UNCUT CORRESPONDENCE

Dear FQ,

The letter from the woman in Michigan encouraged me to write and remind you not to forget your women readers. Don't forget, there are a lot more cocks out there being sucked by women than by men.

I thought your readers might like to see my husband's well-sucked foreskin and the bare head under it. We always say, when it's soft, it's his, and when it's hard, it's mine. I love to make it mine as often as possible.

Mrs. O.P.

Hi, Bud,

No words can express how incredibly fantastic is your magazine Foreskin Quarterly. We can jack off at each page!!

M.M.
Paris, France

Dear Bud,

I was in a predominately male pornographic shop recently, when I saw copies of your publication Foreskin Quarterly on a rack for sale. I quickly bought one and rushed out to someplace where I could read it. A truly remarkable and well-put-together (pun intended) magazine.

Here is a series of events which happened to me recently. I would be very pleased if you would publish my story in FQ. I think many of your readers would enjoy reading about my somewhat unusual chain of events. Here goes.

I had bought a copy of FQ, and after reading it (and jacking off my uncircumcised cock several times) I hid it in my nightstand underneath a couple of issues of Sports Illustrated. I came home from work several weeks ago, and when I sat down to read the mail, my wife dropped my copy of FQ in front of me on the table. She asked me where I got it, and I told her I had bought it in a gay book store. I explained to her that I had always been fascinated by looking at and reading about circumcised and uncircumcised cocks.

It is difficult for me to imagine what it would be liked to have a permanently bare uncovered glans. Just as it is impossible for a man circumcised in infancy to be able to imagine what sex is like with a foreskin. I can pull my foreskin back behind my glans, and when I have a hard-on my foreskin will stay retracted. I started stretching my foreskin by beating off when I was about six years old, so my foreskin is nice and loose, and slips back over the head of my penis when I get soft.

My wife had sex with three men before I met her and we got married. All three of her premarital sex partners were circumcised. I told her that I had frequently masturbated thinking about her having sex with those circumcised men. At this point she opened up FQ and began reading it to me. It was exciting hearing her read the stories and letters out loud, and in spite of my earlier nervousness, I got a tremendous hard-on. She noticed, and encouraged me to take care of the situation. So, while she read I stroked my foreskin up and down over the shiny head of my lubricating penis.

Dear FQ,

I just bought the fall issue and I must commend your insightful articles on the uncut dick. I am black and have always had a love with the uncut dick (I suppose because I am uncut and damned proud of it). I have found that uncut dicks are hard to find on white men, only a few. I am glad the tide is turning and more men are coming out of the closet and showing off all that beautiful skin.

Also, FQ is the only male-oriented magazine that gives equal coverage of minority men; your issue with George was out-of-sight. I have a thing for Asian men but could never see one of those beautiful Oriental uncut dicks. Tell George he made a true believer out of me. And David! What can I say? Your article on feet was right-on. Oh, man, an uncut dick with big beautiful feet! Keep up the good work.

K.B.
Minneapolis, MN

Dear Sirs,

I have been reading FQ since the first issue and look forward to many more. As one of the "special" breed it is exciting to find myself on the inside of what seems to be a new fad. Growing up in the U.S. "intact" sometimes caused embarrassment, rude comments, etc., but now all that seems to have reversed itself. I have now become somewhat envied by those who previously felt they were, for some strange reason, better than me.

M.C.

Dear Mr. Berkeley,

Enjoy your mag. Keep up the good work. I outlined it while erect, as I was reading FQ. What do you think of my work?

(Editor's note: Your work is mouth watering. Your works? Yum!)

Dear Bud Berkeley,

I have just read FQ 6 (my first issue) and I have never been so sexually stimulated by a magazine in my life! I am still dripping out of my (unfortunately) circumcised cock. Foreskin is a real fascination of mine. You can consider me a "friendly cut," and I am REAL friendly to a man with a BIG uncut dick.

C.W.

Dear Mr. Berkeley,

I just picked up FQ—it's the first time I've seen it, and what a turn-on! Just the sort of magazine I've been looking for and I can't wait to start corresponding with some of the guys listed in it. I belong to several correspondence clubs but didn't realize there was a place to list especially for foreskin lovers.

Dear FQ,

nately, I was a child of the '50s, brought up on Dr. Spock and lost my "phallic flap" at birth. I've been searching for another one ever since. I've spent a great deal of time cruising tea rooms, bookstores and baths in order to satisfy my obsession for those glorious uncut slabs of meat. One whiff of that cheese does more for me than a gallon of amy!! I could spend hours sucking, chewing, licking and docking those hot skins, although I seem to find a good number of them poking through glory holes skinned back.

I pull that manly skin back over the head to chew on or run my tongue under. This seems to freak a lot of those lucky foreskinned guys out and they lose interest real fast—especially if I try docking. Although I find many men very receptive—even grateful—to my manipulations and, surprisingly, a lot of these guys have never tried docking before—and love it (I find my greatest pleasure shooting a load in another man's skin).

Anyway, to make my point, I'm very grateful to have at my access a whole list of intact men wanting my specialized service!

S.N.
Chicago, IL

Dear Bud,

I am what you might say halfway between cut and uncut. I was circumcised at birth but, you see, several years ago for a couple of years, I indulged in the practice of vaccum penis enlargement increasing the length of my dick by $\frac{3}{8}$ inch, making it $8\frac{3}{8}$ inches long. A side effect to this enlargement was the stretching of the skin so that now I have a foreskin that will slide completely over my mushroom cockhead when my cock is soft and halfway over it when my cock is erect.

When I remove my flaccid cock from my underbriefs to piss, the skin is always covering half of my cockhead and I enjoy the sight of slowly sliding the skin back to explore the ridge of the cockhead. It intrigues me to watch, up close, the foreskin of an uncut dick sliding back and forth over the swollen cockhead, exposing the full glans and the ridge and then again hiding those fascinating features again as it slides forward, especially if my hand is doing the sliding. I love to play with and suck on an uncut dick.

Dear FQ,

I read with interest and I'm afraid more than a little skepticism the response of Bud Berkeley to "Up Front Foreskin" in USA Update, FQ 5. I realize Bud is trusting his own observations.

As a professional zoologist who has traveled widely in the Amazon basin, I know for a fact that Amazonian Indians tie off their foreskin for practical reasons and not those of eroticism suggested by Hautlob. Hautlob's and Sitzfleisch's premise that the foreskin is the only original and natural covering of the human body totally ignores eyelids, lips and hair and seems more subjectively developed as an anthropological issue than objectively researched fact.

In any case both women who lack the erotic (?) benefits of a foreskin and men among the Amazonian Indian tribes share one overwhelming concern that their urethral tracts NOT be entered by the tiny vampire catfish of the family Trichomycteridae which live in most reaches of the Amazon drainage. These catfish are often very tiny and slender even as adults; several species are parasites and normally feed on the gill tissues and blood of larger fish, whose bodies they enter by swimming "upstream" into the exhalent discharge from the host fish's gills. Mammals, including humans, are not infrequently invaded via the urethra—presumably while in the active act of urinating and producing an entry current; once inside the tiny catfish cannot reverse direction, erects its fin spines, and eventually dies. The resultant infection in a location difficult to access even for a trained physician has grim and usually fatal result for the victim.

These tiny fish are the most feared animals of the Amazon and are the first thing all tribes warned us of in our travels. Since the rivers are very important to all Amazonian tribes for travel, bathing, food, etc., an Indian may deliberately or accidentally enter the water at any moment. As protection, the men always keep their foreskins tied shut and women wear small but efficient woven aprons to prevent entry by the catfish.

J.L.
Royal Oak, MI

(Editor's note: Yes, I was reviewing the theories of anthropologists Sitzfleisch and Hautlob, as referenced in an article published in Clothes Dick magazine (FQ 5, USA Update). Thank you very much for sharing your fascinating observations. Obviously, your theory is credible. It reminds me of another anthropological theory I ran across in a turn-of-the-century book on circumcision. The author (Rodino) was trying to explore the possibility that the foreskin had become a useless appendage to the human body, something that was being discarded by evolution. He attempted to explain why Nature supplied earlier man with a prepuce and one of his theories was that it kept ants from crawling up into the urethras of cave men. Although I am a journalist and not a scientist, I must admit that my own subjective experience with foreskin causes me to believe that, as with most things Nature designs, there are many uses for the prepuce.)

Dear Bud,

Keep up the fabulous work with FQ. Have had many hours of great pleasure from the HOT photographs. Also have had many letters from fellow uncuts and some really great photos of their gorgeous cocks. I really don't see how FQ could be improved upon. Dear Bud,

Thank you for showing something of circumcision's dark, ugly side.

"No Foreskin" (FQ 6, p. 19) is the most chilling firsthand circumcision story I've ever read.

It should be carved in foot-high letters on the front of every hospital in the United States.

Bud Berkeley,

I truly enjoyed the fall issue of Foreskin Quarterly and wanted to share a few of my reactions!

The stud on the inside front cover exemplifies near perfection in a male for me—dark hair and moustache, dark eyes, hairy, naturally muscular body, and an uncut cock.

Dr. Skinnon's reply to "Thankful Dad" was great, especially the part where he told of retracting his grandson's foreskin while bathing together—a tender, loving "touch."

The photograph (p. 29) of the tongue ready to probe the outstretched foreskin for a cheesy delight brought my uncut member to full attention!

The Fetish Department this issue included one of my favorite fetishes—boots (the most erotic for me being quality-made tan construction worker boots).

Please do an article (with photographs, of course) on foreskin torture.

FQ7

The guy listing his foreskin interests in the classifieds (p. 62, with a marvelous photograph) seems like a great place to start. I wish I qualified to play with him!

The "real" man accompanying Mark Beaumont's short story "Ronnie" is fabulous—more of his type, please! I also enjoyed the photographs of cocks together (pp. 19 and 27).

I shall look forward to the times when future issues of FQ come off the press. The importance of this publication in promoting the beauty and pleasure of the foreskin cannot be overemphasized in my estimation. The choice of circumcision must become the decision of its owner (each individual adult male) and not parents or anyone else!

D.F.
Boston, MA

Dear Bud,

Did you know most of the guys who advertise in your classified ads don't know how to measure their own prick or else they overestimate their size by measuring it wrong and know they are doing it wrong? One guy told me he was 11½". I asked him how he arrived at that figure and he answered, "From my asshole to the tip of my overhang." Another guy measured from the bottomsides near his nuts to the tip of his head. Both of these guys are wrong!

Let's set the record straight on how to measure your prick. It's best to use a tailor's measuring cloth because it is a soft material, unlike a hard ruler or tape measure. Start out with a good hard-on as all measurement is based on it. Don't cheat by using cock rings or bands to increase the swelling. Stand up and apply the "ruler" to the topside of your cock (not the bottom) that is buried deep in those pubic hairs where it meets your stomach intestinal wall. Move it along to the very tip of the head, not to the end of the overhang. There you have your length accurately. The average cock is 6½ inches, so anything over that, congratulate yourself.

To measure your thickness, and it does not count as much as your length, take your measuring clothing and wrap it snug around your cock (not overly loose or tight) and you now have your thickness (girth, circumference, etc.). The average man is between 5½" and 5¾" thick. So if you come up with 7" thick you are definitely an asshole stretcher and should be proud of it.

So all you dudes who say "I'm 8" long," are you truthfully accurate or just lying to yourself? Bud, I have a feeling you are going to have a lot of changes in cock size for your next issue. Hey, guys, it's not really your size that matters anyway, it's how you use it!

M.D.
New Jersey

(Editor's note: Anyone got an extra tailor's measuring cloth? I've got to do some measuring!)

Dear Bud,

I received my FQ after buying one on the newsstand. My friends scrambled for the second copy. I have received so many calls from my FQ ad, mostly from cut guys all wanting to see my uncut "beauty." Some say that after stretching and docking my skin they didn't think so much pleasure could come from a cock. Uncut cocks are more fun! By the way, I enjoyed the pictures with the "air dust" (FQ 6, p. 7). I have a good time by putting a table tennis ball inside my foreskin.

FORCED CIRCUMCISION

An estimated 3000 men and boys in Venda are undergoing circumcision rituals—many against their will—and scores have gone into hiding for fear of being abducted.

The abductions have allegedly been authorized by the president of Venda, Chief Patrick Mphephu, in his capacity as traditional chief of the Dzanani district. The abductors have allegedly been using a van with a Venda government registration.

Villagers claimed the chief said he wanted no uncircumcised males in the state.

Several teachers and pupils who have not been circumcised according to Venda custom failed to report to schools when they reopened last week. They are believed to have been abducted and taken to an initiation school.

According to a source at the initiation school, they may be away for another six to eight weeks while they undergo initiation.

Only teachers and pupils who have undergone the ritual are at school.

Villagers were reluctant to talk about the abductions. "Several teachers have fled from their homes and gone into hiding," a villager said.

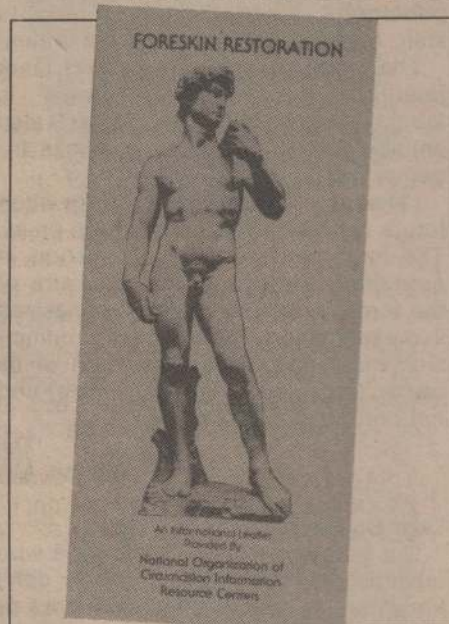

Sources confirmed that schoolteacher Mr. Willie Mukwevho was at the circumcision school and that a pupil of the Mphephu High school, Mashudu Singo, had escaped.

Mashudu was abducted on Sunday from a football match. He tried to escape in a taxi, but his abductors stopped it and took him. His relatives do not know where he is.

An unidentified man was badly hurt in a fall from a security fence around Chief Mphephu's kraal while trying to escape. He was recaptured.

One man, who was released from the initiation school, refused to talk to the Star for fear of reprisals.

RESTORATION PAMPHLET

The National Organization of Circumcision Information Resource Centers (NO CIRC) has produced a great pamphlet on FORESKIN RESTORATION, which includes a list of the various reasons more men today are seeking the reconstruction of foreskins on their penises, a review of the manual stretching method of regaining a foreskin and where to find information on such procedures and information about the surgical, including a review of three different methods of surgery.

The pamphlet also offers the services and products of NO CIRC, one of the nation's most innovative anticircumcision groups. NO CIRC publishes a quarterly newsletter which is both informative and up-to-the-minute in the news regarding the fight against routine circumcision in America. For more information write: NO CIRC, PO Box 369, Corte Madera, CA 94925-0369. SASE.

"STUBS" MAIL ORDERS AVAILABLE

We have found a mail-order source for the condom especially designed for uncut cocks. STUBS covers only the head of the penis, allowing free movement of the foreskin. In FQ 7 we advised that we had not yet found a mail-order source for STUBS. Well, one of our readers advises that he will now be stocking the condom and will accept mail orders. The cost of STUBS is $4.00 per dozen (plus $1.00 for postage and handling). Send orders to INNOVATIONS IN LEATHER, 581 Tremont St., Boston, MA 02118. INNOVATIONS is also offering BLACKIE, a black condom, at the same price.

(Editor's note: Our announcement about STUBS brought a flood of mail. One man said that he and his three uncut sons have found them to be sensational. However, we received many letters from men questioning their safety as a foolproof condom. The manufacturers of STUBS warn in their brochure, "Novelty—not to be used as a contraceptive or for prevention of VD." Another brochure advertises STUBS as, "A cap-type rubber that sheaths just the head of the penis. Great for J/O sessions. Foreskin rides over glans. Does not inhibit ejaculation. Fun to use." So, men, use your heads...covered or uncovered!)

UNCUT MEN PRONE TO AIDS, MD SAYS

CIRCUMCISION CITED AS POSSIBLE FACTOR IN AIDS

Boston (UPI)—The high rate of circumcision in the United States may help explain why fewer male heterosexuals have become infected with AIDS in America than in Africa, a doctor said Wednesday.

"This is nothing I can prove," said Dr. Aaron Fink, a urologist from Mountain View, CA, who described his hypothesis in a letter to the New England Journal of Medicine.

"I'm speculating this is a factor that might predispose the uncircumcised male to the acquisition of AIDS," said Fink in a telephone interview.

Dr. James Curran, director of the AIDS program for the Federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, said studies have found no evidence circumcision plays a significant role in who becomes infected with the deadly disease.

"That isn't to say it doesn't play some role in some cases," said Curran in a telephone interview. "The important point is getting circumcised doesn't provide a high level of protection."

The virus that causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome is spread when infected blood or semen enters the bloodstream, usually through sexual contact, sharing contaminated needles or blood transfusions.

Fink said the foreskin covering the head of the penis of the uncircumcised male is especially prone to breaks that could allow the virus into the bloodstream.

Uncircumcised males have been shown to be more prone to other venereal diseases, he said.

Up to 90 percent of American males are circumcised, while in Africa the rate is much lower, said Fink.

(Editor's note: Well, there you guys go again! I have just two questions for the good doctor: 1) Have you even been in Kenya and looked at the local penises? Well, I have, and I'd swear most of them were circumcised and, as I understand it, that is the African nation most affected by AIDS among heterosexuals. 2) Have you ever been in Europe and looked at the local cocks? I have and 90% of them are uncircumcised and, as I understand it, the incidence of AIDS is much less there than that in both the U.S. and Africa.)

