly a cut tool looks to me now; the wrinkled shaft topped with a dry, almost rough-looking cap is no match for the smooth, tapered look of an uncut tool. In my mind it is something to behold to see a smooth, glistening, deeply colored cap slowly protruding from its protective cover.

Finally, I can say it was none too soon my restoration was complete. My wife of twenty-five years has gone through some changes and her vagina is often quite dry. My slippery dick now can be juicy enough for both of us. By the way there is a little trick I learned in intercourse. If I get my wife to hold me tightly when I am inside her, I can feel my cap going in and out of the foreskin inside her. Though she likes the feeling of the shaft sliding against her vaginal walls, usually two or three times during intercourse she will tighten up for me. She does like to take a final pinch when I am coming out so it comes out half covered.

When you have been married as long as I have, to the same woman, sometimes variety is hard to come by. I can tell you that my modified tool has brought a new dimension to her interest in me. She loves to play with it, moving the skin back and forth, rubbing her tongue between the cap and the skin, and just pulling it up and watching it slowly uncover itself. I never got that kind of attention with my bare pole.

So, my cut friends, if you feel that you were shortchanged, that you are missing some of life, that there is more to a climax than bouncing the skin against the edge of your cap, put that skin back. If I can do it, so can you. □

I was cut at birth and, as circumcisions go, mine as evidence of medical skill was probably one of the better ones. There is just the slightest trace of the amputation, a little ridge about half an inch long that is slightly sensitive to the touch and a small patch of sensitive skin that escaped the knife.

By the time I was in high school I knew what it meant to be circumcised, but I had never seen anyone uncut. As kids do, they compare, so I learned mine was just about the same as everyone else's. It wasn't until I joined the Navy that I saw a penis complete with foreskin.

As part of the physical exam the new recruits received, one was called "short arm inspection." I don't think I'll ever forget standing in that line without clothes waiting to have my tool inspect. I put my hands in front, hiding my tool. I crossed my arms. I scratched my rear end. Finally I stood in line with my arms at my side as everyone else did. I tried not to look, but I had never seen such a variety of penises. Some were almost vanishingly small, some were wrinkled and stood straight out, most hung down like mine. When I spotted a tool that didn't have a cap, but skin tapering down to a point, it was all I could do to keep from staring.

About 20 minutes passed before it was my turn to be inspected. Every time the doctor said "Skin it back." I tried to see what happened but I couldn't until I was the next in line. The guy just ahead of me pulled his skin back and for the first time I saw how the glistening cap emerged from the concealing skin. Then, when the inspection was finished, the cap disappeared as the skin slid back down to take its tapered shape. Afterward, as I put my clothes back on, I began to think about that uncircumcised tool. That night I fantasized about the slippery ease of the foreskin sliding off the dark-red cap and tried to imagine how it felt. The fantasy produced one of the biggest hard-ons I ever had, but pull as I did, my tight skin would only just barely cover the ridge of my cap. Until that day I never knew what I was missing, but from then on, I was envious of anyone who hadn't been cut.

Once while on liberty, a buddy and I engaged the services of two Japanese girls for an afternoon of fun and frolic. After an initial quick hump, we settled down to some less frantic activity. I never forgot how I was left to watch while both of the girls made sounds of delight while they manipulated my buddy's foreskin. It was even a turn-on to me to watch the glans slowly protrude from its cover and then hide again. It was the first time I had ever seen an uncut tool ready for action.

That memory never faded and over the years my curiosity grew about what I was missing. When I finally did gather up enough courage to ask, I never did learn anything since all I found out was that it felt slippery, but I was asked what it was like to be circumcised. My answer was the same as his, I didn't know. Only once again did I ever ask, but I still didn't learn anything. It was as though the feelings of an uncircumcised penis was to forever be a secret to me.

The curiosity almost developed into an obsession. Finally I decided the only way I would ever know was to attempt a restoration of my foreskin. That was about ten years ago. The results aren't too bad, sensitivity is better and I'll have to admit I have become a bit of an exhibitionist at the gym showing off my imitation foreskin. The surreptitious looks of my cut shower mates really makes me proud of my new style. The effort was more than worthwhile. I have experienced a whole new range of sensations I never knew existed.

Unfortunately, my imitation foreskin consists of folded-over shaft skin, not foreskin, so I still wonder what I have missed. Well, with what I have read and examination of my own tool, I've come up with my own idea of what it is like to be uncut.

Articles tell me that the foreskin contains nerves similar to those found at the nipple with a concentration of nerves at the tip. I know these nerves produce very localized, almost ticklish feelings. The small patch of skin that escaped the knife does produce a similar sensation when stimulated. To help describe feelings, since there are no words for them, I am going to analogize feelings to musical sounds. The feelings from my nipples and that little patch of skin may be likened to the sound of a flute, localized and high-pitched, while the feelings from the glans are less localized and lower-pitched, more like a brass viola. Well now that I have some words to use I can proceed.

I have discovered that the tip of the glans also has its own unique sensation, localized but higher in pitch than the rest of the glans, but lower than that felt from my little patch of sensitive skin. So my guess is that as an erection begins the expansion of the tip skin produces a localized, high-pitched feeling, while the pressure of the expanding tip on the tip of the foreskin makes a less localized and a bit lower-pitched feeling, combined with a background of a generalized sense of pleasure emanating from the glans, but not obviously coming from it. So I would expect that there is a very definite sense of the glans emerging from the foreskin from the medley of feelings produced from the foreskin tip and the glans tip.

My next guess is that once the foreskin tip has expanded, the feelings from it would become muted, otherwise the sensation would be too intense. I also suspect that the inside of the foreskin from its juncture with the shaft to the tip has a muted sensitivity. So, as the foreskin spreads itself out over the shaft I would expect that any stimulation of the shaft would produce a localized, high-pitched feeling but far less intense as the initial feeling when the foreskin tip just begins to expand, but still enough to cause a very localized sensation when the shaft is stimulated.

So, here goes. This is what I think it would be like had I not been cut. Because the distance from behind my corona to where I was cut is less than half an inch, I guess that even with an erection I would still be mostly covered.

In intercourse the first thing I would feel on penetration would be an intense localized sensation as the foreskin tip expanded and slid down from the friction of the vaginal walls. Then as the glans pressed in the lower-pitched feeling from the glans would be mixed with the localized intense feeling caused by the friction on the unfolded foreskin. Even with my cut penis, I reach orgasm on the second or third stroke, so I would guess that with the combination of the stimulation of both the glans and foreskin, I would reach orgasm before I made full penetration. Then I would have to pause to let the sensitivity decrease before I could continue.

Because of the lubrication from my ejaculate I would be able to go in and out without excessive sensation. Then as the ejaculate dispersed because of the in and out motion, effect of the lubrication would diminish and I would be able to feel the texture of vaginal skin as I penetrated. On withdrawal the walls of the vagina would put more friction against the shaft causing the foreskin to cover the glans. Then on the next inward motion I would be treated to the sensation of the foreskin sliding back down the glans and the friction of the vaginal walls against the unfolded foreskin.

As the motion continued, the glans would become more sensitive until almost all of the sensation would seem to come from the cap. Then as little waves of pleasure began to emanate from my groin leading to that ultimate tension my penis would expand to its fullest causing the foreskin to draw back fully, and I would be overcome by a medley of intense feelings from the foreskin and the deeper sensations from the glans. The sensations would make the waves of pleasure increase until it would finally be resolved by climax.

When the feelings from the climax were just beginning to diminish, the spasms of ejaculation would follow. Once the spasms were over, the extreme sensitivity of my glans would make me hold still inside the vagina because even the slightest motion would almost be too intense to stand. In a few moments the extreme sensitivity would diminish and I would feel my tool begin to decrease in size. Finally it would be time to withdraw.

As I slowly pulled out, the vaginal walls would pull the foreskin forward so that it would cover most of the glans when it was out. Then, lying there on my back, my tool would continue to decrease in size and the foreskin would slide forward to cover the glans until just the very tip of the glans would be exposed. Then either myself or my partner would give the foreskin a little tug and my tool would take on its usual tapered shape.

In masturbation, I expect that one would begin by holding the shaft, not the foreskin, and the first motions would be just letting the glans emerge while trying to keep the foreskin tip from stretching too much and losing its sensitivity. Then, as the localized sensation from the foreskin tip and the emerging feeling of the glans combined to make more blood flow into the penis, the foreskin would draw back exposing most of the glans. The sensitivity of the glans would increase and my strokes would become longer as I savored the feeling of the foreskin sliding over the broad surface.

Then I might let my hand slip forward until I was able to apply pressure to the glans through the foreskin. Squeezing once or twice I would feel the glans slide inside the foreskin. I might or might not pause here to savor the delicious sensations.