NEWS CLIP

"Dr. Dean Edell, deadpanning away on KGO (local TV newscast): 'In the western United States, circumcision rates are falling at a fast clip.'" Excerpt from the Herb Caen column, San Francisco Chronicle, November 24, 1986.

1985 CIRCUMCISION FALLS

The National Center for Health Statistics has announced that the circumcision rate for newborn boys in hospitals fell in 1985 to slightly less than 60% (from a high of 93% a decade earlier). There were substantial geographical variations in circumcision, with the Midwest recording the highest rate (70.5%), followed by the East (65%), then the South (56%) and with the lowest regional rate in 1985 is the West (49%).

PHYSICIAN HITS CIRCUMCISION CLINIC

(American Medical News, Feb. 1985). It is a shame that I have read the news about the "circumcision clinic thriving in Houston" (AMN, Jan. 11, 1985).

No wonder the "malpractice climate" is deteriorating in this country, where "for $35 or $45 a head" a group of residents—who already hold an MD degree—mutilate the penis of unfortunate babies whose parents need to be educated in the "absolutely no medical need for routine circumcision," as stated by the Committee on Circumcision of the American Academy of Pediatrics and endorsed by the American Academy of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and the American Academy of Urology.

Would it not be more profitable to franchise an operation in perforation of the nasal septum with insertion of a large bone, or "scientific tattooing," or any other barbaric procedure that eventually may catch the fancy of the "general public"?

FQ7

Dear Bud Berkeley,

When I joined the Uncircumcised Society of America I completed a very explicit questionnaire. It was one of the most erotic things I ever did as I had a hard-on during the whole hour it took to answer your questions. Then I had to jack-off while reading my answers. Anyway, how many guys have answered that questionnaire and what are you doing with the answers? Can you share any of them with us? I love to hear guys talking about their cocks and especially how they handle their foreskins.

Horny Writer

Dear Horny Writer,

Hundreds of men have answered that questionnaire and many of them write volumes about their cocks and foreskins. That is what we wanted! We wanted the questionnaire to inspire men to search into their sexuality and start talking about their attitudes and experiences with foreskin and/or circumcision.

We created that questionnaire in 1976 when NO ONE was discussing foreskin/circumcision, at least not in polite society. Things have changed and the foreskin/circumcision debate has become a media event. We no longer send the questionnaire to prospective members, but it was published in my book, Foreskin (1983), and I continue to receive answers from all over the world...many of them from anonymous writers.

The hundreds of replies I have received certainly have given me a clear idea of how men feel about circumcision and their own cocks. It has also given me a knowledge of the great variety of reactions represented and how people become conditioned for certain attitudes about anti- and pro- circumcision. Most importantly, it has given me, personally, a greater tolerance towards the eroticism of other men.

Yes, let's share one man's response to the USA questionnaire, as an example of how it got many men to TALK ABOUT IT! Omitting questions that reveal this man's identity, let's read what he has to say...

1. Year of Birth? 1954 Place of Birth? Pennsylvania
2. Ethnic/religious background? Russian-Dutch. No religious background.
3. Physical description? 6' tall, tan and in solid shape, muscular and lean, big, veiny hands and feet, long limbs, 170 lbs., 31" waist, blond hair, brown eyes, clear complexion with rough beard line.
4. Genital description? I've got a long, heavy and thick piece of greasy uncut cockmeat. A real oozer! Soft, it slaps my inner thigh and swings weighty as I walk. Its probably five or six inches soft. Erect, about nine inches, but rarely stands straight up because its so heavy. My foreskin is long and loose and has a good two to three inches of overhang. Erect, my foreskin still covers the glans, loose and juicy, but it completely retracts with an easy tug. Yea, my foreskin is a healthy wad of skin, rippled with folds and veins. I've got big balls too.

5. Why weren't you circumcised? Because I'm the firstborn and my father isn't circumcised. Neither are my three brothers. Family tradition of some kind.
6. Are you shy about your foreskin? Hell, no, I'm an exhibitionist. As a child I was aware that I was different. At first it was awkward in school, but eventually I began to enjoy the curiosity of other boys and was always ready to "show it" and actually enjoyed "grossing-out" certain kids. Now I've got too much skin to hide in public. It wouldn't stay retracted without a finger shove even if I wanted, which I don't. I especially like being nude in a public situation, half-erect, hanging thick and heavy with the skin drooping loosely over the end of the glans. I bask in the stares and thank God I've got foreskin to show them!

7. Do your fantasies include foreskin? Yes. I fantasize about a big-dicked uncut dude and me enjoying a mutual soap-up in a public shower teasing some fellows changing in the locker room after school.

What really gets me hot and swollen big between the legs is the lust and envy of a guy whose dinky cut nub barely shows. I flaunt my meat hose for him. Fawning eyes drive me crazy! I've pulsed a thick cum load down my leg just by soaking in a yearning gaze.

I like a guy to whip his little stick frantically as he watches me, hears the wet, sloppy sound of my oily cock as it smacks the hard tiles between my legs in the steam room—the smaller the guy, the better I like it. Though a big burly guy with a tiny prick can be a real turn-on, too, as long as he's been skinned and his eyes are on my flopping foreskin. I love to have it looked at...

It's a kick to drive up to a filling station with a wet flap of skin hanging between the fringe of a pair of cutoffs, watch the gas pumper pretend not to notice as he stares sideways, maybe let my whole cock flop out on the red leather seat as I spread my legs to reach over into the glove compartment for some cash.

I wear as little as possible, and I've got pants with cloth so thin my dick veins are visible, and you can see the shape of my foreskin as it curves around my cockhead as I walk. It's a kick to see how many guys I can get to follow me around a shopping mall, for example.

I love to take a loud piss at a crowded urinal with both hands on my hips, the meat hanging down into the bowl. I shake myself and slowly pull the skin back and forth for a good five minutes with all eyes on my semi-erection. It's cool to strike up a totally neutral conversation with the guy next to you while the loaded prick is on display, hear him suck in his breath between his teeth...

- 8. What is your sexual orientation? I like man-meat, buddy.
- 9. Which sexual activities do you like? As much as I love to be looked at, I also love a hot wet mouth. I love to watch that mouth go to town on my throbbing tooi. The sight of my dripping skin balanced on a protruding lower lip, eyes greedily looking up, drives me wild. A guy can nuzzle and nurse my weighty prod.

I like to grab my spit-slick prick and slap a dude's face and neck with it, saliva and precum juice flying. My cock stays wet when I'm excited, especially in front of a gaping mouth.

When I sleep I like to lay my blood-fat tube in the cradle of a soft wet tongue all night long, lube oozing down the throat for hours. My sexual appetites are basically oral, but I'm ready to slam a tight little ass any day. Jacking off is second nature, both solo and in groups. I like being the center of attention. In any situation I give the orders. Heavy scenes aren't my thing...yet!

- 10. Have you ever been infibulated? Once a guy wrapped my foreskin shut with dental floss, leaving a long piece of floss loose so he could move my cock up and down and back and forth like a puppet. It felt great. He beat off as he sat on the floor watching my prick "dance" as he pulled the floss. He shot on the rug as he made my bursting cock loudly smack my thighs back and forth, back and forth. I pumped a big load into the tied-off skin, making it swell up like a balloon full of pudding.

I've also had cockrings pushed under my foreskin. The skin curves around the ring, covering it, and the weight stretches my cock down.

I've thought about piercing to attract even more attention. The thing I like best is foreskin stretching.

- 11. Are you interested in an uncut club? Hey, buddy, I just popped a load for you right through my skin and I am enclosing a photo to show you I haven't been bullshitting you about my manpole and to prove to you that I qualify for the USA. If you guys want this skin in your club, you've got it!

Dear Mr. Berkeley,

I want to report a USA/FQ success story! Several months ago I wrote to your organization and several antircircumcision groups, seeking information about my problem with phimosis.

I am a 44-year-old male. I first discovered that my foreskin was retractable at the age of 16 and it remained that way until I was 37. However, I had occasional problems with my foreskin which might have been due to my method of masturbation.

I almost exclusively did not retract the foreskin because the glans felt too sensitive to expose to rubbing. I suspect that rubbing of the foreskin in this way toughened and calloused it and reduced its elasticity.

Occasionally, as the result of sexual activities (either masturbating or with a partner) I would sometimes have a slight tear or splitting of the surface of the foreskin. These tears would be somewhat difficult to heal because another erection would tend to break them open again.

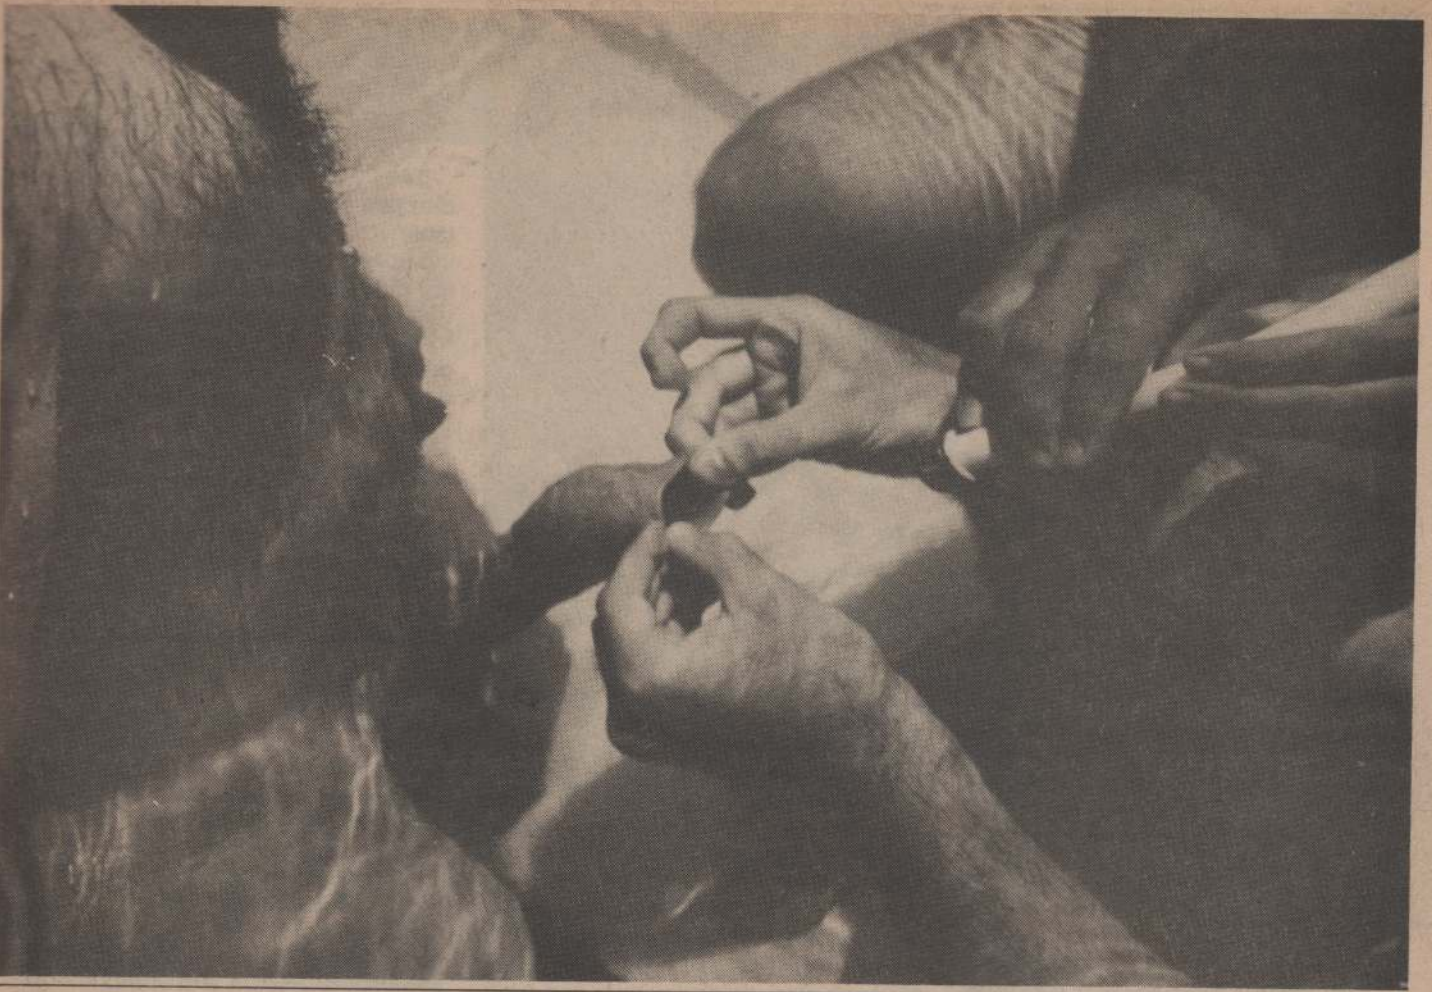

I am heterosexual and have had a series of relationships with women interspersed with long periods of no sexual contacts, during which times I masturbated a great deal of the time. At the age of 37 I began to notice that my foreskin was becoming difficult to retract.

One evening I retracted my foreskin, the glans swelled, and I was not able to replace the foreskin (paraphimosis). At the time I lived alone and it was a terrifying experience. With visions of being circumcised in an emergency room, I frantically discovered that by simply squeezing the glans, the blood could be forced back through the constriction and the swelling reduced enough to replace the foreskin.

After that experience, I decided to start stretching my foreskin, but it didn't seem to make it more retractable. I felt very alone with my problem. I went to a local urologist and he said, "Why don't you let me cut that shit off?" Another one offered to do a dorsal slit but admitted that if it didn't work he'd circumcise me instead.

I almost decided that circumcision was the only answer but wanted to explore other possibilities first. I live in a small town in Texas and knew that I couldn't find sympathetic objective information around here. So, I wrote to you.

Soon after, I received a letter from a USA member in New York who had a similar problem. He sent information from medical journals and a copy of a letter he received from Dr. Eliason, a urologist in Salt Lake City, explaining that my condition was an actual medical disease called balanitis xerotica obliterans. This is a progressive obliterative process which appears as a white or ivory covered ring around the end of the foreskin. The effected area becomes inelastic and may prevent foreskin retraction.

On June 16, 1986, I met with Dr. Eliason and he confirmed that I did have this disease. He stated that a complete circumcision wasn't necessary, but emphasized that all of the obliterated area must be removed.

On June 20 I entered St. Mark's Hospital and Dr. Eliason performed the surgery. The day after the surgery, Dr. Eliason personally came to the motel room where the woman I have been living with for four years and I were staying. He removed the bandages and together we were able to retract the foreskin. This was the first time in six years that I had seen my glans exposed!

I was able to return home the next day and go back to work immediately. Two weeks later we resumed sexual activities. I now have a foreskin that still covers the glans and is completely retractable.

I found Dr. Eliason to be an extremely sympathetic and understanding individual, as well as a competent physician. I just want your readers to know that there is medical help out there sympathetic to the man who wants to keep his foreskin!

Grateful in Texas

Dear Grateful,

Hey, thanks for the great testimonial. Congratulations on your success. Yes, one of the big problems with this country's medical delivery is that too many doctors have only one solution to penis problems...circumcision. Thanks for telling us about Dr. Eliason. I wrote to him for permission to print his name in this column and this was his response:

Dear Mr. Berkeley,

I have no objection to the use of my name. I am pleased to be of professional service to a very deserving population who needs access to someone they can both trust and count on to provide surgical skills and compassionate concerns they apparently cannot get someplace else. Their degree of commitment will determine whether they see me or seek sympathetic practitioners, or not. It gave me enormous pride to help the patient who has written his case history to you. I think it is very important to the circumcision issues to publish his letter.

*Richard J. Eliason, M.D.
Salt Lake City, Utah*

Thanks, Doc!

Dear Bud,

I am a new Oklahoman, transplanted from the San Francisco Bay Area due to the company I work for. Being a true Californian at heart I had to have a bit of the lifestyle I am used to, so I bought a spa/hot tub complete with gas heater, bubbles and jets. When I relax in the spa alone I find the water pressure from the jets, spread out my foreskin and let the water flow into my cock. It is such a great sensation having that warm water flowing around my cockhead inside my foreskin. It makes my skin stretch out to wonderful dimensions and the inner foreskin nerves get so excited that I wind up climaxing right in the spa.

Relaxed in Oklahoma

Dear Relaxed,

Ah! You have discovered a great experience, a sexual adventure reserved only for the uncultured man. Several years ago the USA had a pool party (yes, around a California swimming pool) attended by a hundred or so men. When it was discovered that the pool sweep was broken in the pool and that water was flowing from the sweep's hose you should have seen the uncultured dicks line up for just the sensations you are experiencing in your spa. Above is a photo taken during that party...

TRUE EXPERIENCES

FIRST INTACT GUY

Let me tell you about the first intact guy I ever had sex with. It was in a hotel restroom in Shreveport, Louisiana (where I went to college in the late '60s). He was a young guy, about 23, with sandy-brown hair, dressed in Levis and a leather jacket without a shirt. He was sitting on the toilet with his pants pulled up, so I couldn't see anything.

I went to the urinal and pulled out my cock, which was hardening in my hand. When he saw my hard cock, our eyes met. What beautiful blue eyes he had! I indicated that I'd like to see his cock, so he pushed his pants down to show me his nine-incher with a lovely foreskin covering all but the tip. I nearly freaked out at this my first time with an intact cock!

I walked over towards him, and he stood up. We held each other's cocks, which were starting to ooze precum all over the place. Then I knelt in front of him. I touched his cock slit with the tip of my tongue, and then started running my tongue 'round and 'round his head tip which was exposed.

From his moaning, I could tell he wanted more, so I started pushing his loose skin back with my lips, back and back until his whole tender glans was encased by my mouth. Then I pulled back, pulling his foreskin over the head again. With my hands and lips I pulled it up as far as it would go, into a little rosette of skin past the tip. What a beautiful sight!

I asked him how much of the head was covered when he was soft, and he said it was completely covered but without an overhang. Then he said he had to get back to work, so would I please make him cum.

I started working on his cock seriously now, pulling the foreskin up and down with my hand as my mouth bathed his sensitive, rose-colored glans in juicy friction. In no time at all he shot load after load of hot jism into my mouth, moaning and almost losing his balance as his knees buckled.

After he had finished, I asked if he wanted to see me shoot. He said he'd love to jerk me off 'til I came.

I said, "Can I hold your cock if I'm careful? I know how sensitive it probably is now," and he said, "Sure."

We stood next to each other at the urinals, with his hand pulling my foreskin back and forth over my sensitive coronal ridge. Because of my shortened skin by this time, on each upstroke my ballsac would be pulled up, which was a wonderful feeling in itself!

Meanwhile I was hold his softening cock in my hand, watching the skin cover return over the shy head. How tender and lovely his cock looked after it had shot its load.

Soon I felt cum building up inside, and then I shot gallons of it all over his leather jacket, each one being pumped out by my cock skin, being lovingly and erotically pulled up and down. Then we both sighed in relief, wiped off, kissed on the lips and said goodbye.

CUT-UNCUT SWINGERS

I bought a Swinger's magazine and found an ad with a photograph of a man who was interested in exploring three-way sex while playing "doctor." We could tell from the photograph that he was both well hung and circumcised.

The ad read, "Men, watch and/or help in your wife's or girlfriend's exam and vice versa. Local doctor seeks couples (bi preferred) for special exams, at my home office. Would like bi males. Not very experienced, but eager to learn."

I wrote to the address and set up a meeting in a bar that we all could find. We met on the agreed upon day, and talked over drinks. We got along well, and he invited us to follow him in our car to his "office."

It turned out that Greg, our new acquaintance, really was a physician. My wife and I had agreed beforehand that she would volunteer for an examination first, and I would make an excuse to leave the room, to make Greg less nervous. Our plan went well, and by the time I quietly walked back into the examination room, she was lying naked on the table with her feet in stirrups. Greg, wearing a rubber glove, masturbated her to orgasm. Then he told me I was next.

I was nervous and very excited. I undressed, and got up on the examination table. As I lay down, the only thing sticking up was my cock! Greg began examining my chest, my nipples, my abdomen, thighs and eventually (it seemed to take forever) my uncircumcised cock. Greg gradually pulled back my foreskin and began to gently manipulate my foreskin back and forth over the hard, shiny, purple head of my cock.

It didn't take very long for me to begin to lubricate. Greg held my foreskin all the way back off my glans with one hand and began to massage my natural lubricant all around the head of my cock. He must have been familiar with uncircumcised cocks, because he used enough pressure to create a light friction, but not so much friction that he overstimulated my highly sensitive glans. I looked over at my wife, and could tell from the semi-glazed look in her eyes that she was extremely turned on by watching us.

Then Greg began to probe and examine my balls while continuing to stroke my foreskin all the way up over the head of my cock until it bunched up into a pucker, then pulling my foreskin all the way back off my cock until the shaft was completely smooth and stretched tight.

As I got closer to coming, Greg began to stroke faster and faster. As I began to come, Greg pulled my foreskin all the way back, and jacked my skin up just to the rim of my corona, and then back down. Like a master, he kept my foreskin off the head of my cock, but kept the jacking motion going until I began to get soft.

It was now Greg's turn. We had agreed in the car that my wife would give him a blow job. She began rubbing Greg's cock to get him hard. Then she began talking to him softly, telling him what a big beautiful circumcised cock he had.

Then, as I watched, she began giving him head. She continued to tug on the shaft of his cock, while providing suction with her marvelous lips to the velvety head of his circumcised penis. I was standing only inches away from the table, mesmerized by what I was watching.

Here I was looking at a real live circumcised cock, and really enjoying it. I had looked at other men's cocks in the locker room as a youngster and as an adult. But this was my first chance to really get a good close look, and Greg was too far gone to give a shit.

As Greg started to get close to his own orgasm, my wife asked me to come over to her side of the table. I did. She took her hand off the shaft of Greg's cock and wrapped my own hand around it. She then began guiding my hand up and down on Greg's cock to keep things going. She didn't need to bother. I may not be circumcised, but I know from beating off my own cock for years and years how to handle a cock. I stroked what little skin Greg had on the shaft of his cock and rubbed on his frenum whenever my wife's mouth was out of the way.

All of a sudden she stopped giving him head. She just stood there, and Greg was moaning and waiting to get his nuts off. She simply took a couple of steps away from the examination table and told me to finish Greg off. I lowered my mouth over the head of his cock, aware of the sheen her saliva gave to the otherwise velvety coarse texture of his glans. His cock didn't taste good, and it didn't taste bad. In fact one part of my brain was surprised to notice that his cock didn't have much taste at all.

I ran my tongue around the head of Greg's cock, paying particular attention to the ridge of his corona. Meanwhile, I rubbed my hand up and down the shaft of his cock. Greg groaned, arched his buttocks off of the table, driving his cock deeper into my mouth, and ejaculated. The combined effect of him driving his cock down my throat, along with my first taste of cum, made me start to gag, but I fought the impulse and managed to swallow every drop of his precious cum.

We rested for a while, and Greg made small talk, and then looked over at me and asked me if I had ever wished I was circumcised. I confessed that I fantasized and wondered about it a lot. But I was concerned that I might not like the effects of being circumcised after I had had it done, and then it would be too late. I admitted that I fantasized about getting circumcised where someone else had made the decision for me. That way, I wouldn't be able to feel guilty about losing my foreskin afterwards. I wouldn't want to have to go to the hospital to get circumcised, because that would be too public. And I wouldn't want everyone at work to know I was uncircumcised.

Greg told us that circumcision was slightly more complicated in adults than in children, but that circumcision could still be performed in a doctor's office. I explained to Greg that if I were to get circumcised, I would want enough skin to be taken off my cock that my glans was always uncovered, but I would want to have enough skin left that I could bunch it up over the rim of my glans when I beat off.

I then looked over at my wife and asked her if she would prefer me if I were circumcised. She thought about it for a few seconds and said, "No, I don't want you to get circumcised. I can have Greg's circumcised cock now whenever I want. I love your long, loose, beautiful, thick foreskin and wouldn't want to be without it. I don't want you to mutilate your penis for my sake!"

Greg volunteered to perform my circumcision to my specifications if I ever changed my mind. He wasn't putting any pressure on me, just being helpful, I guess.

NAM CHEESE

With your latest article on head cheese and all your writing about the service's foreskin mania, I just had to write and relate my service experiences. I've always produced head cheese like crazy and spent four years in the Army meeting other guys who did too.

As a kid I didn't learn anything about foreskin cleaning. I had a really tight foreskin and my brother and I used to pull and twist our skins together, but we couldn't pull them back. My dad has a tight foreskin, which he doesn't pull back much, so I guess we didn't hear about washing inside because he didn't.

I was lucky, because my wrestling coach in college used to shower with us after practice. He got me to start stretching my skin open to wash inside when he noticed I never rinsed it out in the shower. All that stretching sure hurt, too. And while it wasn't real comfortable to do, by the time I left high school I could pull my skin back and clean it out. My brother still can't pull his foreskin back.

I said I was lucky because when I enlisted in the Army they gave us all physicals when I got to basic. All the uncut guys had to line up over in a corner and skin back. I actually wasn't the cheesiest one for a change. And the one guy who couldn't skin it back ended up having his foreskin cut off. I didn't like that idea at all.

We did get a lecture about keeping our skins clean and washing out any cheese inside. And my DI had "short arm" inspections every Friday morning. You had to be pretty dumb not to wash out your skin Friday morning for the guy. I thought it was weird for a mean ass in a Smokey Bear hat to be checking out guy's foreskins, but the service is pretty strange anyway. Actually, I got used to weekly foreskin washing. I'd never cleaned it out that often before and liked it. I wash out my skin every week.

Anyway, after basic and some stupid advanced training, I was assigned to combat duty in Nam. My unit would be out in the boonies for weeks, and you didn't get much chance to wash. With the sweat, heat and no washing, I'd get loads of head cheese that would cake all over my knob. You could actually see the lumps of cheese through my foreskin.

One afternoon after humping all day, I took a leak outside the perimeter with another guy heading out too. We were standing pretty close together pissing away (it was getting dark), when he pulled out an old OD washcloth, skinned back, and wiped off some cheese. Of course I asked him about it right away. He said that a lot of uncut guys carried "cheese rags" to wipe the stuff off with. I agreed that it was a real problem and skinned back to show him my thick load. He laughed and handed me his rag to use. I got my own "cheese rag" right away.

Another time we had stopped at a small river (the Boa Diem, I think) after humping in the mountains for days and days. Naturally, everyone stripped down and washed off in the river. I was standing knee deep in the water rinsing my foreskin out and watching small chunks of my cheese heading my way in the water. Just upstream of me was the company commander who waved and yelled, "Kind of burns in there, doesn't it son?" I answered, "Yes, sir, it sure itches inside."

WRESTLING SKINS

I met this blue-eyed, blond, young, German Adonis in a night sauna in Amsterdam. He told me that he was in Holland to attend a wrestling championship match of college teams from Germany and Sweden. He was the champion on the German team and told me that his team had just beaten the Danish team.

I asked him whether he ever wrestled in the nude and he said, "Of course. We always wrestle in the nude in practice sessions." He said that his team and the Swedes had practiced together that very day naked. He said it got him so hot he had to spend the evening at the baths. I noticed that the towel around his waist was beginning to rise at the strategic place.

I was in Amsterdam for a foreskin feast, and I wasn't about to let this one go! As he talked about wrestling, his German manhood began rising, and soon the towel fell away. Sure enough, that fat cock stood up in the air with a huge wad of folded, blond skin completely covering the swollen cockhead. I figured I had him going by talking about wrestling and kept questioning. He insisted that they wrestle naked in order to prevent mat burn.

Then, before my dazed, he put his first around his pole and slowly began pumping on his skin and said, "You see, we have a favorite hold only possible when the penis is free. When our opponent has a hard-on, we are able to grab it tightly and have full control of his body. It is a delightful experience."

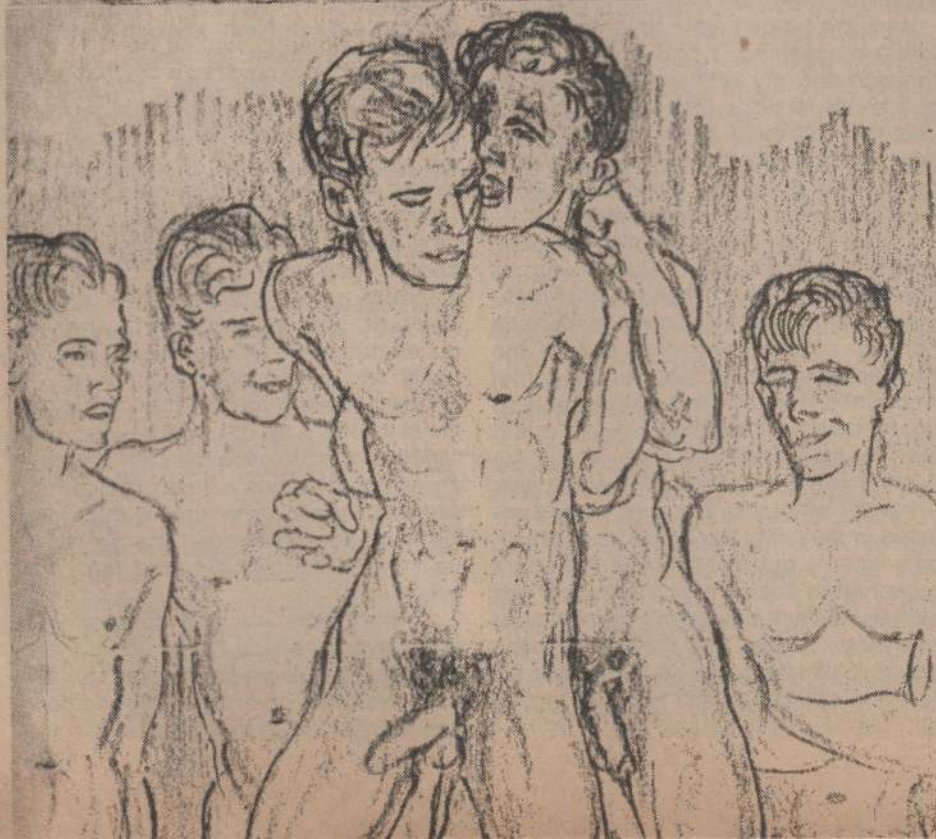

He was beginning to beat his cock faster and, for the first time, he was sliding his foreskin down the shaft far enough for me to see his slick, pink cockhead.

"How come your opponent gets a hard-on?" I asked.

"Oh, it is very natural for wrestlers to get sexually excited. It doesn't mean they want to have sex with you; it is just a physical excitement," and he was really beginning to pound on his German sausage roll.

I finally got up enough nerve as I began to finger my own erection and asked, "How many men on your team are uncircumcised?"

He looked at me surprised and said, "My, I suppose they all are. I haven't thought about it so much because it is rare for a European wrestler to be without his foreskin." Then he began pounding like crazy. "Of course, they're all many types of foreskin, and that is important, because if your opponent doesn't get erect naturally, we try to grab hold of his foreskin and work it back and forth, and that does bring a good handle up quickly. Some foreskins are not so easy to grab and some men like to wear their's back, which is unfair because it is very difficult to grab the naked meat."

By that time I was beating my foreskin too. Then he said, "I shall go to my cabin and get my sketch pad and illustrate for you our practice match today, and you will see the different types of foreskins we must encounter."

He stood and walked down the hall stark naked with his stiff dick standing straight out and he returned with a pencil and pad. He put it down on the chair and with one hand pumping his dick, he sketched with the other. He kept identifying each member of his team and explaining how it was easiest to grab each man cock differently because of how much foreskin each man had. He explained that he was easily grabbed because his foreskin was very long over the front.

He finished the sketches, handed them to me and said, "You may take them and show your friends in America. Tell them a wrestling lad in Germany with a good handle salutes your country!"

And with that a load plopped across the room and almost ruined the sketches. Well, I grabbed them up and thought, "I'll bet Bud would like to share these with his FQ readers." So, although they are not the greatest art on Earth, the artist sure put everything into them...and almost on top of them. Here they are...

UNCUT DADDY DICK

I have always been interested in two things—hairy bodies and uncut cocks. Needless to say, I have always had my share of adventures. Some slow and mellow and others quick, wild and unplanned. Part of my success is that I have no inhibitions, sense the right timing, and keep my eyes open. I know what I like and go after it. I'm an expert cock-sucker and I like to show off my hairy body and thick, uncut dick.

I'm about 5'7", short dark hair, trim beard, blue eyes, and have a hairy hunky body, but it's the uncut cock that attracts. One of my cowboy jackoff buddies in college accuse me of being spoiled by my own dick. Understandable. It hangs straight and thick, and the foreskin is flexible so it will stay down or I can stretch it out, stuff fingers inside, or slip in the head of another hard dick. I can't think of anything hotter than the sensation of a hard cockhead tucked tight inside my foreskin, unless it's the look cross the face of the hot man whose hard dick is slipping inside.

A guy who has been circumcised but actively searching for uncut meat will tell you that nothing equals that feeling, and they appreciate the moment, and beg for more. I have seen tough silent men on their knees telling me how much they appreciate that uncut dick... yes, sir!

Well, that is part of the background for this story of what happened to me a couple of weeks ago. It was late Saturday afternoon and I was taking a tour of one of the least-active parks in the northern part of town. The sky was grey, the air had a slight chill, and nobody was around, so I enjoyed walking through the woods by myself.

I was almost back to my car when I noticed a beatup pickup pull in and stop. The driver got out, leaned against the fender and lit up a cigarette, watching me as I walked up. The guy looked like something from the '60s as he sat on his rattletrap truck. His cowboy shirt had seen better days and was open at the top exposing a lush mat of light brown chest hair. His faded Levis had holes in both knees and were covered with white paint. To top it off, long hair hung clear to his broad shoulders. We stood there looking each other over, and as I adjusted my crotch he flicked his cigarette into the air and headed for the men's room near the baseball diamond. He didn't give a whole hell of an indication that he was interested, matter of fact, he was almost surly, but I had an intuition.

I waited a couple of minutes and then followed him inside. The can was built of solid concrete like a war bunker, even the partition walls, so not a chance of a glory hole. He was standing in one of the stalls, so I took the other one, and it was so quiet we could hear each other breathing. The sound of metal buttons on my 501s was obvious as my Levis dropped to my knees. From the other side came the rhythmic tattoo of hand on skin!

My cock was hard as a rock by that time, and I was pulling the foreskin out and down with one hand and my loaded ball sack with the other. Are we just going to stand here and jackoff, I thought to myself, or is he going to move around here so I can see the action. I was too hot to speculate on that one, so I hoisted my Levis, moved out and leaned against the wall so he could get a full view of my cock pointing at twelve o'clock. His brown eyes were ringed with long lashes and he just looked at me, not registering anything, but his long, hard piece of man meat told the story. I moved in closer until our cocks were touching, reached down and pulled his balls. His nuts were half the size of mine, but our cocks were an even match, except he was cut. Too bad, I thought, as he continued to look me over.