Finally, when the tension began to build I would take long strokes applying pressure to the area just behind the corona where the frenulum is. This would cause an intense feeling causing my whole body to ring with pleasure. With two or three long strokes I would bring on the climax. Then, depending on my mood, I would either hold the foreskin tightly letting the rush of the ejaculate flow around the glans, letting it out after it filled the space, or I might pull the foreskin entirely back so I could see the spurting stream. As the feelings of pleasure diminished, I would still be holding my tool in my hand, feeling it grow smaller.

Finally, I would nudge the foreskin forward so that it would gently slide up and over the glans. Then after a bit I would make one final pull on the foreskin so the tip of the foreskin would extend out beyond the end of my tool.

Some of my conjectures may be fact, some may be fantasy, but I'll never know unless I'm told. Maybe some of you who escaped the knife would tell us who were cut what we have missed.

The editors of FQ present this true story of a self-circumcision to illustrate the frustrations some uncircumcised men have in our society, just as do some circumcised men (SEE FORESKIN RESTORATION section). This subject is highly controversial, but so is the subject of foreskin/circumcision in all its aspects. However, we must warn our readers that the writer of this article is a well-educated scientist and has the knowledge necessary to know what he was doing to his penis. We mention this only because we DO NOT WANT any reader, experiencing similar frustrations, to assume that self-circumcision is easily accomplished and not without danger. If you have similar inclinations towards circumcision see your urologist. If he doesn't want to do it or fails to talk you out of it, check with ACORN. At least they might help you do it! Best yet, while our ACORN brothers wil disagree with us, the editors of FQ suggest that you KEEP your foreskin AND your circumcision fantasies intact! Why deprive us?

Dear Acorn,

My interest in circumcision started at an early age. I felt embarrassed by my uncircumcised penis. All my friends but one were circumcised, although at the time I didn't know what circumcision was, just that they looked different and teased me about my strange-looking cock. The other uncircumcised boy and I became very close buddies and J/O partners. Then the parents of my buddy caught him masturbating and had him circumcised! In the doctor's office, free-hand with local anesthetic. Three days later he showed me his sore, swollen cock. It looked terrible. Thus I learned what circumcision was, how it was done and how painful it was afterwards. This made me fear circumcision, but still there was something erotic about it and I still wanted to look circumcised.

I tried unsuccessfully to train my foreskin to stay back. As I grew older, I read everything I could find about circumcision. In those days everything was pro-circumcision. I began trying devices to hold my foreskin back. First I tried adhesive tape. This was very uncomfortable, irritated my skin, and only held the skin back well during an erection. Then I found I could keep my foreskin back behind my glans by wearing a plastic, rubber or leather collar in the groove (sulcus) behind my glans. But these collars irritated my frenum. So, when I was about 13, I remedied this. I pierced my frenum at the sulcus with the small blade of a pen knife held flat against the sulcus. When it healed, a tie or a thinned section of the collar could pass under my frenum. This made it possible to wear restraining collars for extended periods comfortably. My favorite foreskin holder was a short string of large artificial pearl beads tied into my sulcus with the string passing through my frenum. The ugly glassy purple color of my glans soon changed to a nice velvet pink. My cock could then pass for a circumcised one, except my foreskin would not stay back by itself.

Then, when I was 16, I read that the frenum was the most common site for VD infections. The article stated that a proper circumcision should remove the frenum, but that this very important detail often was neglected. The article recommended that every male examine himself to make certain that his frenum had been removed, and if all or part of the frenum was still present to have it removed. The article also indicated that if the frenum were cut on all uncircumcised men, often this would be all that was necessary because, with no frenum to pull the foreskin forward over the glans, the foreskin could be trained to stay retracted, the glans would toughen, and the benefits of circumcision would be obtained. So I completed the removal of my frenum, for protection against VD, expecting also that without a frenum my foreskin would stay retracted. This helped. I was able to train my foreskin to stay back quite well as long as I remained standing, but it would roll forward over my glans whenever I sat down. Even standing, I couldn't rely on it. Sometimes it would roll forward over my glans at embarrassing moments when I wanted to look circumcised.

By the time I was 21, I had ready widely about circumcision: in medical journals, army and navy reports, medical and surgical textbooks, patents, etc. I was in college and dating a girl. She was really sexy and I felt sure that before long we would be in bed together. Then during some heavy petting she discovered that I was not circumcised. She was completely turned off and refused to see me again. She thought an uncircumcised prick was dirty and unattractive.

This clinched it, although she was only part of the reason. Nevertheless, I planned to, and did, call her after I did the job and told her that I had circumcised myself just for her. I had long had a love-hate feeling toward my foreskin. My uncircumcised cock was always an embarrassment. But the main reason I felt I had to get circumcised was to maintain my integrity. I was masturbating far too much, often several times a day—so frequently that often I didn't come. I had acquired the bad habit of rhythmically squeezing my legs together while sitting. This made my foreskin slide over my glans, if it wasn't already, and then slide back and forth over my glans giving me very erotic sensations. The worst part was that frequently I wouldn't even be aware that I was doing it until I felt myself about to come. Usually I could control it and keep from coming, but sometimes I soiled my pants. So I made a New Years vow to myself that I would stop squeezing myself and would masturbate no more than once a week. And if I broke this vow I would have myself circumcised.

Honestly, I didn't want to get circumcised. Yes, I wanted to look circumcised, but I didn't want to lose my foreskin or lose any more glans sensitivity than I had already lost. I really enjoyed masturbating with my full foreskin. I thought that knowing this would be the punishment that would make me control my masturbation. But the habit was too strong. In less than a week I had broken both parts of my vow.

I went to the college free health service and told them my foreskin bothered me and that I would like to be circumcised. The doctor examined my penis and couldn't find anything wrong with it. He said he couldn't do an elective circumcision and there was no evidence of disease. This gave me an out, so I gave myself a second chance to bring my masturbation under control; but still I couldn't. I had to get circumcised. My integrity was at stake. If I didn't keep my word, even though it was to myself, my word wasn't much good. My Jewish girlfriend gave an added incentive. Since my dad remained negative toward my getting circumcised, I decided to do the job myself.

I chose the ecraseur, or strangulation method. I pulled my foreskin forward over a small spool into which I had filed a circular groove at the end toward me and held my foreskin in place over it with a rubber band temporarily. Then I looped a piece of fine nichrome wire tightly around the back part of my foreskin over the groove in the spool and pulled and twisted the ends together with pliers. I used no anesthetic because at that time I didn't know I could obtain a topical local anesthetic without prescription. So I applied tension slowly, stopping when the pain became too great.

Surprisingly, my penis thought that this was fun and became very hard. As a result I shot my wad. This didn't help. My hands were full, so cleanup had to wait. I knew that the wire had to be tight enough to stop all blood circulation. At the same time I didn't want to break the wire or make the wire so tight that it cut through the skin. (If anything had gone wrong I planned to go to the doctor and tell him that I had caught my foreskin in my zipper and that getting it out made it bleed badly. So I had applied this tourniquet to it to stop the bleeding.) I had considerable concern that the wire might not be tight enough and that the two layers might not grow together. However everything turned out fine. I was sore, but there was no great pain—except when I had an erection.

For the first two days I had a slight burning sensation in my penis. The skin grew together where the wire pinched it to the spool, and on the sixth day my dead foreskin and the spool, still bound together, fell off while I bathed. The remaining foreskin retracted by itself behind my glans and stayed there. I still can pull my foreskin forward to cover two thirds of my glans, and the skin is taut only during an erection.

When I told my girlfriend that I had circumcised myself for her, at first she didn't believe it. But she gave me a date and when she examined my penis she couldn't believe her eyes. She took my penis into her mouth without my asking. It was great. This was the first time I had ever experienced fellatio, although other fellows had told me about their girlfriends doing it for them. I learned later that this is another advantage of being circumcised.

I have since then helped two other men circumcise their selves. In these cases I have chosen to use a special strong rubber band (O-ring) of surgical rubber. These rings were developed to be placed behind a lamb's balls to castrate him. In a few days his balls will fall off just like strangled foreskins do. When unstretched, the rubber rings are $\frac{1}{8}$ " ID and $\frac{1}{2}$ " OD but they can be stretched to over 2" diameter while held in a special tool for application over the balls (or a foreskin drawn over a grooved ring). I now use a topical anesthetic, benzocaine, if the man wants to avoid pain. I just massage it onto his foreskin and glans. Soon his foreskin and frenum are so numb he feels nothing when he gets the pinch and then the cut. Now I cut the foreskin off just in front of where it has been pinched. The dead foreskin, before it falls off, is not very esthetic and gets to smell bad. It also lets me pickle their foreskins for them in embalming fluid so they can keep them if they want to. They both wanted and got a very short cut (radical circumcision) including removal of their frenum.