All this time he had been watching me, sort of studying or memory-banking what he was looking at, and then I reached down with both hands and pulled my foreskin down over the head of my cock and stretched it in his direction.

When he saw that foreskin his face changed, spreading a smile from ear to ear. He let out a whistle and said in a soft voice I could barely hear, "Man, your dick is uncut!"

He leaned over, wrapped his hand around my cock and gave it a firm squeeze. I could tell by the feel, or the way he looked, or maybe it was that intuition he did not have a lot of experience.

His hand went further to my balls. "Fucking bull balls," he said in the soft voice.

"Yeah," I said, leaning into him, "I'd like to get naked with you and sit on your chest and stuff those big bull balls in your mouth."

His eyes closed and I felt a shudder pass through his body and I knew I had hit a sensitive fantasy. "Watch this" I said and raised his hand to my mouth and stuck in an index finger, swirled it around until it was slippery with spit. Then I pulled his hand back and guided it down to my cock and slid the finger inside my foreskin. His body stiffened like he had been shocked.

"Anybody ever done that before?" I asked, trying to get more information.

"No," he whispered, "but I've thought about it a lot. My dad is uncut and I've seen his cock hard a couple of times and have always wondered what it would feel like, especially the skin." I pulled his head to my chest so he could get a closer look. "It will take more than fingers, but we have to get your cock slick first—you like your dick sucked?"

I was down on my knees before he could answer and had his rod down my throat. I reached around, cupped his ass with both hands and pulled his lean body forward. In no time his hands were holding my head and he was fucking my face like crazy. I couldn't help thinking this was one hell of a hot dude.

I pulled back and stood up, watching his dripping cock bounce in the air. Finally I spoke. "Now hold onto your dick with both hands and watch."

He grasped his cock with both hands like a fire hose and gave me an inquisitive look. "You like that skin? Well you're gonna get it," I said, pulling my foreskin out with both hands, aiming it at his cock. I leaned forward, pushing my precum-slick foreskin over the head of his dick. His breath sort of hissed out as his head fell to my shoulder, and I could feel his cockhead swelling, filling my skin so tight that every hard jerk of his dick made the skin even tighter.

His hands were gripping both our cocks, so I reached up, grabbed a handful of hair and pulled until his face was on a level with mine. The once expressionless face now had a look of wide-eyed submission. I caught the look. I had seen it before.

My voice was so deep it sort of came out like a growl when I said, "You like that big uncut daddy dick, don't you?"

His cock stuffed into my foreskin gave a jerk and he closed his eyes and said, "Oh, Daddy, you know I do."

His lips parted and I leaned forward and started chewing on his moustache, running my tongue over his clamped teeth. Fuck, I said to myself. This guy is not only inexperienced with uncut cock, he's never kissed a man before.

I pulled him closer, nibbled his neck, tongued his ear, and turned his face toward mine, saying, "You're gonna like that daddy dick and you're gonna do everything I tell you to, but you have to remember two things.

"Number one is that everything you do pleasure your daddy first—you don't count.

"The second is that you don't cum until your daddy tells you to. No matter how hard you beat your meat or how full your balls are or how hard you want to shoot that load, you don't cum until I tell you to. Understood?"

He didn't say anything, but just pressed against me and nodded yes. My tongue moved over his moustache, snaked between his lips, and then glided past his teeth. He groaned so loud the cement walls reverberated. His hands seemed automatic as they dropped from holding our cocks, and he reached around and pulled me into him.

I wasn't rough. I didn't shove my tongue all the way down, but every movement was choice, then easily, gently, his mouth opened.

As I pulled away a string of spit hung like a web and he was watching. "You liked that, didn't you?" I asked.

"Oh, Daddy, yes," came back the answer.

"Feel those balls, feel those big bull balls," I ordered. He reached down and hefted my ballsac, squeezing, feeling them out.

"Oh, Daddy, you've got such big balls," he whispered at me.

"You like those big balls?" I said, "Well get down there and lick them, suck them, get them both in your mouth at the same time." He hesitated, but I put my hand on his shoulder and pushed him down to his knees. His eyes were on the same level as my dick, and I knew he was looking it over, but I guided his face forward until his lips were nuzzling my balls.

"Oh, Daddy," he mumbled so quietly I could barely hear, "you've got such big balls, and I do like that big uncut cock, that big daddy meat." He put his left hand on my cock and gently stroked the skin up and down, all the while massaging my balls.

"Lick my nuts!" I demanded. "Just imagine you're in bed with your dad and he's sleeping, but you want to see how big his dick can get, so you move down and stick your face right in his crotch, very easily you start licking his balls so you can watch him throw a rod right in your face."

I could tell he was sniffing my balls, taking in the aroma, and then felt the warm glow of his hesitant mouth. In no time he was getting the feel of the job, getting into it, and soon I didn't have to coax any longer. I could look down and watch him jerking his meat the same way he was jacking my dick, while in turn he carefully sucked each heavy ball in and out of his mouth.

I was getting steamed up and wanted his mouth on my dick, so I pulled back and pointed my dripping cock at his face. "Suck it," I said, "suck it nice and slow and deep." I pushed my dick to his lips and held it there. "Suck it—suck your daddy's dick!"

He looked up at me squinting and a flash of terror moved across his face. His mouth started to open, but he let out a gasp and dropped his head on my boots, and he said, "Oh, god, I can't do it, Daddy, I want to but I just can't, and I do want to please you and make you feel good."

"Aw, what the hell," I said, "just get your dick up here, yer daddy will show you how to do it and do it right."

I pulled him up and told him to jack his meat slow and easy so I could watch. This time he took the lead and kissed me slowly and let me know he liked what he was doing. I was getting hotter than hell, both of us jacking off, kissing and holding on.

"Gotta have some more of that dick," I said, and was on my knees before I could finish the sentence. His cock was producing a steady stream of precum, and I licked the tip before swallowing his lengthy dong.

Some guys really get off on getting sucked, like a blow job shuts off the outside world. This guy was transported, in space somewhere, but he didn't move. Where was the action I was getting before?

I pulled off his dick, looked up and smiled and said, "Come on boy, your daddy can take it, let him show you how to suck cock."

I grabbed his hands and put them on my head. He got the message and started pumping my face. Slowly, at first, then taking it all the way out. Then aiming, he would push his big dick all the way in until it hit bottom. I could take it, and I reached around and slapped his ass to let him know.

What the hell? I said to myself. Here I am with this hot man, he is hot for me, and we have to get it on in this place. Wouldn't it be better if we were at my apartment and he was naked on his knees in front of me?

My thoughts were interrupted by him saying, "Oh, Daddy, I like watching you beat your meat while I'm fucking your face—I like watching the skin move up and down."

His dick was hard as a rock and I could feel it getting thicker as he jammed it down my throat. I leaned back and gave him a full view of me stroking my cock, slipping my fist up and down the slick skin-covered shaft. The look on his face was so hot, I had to have those lips again.

I pulled off his dick, gave his balls a fast nibble and stood up. He gave me a relaxed smile from ear to ear, hefted my balls and said, "Oh, man, this is alright."

I licked my tongue over my moustache, gave him the same grin back and aimed my mouth right on his. No hesitation this time and it was his tongue that found mine.

"Nothing like kissing your buddy, holding on and jacking off," I said. I was ready. I was in control. "Now this is what we're going to do... just too fucking hot... we're going to beat meat and you're going to shoot your load first. I want to watch every second, I want to see that cum shoot out, I want to feel your balls drop that load.

"And when you are finished you're going to hold onto me and beat my meat with your cum-slick hand until I shoot. You got it?"

His voice was loud and clear this time when he said, "Oh, yeah, Daddy, I want you to watch me beat off."

What a sight! Levis around ankles, cowboy shirt open to the waist, one arm around me and the other fisting his dick. Now he was smiling. He pulled my closer, tighter and I could feel every jerk of his fist. It was almost like he was reading my mind when he shoved his hips forward and pounded his cock.

"Oh, Daddy," he said, not taking his eyes off his dick, "I did like you told me to, I won't cum until you say so."

"Let your daddy see that load," I yelled. "Let it go!"

He looked at me, his face tightened up and his mouth formed an O and he pointed his pounding dick out like a fire hose and the cum started shooting out.

The first glob dripped out and hit the floor with a heavy splat, but the second flew through the air and sliced against the wall. Another shot lobbed upward in an arching stream, followed by another.

"Harder!" I barked as his fist pistoned over his shaft. Every pulse of cock brought out another shot until finally he let go, but the cum continued to spurt.

I couldn't believe what I could see. Cum leaked off the wall, the floor was covered with white pools and his dick was still dripping man juice. "Now," he said, pulling me around until his cum-slick, half-hard dick was pressed against my ass. Reaching around he fisted my cock with his cum-covered hand, jacking, slow at first, and then building up speed.

"I've got that big uncut daddy meat in my hand and I'm going to beat a daddy load out," he whispered in my ear. My dick was hard as a fucking rock and my loaded balls were banging against his fist. A replay of the scene was going on in my head. The heat of his dick rubbing against my ass and knowing he was watching his hand on my cock put me on the brink. I wanted him to have it, all of it. He had earned it.

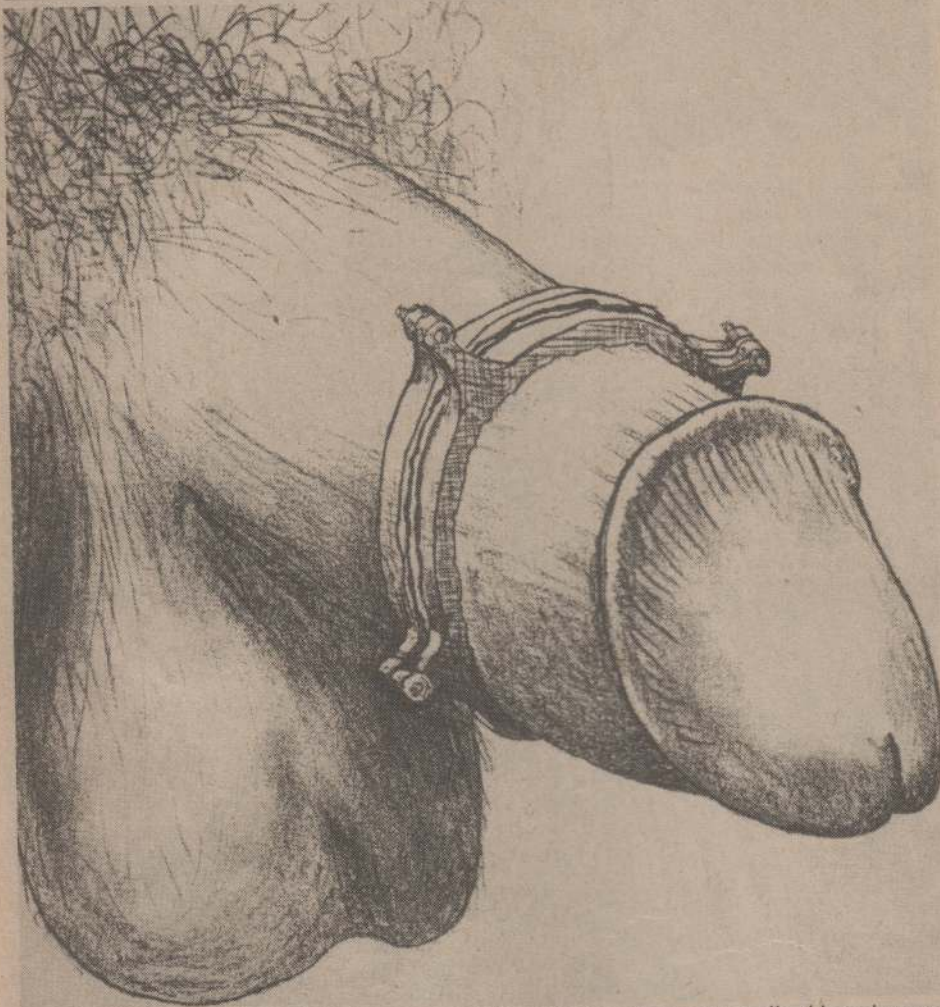

I stiffened, shoved back, then pushed forward as every ounce of my body seemed channeled to my cock. I growled and then let it go. He fisted my cock like it was his own, and as the first shot of cum sailed out and hit the floor he sank to his knees, still jerking my rod and watched the cum shoot out.

I'm a cummer, and I matched his load shot-for-shot until I lost count and everything started to blur.

The next thing I knew he was saying in my ear, "You are one hell of a hot man. You got me doing things I've never done before—thought about, but never done." He stuffed his cock back into his Levis and then reached over and pulled on my cock and balls and said, "Some daddy—just look at that load," and then strolled out the door.

I was still catching my breath, hoisting up my Levis, and checked out the floor.

Be-damned he was right. Cum everywhere. There was cum dripping off the walls. There was so much cum it looked like seven overloaded dudes had a circle jerk, not just two...but then on of them was looking for his dad. □

GERMAN DEDIENTE: *This ring-type device is from a German medical brochure c. 1910 and is identified as a "bediente" (retainer). One must assume that the foreskin was folded internally and the bediente used to keep it in place. One must also ask about the clumsiness of such a device, its difficulty in being placed, the curious outlines it must have created and the sensations experienced by one's partners. ACORN is a foreskins anonymous club, made up of men circumcised as youths or adults, uncircumcised men considering circumcision, men interested in the history and practice of circumcision and men who find adult circumcision to be an erotic experience and want to participate, either with their skills, cocks or enthusiasm.

FQ offers this regular column to ACORN to provide our readers with another aspect of the foreskin/circumcision subject and to give our ACORN readers the opportunity to express their eroticism and appreciation of the circumcised penis.

ACORN usually provides case histories in this section, often with before-after photos. However, this month ACORN introduces a REAL FIND for anyone interested in the history of skinning cocks...MANLY ARTS. (Attention ACORNS: SARGE is returning and will soon be available to do the honors! You will hear from ACORN #1 as soon as the scene is ready. If your uncut dick tells you it's about time, then you won't have to wait much longer. For sale: "Original World War One poster showing a benevolent Uncle Sam with his arm around a soldier's shoulders. The heading reads, 'let's have a chat.' In the paragraph beneath the figures, Uncle Sam advises the soldier that infection and disease can be avoided by being circumcised." $900.

For sale: "Original newspaper advertisement by Dr. L.S. Foley of New York City, advertising circumcision as a cure for laziness, pimples, paleness, association with social inferiors and restlessness in church." Framed and matted, $65.

For sale: "Tattoo Parlor price list, including cost of tattoos by hours and number of colors, rings for 'ears and privates,' and three categories of circumcisions: babies, children and adults, ranging from ten cents to 25 cents." Circa 1890, framed, $85.

For sale: "Original Philadelphia 'Circumcision Machine' (circa 1880). All brass with ivory handles and knobs. On the frame is inscribed, 'Lancaster Works, Phila.' This large and elaborate adult circumciser is a miracle of automation, even though it was constructed a century before its time. Arcs of brass, padded in faded leather, cross the crotch and groin. Two brass arms screw down upon the base of the penis, assumedly to produce anesthesia through reduction of circulation. A pair of cylinders moves up and down the penis, shearing off the foreskin. Part of their action involves inserting 32 needles through the remaining skin. All a physician has to do is remove the machine and tie the sutures. One of the machine's finer points is that it has an adjustment for either retaining or removing the frenulum." $8500.

AND THAT'S JUST THE BEGINNING!
Introducing MANLY ARTS of Ohio, purveyors of circumcision memorabilia. MANLY ARTS specializes in providing a channel for those historians, researchers and collectors who are involved in tracing the development of the "manhood movement" as it has been expressed in literature, research, graphics, objects and cultural practice.

Recently, the MANLY ARTS catalogue presented a "collection of rare historical items, gathered by a professional over a period of forty years. The collection addresses a specific aspect of male identity: circumcision."

The owner was a college professor from the American Southwest teaching Middle Eastern political science. Circumcised as a precaution prior to his first visit to the area, he became interested in the social aspects of the ritual as they were expressed in material culture.

Needless to say, the 55 items listed in the catalogue sold out quickly, including the above mentioned goodies. However, the catalogue itself has become a collector's item and is obtainable from the MANLY ARTS office.

The catalogue is actually more than just a description of curious items from the past, it is an education in the attitudes and circumcision practices of our forefathers. One of the most significant items offered is an original steel "Circum-shears" which, according to MANLY ARTS, was used by the U.S. Army during WWI and it is packaged with a manual which states that a surgeon operating in a well-functioning chamber could perform fifty adult circumcisions in one hour. It must have done the trick because, according to the catalogue, almost two million doughboys returned home minus the foreskins they took "over there." All historians agree that the greatest impetus to the acceptance of neonatal circumcision in America was the military circumcision campaigns of WWI.

Along with descriptions of the posters and artifacts, the MANLY ARTS catalogue offers delicious historical tidbits about circumcision history. After describing their $5000 Eighteenth Century French "Gasconade Kit," they offer us this quaint peek: "The French origin of this item should not be overlooked. Louis XVI was the first French monarch to be circumcised. The young nobility soon emulated him. After the revolution, it (circumcision) was adopted by the Incroyables (literally translated, 'Those who dress incredibly'). The Incroyables were the hippies of their day. 'Gasconade' means a person who boasts or brags."

Well, the Gasconade Kit was something to brag about... especially if you survived it! According to MANLY ARTS, the machine "operated by seizing the foreskin with nibbed rings, sending a plunger down within the foreskin to push the glans out of danger and then, by a turn of the crank, sending a blade through the foreskin."

One particular item in the catalogue might have been of interest to those many FQ readers who report that they are trying to keep their foreskin "back" (even in this day when long, drooping foreskins are the vogue). It is the original Busker's Retaining Ring, circa 1910. The catalogue offers it for $285 and it is packaged in its original box which was illustrated with a bare-chested boxer (probably the male sex idol of the era).

The retaining ring was worn directly behind the rim of the glans, its outer diameter prevented the foreskin from falling forward over the glans. According to MANLY ARTS, many surgeons recommended the use of the ring prior to circumcision to acclimatize the glans to its forthcoming permanent exposure.

While all of the items in the older catalogue are no longer available, one item has had a follow up and is listed in the new MANLY ARTS catalogue. This item is a fascinating copy of the proceedings of the 1986 Seminar on the Psychological and Physiological Aspects of Circumcision. It documents the circumcision experiences and reactions of over a dozen college men.

FRENUM RING: This graphic is from a French catalog of sex devices c. 1925. It is intended to illustrate a typical frenum ring, but one must note that it shows use upon a penis with a medial circumcision: something normally associated only with Arab custom, or with contemporary circumplasties today. A circumoplasty involves two circular cuts, removing a belt of epidermis from the middle of the shaft (hence, "medial circumcision"). (From the MANLY ARTS catalogue).

Many FQ readers have expressed astonishment and doubt about our occasional references to the propensity towards circumcision on the part of the U.S. military medics. The thought of forcing a GI recruit into circumcision seems out of the question in the 1980s. However, the MANLY ARTS catalogue well illustrates the earlier campaigns to rid the forces of foreskin. Its several military posters and announcements give us proof of what our father and grandfathers faced as they stood in line for short-arm inspection.

One offering is an undated military notice which announces, "Circumcision has been re-classified from elective to voluntary/advisable status." This ominous announcewnt made circumcision available to military personnel without the requirement of medical necessity. Now, we ALL know what "voluntary/advisable" means in the U.S. Navy. It means, in this case, you get yourself circumcised!

The MANLY ARTS catalogue consists of 18 pages (not illustrated) and is available by mail order for $10. Send orders, or inquiries, to MANLY ARTS, 216 Madison Avenue, Athens, OH 45701. □

DR. SKINNON

Dr. Skinnon is not his real name, but our medical advisor is a practicing urologist. He also has a foreskin of his own and understands the erotic values of the uncircumcised penis. He is an active anti-circumcisionist. Please forward any questions for him to: Bud Berkeley, PO Box 26011, San Francisco, CA 94126.

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

You blew my mind writing about autofellatio in the last issue of FQ, because it is one of my favorite pleasures. We have almost the same frame, Doc, (5'7", 145 lbs) and both of us are uncut. I started doing it when I was 15 years old and never stopped because it is important to try regularly. Actually, it is easier to do it in the evening when the body is more flexible. Then I can suck my whole glans. For me the best position is to sit on my bed (or chair), open my legs, take my thighs in my hands and then, bending myself down forward just like the guy on the left of Rex's drawing (FQ 6, page 12). Just like you, Doc, I enjoy the smell of my uncut cock, pissing in my mouth, sucking and biting my foreskin before I cum. What a great pleasure when swallowing my own heavy cream! For me, it is the most intense orgasm I know. Doc, I wish you a lot of hot self-pumping sessions.

Self-Sucker

Dear Self-Sucker,

The lip-smacking event of self-sucking, as reported in my last FQ column, has generated some very erotic responses. Evidently, this special skill is not as rare as I once thought. Self-suckers belong to a very exclusive club!

The training aspect is a serious one. No occasional or casual attempt will be successful. Training is the watchword, or you cannot achieve the flexibility necessary to maintain this glorious habit. Believe me, when you smell your fragrant cock you will try harder! Yes, do it late in the day but do it regularly. Personally, I find the bathtub to be essential, rather than the bed or chair, as it is not uncommon for me to spill piss out of the corner of my mouth if I don't get all the foreskin carefully bitten, if it gets to full pushing out of the foreskin sac and whooshing all over. It can become a very wet game. However, Self-Sucker, it sounds to me as if you are a pro at it and many more sessions to you, too!

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

Your answer to the questions of "Solo Meat" just blew me away. Solo sucking is such a rare ability that I avidly search through the letters to the editor and articles in every porn magazine I can find, and now have a collection of material on autofellatio in a note-binder three inches thick!

I arrived at autofellatio a lot later in life than most men, although I had always been very much into my own sexuality, even after I married. I made many unsuccessful attempts to get my seven-inch meat into my mouth, but never got close enough even to smell my cock.

I had recurrent dreams that I was sitting on the toilet masturbating when I would lean over and easily suck the whole head of my cock, only to wake up before I came.

When I was 39 years old, I developed arthritis in my lower back. I was 30 pounds overweight and not in the best of health. My doctor told me that I could be in a wheelchair in twenty years. So, I drastically changed my diet to natural foods, gave up sugar intake and took up yoga.

At first the yoga exercises were extremely difficult, painful and frustrating. I persisted and gradually gained flexibility, lost weight and my back pain almost disappeared.

One night, about two years later, I was doing my stretching exercises after a hot shower. I got into the "Plough" position with my legs stretched back over my head as I lay on the floor. My sex organs were hanging down toward my face like a bunch of grapes. I felt so relaxed that I stretched a little further and found my foreskin within reach of my tongue.

I suddenly realized the possibilities. I got hard and quickly jacked off into my mouth with my cockhead only an inch away. I was really excited to realize that my lifelong dream was now a possibility.

Over the next few weeks my flexibility improved and, at last, I was sucking the head of my cock! At first, I almost went crazy sucking myself. Here I was a forty-one year old man with a good job, a happy family and the whole "pillar-of-the-community" bit, and all I could think about was getting alone long enough to get my mouth on my cock.

I sucked myself off in the car, in restaurants, in the woods, in a stalled elevator, and in every room in the house. I almost got caught several times while I was munching on my meat, but I don't think I would have cared.

By the time I was fifty, I was so flexible that I could get half of my cock in my mouth in any position I chose... curled, up, standing up, sitting, naked or clothed. Best yet, by this time I was sharing my secret with my wife, who not only enjoyed watching me do my thing, she often encouraged me to try harder.

Now, at the age of 58 I can still give myself a long, leisurely blow job and live to tell about it.

One last comment: my foreskin used to automatically roll back off the head when I got hard, but after reading FQ I have learned how to stretch it so now I have an overhang to chew on.

DeEElighted

Dear DeEElighted,

Your talents are staggering. Why did you waste so many good years? Your story is an excellent example of why we should all keep thin and fit. The natural flexibility of the youthful body is all that is necessary to get started with AF (autofellatio), which is not only the ultimate in masturbation, but is THE eminently safe sex. Again, however, I stress gradual training. Beware of sprain and muscle or nerve damage. We are asking our bodies to do a very unphysiologic thing and, if it is not properly conditioned, we could go beyond its limits with potentially "disc-satorous" results. Also remember that in the overhead position we are bearing every ounce of our body weight on our neck vertebrae and they could snap. However, with the right training many people could enjoy the taste of their own cum—which I consider to be the best milkshake in the World! DeEElighted, your delightful letter just helped with great AF.

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

I was so frustrated reading the FQ article about smegma because I just never seem to produce it. I have a long overhanging foreskin, but my glans is usually clean and dry even if I don't bathe. I have quite a lot of sex, but once I held off for a few weeks just to see if abstinence would get the cheese factory working. No luck! It isn't that my nuts are empty because I shoot a hefty load. How do you figure it out? I want cheese on my dick because I really dig it on other dicks. The smell and the looks of it are the sexiest thing I can imagine, but my pecker remains pristine. Doc, is there something wrong with my plumbing? Why aren't I carrying cheese under my skin?

Cheeseless Skinhead

Dear Cheeseless Skinhead,

You have identified the word that gives you the problem—dry! The production of terrific cheese requires a dark, warm, moist place, which a long overhanging foreskin usually provides. Your nuts have nothing to do with it since Tysons glands make smegma and they are located inside the foreskin and around the corona of the glans. In general, the pinker, the better for more cheese. Just as some people have a greater production rate of perspiration, some people have a greater rate of producing smegma. My advise to you is the opposite from the above writer; keep the foreskin forward! There seems to be no consensus about the individual perception of smegma—some consider it acrid, pungent and foul smelling while others consider it to be the feast of the gods. FQ finally provides us with a forum to discuss this taboo substance in a rational and explicit manner.

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

In your most recent column (FQ 6), you suggested drinking piss. Well, let me tell you that if I get the right spout in my mouth I can guzzle a belly-full of that hot, gut-warming juice. I have a friend whose spout comes complete with a foreskin nozzle and drinking it fresh from his long skin funnel is a connoisseur's delight! Alas, Doc, unlike you, I just can't bend down far enough to get my own cock in my mouth and must accept the suds from other men. However, I have a health problem that somewhat cools my enthusiasm for piss. I have a history of kidney stones. I have had six of the damned things. I recently underwent extensive tests to determine why I form stones. The urologist told me I had to reduce my salt intake. Hell, I've been on a low-salt diet since I was a kid because my family has a history of strokes. Now, here is the question I can't ask my own urologist; is piss high in sodium? How about if it comes from a guy who is also on a low-salt diet? In fact, Dr. Skinnon, just what are the benefits and the dangers of drinking piss from another man? How about your own piss?

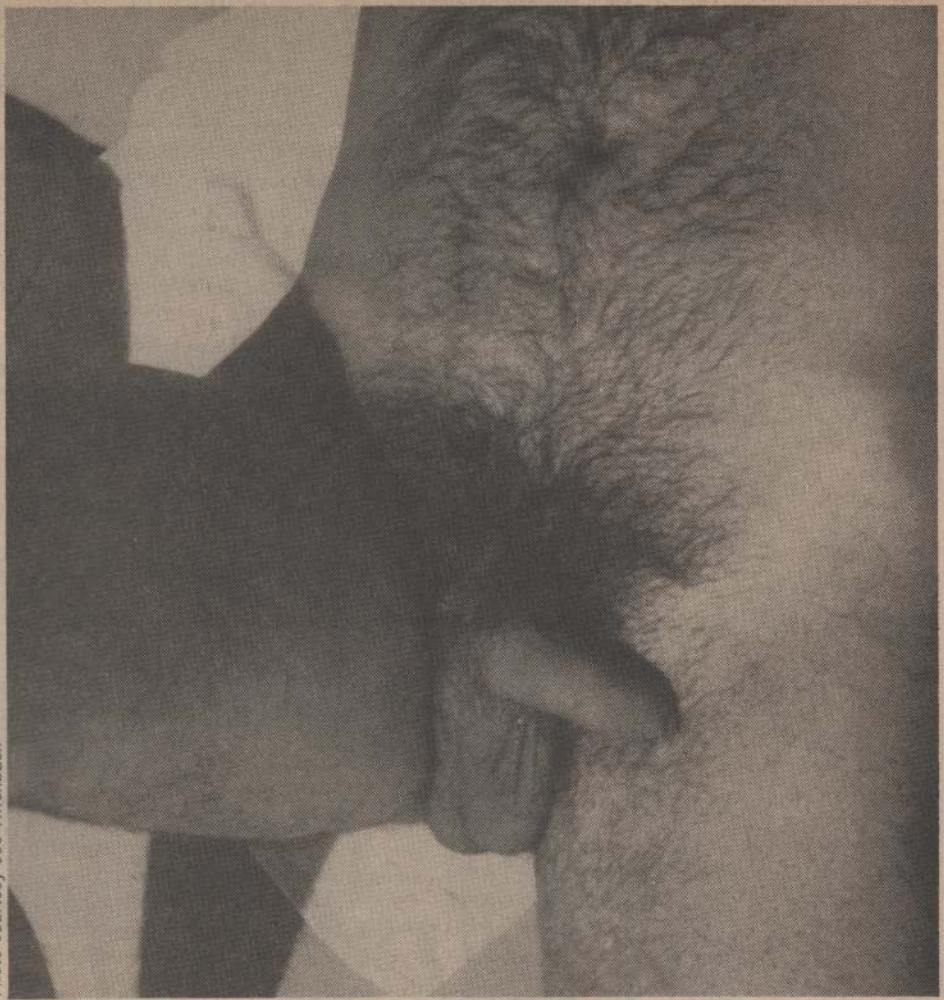

Spout Sipper

Dear Spout Sipper,

I am a urologist who has had one stone myself. If people are instructed properly, they don't need to get recurrences and I haven't experienced, it...but I practice what I preach. I maintain a high-fluid intake and put out a light-colored, diluted urine which you should do likewise. I have not stopped drinking urine (my own) and never will. Piss is a waste product so it does contain sodium, but normal urine varies enormously; 43-217 milliequivalents per 24 hours. I know the figures mean little to you, but you can see the spread of normal numbers. Piss is normally uninfected and clean and it does carry off waste, but its main component is water. It does contain osmolality—a property of the solution which depends on the concentration of things in it. However, whenever you want to take a safe, fresh, warm drink, KNOW the guy who owns the bladder! That is the crucial axiom today, anyway. Now, when your gut feels warm it usually means it is full. You will probably have a sense of fullness long after your donor has pulled his nozzle out of your mouth. You MUST then eliminate that fluid volume via your own system AND RUN IT THROUGH A SECOND TIME. Part of this will be urinary and part intestinal. It was in fact deposited down your throat into your stomach, some will wind up out your asshole as well as your cock. If it changes the character of your stool, or gives you gas, it will only be temporary.

Dear Dr. Skinnon,

The article on smegma in FQ 6 was the first real information I have ever run across about cheese...something very few people know anything about! Some of my best buddies are doctors and I've never heard them say the word, "smegma." Most people say "cheese" instead. I live in French Canada where there are loads of foreskins and I see them at my athletic club. I am always fascinated watching the fellows swab out their dicks in the showers. Some of them are always loaded with smegma and others don't seem to ever have it. One of my buddies is an American like me and we get together to watch football on TV. We strip naked and beat our meats when the game gets good. He is uncut like me but his dick is usually clean and dry, while mine is moist and usually pretty full of cheese. He can beat on his meat a lot longer than I can. Doc, are there any techniques you know about helping a moist-type easy cummer to become more dry and longer-lasting? I'd like to hold it off at least past the first touchdown!

Full O' Cheese

Dear Full O' Cheese,

Many guys would love to have your moist and full-of-cheese cock. Your "cumming" plateau is part of the way you're programmed. You can't change that most of the time. Your personal plateau is like being left-handed or gay—it's your natural programming. In my experience, the dampest cocks are the most sensitive. If you really insist on reducing your sensitivity, you might try wearing your foreskin back for a time. Push it back as you are putting on tight briefs. If you are able to keep it back in your pants, you might achieve some success and make it past the first touchdown. I suspect you will not be happy about reducing your sensitivity. You are really better off by not disturbing your choice cheese factory. You might be able to hold off longer simply by pinching your foreskin shut as you reach your plateau and just let the pain of the pinching get your mind off your nuts so you can back off until you want to fire. You might even make it to the second touchdown. □

REX UNCUT

EROTIC ART FOR THE CONNOISSEUR

REX is probably the most accomplished erotic artist working today. The accomplishment is dual—as an artist, the pen and ink technique and composition is superb, and, even more importantly, as an eroticist Rex packs every drawing with sexual energy.

Rex is now offering special sets of drawings focusing on certain of the various fetishes he does so well. The set that will be of greatest interest to FQ readers is titled Rex Uncut. It includes twelve drawings, each printed on heavy 8½" by 11" stock and suitable for framing, mounting in an album, or put to whatever use you might like!

While the set focuses on the uncut cock, it varies widely in other aspects. The twelve drawings range from 1981 works through some completed only a few months ago. It includes some very well-known drawings—such as a classic glory-hole scene with cum dripping everywhere, to virtually unpublished drawings such as a sinister figure lying back for a solo JO. A couple of the drawings have SM overtones—such as the larger one reproduced here and one of a heavy bondage scene with a solo figure in leg and neck irons with balls stretched, pierced foreskin tied to nipple rings and shaved head, the piercing eyes peeking past the jockstrap used as a gag. Other drawings could even be described as tender—a word not often used in conjunction with Rex's work. In one, a mature, hairy man, dressed in long johns open to the crotch, relaxes, stroking his large, uncut cock, a younger man, barely past legal age, stands behind him, arm around his neck, watching.

REX UNCUT is available only from the artist. Send $20, made payable to "Drawings by Rex" to PO Box 347, San Francisco, CA 94101. Shipping and handling charges for North America are included.

FORESKIN RESTORATION

A TELEVISION FIRST! On December 12, 1986, foreskin restoration was discussed on a major daytime TV talk show. Marilyn Milos (director of NO CIRC), Dr. Dean Edell, M.D. (popular TV medical consultant) and Richard appeared on the "A.M. Show" on KGO (San Francisco's ABC affiliate) in front of a live audience. The topic was circumcision, the effects of circumcision on the penis and Richard's surgically restored foreskin. The show was a success! Now, an exclusive for FQ readers, here is Richard's story...

Usually the well-written prose of Bud Berkeley graces these pages; however, the subject of this issue's column is surgical foreskin restoration procedures.

Since I recently completed a surgical foreskin restoration procedure and, prior to undergoing surgery, spent eight months researching the subject, Bud has relinquished the typewriter to me.

Like so many of you, I was one of those men John Erickson described:

There is one category of men circumcised in infancy that most books, articles and studies don't mention and whose existence most experts have not yet acknowledged: Men who see themselves as victims of a mutilation they were defenseless against and who are silenced by the humiliation, who would rather their foreskins had been left intact but who cannot bring themselves to face the added humiliation of calling attention to the fact that part of their penis was brutally amputated.

They often think they are alone, and pretend contentment or indifference to save face, unaware that there are other circumcised men who have the same feelings and are pretending also.

This is one of the reasons infant circumcision can seem so harmless—you rarely hear from or about the babies it eventually hurts the most.