Whenever I think of removing more skin from my own penis (this time near the base of my penis) or of circumcising someone else, my cock gets hard. □

HEAD CHEESE: SAFE SEX?

"Hey, man, how about leaving it ripe for me? Do me a favor and don't swab it out a few days before we have our date. Okay, man? You know what I dig. I want to sniff up your head cheese!"

"YUK! UGH! I dig uncut cocks but they've got to be sweet and clean or I won't touch them."

Smegma.

What is an uncircumcised man to do? He wants to make his partners happy. With all this current popularity of foreskin, he keeps receiving phone calls: "I understand you've got skin to share?" But he seldom gets clear signals about his cheese. It is embarrassing as hell when he arrives and that dreaded moment comes...the first sniff. If he is "ripe" when he is supposed to be clean and his new friend puckers up his nose, he wants to die! If he watches the guy sniff and sniff, pull the foreskin back and sniff some more, looking up at him as if to ask, "Where in hell is your cheese?" he knows he dropped the ball. Let's face it, there are hungry cheese hounds out there and there are people whom he would gag with it.

Smegma, that white, creamy, cheese-smelling substance that accumulates under the foreskin, has been controversial for centuries. While some "experts" (doctors, mothers and fellators) consider it to be dirt, the word SMEGMA is actually a Greek word meaning SOAP. Smegma, earlier in this century, was considered a major cause of cancer in both uncut men and their wives, although more recent medical studies have disproven that theory.

The overpowering smell of smegma on uncut teenage boys has caused more than one mother to send them to the circumciser, although French women find the smell of Musk (produced from a substance harvested from the preputial—foreskin—glands of the Musk Ox) so erotic that it is used as a base for many French perfumes.

The US military considered smegma to be a breeding ground of VD germs and made it a prime target during "short arm" inspections, causing many a GI to return home with a circumcised dick after WWII and Korea...while our European allies made no such connection and their men returned home smelling like real men.

Obviously, there is confusion about head cheese! Possibly because medical science hasn't had the stomach to take a close look at the pungent product, we really don't know how the penis produces smegma.

What is it? Dirt? No. As any uncut man will tell you, he can scrub his dick to a slick shine and one hour later the little rolls of white begin to reappear. At other times the same man can forget to "scat back" for several days and, for some reason, the white has failed to appear. Some medical "experts" claim that urine, sand, etc., gets trapped in the foreskin causing the growth of smegma. Bullshit! Many uncut dicks have foreskins that don't even cover the piss-hole when soft, so how can they trap urine up around the flare of the head?

The current "in" explanation as to how smegma is produced is that discarded skin cells from the glans and inner foreskin get trapped inside the foreskin and curdle into the creamy substance. But if skin cells are discarded at a steady rate, why do most men produce more smegma at one time than another? One theory seems to hold water: smegma is produced by a secretion that comes from glands circling the glans corona (the flare of the cockhead).

We have all seen cockheads that have rough circles circling the corona and other cocks that have just the faintest hint of roughness there. Well, ALL cocks, circumcised or uncircumcised, secrete from these glands...but only uncut cocks preserve the secretion.

Why do men produce smegma at different rates at different times? Well, the theory is that when you are hot you are hot! If Mother Nature wants you to find a mate tonight, you secrete. If she says, "Don't bother tonight," you don't secrete. You see, when you secrete you smell, and when you smell you attract a mate. Right?

Just as with the animals, scent plays a large part in human sexuality. And, a recent study at the University of Tulsa concluded that MUSK was the ONLY scent that produced erotic responses in humans! Yes, smegma (cheese, head cheese) is Mother Nature's only true human aphrodisiac. So when the uncut stud begins to fill the air with the sweet and sour aroma of cheese, he is telling the world that he is ready to fuck!

Besides aroma, uncircumcised men (many belong to the Uncircumcised Society of America) have reported other reasons for cultivating their cheese;

1) It is a lubricant so that if the skin rubs against anything, it slides instead of tearing at the tender tissues under the skin.

2) It is a moisturizer which stops the skin and glans from drying and cracking.

3) It is a barrier cream to keep out germs and infection.

4) It is a waterproofer against skin rashes that cause ulceration and scarring.

5) It tastes delicious...to the connoisseur!

Well, medical science might have some problems with this list...at least it offends some of the time-honored concepts of how awful a thing is smegma. But one point on the list is subjective and cannot be contested...the taste of smegma. Like all taste sensations, the human must condition himself for certain foods. Once he develops a liking for a certain taste he can't get enough! Right?

I suppose the same theory is true of smelling because our olfactory nerves tell us what we are both smelling and eating. However, with the current health situation we do have some questions about eating cheese. It is hard to imagine that smegma "carries"...but who knows? Let's make no mistake about one thing...sniffing head cheese has got to be safe sex! Smegma, ripened to perfection and rolled to sufficient quantity, will give the educated "cheese hound" a far better high than all the "recreational" chemicals on the market!

So how does the uncut man prepare his crop of cheese for the connoisseur? First, don't stop bathing! While cheese is a luxury and an honor to be able to produce, it can get irritating if allowed to curdle under the skin for too long. (I am sure that smegma's reputation for causing penile cancer came from those remote times when bathing facilities were rare and some men seldom, if ever, scrubbed out their skins).

While most doctors report that regular bathing habits are the best way to avoid foreskin problems, many report that there is no reason to "scat back" EVERY time you shower...every few days is enough. (Swabbing it out after sex, though, is a good habit!) The secret of being able to produce cheese AND bathe at the same time is in using PURE SOAP (Ivory)! Those antibacterial deodorant soaps used on your dick will wreck your cheese...and a few hot dates! □

ISLAM AND CIRCUMCISION

On any hot, sultry afternoon in Mecca one can hear the distant drums and duffs above the din of the dusty, narrow, streets and you know that a procession is winding its way through the multitudes of people, camels and merchant's carts.

"Just another wedding/circumcision," you say to yourself. Trying not to be swept away by the surging mob, you hesitate to catch a glimpse of the "bride." Sure enough, the gaily dressed drummers appear as the crowd separates to make way. The drummers are followed by singers, whose sounds seem more like war whoops and they are followed by a sight to behold!

Riding on a magnificent Arabian stallion in a heavily bejeweled robe is a seven-year-old boy. He is being paraded for all of Mecca to see because he is on his way to his circumcision. Flanking his horse are several powerfully built footmen attending the boy to make sure he doesn't fall from the horse and to refresh him with perfumed handkerchiefs. Closely following the horse is a stately Nubian woman upon whose head rests a copper brazier containing burning charcoal, resin and salt.

"Ouch," is your reaction when you realize that the hot contents of her vase will soon be smeared on the "bride's" penis. Following that painful reminder comes a dozen or so less impressive horses, each carrying another boy towards his manhood. These boys are the poorer friends of the first boy and, thanks to his wealthy father who will foot the bill for all, they will all get circumcised together. The procession ends with a motley collection of poor relations, gossipers and zealots. You are tempted to follow, to experience with these boys the most important event in their lives. After all, Arab hospitality opens its door wide to the "wayfarer" (traveler), especially if he is male.

You follow the procession for several hours as it meanders aimlessly through the maze of bazaars and mosques and finally, at sundown, it comes to a halt in front of the rich father's home. The women relatives retire to the second floor of the home to spend the evening segregated and exchanging spells. The men roll out rugs around the palm-lined grounds surrounding the home and sit around a huge bonfire discussing the boys' pending circumcisions, boasting about penis sizes and recalling the day they themselves became men.

The event turns into dawn... who can sleep before such an exciting occasion? All eyes are on the eastern horizon for the first signs of the rising sun. The barber arrives with his circumcision tools and there is a round of applause, laughter and whoops. He is just in time because the sun has just sent its first rays through the palm leaves. The boys are quickly stripped naked and spread-eagled on their backs, the male spectators pushing and hovering to get a better look.

The rich man's son is first! The barber grasps the boy's long, tapered foreskin tip and pulls it taut. Then he presses it together with a thong, carefully noting where the boy's glans is hidden under the foreskin and with an amazingly quick flick of the knife the young "bride" becomes a man. His glans pops out of its covering once and for all and is grasped by another man who smears the hot contents of the brazier on the wound and a plaster is placed around the newly carved piece of man-meat. The barber then goes down the line of poorer boys, making quick work of their conversions and the wedding is over! The men join the women and while the boys contemplate their Islamized penises an elaborate breakfast feast is enjoyed by one and all. Oh, what a wonderful "wedding/circumcision"!

The "bridal" processions in Cairo differ slightly from those in Mecca, because in Egypt the boys-to-be-circumcised are dressed as girls and the parade is complete with a full entourage of wedding attendants. The Egyptian processions also often include the barber, who proudly holds high the tools he will use to circumcise the penis of the "bride."

In Malaysia boys are circumcised while sitting on the PELAMIN (bridal couch). First, though, they must sit on the floor in front of the couch and recite from the Koran. After a successful reading, the boy kisses the hand of his Koran teacher and mounts the PELAMIN to become a man. After the foreskin has been amputated the "Mudim" (circumciser) takes a live rooster and pushes its head towards the boy's bleeding penis once or twice and if the chicken's neck feathers puff out it is an omen that the newly initiated man will be able to satisfy several wives.

In all of Islam it is an honor to be circumcised on the same day as a famous man's son. During the heyday of the Ottoman Empire the circumcision of the crown prince was celebrated by all the realm. On such a wondrous event, crowds of "lucky" brides were brought into town squares and every boy near circumcision age joined the prince in becoming a man. The prince became a man before the watchful eyes of invited dignitaries and crowned heads from all over the world. The humbled masses were dazzled by the "royal wedding."

Royal wedding? How silly! Aren't we getting a bit farfetched in calling a circumcision a marriage? Well, let's look at a few Arabic words. KHITAN is the Arabic word for circumcision. The word is one of a group of Arabic words using the root KH-T-N which refer to marriage; i.e., KHATAN (father-in-law), KHATANA (son-in-law), KHUTUNA (marrying), etc. Even the word for uncircumcised, ALKHAN, comes from words referring to brides.

These words occur also in the same or cognate forms in other North Semitic languages, indicating that they have a common ancestry in the earliest primitive Semitic tongues... and that circumcision was practiced on the Arabian desert long before Mohammed was born and the archangel Gabriel dictated the Koran to him. In fact, the Koran doesn't even mention circumcision. However, besides the belief that there is one god and his name is Allah and that the Koran embodies all the guidance people need to live by, every Moslem believes that it is SUNNA (an obligatory tradition) that every man and woman be circumcised. Unlike Judaism, which has strict laws regarding the time and method of the rite, Moslems vary widely as to the desired age for circumcision.

According to the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ISLAM, "Circumcision is allowed but not mandatory in a youthful age, but it is obligatory before the adult age." In Mecca both boys and girls are circumcised between three and seven years old; boys with great pomp, girls without festivities. In Egypt the boys are usually Islamized between five and twelve years while more sophisticated groups in that country are circumcised on the seventh day of life... although there is disagreement as to whether the birth day should be counted.

Other communities forbid circumcision before the tenth year; some wait until midteens and others hold back the initiation until the first marriage and make it part of the groom's contribution to the wedding ceremony (he must prove his manhood by fucking his virgin bride with his freshly denuded penis).

Bedouins on the desert seem to lose a sense of time and only after a few years do they decide to round up all the uncircumcised youths and circumcise them. Some devout families keep their favorite sons preserved until they have completed their Koran studies, making circumcision the reward. And, as we read above, many poor families wait until the rich man in the village is willing to pay the bill when his own son is ready to become a man.

However, with all this divergence, the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ISLAM claims that several things are common in all Moslem circumcision rites and "the rite shows a deeply rooted connection with marriage and the processions that take place show a striking similarity with bridal processions."

Boys to be circumcised are "brides"? Sounds very quaint and distant... something only a remote people lost in a time warp would think up! However, there are over 400 million Moslem men on the earth at this moment... the largest pool of circumcised cocks in the history of the planet! By the year 2000 several Islamic nations (Indonesia, Iran, Nigeria and Egypt) will pass all European nations in population.

The Soviet Union, which now has a huge population of unassimilated Moslems along its southern borders, will soon find that one third of its population worships Allah rather than Marx. Obviously, we are not discussing a "backwater" people, but a growing, vital and very sexy segment of humanity! And, although it has been three hundred years since the Ottoman Turks (Moslems) stormed the gates of Vienna, the Sword of Islam is still out to convert the world for Allah. Islamic zeal for proselytizing its religion is well known in history... and converting to Islam means one thing to most Moslems: circumcision.

In Java, the word for circumcision is NJELAMAKESELAM which translates to "rendering Muslim." Recent reports from the Afghanistan mountains suggest that young Russian soldiers who end up in enemy hands are spared death if they agree to convert to Islam. Can you imagine how shocked those blue-eyed, blond boys from the Russian steppes are as they watch the fierce, turbaned Afghan warriors slice off their foreskins! Mother Russian certainly didn't send her boys forth expecting them to receive such a rude marriage with Islam. But, one wonders, why are the Afghans willing to keep the prisoners who agree to circumcision? Why would they stop their war long enough to perform such a "wedding?"

In order to understand the connection with circumcision and marriage we must look at the Islamic custom of PURDAH. Generally speaking, PURDAH is the custom of isolating women. While we think that the Arabs are cruel to their women in restricting their freedom of movement, education, etc., the Arabs think that we fail to protect our women from the cruelty of the outside world. In any case, young Moslem boys find themselves alone in their schools and have little contact with girls.

As they grow older and get circumcised and their nuts churn for action, all they have is each other. They are encouraged to masturbate together at a very early age and are taught to look forward to their circumcision... when they become MEN. Therefore, they tend to think of their uncircumcised brothers as "virgins" and their circumcised brothers as "men." In fact, to their minds uncircumcised penises are ALL virgin penises... even on adults. And, isn't it human nature to seek out "virgins"?

In Arabia it is unthinkable that a bride might not be a virgin. Marriage means one thing... a girl will cease being a virgin. Circumcision means one thing... a boy will cease being a virgin. See the connection? Even the Afghan warrior will stop long enough to "break in" a virgin... especially if it means delivering a new convert to Allah! Indeed, a "wedding" means the loss of virginity... and the loss of a foreskin!

Now, how does all this quaint information affect us here in America? Well, first of all, most American penises ceased being "virgin" within a few hours after birth... so most Americans need have no fear of being "rendered." Those of us with "virgin" penises (uncut) needn't worry either. As tourist, or "wayfarers," we are heaped with Arab hospitality and as long as we stay out of jail our foreskins are not only safe, they are a treasure.

After all, "virgin" penises are fascinating to some men. Right? Second of all, I wonder what is the difference about the Arab belief that to be a MAN and an AMERICAN you must have a circumcised cock? Isn't there some "virgin" hokus-pokus going on in our own society? How often do we uncut Americans come across a doctor with itchy scissors and a desire to "break in" a virgin penis; "You should have that foreskin removed, young man!" After all, nature gave the male a natural sadistic instinct... for the night he initiates his virgin bride into womanhood. Or, the day he initiates a virgin penis into manhood. At least the Moslems call it a "wedding"! Honestly.

THE TRUTH ABOUT PIRATE FANTASIES

Foresails and Foreskins on the Seven Seas

Treasure Island

The release of Roman Polanski's Pirates may not have set box offices on fire or ignited the exiled director's dormant career, but it certainly rekindled my boyhood fantasies of life at sea with the men of the Jolly Roger.

The first Halloween costume I can remember wearing was a pirate suit—a gold vest and red sash over basic black. I can still feel the rough material irritating my unprotected glans before my mother told me I had to wear underwear—"like the real pirates did."

My early fantasies had been triggered by movies, especially The Crimson Pirate and Walt Disney's Treasure Island. I may not have known the difference between buccaneer and fuck-in-ear (a fetish I never fully developed), but I knew I liked to watch half-naked men swinging through the rigging and swashbuckling their way through fights more balletic than violent; and the flogging scenes touched an erotic chord buried even deeper in the subconscious of the person I was becoming.

By the time these pictures were revived, along with such classics as Errol Flynn in The Sea Hawk and Douglas Fairbanks in The Black Pirate, I was old enough to read between their G-rated lines.

I identified with two very diverse types. In Treasure Island I was Bobby Driscoll as Jim Hawkins, doing creative things with the big, hard, hairy, uncut dicks thrust at me through "worm holes" in the apple barrel where I hid, waiting to overhear mutineers' plots when I wasn't taking Long John Silver's smooth wooden leg up my supple, boyish ass. Of course that's not all the pirate gave me. Why do you think he was called "Long John"?

In The Crimson Pirate Burt Lancaster's costar was Nick Cravat, with whom he'd been partners in a circus act in the 1930s. Together they joyously (and in Burt's case, sexily) climbed tall, phallic masts and swung from ropes that hung like limp dicks until one of these men grabbed an end and stiffened one. In my fantasies I was Cravat, caring for Lancaster's every need like a good sidekick, including licking the sweat off every inch of his perfectly developed, lightly haired body.