Until late in 1983, at the age of thirty-one, I too suffered in silence. My reasons for seeking foreskin restoration were to correct a sexual dysfunction. The lack of sensitivity of the glans of my penis made ejaculations almost impossible. It ruined my sex life and cost me dearly in many other ways personally.

After several humiliating trips to various doctors' offices, only to be thrown out or told I needed psychiatric counseling, I finally obtained the BUFF stretching information.

Over a period of the next 22 months, I utilized the BUFF technique and obtained some rather decent results in stretching. More importantly, recovering the glans returned sensitivity to my penis and sex became a pleasurable thing. Something I had never really known.

While I followed the BUFF technique to the letter, by November 1985 I realized that in order to attain my goal of complete coverage of the glans—whether flaccid or erect—I would have to commit to at least another two years of being taped.

One of the original authors of the BUFF publication had undergone a surgical procedure which had not been successful. His vehemence on the subject of surgery was frightening. Still, I did not want to spend an additional two years' investment in stretching.

I also discovered that as the skin stretched downward it became thinner, and I was fearful that by the time I achieved complete coverage the skin would be as thin as onion skin paper.

I contacted Bud Berkeley who provided me with a list of five surgeons in the United States who performed surgical procedures.

I soon discovered that their procedures were as diverse in concept as they were in localities. There was only one man listed for California. He personified the image of the Beverly Hills plastic surgeon. Consultation was $155 before he even met with you. His fee was enormous—$10,000 and hospitalization, medications, etc. were NOT included in that price. In the midst of my research he died, and his practice was assumed by someone who does not have any interest in foreskin restoration. Scratch one doctor.

The other four doctors were located in Texas, Ohio and Virginia. Fortunately, my job required a good deal of travel, so I was able, over the course of the following eight months, to visit each doctor and discuss their individual procedures.

All of the doctors readily provided me with information about their individual procedures, however, when I asked about speaking with some of their former patients, some of the doctors were less willing than others to provide me with any names.

While I understood the former patient's desire for privacy, I explained to the doctors that I was not about to climb onto an operating table without knowing what to expect.

Finally it was arranged for some of the former patients to contact me, and I was given the names of a few former patients with whom I could discuss the surgical procedures.

Beginning in January 1986 I spoke to and visited with the former patients. By May of 1986 I had met or spoken to all but two men who lived in New York. They were patients of Dr. Donald Greer of San Antonio, Texas.

In May I used some vacation time to go to Europe, and upon my return three weeks later I stopped in New York City to visit with these two gentlemen. What I heard from them and what I saw in the way of final results was amazing to me. It was impossible to tell either of these men had ever been circumcised.

When I returned to California I sat down with all of my notes and reviewed the facts.

From the information I had gathered, Dr. Greer of San Antonio had performed three times the number of procedures as any of the other doctors. By May 1986 he had completed 24 procedures. The other doctors had completed only five or six each.

From the results I had seen personally, Dr. Greer's procedure was the most successful. All but one of his former patients were very pleased with the final results. That could not be said for the other former patients with whom I had spoken.

With regard to cost, Dr. Greer's procedure was in the middle of a scale that ran from $2,000 to $7,500.

Nearly three years of my life had gone into making this decision and I wanted it to be the correct one.

After reviewing the facts and my extensive notes, I placed a telephone call to San Antonio and requested the surgery from Dr. Greer.

On June 5, 1986 I arrived in San Antonio, met at the airport by John Strand, a resident of San Antonio, and Dr. Greer's very first patient. For the next two weeks John had invited me to be his houseguest throughout the surgery and recovery period.

Later I was to discover that John had extended this same courtesy to all of Dr. Greer's patients of whom he was aware, and never asked for any monies in return for all of his kindnesses. Since John had been through the procedure himself and had had the benefit of observing some 20 other patients of Dr. Greer's, he knew what to look for in terms of danger signs postoperatively.

Like the other patients of Dr. Greer's, I will always be grateful to John for taking in a complete stranger and providing a very pleasant environment in which to recover.

On Friday, June 6 I had one final meeting with Dr. Greer to discuss the procedure in detail. From Dr. Greer's office I went to my appointment with Dr. Paul Mohl, a staff psychiatrist who works with Dr. Greer screening patients.

Because Dr. Mohl had read my confidential file he was aware that my educational background included a Master's degree in Psychology. Translation of that last sentence: We knew we could not bullshit one another.

I found Dr. Mohl to be very pleasant and easygoing. He began by asking me the reasons for wanting the foreskin restoration and what I was hoping to accomplish. I told him of the dysfunction caused by the lack of sensitivity and what it had cost me personally. I told him of my efforts with the BUFF stretching technique and its limited success.

Lastly, I explained that the dysfunction seemed to resolve itself when the glans was recovered, and I wanted permanent results without having to invest an additional two years in stretching.

Dr. Mohl told me he would recommend me for the surgery without any reservations. The surgery was then scheduled for Tuesday, June 10.

I reported to the hospital at 7 A.M. on June 10. Although I was to be Dr. Greer's first case that morning, there was some type of foul-up regarding the operating room schedule and I was asked to sit in the waiting room until my name was called.

From then until after 10 A.M. I sat in the waiting room watching the national morning news programs followed by the mindless pabulum of middle America making complete asses of themselves on game shows.

Finally my name was called and I was led to a small cubicle containing a gurney and the inevitable backless hospital gown. I was asked to undress and get on the gurney. Soon thereafter an orderly came to take me to the operating room holding area.

The anesthesia nurse came in and introduced herself and began plugging me into various IV setups. Dr. Greer and his assistant Dr. Davis also stopped in to see if all was going well. Soon I was wheeled into the operating room. Once I was on the table the anesthesia nurse asked me to begin counting backwards from ten. I did not make it past six before I was out.

I awakened in my room around 6 P.M. John Strand was there and had already spoken to Dr. Greer, who had reported the surgery had gone well.

I was catheterized, and that limited my movement. Honestly, I did not feel like moving around anyway.

Over the course of the next two days I convalesced, taking less medication and feeling better. I was sore but not in great pain. On Thursday morning, June 12, Dr. Greer stopped by to examine me and decided to remove the catheter. I was slightly apprehensive. While I hated the catheter, the apprehension stayed with me until later that morning when I had to get up to urinate. Once I knew my plumbing was working the apprehension disappeared.

On Friday afternoon, June 13, Dr. Greer released me from the hospital.

Everything went well until late Saturday night when I experienced a delayed pain reaction. John brought me back to the hospital where I was told by the emergency room nurse that I would have a long wait. Apparently Saturday nights are when the local rivalries between the military, cowboys, oilmen and Mexicans explode. She told me that the hospital averaged treatment of a dozen shootings and stabbings each weekend. I thought she was joking.

As it turned out, her estimates were not far from the truth, and when I finally got to see Dr. Davis (who was on duty) he looked drained.

The pain medication was changed and I returned to John's house.

Six weeks after the surgery I made a special trip to San Antonio for a checkup, and based on that examination, Dr. Greer decided to perform the second procedure on August 28, following his return from vacation.

I returned to California and my job.

On August 24 I flew once again to San Antonio and was met by John Strand for the second time that summer.

On Monday morning, August 25, I met with Dr. Greer and was fitted for a clamp that would help divide the pedicle (help separate the tissue). From Monday morning until Wednesday afternoon I remained at the clinic during the day and, between appointments and meetings, Dr. Greer would tighten the clamp gradually. By Wednesday afternoon I was in need of pain medication and, as it turned out, I was admitted to the hospital that afternoon.

The following morning, August 28 (Thursday), I was taken into the OR and the separation procedure was performed. The procedure went smoothly and once again the staff from the 12th floor gave me fantastic treatment, for I had made friends among the nursing staff on my first visit.

I remained in the hospital until Saturday, August 30 and was released.

On Tuesday, September 2, I returned home to Los Angeles.

The results of my surgery have been very successful, and the best illustration of that was revealed to me in November 1986 at my gymnasium.

I had just completed a workout and a shower and was drying off near my locker. A young man nearby kept staring at me.

At first I ignored him, but finally I confronted him. I asked at what he was staring. My direct approach apparently embarrassed him, for he turned beet red from head to foot.

He apologized and said he had always wondered what it was like to be uncircumcised. He held his own towel away from his body to indicate that he had been circumcised. When he asked me if I had ever considered being circumcised I began laughing.

His disbelief was real when I told him what he was seeing was a restoration. He said he was a doctor and diplomatically as possible asked if he could examine me at a later time.

Because I thought this was a perfect opportunity to convert a potential knife-happy doctor, I agreed in hopes that he would prevent some future male baby from being circumcised. I agreed to meet him for a future appointment.

Following his examination of my surgery he was amazed such a procedure existed. Based on my conversations with him, I think I may have saved some future male child from this brutal, routine amputation of foreskin. I certainly hope so.

Since my surgery those who know of my experience have asked me if I would do it all over again.

Without reservations, yes, I would. I am glad I do not have to, but if necessary I would get on another airplane, return to San Antonio and do it all over again.

I realize that this is only restoration. Nothing could ever replace the real thing which was taken from me at a time when I was defenseless to do anything about it. I still harbor some resentment towards my mother, for my father was old-country German, uncircumcised and wanted my brother and I left intact. He lost the battle with the doctor and my mother, for she signed the release because the doctor told her it was "best" and "normal" to be circumcised. If it is normal and best, why are men born with foreskin?

The sensitivity has returned to my glans and I am most pleased with the final results.

Obviously, if you can achieve your goals of foreskin restoration without having to resort to surgery, do so. However, you should not be frightened away from the surgical procedures by scare tactics used by those who oppose surgery.

You cannot make an intelligent decision unless you possess all of the facts.

Certainly there are risks involved, as with any surgery. But if nonsurgical methods are not accomplishing your goals, surgical procedures are a viable option. □

NETWORK CONTACT

by Mark
Beaumont

My heart beat faster as Jeff stripped and I first saw his unscarred body. His well-muscled shoulders blended into his chest, which tapered down to his waist. An attractive cock hung down between his thighs, springing out from his blond bush. Already stripped, I reached out eagerly, gently peeling his long tapering foreskin back from the flaring head of his cock.

We'd first met on a computer network. One evening I'd scanned the want ad section, and one caught my eye. I punched in the number and soon saw the answer on my screen. We didn't say much that night, because time on the network's very expensive, and we had a lot of details to exchange. The cheapest way was to mail voice tapes. Mine was in the mail to him the next morning, and his came two days later.

When he told me how he'd often lie in bed and fantasize, gently slipping his foreskin back and forth, I had an immediate physical reaction. I hadn't been circumcised either, unlike many Americans who lose their foreskins at birth and never know the pleasures possible with one.

Just listening to him talk about himself and his interests gave me a warm feeling, not sexual, because we were so much alike. There was an emotional closeness between us that showed itself immediately and developed quickly. Jeff was a very warm person, with a lot of empathy and compassion. He was one of the few people whom I felt really understood me, and his tapes revealed that he felt the same about me.

Although we weren't clones, we had many things in common, and our outlooks were very similar. We were both career oriented, he in nursing and myself in civil service. We both lived modest lifestyles, had fairly good educations, and most importantly, we both tended to be "loners." I was surprised to find my heart beating much faster whenever I listened to one of his tapes. The feeling of closeness grew with each tape.

Living in Minnesota made it hard to visit Jeff in Houston, and for months tapes were our only contact. Vacation time was a long way off, and for the moment I could only fantasize about a face-to-face contact with him. We exchanged photos, head and shoulders only, probably because we'd seen lots of cocks and a picture of one more wouldn't be very meaningful.

We both discussed ways of getting together, but for the moment, the miles between us remained an unbridgable gap. I didn't anticipate a lucky break.

The National Conference of Motor Vehicle Inspectors was in Houston that year. The state isn't generous, and only one staff member gets to go to any seminar. My chief usually went. Three weeks before the conference, he broke his leg while painting his house. For reasons I still don't understand, he chose me to represent him. When I found out, I phoned Jeff: "Hey, guess what? I'll be in Houston in three weeks."

"That's great. How'd you arrange it?"

"I didn't. It got arranged for me. Tell you all about it when I get there."

"Should I pick you up at the airport?"

"No, I'll rent a car, and I'll find your place. Send me a map, just to be sure."

"How long'll you be here?" Jeff asked.

"Only a week, and I'll be tied up with business during the day. Evenings'll be free, though, and I think I can leave on a Friday, give us a weekend together. I can also stay the next weekend, which'll give us more time."

"Okay. I'll be seeing you."

I didn't keep my mind on my work very much during the following weeks. This got positively dangerous when one woman, who was taking her driver's license exam with me, pulled out in front of a semi without signaling or looking, and we almost got creamed. Somehow I made it though, and got on the flight to Houston.

Flying is the pits. Time spent at the airports and in ground travel is usually more than air time, and when I got to Houston it took me two hours to collect my stuff and the rental car. The map Jeff had sent was good, and half an hour after leaving the airport's congestion, I pulled up in front of the suburban garden apartment where he lived.

He opened the door quickly when I rang the bell, wearing cutoffs and golf shirt. We stared at each other for a long moment before I could bring myself to walk in. Once inside, I dropped my bag and we put our arms around each other, hugging like long-lost brothers which, in a sense, we were.

It was warm in Houston, and the temperature added to the warmth of our bodies. I felt a drop of precum start. When this happens, I feel a slight tingle deep inside and a warm, slippery feeling as the droplet flows up my tube. We broke away and Jeff said, passionately and seriously, echoing my thoughts: "Let's get naked. We've got nothing to hide, anyway."

I finished stripping before he did, although I had more to take off. I watched him finish, admiring his body. I touched him first, gently placing my thumb on top of his penis, and two fingers underneath, to strip his long, tapered foreskin back. I felt another drop of precum start as his healthy, pink tip came into view. Jeff grabbed my other arm and led me to the couch.

Once we were seated, he grabbed my hard cock in his fist, stroking up and down. I watched his foreskin stretch to uncover the head as I pulled back on it. The tight orifice widened to slip back over his sharply flaring tip and snapped into the groove behind it. When I pulled forward, it bunched up before slipping sensuously over the rim and downhill to the tip. A drop of clear juice appeared in his long slit, and I bent over to lick it up, inhaling his clean, musky sex-smell. Another hot drop oozed its way up my tube, and I felt it part the lips of my pisshole.

"You've got a nice tip," Jeff said, "just like a mushroom."

"Yours is nice, too," I replied. "Hot pink. Nice flaring rim."

"Yours is getting purple. You're gonna come soon." Jeff was right. I could feel the engorgement in my tip, which was swelling for the final spasm and getting very sensitive. My shaft was rock hard.

"Didn't come in a week," I said. "Saving it up for you."

"I wanted to, but three days ago I just had to beat off. It got too much for me," he said. I could tell that his hot body was about to explode. I was almost there. We both felt the urgency of the moment, the burning need for relief. We didn't try to hide it, to pretend we were going to have the sort of carefully metered sex that resembles a ballet. We were burning hot for each other, and it consumed us.

Jeff put his head down, and I felt his lips around my cock as we shifted our bodies on the couch. He pulled my skin all the way back, leaving the head exposed to his lips and tongue. The warmth of his mouth drove me over the edge, and I frantically pumped at his cock as I felt the churning begin deep inside.

When my fiery discharge started to burn its way up my tube,

I bent down and engulfed his cock, tonguing the underside of his head. My hand wrapped around the base of his cock, felt the warning throb as his climax began. A moment later, his first salty jet shot onto my tongue as my second one filled his mouth. Our next spurts came together, our fourth ones synchronized too. We lost track after that, totally absorbed in mindless sensation, in a tangle of arms, legs, mouths and cocks.

When it was over, we pulled apart slightly. I licked the remaining juice from his tip, milking his shaft to get every drop. I pulled the protective covering into place gently, knowing that his glossy tip was super-sensitive now, like mine. Jeff kept my foreskin back and ran one finger up my tube on the underside, forcing a final warm, milky drop out through the slit. He licked it off and pulled my foreskin forward over the end.

We stood up, our softening dicks prominently displayed. I could see Jeff's shapely head outlined under his long, tapering foreskin. The wide rim made the foreskin bulge before it, narrowed down to an attractive rosebud pucker beyond his pointed glans. Jeff asked:

"Shower?" We were both sweating hard.

I nodded "Yes," and he led me to the bathroom. Under the warm water we lathered each other up, taking turns, sensuously exploring each other's bodies with our slippery hands. We hardly spoke, because there wasn't much to say. We'd said it all on tape, developing our emotional closeness over the months.

Jeff fingered my appendix scar, saying:

"That's gross, that suture job."

"Yeah, I know. I was six years old, and the doctor didn't give a damn. At least I'm lucky it's not down here."

"Better believe it. My cousin's dick's got a scar like that all around it, really messed up."

"I'm glad you're still whole," I said, holding his cock up and slipping his funnel-shaped foreskin back to uncover the tapering head. I soaped my hand thoroughly and ran it slowly and sensually over his bare, flaring tip. He got rigid in my fingers to his full 6½ inches. I rinsed Jeff's cock off while he soaped mine the same way, pulling on my hood until the tight pucker changed to a widening ring as it slid back over my mushroom tip. His soapy hand made my cock, already half hard, fill out to its full 7 inches. The direct contact on our sensitive heads would make us come soon if we weren't careful. Both our cocks were standing straight out now, letting me compare my broad, blunt-nosed head with his flaring and pointed one.

We rinsed and dried off and wordlessly sat down on the double bed. We were both hot, but without the overpowering fever that had driven us the first time. Our firm, bare-headed cocks stood out, testifying to our excitement. We slowly caressed each other's bodies, enjoying the gradual development of our passion. I reached behind him to squeeze his attractively rounded cheeks, and he got up on one elbow to press his soft, ripe lips against mine. It was a slow kiss, a gentle contact that lasted for at least a minute before I felt his tongue slip past my lips. The tongue contact was hot and steamy, bringing back some of the urgency we'd felt the first time.