Many years later I would meet Burt Lancaster and ask if he was aware at the time that he was turning on men as well as women. "I had a taste of that, yes," he replied. "I did a public appearance back in 1950 at the Capital Theatre in New York...in which I did an acrobatic act. I walked offstage and immediately was back in a pair of white tights because I was wearing a strip suit.

"There was a club in New York called the 112 Club. It was a very famous, uh, homosexual club—gay club. And all the boys for the early matinees—the morning shows 'cause we did seven show a day—would all be in the front row. And when suddenly, wham! I'd appear on this bar and fall to the next bar, there would be this great whoop from the front seats of the orchestra.

"So I knew," Burt concluded, his blue eyes smiling at the memory, "that somewhere along I was attracting some members of all sexes."

In 1956 Lancaster would bring his circus skills to the screen in Trapeze, and he and Tony Curtis would wear the tightest tights of any actors in that innocent decade—"so tight," to quote Robin Williams quoting Oscar Levant, "you can tell what religion they are." In truth, you couldn't. Costumers of that period could keep you from telling what gender they were, by tucking, packing and, if necessary, lowering the crotch halfway to the knee to avoid hinting at what lay beneath.

Speaking of costumes, I had a yen to try on Yvonne De Carlo's when I saw a minor effort called Buccaneer's Girl.

BURT LANCASTER: Attracting members of all sexes, seen here in Trapeze and The Crimson Pirate.

Looking back I wonder why I was more interested in her clothes than her leading man, Philip Friend—and whatever happened to him?

The Jim Hawkins identification was the strongest, for at my tender age I could aspire to no more than being a cabin boy who, if he behaved himself, was reserved for the officers' pleasure. Why else would they sign on a boy just old enough to be curious about sexual matters, androgynous if not somewhat feminine and in need of a daddy or several to initiate him in the ways of love?

If the cabin boy were naughty he would be flogged—unless he enjoyed it—or in extreme cases he was thrown to the wolves below decks where he might literally be fucked to death. Circumcision was another possible punishment for a boy who didn't obey his daddy, and relieved the monotony for the men who got tired of keel-haulings and plank-walkings. If you've seen one man dragged under the ship or plunging to his death in the waves, you've seen them all; but every dick is different, especially before a rusty sword chops off the foreskin.

Polanski's Pirates, aiming for a realistic portrait of the late 17th century with its custom-built $8 million galleon, may not fuel as many fantasies in the gay men of tomorrow. There are shirtless hunks to be sure, some of them dancing together, but the most provocative scene comes at the very beginning. Captain Red (Walter Matthau) and his "companion," The Frog (Cris Campion) have been adrift on a raft for a long time. Cris bends over, revealing a bit (more, Roman, more!) of the tender flesh of his upper cheeks, and Matthau snaps ravenously at his ass.

This is an image to relate to, although I wouldn't have had cannibalism in mind if I'd been Red/Matthau—I'd just want to chew on Frog/Cris' buns for a while before spinning him around and chewing on his probably uncut prick. We might never have been rescued!

Ah, but childhood fantasies fade and have to be replaced by adult fantasies. Besides, we know the real pirates only carried on with each other at sea because there were no women available, don't we?

Sure, and you're reading this in Good Housekeeping!

A 1983 book, Sodomy and the Perception of Evil: English Sea Rovers in the Seventeenth Century Caribbean by B.R. Burg (New York University Press), provides the basis for richer, more intelligent and historically accurate pirate fantasies. The book is scholarly to the extent that the use of clinical language and the absence of pictures lets you know this won't be J/O material until it's filtered through your imagination.

The facts, as Burg assembles and interprets them, show that the buccaneers who sailed the Spanish Main (Caribbean) in the 17th century also lived in a nearly all-male environment in the West Indies when they weren't at sea.

Societal homophobia was virtually unknown, except to the Puritans, in England and America in those days. The English had a law against bugging but it was rarely invoked and then only in tandem with a more serious charge such as sorcery or kidnaping. Around 1679 the governor of Jamaica pardoned three sailors of the Royal Navy who had been tried for sodomy on his island and sentenced to death. His explanation: "White men were scarce on the island."

Some of the pirates had apprenticed in legitimate sailing jobs, in the navy or on merchant ships. Others had been runaways or orphans traveling in gangs whose sexual activity was almost exclusively gay. In either case, Burg says, "the youthful recruits needed little sexual education from pirates."

Because most buccaneers came from the lower classes they were not accustomed to privacy, even when having sex, so the crowded conditions aboard ship didn't faze them or slow them down, especially with no one trying to stop them or tell them what they were doing "wrong."

Captains and craftsmen with special skills were more likely to have boys of their own than the average crew member who shared everything with his mates. Burg likens the beginning of these relationships to those of men in prison: "Essential elements in the seductions include some measure of training, considerable protection, and tentative physical contact leading to a complete sexual relationship."

A common but curious form of male bonding between pirates was called matelotage. It was basically a master-servant relationship, and yet the slave had rights, even to community property: "When a man died all goods went to his partner, whether master or matelot."

Matelot, literally French for sailor and a favorite word of Noel Coward's for obvious reasons, has two English slang definitions in the dictionary, sailor and bed-companion.

Apparently deep love sometimes grew from these situations—there are several cases on record of buccaneers risking and giving up their lives for their lovers—even though, as Burg points out, "The suitability of almost every member of a pirate crew as a sex partner for almost every other man means that aboard ship the potential for widespread promiscuity existed."

But what did they do? you ask, as if you thought your generation had invented gay sex. Well, fucking and mutual masturbation are well documented, but cocksucking was apparently less common. Perhaps drawing on his own prejudice or those of his sources, Burg blames this on the men being uncircumcised and rarely bathing:

"Although the continual accumulation of smegmal matter, desquamated epithelial cells, bodily secretions, fecal and urinary traces, perspiration, bacteria, dust, and dirt in the pubic regions may have rendered the practice of oral-genital contact appealing for some, it is at least as likely that these same accumulations could have made it obnoxious even for those who would normally have experienced sexual stimulation from moderately pungent genital odors."

Another reason for the popularity of fucking—as if we had to defend it!—was the common relationship of dominant daddies to their boys. "As each man's particular lad grew older and left the tutelage of his adult mentor, those who did not acquire any preference for younger partners simply joined the other crewmen in sexual activities, serving alternately as inserter, insertee, or in both positions as the situation required...they continued using anal intercourse, the type of sexual expression their early life experiences conditioned them to regard as normal."

Obviously Polanski held back a lot of material for Pirates II, but with this factual background we can more easily understand why Peter Pan, Sir J.M. Barrie's "eternal boy" (nudge nudge, say no more), tended to hang out with pirates!

ROMANCING THE MALE FOOT

ROBERT PAYNE

THE FOOT, LIKE THE HAND, LIKE OTHER PARTS OF THE BODY, IS A SEXUAL ORGAN

Getting carried away in a shoe store, this group sheds its shoes and inhibitions.

As a fetish, feet are pretty well established. For that matter, so are boots along with every kind of shoes from Bass Weejuns to ten-pound Wingtips and you can include sandals, sox and slippers. One of the several foot organizations includes uniforms and other accoutrements in its foot fetish. That we consider another fetish altogether and in this article we shall limit ourselves to the feet, dressed and undressed.

It is amazing how little of a show the male foot makes in photography, motion and otherwise. Perhaps that is due to the fact that the feet are found at the other extreme of the body and much of the time there just isn't room to show everything. But on the silver screen, when a male jumps into bed presumably barefoot, the tendency has always been to whisk his feet under the covers as if they were his genitalia. And occasionally he will be shown going to answer the door in the middle of the night. He dons a robe and pads to the door barefoot, but the camera cuts him off at the knee. In Victorian days, men would hope for the sight of a woman's stockinged ankle below all those petticoats and long skirts and the sight of one made his day. A woman's bare ankle was too much to hope for. But the sight of a man's ankle, bare or otherwise, seemed to be in Victoriana, of no interest to anyone.

Now in these liberated days, if we are lucky and if we are interested, we occasionally get to see a male bare foot. But now where one would expect them in abundance, in a magazine devoted to the male nude. Thumb through one of these picture books and compare the bare feet to the number of erections. Somebody cuts these hunks off at the knees, or in the Victorian dirty-picture tradition, leaves their socks and/or shoes on, if nothing else.

Socks can be a turn-on as well. White socks, sheer "clocked" socks, woolen socks that come all the way up the calf. Or no socks at all, "Miami Vice" style. That seems to be turning on everybody.

Which brings us to odor. There is much made of the odor of feet, which isn't too different from the odor of most parts of the body, including the hands. It is just that the wearing of most footwear provides very little in the way of ventilation. If a man runs around barefoot or in open sandals, his feet may get dirty but seldom smelly. However, there is a natural sweat and leather aroma associated with the foot, even the clean foot. But then there are parts of the body that are even more aromatic.

You will note that a man's feet are somewhat sacrosanct to him. Ask to see his hands and he'll hold them out to you without hesitation. Ask to see his feet, he'll hesitate and probably put you off. He'll even understand your staring at his dick when he whips it out at the urinal next to you, but he isn't likely to understand your fascination with the form of his stockinged feet as he tries on a pair of shoes in a store.

Yet men usually like to have their feet massaged, even made love to. He may think you are a bit strange when you go after his toes and soles with your tongue, but odds are that he will probably enjoy it as much as you.

There is a psychology to bare feet. Making your bottom, or boy or slave, go barefoot in places where everyone else is shod is effective even if it gets you thrown out of a bar or two. There was a theory among the Koreans, or was it the Vietnamese, that prompted them to keep their American prisoners of war barefoot since the Caucasians were unused to being without shoes and kept their heads down, partially to see where they were stepping, which made them appear more subservient. There was also another rumor that many prisoners of war also came back with venereal diseases, due to being used sexually by their captors. The rule seemed to be "Pregnant and Bare-foot" in the Oriental prison camps.

To many men it is a definite turn-on to be made to get down and service another stud's big masculine feet. To have a man's bare foot placed in one's crotch or to have him take your cock between the soles of his feet and jerk you off (it takes considerable practice) is ecstasy for more men than you would immediately estimate. To be made to sleep at the foot of the bed with one's genitals tied to his Master's ankle or his collar fastened to his Master's ankle is enough for a foot fetishist. To polish his Master's boots and shoes whether off or on, licking them, waxing them, buffing them to perfection also is a foot man's idea of heaven. To have the foot that came out of those boots in his face, squashing his balls or inserted in his ass is the ultimate.

The bottom's own feet are good for something other than padding around bare, as well. The soles are tender enough to effectively feel the most of molten wax dripped on them one drop at a time. A light whipping can't land on a much more sensitive area, although there are so many small bones in the feet that one must be careful in administering such a whipping. The toes can be tied effectively to hobble their owner.

In the Midwest there were, or are, a religious group of "Dunkards" who make a ritual of washing one another's feet as the New Testament claims Jesus did for his disciples. And, in spite of the fundamentalist sects that roll on the floor, speak in "unknown tongues" and fondle snakes, the poor Dunkards are considered "queer" due to their penchant for foot washing.

THE KID'S FIRST TIME WITH DAD PART 1

The kid's been bad (chicks and drugs) but Dad knows just how to handle him. Dad shows his son who's boss and gives him the punishment he deserves. It's a horny kid's introduction into the male world of cocksucking, armpits, piss and, most of all, hot, masculine attitude.

THE KID'S FIRST TIME WITH DAD PART 2

Dad's been waiting for the right opportunity to corrupt his oversexed boy and tonight's the night. He knows he shouldn't do it, but those hot ass cheeks and adolescent cock are too tempting.

MY DADDY WAS BAD

The kid comes home to find his dad asleep after a hard day's work. He could stand there forever at the foot of the bed, rubbing his crotch and watching his dad's hairy chest, meaty thighs and swollen dick. But when Dad wakes up, matters come to a head and the kid gets taken on a wild sex trip that culminates in a super-hot scene.

KID VS DAD— WINNER TAKES ALL

Ever wrestle with your old man? Ever wonder what would happen if those sessions got Dad hot—too hot—and he overpowered you? Ever wonder about all the different things he could force you to do to that sweaty body of his before he pins you on your stomach and forces that horse-dick of his up your ass? It's all on this tape!

RITEs AND RAUNCH

There was definitely something evil about the guy, maybe that's why I went home with him. But nothing prepared me for what was to come. I admit the things he lead me into were pretty sick, but he was so sure of himself, so masculine—well, I did them. Warning: Don't order this tape unless you're prepared to listen in on some really perverted stuff—devil worship, toilet sex in a filthy bathroom. Male bonding at its most extreme.

BIKE EXHIBITIONIST

Imagine: it's a steamy afternoon at the local truck stop and you see a biker who looks too good to be true—mean, dirty, muscular—leaning against his big, black Harley. You ask if he's interested in getting some pictures of his bike. But back in your garage his massive chest, his big, hairy ass, piss streaming out of that dick... It turns out he's quite an exhibitionist. But things get out of hand when he forces you to do more than take pictures. In a short time you know that stinking body better than your Polaroid does.

MARINES OVERHEARD

Two hot and very horny young Marines meet in the barracks latrine. Richie has to take a piss... and Mike takes things from there. If you're a real pig... if you like your action raunchy—hot military scenes, uniforms, the feel of a cold tile floor against your naked back while a hot Marine squats on your face—then we think you might be interested in Marines Overheard.

HOT HUNG TRUCKER

Teamster Bob picks up a not-so-innocent hitchhiker at a truckstop in the California desert. Bob has a kink in his neck... Jake the hitchhiker suggests a massage. Bob's leather jacket is the first thing to come off—then his dirty, greasy jeans. When they drop to the floor of the cab, you'll find out how this tape got its name. Jake knows just what to do to service that big rig. And you'll feel like you're right there to help him out.

MUSCLE BUILDER ORGY

Five hot bodybuilders, after a sweaty workout... stripping down to sweat-drenched jockstraps... eyeing each other... their hands reaching out to feel their buddies' biceps, brushing against these solid, hard pecs... and down, down still further 'til they get so hot they don't give a shit who walks in. If you get off on pumped-up muscle, hot man-to-man action, steamy lockerroom sex with no holds barred, then this tape is for you.

DELIVERY BOY COMES AGAIN

Richie is the new driver on the route. He's a hot, straight Italian guy who seems a little "curious" when he finds himself delivering beer and soda to a gay bar. The bartender jumps at the opportunity; soon he convinces Richie to pull out his dick and show it off. "I gotta piss," Richie announces so the bartender hands him an empty beer can. A hot session follows that gets into heavy cocksucking, lots of dirty talk, more piss games and kinky exhibitionism.

AL PARKER AS THE REPAIRMAN

Porn star Al Parker in his only audio tape. Al's an air conditioner repairman who drops in on a guy who's wife isn't home. Who could resist Al's enormous cock? Sucking that mammoth piece of meat isn't enough and pretty soon the guy's begging for it up his ass. He gets it too—plus Al's giant balls at the same time, in one of the hottest and kinkiest scenes ever recorded.

TAPE 1 THE INTERROGATION

This tape is featured on the cover of Drummer magazine. Model Brutus is a mean Master who knows how to deliver some heavy abuse, both physical and mental. On side one he talks directly to you, forcing you to suck his big cock and worship that incredible Master body. On side two we hear an authentic session where he works over a slave. Plenty of humiliation, and heavy, heavy abuse.

TAPE 2 THE TRAINING BEGINS

Brutus lays it on as his recruit responds willingly and unwillingly to the abuse and humiliation of his training. Not even allowed to beg, he submits to the DI's heavy hand and busy belt. Breathtaking!

TAPE 3 PUNISHMENT & REWARD

When Brutus speaks, men listen, as will you when he tells you how it is and how it is going to be. Whether the punishment is its own reward, or the reward is merely more punishment, only the lowly recruit can say. One hour of intense verbal abuse.

THE COMMANDER SPEAKS

"I am your big brother, your daddy, your commanding officer. I am every big man you ever saw in your whole fuckin' life and started beating off about... your tongue is going to be my shower... your mouth is going to be my toilet... you're going to make me feel like the biggest man in the world, just 'cause you got a throat. Get your teeth down there on that zipper... get down. That's it—get your face in there. Smell what a man is like between his legs." This is just the start of the verbal abuse and humiliation

Authentic military discipline as a tough Drill Instructor takes advantage of a couple of guys in the brig. Packed with heavy verbal abuse and forced body worship as the D.I. proves who's in command.

THE COP STARRING MASTER MARIO

A mean police officer forces a suspect to service his body in a show of brute, perverted force. Climaxed by a raunchy bathroom scene and the victim cleaning out the cop's dirty ass.

COP WORSHIP

We've never offered a strictly one-man narrative tape before, but this one is so good we decided to make an exception. It's one guy's cop fantasies, his true-life obsessions, his dreams of what might happen if that super-hot cop he's had his eye on for months should bust him, force him to his knees to suck not only his cock but his partner's too, as the two cops stare at each other in the eye. All the guy's pent-up desires come out; slurping cop cum out of rubbers, swallowing gallons of cop piss, wallowing under dominant cop attitude. If you're into cops, you'll listen to this tape again and again.