I slipped one hand around Jeff's cock, clasping it and pressing gently on the most sensitive part underneath the head. If his cock was anything like mine, this insistent pressure would drive him up the wall. His breathing deepened, and he broke the kiss, turning his body down to clasp my cock.

We were in the 69 position now, and I saw his straight, attractive hardness inches in front of my eyes, the long slit in front already slightly parted with a drop of precum. With one finger, I spread the fluid over his glossy pink tip, running from the sharply tapered nose to the wide rim, around and underneath. Another drop appeared, and I spread it as before.

"You juice a lot, Jeff," I said. "I love it."

"I know. So do you."

With my other hand, I reached back to press a finger into the tube behind his balls. His cock bobbed with an involuntary contraction. Another drop oozed out, and I spread it over the hot surface of his tip, this time reaching the groove behind the rim and the inverted foreskin spread out behind it. Jeff's cock was arrow-straight, the long foreskin laying flat behind the head, completely exposing the tip without any bunching up in the groove. I ran my finger up his tube, pressing hard to bring a gush of clear fluid from his long slit. There was now enough precum to lubricate my hand completely, and I wrapped it around his hot, throbbing cock, stroking very slowly because a few quick palm strokes on his bare-headed cock would make him explode. I wanted it to last and felt that he shared my feeling. I watched more fluid dribble slowly from his slit as I caressed him.

Looking down, I could see his hand wrapped around my shaft, which was rigid with the foreskin bunched up behind my thick rim, leaving my mushroom-shaped head exposed as his tongue flicked lightly over its sensitive surface. I sat up, partly breaking the contact.

"Jeff," I said, "I want to make you cum first, and watch." One of my secret pleasures is watching another rock-hard male discharging, the white jets shooting out of his tip in front of my eyes. I remembered that Jeff came hard, like me, his body spasming as he threw himself into orgasmic frenzy. I wanted to bring on and watch his climax without distraction from my own.

Jeff lay on his back, and I straddled his thighs, both hands on his cock. I stretched the shaft skin tightly back, the tension on his G-string bringing the head down slightly, while I rubbed his fluid over the head with one finger. Jeff kept a hand wrapped around my cock, which needed no stimulation at this point to keep it hard.

Sitting over him, I was able to see everything, how his jaw muscles tightened with the rising excitement and the way his flaring tip changed from hot pink to deep purple as I stroked it gently, teasingly. It became glossy, and the rim flared out to its final fullness under my finger as his eyes closed.

Slowly, I spread a drop of precum over his tight G-string, making him draw his breath sharply. I slowed my finger even more and saw his entire body tighten up as I pulled him gently over the brink. The dribble from the end of his cock became milky, which told me that some of his life-juice was already leaking, that I had him right on the edge. I spread it over the hot tip with my finger, slowly, to keep him at the peak as long as possible. When I ran my finger into the groove under his purple head again it triggered his climax. His cock throbbed in my palm, still wrapped around the base of his shaft, and a white jet shot out of his slit, landing on his chest. Another came out, and I heard him gasp, "Mark, Mark!"

I said, "Let it all out, Jeff. Cum, just cum!" His hand tightened hard around my cock and his hips bucked under me. Jeff was totally lost in his stormy physical sensations, eyes screwed shut, lips drawn back, as passion took control of his body.

I almost climaxed watching him, the pressure of his hand bringing me dangerously near the edge as his lean body struggled under mine. When it was over and Jeff relaxed on the bed under me, I spoke:

"I liked that as much as you did. You really came hard."

"Thanks, Mark," he replied. "You made it for me. Give me a couple of minutes and I'll do the same for you."

His hand had never left my cock, and he continued stroking it gently, bumping my foreskin up against my rim. If he'd brought it all the way over the sensitive glans, or if he'd touched it bare handed, I would have shot right then. I leaned forward and kissed him gently, and we stayed that way for a couple of minutes while my excitement came under control.

Jeff opened his eyes and sat up. He pushed me down gently and sat next to my hips, holding my cock straight up while he brushed his open palm over the end. My precum flowing freely made the contact slippery, and gradually he spread the warm fluid all over the tender surface, stimulating all of the nerve endings.

I'd been hot and hard for longer than he and knew that I couldn't last long. Although I tried holding back, letting myself go limp and keeping my crotch muscles relaxed, each stroke made my crotch muscles tighten involuntarily. I felt the slight spasms deep inside as my precum flowed, each drop like a mini-orgasm.

"You're really gettin' hot, Mark," Jeff said. "Your tip's swelling up and getting purple." As he spoke, he pulled back hard on my shaft, pulling back the foreskin that usually stayed bunched behind my rim, and normally shielded it from sexual contacts. I felt his slippery finger run down into the groove behind the head, all the way around it and back to the top. It was an unfamiliar feeling, very sharp and erotic.

"Mark, you're almost there," he said. His finger continued its insistent probing. I felt myself starting to slip as my feelings focused on what he was doing to my cock. His finger was driving me wild. His mouth was next to my ear as he whispered:

"I'm gonna make you cum hard, even harder than last time."

Suddenly, his hand wrapped itself around my bursting glans, the contact stimulating the whole surface. I had a rush of heat and my tip exploded, the shock wave traveling down to the root of my cock. Jeff felt it, because I heard his voice:

"Come on, Mark, cum!"

His words hit me like an electric shock, and the maddening caress of his hand sent me totally out of control. I felt my muscles tighten deep inside, and my awareness of things around me dimmed as I struggled against the final spasm, wanting to keep this moment forever.

A burning sensation told me of my first discharge as I lost control completely, and the fiery rush up my tube made me groan in pure pleasure. All of my attention was in my cock, and I could feel the lips of my slit pushed open by the hot jet shooting out. Another burning rush started as my hips bucked involuntarily, and the sensation filled my dick as the fluid flowed where the palm of his hand spread the hot wetness over my super-stimulated head.

His hand churned around my bulging tip, twisting, adding to my sensations, as another spasm shook my bed. My legs spread wide as another cum began, with me helpless in Jeff's hands. I bucked my hips, instinctively wanting to drive my hot, throbbing tip through his palm, but Jeff's hands stayed locked around my cock, adding more fuel to my fire as they twisted around my cock. He was using a "snake bite" on me, twisting his hands in opposite directions on my cock, like wringing a dish towel. I just gasped and shuddered in his hands. I could feel my hot discharges making the contact slippery as his tight fingers worked over and behind my bulging rim. The hot head of my cock felt as if it was on fire, as my insides churned.

Several more mindless spasms gripped me, each one weaker, and finally it was over.

"Gee, Mark, you were wild. I could hardly hold you."

I opened my eyes and smiled up at Jeff. I pulled his head down to mine and whispered in his ear:

"Thanks, Jeff, thanks a lot. That was super."

I laid back and looked at him. I couldn't find the words to thank him enough, but I also knew that it wasn't necessary.

"We've got quite a few days together. I want to make the most of them."

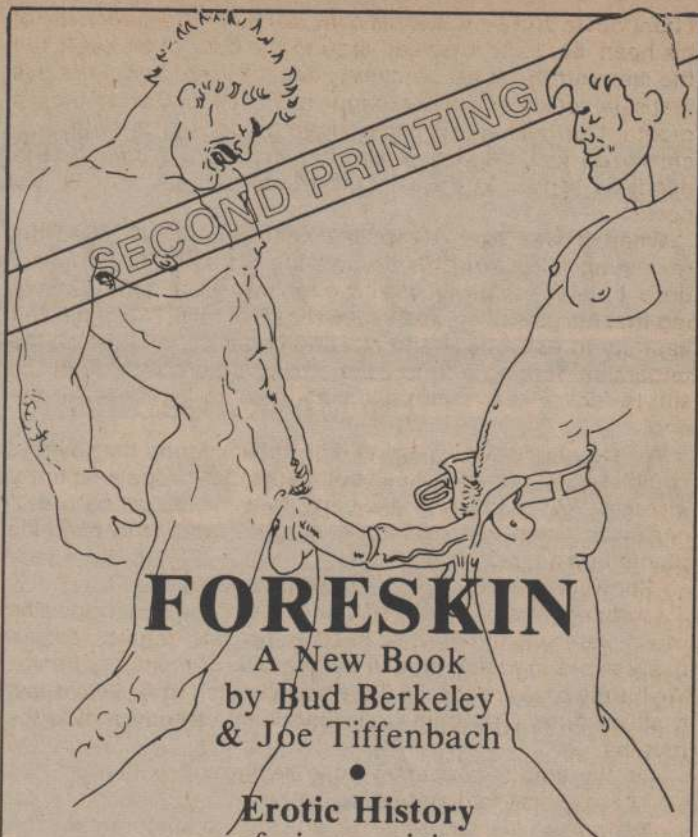

"What about after?" he asked.

This was the awkward part. We'd be separated for months. I had no answer because I knew that we were both tied to our jobs. We were too realistic, or too selfish, to make any drastic change.

"We'll take care of that, one way or the other," I said. Jeff leaned down and kissed me again. I realized that Jeff was also too caring to make impossible demands on me. To my surprise, I felt the same way. I didn't want to risk destroying such a beautiful rapport by laying on him anything he couldn't handle.

"My vacation's in three months," he said. "Guess where I'm going?"

I didn't have to answer. I already knew. □

THE SPY WHO WASN'T CIRCUMCISED

by Mark Beaumont

A Russian agent named Conon Molody came to England via Canada, under the identity of Gordon Lonsdale, a boy born of a Finnish mother and Scottish father, and who was taken by his mother to Europe before WWII, during which he vanished.

Molody was following the then-common Soviet practice of taking an identity that was "backstopped," that is, with supporting documentation. It's possible to forge a passport or driver's license, but if the government department has no record of its being issued, it's not backstopped, and will blow up with the slightest investigation. Consequently, a spy will take the identity of a real person, because there are school records, etc., to back him up.

Other Soviet agents had assumed identities of real Americans somewhat earlier, in one case of a Roman Catholic priest. The FBI found the real people and were able to expose the Soviets.

It's more convenient when the person died at an early age. That way, there is no chance of a criminal record or abandoned wife haunting the pretender.

Gordon Lonsdale the spy was a case officer, handling several British traitors. They worked at the Portland Naval research establishment, where they were able to get their hands on plans for the latest antisubmarine warfare devices and other items of interest to the Russians.

Lonsdale's "cover" was that of a small businessman, operating a chain of coin-operated machines for a living. This gave him reason to travel, and because of his occupation, his time was his own.

Perhaps through double agents, or through decoding Russian messages, the British counterespionage service discovered the "leaks" of their naval secrets. By ruling out those who didn't have access to the material being leaked, they came up with a list of suspects. One, a woman named Ethel Gee, was followed by the Security Service and seen passing material to Lonsdale. When the time was ripe, Superintendent George Smith of the Special Branch arrested both at the moment Gee was handing an envelope over on a street.

The cops started checking Lonsdale out. They checked his background, and found that he'd vanished into the war in Europe as a ten-year-old boy. Checking medical records, they found that Lonsdale the boy had been circumcised in infancy by a Dr. Mitchell. Lonsdale the suspect was not cut. Therefore he had to be somebody else. Where had he learned to speak English with an American idiom?

The Soviet spy was Conon Molody, who had been born in Russia and brought to the United States as a boy by his aunt in the 1930s. He attended American schools, where at the time most boys were not circumcised, and learned to speak American English, which later enabled him to pass for Canadian in England.

This incident gave rise to a lot of totally unfounded speculation and a lot of fiction writing. One myth that arose is that the Soviets have a town deep in the heart of Russia that is set up just like an American town, where everyone speaks English, reads American newspapers, watches tapes of American TV, and learns to act like an American.

A novel that came about is The Spy Who Loved America, by Charles Enstein, in which a Russian is made over by plastic surgery to resemble an American Air Force officer. The Russians blunder, making over his face but not his penis, and the officer's wife discovers that he's a fake because the real husband was circumcised. Nice story, but hardly realistic.

An "encyclopedia of espionage" written by an Englishman named Ronald Seth advises that it's generally a good idea for a spy to be circumcised. This is nonsense, as much depends on who the spy is and where he "works." In Israel, okay, but not in most of the rest of the world.

One Israeli spy, Wolfgang Lutz, posed as a German in Egypt and got away with it for a while because he was only half Jewish, had been born in Germany and was actually uncut. He never got cut when he went to Israel, and perhaps was tabbed by their secret service for precisely that reason, according to his book The Champagne Spy.

The story about Soviet spymasters having the agents they send to America circumcised is just myth. The reason is that, if the person being impersonated has been circumcised, it would be possible to match one physical characteristic by circumcision, but there's no way to fake blood type, and a whole bunch of other physical features such as fingerprints, etc. In practice, it's much easier to try to induce their target to become a traitor than it is to replace him with a made-over Russian. In real life, unlike in fiction, impersonation is almost impossible. Also in real life, spy catchers don't expose suspects by pulling down their pants.

As for the control agents, the ring-leaders, they don't have to pass for Americans. They usually are Russians with diplomatic immunity, members of the embassy staff or UN delegation. Otherwise, they may be Polish, Cuban or some other nationality that does not practice circumcision.

Another angle is the "refugee," in which a "Freedom Fighter" from a Soviet-dominated country escapes to the West and offers to join the struggle against Communism. He doesn't pretend to be other than what he is, an uncircumcised Czech, or Bulgarian, but only fakes his loyalties. He's not a freedom fighter, but an infiltrator who seeks to worm his way into his targeted country and then report back by clandestine means.

This happened a lot in West Germany. Many came over from the East, and a certain number of them were infiltrators. You surely have ready of the various espionage scandals that rocked the Bonn government from time to time.

We have a lot of Hungarians here, people who supposedly escaped from the Communists during the 1956 uprising. There's no telling how many of them are "ride-alongs," secret Soviet agents, fore-skins and all, affiliating themselves with the refugee groups and reporting back on their activities. Penile examination would be especially futile here, because even if one of them had assumed the identity of another Hungarian who had been killed, the medical records would be back in Hungary. Even if the real person had on some off-chance been circumcised, this information would be unavailable.

From this short discussion, you can see that circumcision is unimportant in espionage. If the counterespionage police have enough on a suspect for an arrest and a physical examination, the game's up anyway. If the agent is successful, and goes about his business unsuspected, he can discreetly keep his heavily foreskinned penis in his pants and nobody will be the wiser.

You can get more information on this from a book, Methods of Disguise, by John Sample, sold by Loompanics Unlimited, PO Box 1197, Port Townsend, WA 98368. It costs about eight bucks. □

MR. FORESKIN (Private Dick)

by David Mitchell

It started out as a great attachment, one which gave me, I thought at times, the pleasure of two cocks. It could work its wonders in many ways; basically, in two categories. One: it could tease and arouse the Big Boy, or two: it could take a great deal of abuse when the Rocket was past his best dimensions, or yet to attain them.

I always felt proud of my intrinsically twistable friend of puberty, but grew to love him when I realized the excitement he caused in others. In a great many others, as a matter of fact. People of different sexes, economic backgrounds, philosophies, religious training, nationalities, all that horse shit, got very reverent and sloppy at the mouth when he was displayed—either casually or for their specific enjoyment.

I was raped into nudity, and the pleasure of displaying myself by my father and a friend of his. At the age of three, I discovered what many search for all their lives. Which, by the way, I had been seeking for centuries.

It could have been at that first revelation, or at any of several inspiring adventures later, that I discovered the magic inherent in foreskin. It is the crowning glory of manhood; gives the bearer an added sense of what it is to be male.

Women insist that the tip be removed (as they would the entire organ—if men would stand for it, and they could live without it). I'm sure there is a society in every town where women gather to eat these tidbits of greatness, hoping (in vain, of course), to invest themselves with strength of character, or a few positive thoughts.

They are fascinated with my friend. The are more fascinated than some men. There are legions of gay men who worship foreskin. There are cock-stirring glances from healthy straight guys with a sense of humor. The need to be near foreskin is felt by everyone who knows, or only suspects, that you possess a healthy one. To say nothing of the one invested with star quality...

Why are women's eyes, in church, drawn to my fly?

Why do men on the bus, when I am wet from tennis, strain for a peek under my shorts? Why do I, sometimes—if the hung, hairy man is next to me and we are secluded—slowly manipulate, ass, crotch, shorts—all that is necessary—so the tip of foreskin seems somehow to seek the light of day?

Why, if properly encouraged, by a look, an increased rate of breathing, a strong hand moving toward a bulge—do I reach down and grasp with rough tenderness, the dearest drug ever invented by God? Why, when our thighs are together, and both his hands are busy, do I explode into a six-foot cock, covered from top to toe in foreskin? My ass and tits are covered with velvet yards of it. Tits and asshole are cocks, topped, like ice cream sundaes, with whipped-cream foreskin.

I taste them with the foreskin of my mouth.