RONNIE

by Mark Beaumont

I still remembered Ronnie's fat, uncut cock. I'd last seen it when we were seventeen, before he moved away. Now, meeting him again, the memory excited me. Ronnie had brought me out when we were teenagers. Now, ten years later, I anticipated a session of hot sex.

We looked at each other in his living room. After meeting in the street, we'd come up here to pick up again.

"You're lookin' good," he said.

"You too," I replied, as I took in how he'd changed, grown to match my six feet, gotten more muscular, and now had a blond moustache over his wide mouth.

We caught up on our lives. I found out that Ronnie was working as a firefighter, and I told him of my life as a teacher.

"Hey, since we really never had anything to hide, let's get naked." I started stripping off my clothes, and my eyes traveled down his tanned, muscular body.

His cock was stiff, and mine was growing to its full seven inches, as the last of our clothes came off. I saw we both still shaved our pubic areas, making our cocks stand out.

I looked at his dick, puzzled. When I'd last seen it, the foreskin had made a pucker beyond his fat, mushroom-shaped head, even with a hard-on. Now, it was half off the head.

"Maybe I'm wrong, Ronnie, but you don't seem to have as much skin as you did." As I spoke, I skinned him back and exposed the thick rim, feeling his cock throbbing in my hand.

"I've been getting circumcised, bit by bit. I'll wind up just like you," he answered. I felt his finger run around the groove behind my head. My rim was as fat as his but with a thin scar behind it. I looked up at him, and he went on:

"I've got a new thing now, a new crowd, and they're into S&M. I wasn't sure at first, but now I like it." As he spoke, he gently pinched my thick rim, turning me on. "What's it like?" I asked, anxiously.

"Well, we use pain. I really come off when there's a little pain added." As he spoke, he slid my tight skin up and down, bumping the rim with each stroke.

We moved into the bedroom and sat down on the king-size. I was jacking him full stroke now, as his precum coated the bulging head. Ronnie lubed my cock with baby oil, and started stroking me slowly.

He spoke again:

"I'm gonna go to a party tonight. Want to come, see what it's like?"

I nodded yes, and he went on:

"Each time they cut a little more off my skin. It's really a thrill, because the pain's like an explosion, and I really cum hard. If I didn't cum now, I'd shoot right away tonight."

Feeling the pulses pounding in our palms, we could see the excitement in our eyes, and feel the increasing tension. Ronnie always came a lot, and I eagerly awaited his climax, looking at his blond, fair-skinned features.

His teeth clenched and his cock throbbed hard in my fist as the first jet shot out of his dick, hitting me in the chest. I felt the tickling in my tip travel suddenly down to the root, and my storm started. My burning hot stream came up the shaft and into the air, falling between us. Another pulse came, timed perfectly with his, then another. Time stopped as we enjoyed each other's bodies, lost in mutual ecstasy.

Afterwards, I asked him:

"How long did it take to get cut back the way you are?"

"About three years. They only cut a little at a time, and I need time to heal in between."

"What's it feel like? They use any anesthetic?"

"No anesthetic. That would ruin it. They cut me when I start to cum. The blade feels red-hot, even though it's cold, and I blast off."

That gave me something to think about while we dried off. We dressed and went out to eat before going to the party.

When Ronnie rang the bell the door opened and a round face framed with black hair peered out. He greeted Ronnie immediately, and when his eyes lingered on me, Ron said:

"It's all right, Mike, he's with me."

We went in, and Ronnie introduced me to the two guys

"Mark, this is Mark and Mike. They're brothers. One has the same name as you."

The brothers stood slightly less than six feet, with busy dark hair and moustaches, unlike my clean-shaven look. They were about our age, but Mark looked about a year older, maybe because of his glasses. Both were muscular like construction workers and during the small talk said they were. Mike came back from the kitchen with bottles of beer for us. We took deep swallows, and Ronnie said:

"Well, let's get started," stripping off his clothes as he spoke. Mark and Mike did the same, and I followed, eyeing their athletic bodies as they uncovered. They, too, shaved their pubic hair, and their clean-cut cocks stood out like ours. Although their faces were alike, their cocks were not. Mark's cock was longer, with a round, flaring head that swung back and forth when he stepped out of his jockeys. Mike had a narrow head with a long, thin slit at the end. Both looked as if they'd be about seven inches when fully hard.

Leaving our clothes on the floor of the living room, we followed the brothers into a back room, where I saw a solid oak table in the center and armchairs against the walls. Ronnie got up on the table, which was long enough for his full length, and the brothers fastened him down with straps like seat belts. They went over Ronnie's throat, wrists, chest and legs, leaving no slack. Mark turned to me and said:

"We've got him tied down so he can't break free, because he struggles a lot, even though he enjoys it." He opened a drawer at the side of the table, and I saw surgical instruments on a clean, white towel. He wrapped a thin rubber tube in a tourniquet at the base of Ronnie's cock. The effect was startling. His cock hardened, the skin sliding back completely, revealing the head with its glossy surface. Mike wrapped his fist around Ron's cock, jiggling the skin, bumping it against the high rim.

"Now he looks like us," Mike said. I felt Mark's hand slip around my cock, testing its hardness, fingers running up over my rim. Mark and Mike were as hard as I was. Mark poured some baby oil onto my cock. I took the bottle from him and coated his, working my hand in full strokes on his hardness. I started on Mike's cock with my other hand.

"Now we can start," Mark said, picking up a needle. Wrapping his hand around Ronnie's cock again, he pricked the head lightly, as he jiggled the skin. Ron closed his eyes, and moved his head slowly from side to side. I watched in fascinated silence, as Mike's hand stroked my cock slowly and teasingly.

"Did he come today?" Mark asked me.

"Yeah, we jacked each other off earlier."

"I thought so. Ronnie's always hot as a pistol, and sometimes we give him head before we start, just to calm him down. Still, he's gettin' too excited now. I can tell," Mark said, and picked up some ice cubes from a bucket and thrust them under Ronnie's balls, making him howl with surprise.

"Cooled you off, didn't it, good buddy?" Mark smiled. Ron's cock was rock-hard, and Mark jiggled his skin over the cock rim. As I watched, I felt myself getting hot. I saw Mike's free hand sweep away the ice cubes and start kneading the drawn-up skin of Ronnie's balls.

Mike drove a needle into the loose skin of Ronnie's sac. Ronnie jumped against the straps, then relaxed as Mark's hand continued its pleasing caress on his dick. Fluid poured from the end of his dick, coating both his rigid cock and Mark's hand.

My excitement mounted, and I felt a drop of precum ooze up my tube. A drop of clear fluid forced apart the edges of Mike's long, thin slit.

Mark stroked Ronnie's foreskin forward as far as he could and gripped a small piece tightly with a hemostat. Ronnie lurched against the straps, teeth clenched. As Mark locked the hemostat in place, it bobbed with the movement of Ronnie's foreskin.

Mark held a vibrator against Ronnie's cockhead. When he hit the switch, Ronnie tensed, this time with pure pleasure. More precum appeared at his tip. Mike tugged gently at the needle in Ronnie's scrotum. Ronnie moaned as a drop of blood appeared.

Still stroking their cocks, I felt increasing heat in my fingers. Mark's head bulged in my hand, and I saw the flaring rim standing out. I looked at Mike's long, thin cockhead and saw that the tight rim was rock-hard. The color had changed from pink to purple, a sign that he was close.

Mark picked up a long vibrator, also battery-powered. Dropping Ronnie's cock, he lubricated the butt-plug and probed for Ronnie's secret spot. Ronnie's face tightened, then relaxed as Mark pressed it in gently. Mark turned it on and Ronnie smiled, enjoying the sensations flowing into his body.

Mike said:

"There's one for you, if you want."

I looked at him, hesitating. He looked directly into my eyes, smiling, and said:

"It won't hurt. It's different, and maybe you'll like it."

"Okay," I said. Mark lubed it, and Mike guided it between my ass cheeks. The lube felt cold, but warmed quickly as the end slid in. Mike hit the switch. The buzzing filled me as Mike guided the butt-plug all the way in. I squeezed my muscles back against it, bucking my hips.

Ronnie relaxed and enjoyed it, letting the ecstasy come to him. Mark started working on him again, hitting Ronnie's fat rim with the stud of the vibrator, working it into the groove behind the flaring head, then to the supersensitive underside. Ronnie's body tensed, then relaxed again. He spoke:

"Can't get too hot. I want this to last."

Mark answered him in his deep voice:

"I'm gonna make you come. No way you're gonna avoid it."

Ronnie made another effort to relax, but the sensations were too much. Mark was attacking him front and rear, and his body tensed again, every muscle tightening in anticipation of his climax. Mark tortured him slowly.

I could feel it reaching me, and my tip swelled. A tickling sensation told me I was getting close.

Mark was running the vibrator all over Ronnie's cock now and Ronnie's hips bucked against the tight straps. He closed his eyes tightly, struggling to keep from coming. The slit of his purple head was running with fluid, pouring down onto his stomach. Mike pulled on the needle in Ronnie's scrotum again. Ronnie groaned, both in pleasure and pain, and the backs of his knees thumped the table.

Mark jerked the foreskin with the hemostat, pulling the cock straight up. He picked up a scalpel and pressed the point into the strip of skin at the front of the hemostat, drawing blood. He reached down for the vibrator and pressed the stud against Ronnie's piss-slit, slippery with precum. Mark ran it over the surface of the shining head as he pressed the scalpel point against Ron's foreskin. Ron gritted his teeth and groaned.

"Watch him come, only a few seconds now," Mark said without turning his head. Ronnie's body was tense against the straps now, every muscle showing as he lost control.

I was going to explode soon. The tickling had traveled from the base of my prick to the head, and I felt that I had to take a hot piss, but couldn't. Mark and Mike were close, and their engorged cocks throbbed in my hands.

I saw mark pull harder on the hemostat as he started to cut the sliver of foreskin. Ronnie screamed with the pain and his body thumped against the table as Mark ripped off the tourniquet.

White fluid shot out of Ronnie's cock, straight up, coming back to land on his chest. His slit gaped wide open as another rush of juice shot out. Mark dropped the vibrator and severed the skin below the hemostat. Ronnie screamed again, and another stream of life fluid came out of his cock as Mark's hand wrapped around it, jacking him up and down frantically.

Mark's cock throbbed uncontrollably in my hand, and I felt the pulse as his first jet exploded. He shot again, while Mike's cock jerked in my right hand.

The head of my cock exploded, and the hot sparks leaped to the root, where the first burning gush poured out, scorching up my cock to the end. I felt the rush as my climax started pounding deep inside me, in time with Mike's and Mark's.

Mark's hand was fisting Ronnie's bloody foreskin up and down as fast as he could, and our eyes were fixed on Ronnie's ecstatic agony. As he yelled again, another jet shot up out of his prick, to fall back on Mark's fingers, mixing with the blood. He shot again, the white froth rising out of his dick, this time falling on his ball-sac and Mike's hand, still holding the needle.

I stood there, two throbbing cocks in my hand, lost in passion. Mike swayed against me, weak from the violence of his orgasm. Our climaxes roared on, until we were all tired and spent.

We stood there unmoving for a minute, recovering from the storm. Mark was the first to speak.

"Well, let's get him loose and cleaned up."

The straps off, Ronnie lay limp on the table, too dazed to move. With an alcohol pad, Mark gently wiped down the cut on Ronnie's foreskin. Mike wiped me down with a moist towel, my cockhead sensitive and sore, as it always is after I come.

Back in the living room, we drank another round of beers, trying to recover from the excitement. Ronnie spoke to me:

"Enjoy it?"

I nodded yes, and he spoke again:

"You want to try it yourself?"

I didn't reply. I looked at his bandaged cock and realized that he still had skin to spare. I'd lost all of mine shortly after I was born, probably strapped down the way Ronnie had been, without anesthetic and without pleasure.

As if reading my thoughts, Mike said:

"We had a guy last week who wanted to get cut all the way. He had a long one, like Ronnie when he started, an' he wanted to get rid of it in one shot. He'd smoked some stuff before we started, and when he got up on the table, he was flying, with a hard-on all the time. I slit his hood along the top, with scissors. Then I cut around the sides, behind the head. When I snipped his G-string, he popped."

"We wouldn't cut you. You don't have enough. Instead, we've got an electric shock machine, gives a thousand volts, but no amps. It doesn't burn, but you'd jump off the table if you weren't strapped down."

Ronnie nodded encouragingly. I stood up and walked into the back room, eager and yet apprehensive.

Mark and Mike strapped me down so quickly that I thought they were afraid I'd change my mind.

Mark took out a vibrator with a cup attachment, and placed it over my cockhead. When he hit the switch, the delicious sensations made me get hard right away. I looked, and saw Ronnie stroking both their cocks, working them up to full hard.

Mark said:

"I'm gonna get you real close, so close you'll almost pop, before I take that off," Mark said. I felt the tourniquet go around my cock, and as Mark tightened it, I felt my cock grow stiffer and the head swell under the cup as if I were about to cum.

Mark moved again, and the lubricated butt-plug slid into me. This time it slipped in far enough to touch my prostate, and it felt like a probing red-hot finger. I heard Mark's voice:

"When you're close, I'm gonna slip in the electrodes. One'll go up your ass with the butt-plug, and one'll go into your piss-slit."

Suddenly, I felt real fear. I hadn't realized what I'd let myself in for, and I'd allowed these people to tie me down and handle my body in a way I'd never experienced. I struggled against the straps, then yelled:

"Hey! That's enough! Let me go!"

Ronnie spoke:

"Don't worry. You'll be all right. Just let it happen." His voice gave me confidence, but I was still scared.

Even though my mind had wandered, my cock was still rock-hard, and I was getting hotter. The buzzing against my prostate was filling me up with sensation, while the cup enclosing the head of my dick tantalized me with a promise of more to come. I felt a slippery hand stroking my shaft, from the base to the groove behind the head, and I heard Mike's voice:

"We'll take good care of you, don't worry. You'll be cumming in a minute and you'll always remember this one."

He was right. My excitement built up until I was right at the critical point. I felt the urge to piss, and the tickling in the head of my cock drove me wild. My dick-root gave a warning throb, which Mike felt in his hand, and he spoke:

"Mark, he's ready."

I felt something slip into me from behind, past the butt-plug. Then the cup was suddenly gone from my bulging cockhead, and Mike's hand made a full stroke over it. The tourniquet came off. Something probed into my piss-slit, and a second later my cock exploded with the shock of a thousand volts. I'd had hot orgasms before, with my juice feeling like hot lava when it shot up my tube, but this was more intense, much more. I screamed as another shock hit me, a red-hot lightning bolt from the end of my dick to my asshole.

My muscles tightened as I started cumming. The first jet flowed up my tube, where the pressure of Mike's finger stopped it. Another shock ran through me, and as I groaned it triggered another spasm deep inside. My hips bucked against the straps, as my fluid shot into my tube, building up pressure because it couldn't escape. Another shock, another hot spasm, and I heard a roaring in my ears as I had the most intense climax of my life. I couldn't take any more.

Gratefully, I felt the fingers digging into my urethra relax, and my fluid pouring out around the electrode in my piss-slit. Another shock came, triggering another cum, and I jerked in the straps as the pleasure wracked my body. I saw Mark, jaw set, climaxing as Ronnie's hand flew over his cock. Ronnie's other hand was on Mike's cock, also spitting out its white message. Ronnie's cock was so hard it stood almost flat against his stomach, blood on the bandage around the end.

I saw a flash in front of my eyes as another thousand-volt shock went through my cock. My teeth clenched as my juice flowed out. Another dazzling pain went through my cock, and I spasmed again. Between jolts Mike's hand moving on my cock felt almost calming, massaging the oil and cum-juice into the tender, sensitive surface, hitting my nerve endings with a soothing caress.

Mark and Mike were leaning against the table, exhausted. They helped me get up, and arm-in-arm we walked out into the living room. Another round of beers came, and we sat silently while I pulled myself together.

"Like it?" Ronnie's words interrupted my thoughts.

I looked at him, still dazed. I knew that I'd enjoyed it, even though it had been rough for a while. Mike, next to me, slipped his hand into mine, and on impulse, I kneaded his cock in response. He leaned over to kiss me on the lips, and I felt a warmth towards him as I kissed him back. Across the room, Ronnie and Mark were hugging tenderly, smiling. □

From our MIDNIGHT COLLECTION of erotic art-sculpture-jewelry-etc., we present:

The FASCINUS

Good-luck charm of the ancients.

The word Fascin comes from the ancient Romans who gave this name to penis-shaped amulets they wore as good-luck charms. Sculptured in exquisite detail, our Retraction Series depicts the realistically veined foreskin in various stages of retraction. Two smaller versions have the foreskin forward and fully retracted. Fascinating, sensuous, exciting, and sure to bring you good-luck, these amulets can be used on a key-ring (included) or worn on a chain. Hand-cast and hand-finished in solid 14k gold or sterling silver. These amulets are a must for the serious collector.

Retraction Series (1 1/4 inches long): Foreskin forward (3151, slightly retracted (3152), nearly retracted (3153), and fully retracted (3154) 14k Gold: $825.00 Sterling: $130.00