I had a flare for foreskin in the beginning, but had no way of knowing that it would, one day, be my isnignia, a nickname of sorts; one which would bring instantly to mind none other than yours truly, aka Mr. Foreskin. The one and only, certifiably degenerate insane pervert, devoted to the devotion, adoration and acceptance of homage owed him by the creator of his skin. □

World's Most Famous Foreskin

by Bud Berkeley

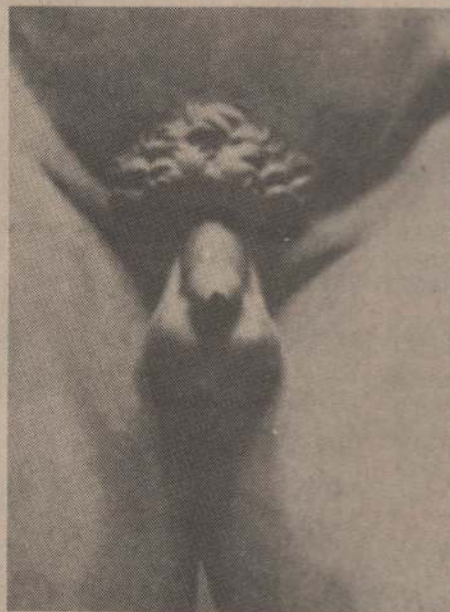

On January 25, 1504, the world's most famous foreskin was unveiled before the eyes of the world's most famous artists, including Leonardo da Vinci. The foreskin belonged to David. Since his unveiling, David has been showing off his foreskin, along with his magnificent male physique and well-exposed genitals, for all the world to see. And, the world has certainly been looking! Michelangelo's 13½-foot-high marble statue of David has been considered the epitome of male beauty for almost five hundred years... and that beauty includes a foreskin! David, second only to the Statue of Liberty, is the world's most famous statue.

But David's magnificently hewed foreskin, with its deft outlining of the hidden glans and its delicately pointed overhang, is controversial. Of course, many David replicas hide his most beautiful part with fig leaves, including the David standing so shyly in Hollywood's Forest Lawn. But the real controversy is not with David's nakedness, it is in his foreskin. As one man wrote to me, "David is the greatest art fraud in history!" Another man wrote, "Certainly Michelangelo was a learned man and a Catholic, he must have known that the real David was circumcised." Another writer, "I don't understand how the artist who painted the Sistine Chapel ceiling could have made such a mistake. Didn't he read the Bible?"

David, the Prince of Judea who became the King of the Jews, with a foreskin on his penis? David, who was most certainly circumcised on his eighth day of life, and who, according to the Bible (1 Samuel; Ch. 18, vrs. 27) cut off the foreskins of two hundred captured Philistines at the request of Saul, really shouldn't be remembered as Michelangelo chiseled him... at least not his cock. Why did Michelangelo give him a foreskin? There have been many theories bantered about: the Italians of his day couldn't stand the sight of a circumcised cock, Michelangelo chiseled David using a live model who had a foreskin, Michelangelo was not a scholar and had no idea that the early Hebrews circumcised their males, etc.

The truth is that when the 26-year-old Michelangelo was commissioned by the Board of Works of the Cathedral in Florence, he was "chosen to fashion, complete and finish to perfection that male statue called 'Il Gigante'..." Yes, the Florentines, who adored the finished statue which stood on a platform on the Palazzo Vecchio for all the world to see, didn't call it David but, instead, The Giant. To them, the magnificent nude male giant was "a symbol of the proud, restored republic, (and) a stern threat to usurpers." So, there is no evidence that Michelangelo knew that the foreskin he chiseled out of marble would end up on a statue named David.

Of course, it is true that Michelangelo was not a theological scholar and didn't even understand or read Latin. He came from a good background for his day, but his schooling stopped at 13, when he was apprenticed to the artist, Domenico Ghirlandaio, and his entire life was devoted to art from that day hence. He loved the male physique, but unlike the flamboyant Leonard da Vinci, whom he disliked, Michelangelo had very few close relationships. He hated women and didn't want them in his home. He was not an attractive man, even in his youth, and was often ill-tempered and, according to Will Durant (The Renaissance, Simon & Schuster, 1953) had only one confidant, his servant Francesco, who "for many years shared his bed."

Probably the greatest influence on the young Michelangelo as he chiseled away at the huge hunk of marble was not a lover or a model, and certainly not the original David, but those magnificent ancient Hellenistic statues he studied as a student in Rome. In fact, he had just returned home from Rome when he was commissioned to do David, and those early Greek gods were clearly in his vision... as were their foreskins.

Call him David, or The Giant, it really doesn't matter... Michelangelo created the most beautiful man in the world, complete with foreskin.

As one writer recalls, "I was the only boy in my school who had a foreskin and I was being teased because of it. I felt like a freak and considered my penis to be ugly until I was in the school library one day and opened an art book to a photograph of David. Suddenly, my foreskin was beautiful!"

Another writer: "I traveled to Europe with my folks as a teenager and when we visited Florence and saw David, I was overwhelmed. I stood there for an hour gazing at his beautiful cock and balls, and I studied his foreskin intently. As a circumcised American, I had never had the opportunity to appreciate the beauty of an uncircumcised penis. It changed my life!"

Yes, David, no matter who you are, you are a beautiful man... and we are glad you have a foreskin! □

THE KID'S FIRST TIME WITH DAD PART 1

The kid's been bad (chicks and drugs) but Dad knows just how to handle him. Dad shows his son who's boss and gives him the punishment he deserves. It's a horny kid's introduction into the male world of cocksucking, armpits, piss and, most of all, hot, masculine attitude.

THE KID'S FIRST TIME WITH DAD PART 2

Dad's been waiting for the right opportunity to corrupt his oversexed boy and tonight's the night. He knows he shouldn't do it, but those hot ass cheeks and adolescent cock are too tempting.

MY DADDY WAS BAD

The kid comes home to find his dad asleep after a hard day's work. He could stand there forever at the foot of the bed, rubbing his crotch and watching his dad's hairy chest, meaty thighs and swollen dick. But when Dad wakes up, matters come to a head and the kid gets taken on a wild sex trip that culminates in a super-hot scene.

KID VS DAD—WINNER TAKES ALL

Ever wrestle with your old man? Ever wonder what would happen if those sessions got Dad hot—too hot—and he overpowered you? Ever wonder about all the different things he could force you to do to that sweaty body of his before he pins you on your stomach and forces that horse-dick of his up your ass? It's all on this tape!

rites and Raunch

There was definitely something evil about the guy, maybe that's why I went home with him. But nothing prepared me for what was to come. I admit the things he lead me into were pretty sick, but he was so sure of himself, so masculine—well, I did them. Warning: Don't order this tape unless you're prepared to listen in on some really perverted stuff—devil worship, toilet sex in a filthy bathroom. Male bonding at its most extreme.

BIKE EXHIBITIONIST

Imagine: it's a steamy afternoon at the local truck stop and you see a biker who looks too good to be true—mean, dirty, muscular—leaning against his big, black Harley. You ask if he's interested in getting some pictures of his bike. But back in your garage his massive chest, his big, hairy ass, piss streaming out of that dick... It turns out he's quite an exhibitionist. But things get out of hand when he forces you to do more than take pictures. In a short time you know that stinking body better than your Polaroid does.

MARINES OVERHEARD

Two hot and very horny young Marines meet in the barracks latrine. Richie has to take a piss... and Mike takes things from there. If you're a real pig... if you like your action raunchy—hot military scenes, uniforms, the feel of a cold tile floor against your naked back while a hot Marine squats on your face—then we think you might be interested in Marines Overheard.

HOT HUNG TRUCKER

Teamster Bob picks up a not-so-innocent hitchhiker at a truckstop in the California desert. Bob has a kink in his neck... Jake the hitchhiker suggests a massage. Bob's leather jacket is the first thing to come off—then his dirty, greasy jeans. When they drop to the floor of the cab, you'll find out how this tape got its name. Jake knows just what to do to service that big rig. And you'll feel like you're right there to help him out.

MUSCLE BUILDER ORGY

Five hot bodybuilders, after a sweaty workout...stripping down to sweat-drenched jockstraps...eyeing each other...their hands reaching out to feel their buddies' biceps, brushing against these solid, hard pecs...and down, down still further 'til they get so hot they don't give a shit who walks in. If you get off on pumped-up muscle, hot man-to-man action, steamy lockerroom sex with no holds barred, then this tape is for you.

DELIVERY BOY COMES AGAIN

Richie is the new driver on the route. He's a hot, straight Italian guy who seems a little "curious" when he finds himself delivering beer and soda to a gay bar. The bartender jumps at the opportunity; soon he convinces Richie to pull out his dick and show it off. "I gotta piss," Richie announces so the bartender hands him an empty beer can. A hot session follows that gets into heavy cocksucking, lots of dirty talk, more piss games and kinky exhibitionism.

AL PARKER AS THE REPAIRMAN

Porn star Al Parker in his only audio tape. Al's an air conditioner repairman who drops in on a guy who's wife isn't home. Who could resist Al's enormous cock? Sucking that mammoth piece of meat isn't enough and pretty soon the guy's begging for it up his ass. He gets it too—plus Al's giant balls at the same time, in one of the hottest and kinkiest scenes ever recorded.

TAPE 1 THE INTERROGATION

This tape is featured on the cover of Drummer magazine. Model Brutus is a mean Master who knows how to deliver some heavy abuse, both physical and mental. On side one he talks directly to you, forcing you to suck his big cock and worship that incredible Master body. On side two we hear an authentic session where he works over a slave. Plenty of humiliation, and heavy, heavy abuse.

TAPE 2 THE TRAINING BEGINS

Brutus lays it on as his recruit responds willingly and unwillingly to the abuse and humiliation of his training. Not even allowed to beg, he submits to the DI's heavy hand and busy belt. Breathtaking!

TAPE 3 PUNISHMENT & REWARD

When Brutus speaks, men listen, as will you when he tells you how it is and how it is going to be. Whether the punishment is its own reward, or the reward is merely more punishment, only the lowly recruit can say. One hour of intense verbal abuse.

THE COMMANDER SPEAKS

"I am your big brother, your daddy, your commanding officer. I am every big man you ever saw in your whole fuckin' life and started beating off about... your tongue is going to be my shower... your mouth is going to be my toilet... you're going to make me feel like the biggest man in the world, just 'cause you got a throat. Get your teeth down there on that zipper... get down. That's it—get your face in there. Smell what a man is like between his legs." This is just the start of the verbal abuse and humiliation.

FATHER/SON—A father becomes his son's lover.

MARINE BRIG—A Marine DI punishes an AWOL Marine in the Brig.

PORN CALLS—Two half-hour jack-off phone calls.

SAILING TO HELL—Frank O'Rourke relates an original story of rape and abuse.

THE CONFESSIONAL—A young priest hears the confession of his first gay man and what happens in the booth would do much toward conversions.

THE HIGHWAY PATROLMAN—He stops a speeder on the road and there are more ways for paying for speeding.

THE HITCHHIKER—An air corpsman is picked up by a trucker who is looking for more than a passenger to share his ride.

THE HUSTLER—He sets the price for a blow job but discovers that the price includes a good deal more.

THE WARDEN—The young convict learns that time was not all he is giving up when he enters the joint.

TV REPAIRMAN—A straight, married repairman quickly discovers that he gets more than he expected when he goes to a surfer's house.

BRANDING, PIERCING AND TATTOOING—The hows and whys.

INTERVIEW WITH A TEEN-AGED MALE PROSTITUTE—A young, male whore tells all.

MASTER/SLAVE INTERACTION—Follow up by Frank O'Rourke of earlier tapes, The Master and The Slave.

SM AND LOVE?—Frank O'Rourke tells whether love can develop from an SM relationship.

THE ART OF FISTING—Fisting is no longer a strictly SM act. Frank O'Rourke discusses many aspects and possible dangers in fisting.

THE INFERNO: THE SM ANNUAL EXPERIENCE—Its values and what it is about.

THE MASTER—Frank O'Rourke discusses the role of the Master.

THE SLAVE—Frank O'Rourke gives an insight to the slave and/or masochist.

TOYS: SOME OF THEIR USAGES AND POSSIBLE DANGERS

MASTER MARIO:
"GREASE MONKEYS"

GREASE MONKEYS STARRING MASTER MARIO

Two sweaty garage mechanics rape a guy they find hanging around the men's room. He puts up a fight, at first, anyway. Lots of axle grease, cocksucking, filthy talk.

DADDY BREAKS IN A NEW BOY

Patience and understanding go out the window and Daddy starts training his boy with the tried-and-true adage, "spare the rod and spoil the boy." It is heavy-duty training in an actual session. Both the boy and you will be better for having been there.

THE D.I. STARRING MASTER MARIO

Authentic military discipline as a tough Drill Instructor takes advantage of a couple of guys in the brig. Packed with heavy verbal abuse and forced body worship as the D.I. proves who's in command.

THE COP STARRING MASTER MARIO

A mean police officer forces a suspect to service his body in a show of brute, perverted force. Climaxed by a raunchy bathroom scene and the victim cleaning out the cop's dirty ass.

COP WORSHIP

We've never offered a strictly one-man narrative tape before, but this one is so good we decided to make an exception. It's one guy's cop fantasies, his true-life obsessions, his dreams of what might happen if that super-hot cop he's had his eye on for months should bust him, force him to his knees to suck not only his cock but his partner's too, as the two cops stare at each other in the eye. All the guy's pent-up desires come out: slurping cop cum out of rubbers, swallowing gallons of cop piss, wallowing under dominant cop attitude. If you're into cops, you'll listen to this tape again and again.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

ENIGMA—Erotic Neoprimitive International Genital Modification Association—is a communications network of persons into genital modification in its many forms on both the fantasy and reality levels. It does not promote nor condone unsafe practices either to oneself or to others. It realizes, however, that every person is ultimately in control of his own destiny and supports freedom of choice in sexual orientation, activities and proclivities so long as this freedom does not infringe on the same freedom of other persons.

ENIGMA seeks to foster and facilitate communications between likeminded individuals through its various publications and personal ads. Every effort is made to verify the genuineness and honesty of its members, contributors and advertisers; however, no responsibility or liability is assumed either explicitly or implicitly for the information included within its publications or communications.

INTRODUCING ENIGMA

ENIGMA—Erotic Neoprimitive International Genital Modification Association—is a venture aimed at those persons interested in genital modification in its many forms both on a fantasy or actuality level. A questionnaire recently sent out to a group of persons known to be interested revealed the following activities defined as "genital modification:"

Cock and Ball Torture,
Castration, Circumcision,
Meatotomy,
Urethral Enlargement,
Splitting the Glans Penis,
Total Emasculation, Cannibalism,
Infibulation,
Piercing (Permanent and Play),
Sculpturing,
Surgical Modification,
Exhibitionism, Neutering,
Cutting, Slicing, Burning,
Amputation, Dicing, Stuffing,
Mounting, Skewering,
Subincision, Locks,
Scrotum Shortening,
Ball Crushing, Removal,
Reduction, Tattooing, Branding,
Implants, Urethral Stretching,
Shaving, Scrotum Amputation.

The list is redundant and varied, but an edited representation of what a number of men think on the subject.

GENITAL MODIFICATION

Genital modification is many things to many people. Its expressions range from neonatal circumcision through piercing and tattooing to total emasculation. It is viewed by many as a pathological compulsion to self-destruction; however, to many of those who practice it, it is viewed as an erotic fantasy or experience symbolizing an act of self-determination—the determination to "be one's own man" and to make one's physical body what he wants it to be.

The "thrill"—the interest—can stem from many sources: the physical pain of surgical modification; the visual effect of altered genitals—a ball-free crotch, a totally smooth crotch, balls with no dick, a split-glans penis, an unusually long urethral meatus, etc.; the shock value to others as they discover the absence of alteration of the genitals—the thrill of exhibitionism; the long-term effects of altered sensations or libidos, and so on.

For many, the thrill is in fantasy with the self-assurance that it probably won't come to pass but, for some, the ultimate thrill is in reality. These are the ones who have either already had some modifications and the ones who have decided that when the time is right, they will have initial or additional modifications of their choice. For them, it's not "if," but "when."

Shaving is probably the initial expression of genital modification. Body hair is the symbol of burgeoning manhood. It's the anxiously awaited pubertal moment when the first scraggly sprouts of pubic hair begin to emerge around the base of the pubescent male's dick that heralds the arrival of the external trappings of manhood, and genital modification is the fantasy or the desire to alter or remove those external trappings.

For some this may indicate a repressed (or not-so-repressed) desire not to be a man, but for many, it may, on the contrary, be an expression of ultimate manhood—the ability to be a man without the external trappings—to say to the world, "I don't need hair (or balls, or scrotum, or dick, or intact genitals for that matter) to make me a man. I am what I am and all the external genitalia don't make one whit of difference in what I really am."

Many who are gay have already come to the conclusion that progeny are not the symbol of maleness—that the ability to impregnate a female and produce children is not necessarily the measure of how male we are. Is it too much of an inferential leap to consider intact external genitals to also be superfluous and therefore "disposable"?

Most people, gay or straight, consider a certain amount of danger to be erotically stimulating. The fear of discovery in an ext. amarital affair; the possibility of entrapment or exposure in homosexual activities in public rest rooms or parks; the possibility of the discovery of cock rings or genital piercings should one have an accident and be taken to the hospital—all of these present a certain "aura of the unknown" which a great many people find erotic and exciting.

Major genital modifications also present a greater or lesser degree of risk and the unknown. There's always the fear of bleeding or infection after any procedure which breaks the skin. In addition, no one knows for sure just what the long-term effects of even a genital piercing are going to be until he has tried it. Others may say a Prince Albert is erotic, but until a person has one of his own, he cannot know what it actually feels like.

Most of the medical literature on bilateral orchiectomy (castration) would indicate the inevitability of a decline in erectile ability and potency postop, yet anecdotal information would indicate that this is not necessarily the case. Some have hypothesized that potency may be more dependent on mental state than testosterone influence and that dysfunction after castration is more of a function of individual expectations rather than hormonal loss. In addition, the literature on castration of postpubertal healthy males is scant if not missing. Most such operations have been done on older men, secondary to prostatic cancer, or on healthy males who were immediately started on exogenous testosterone medication with the admonition to "take this or you won't be able to get it up."

It seems a valid hypothesis then, that much impotence after castration might very well be the result of ideas implanted by the medical community, many of whom are so threatened or uncomfortable with the idea that an honest explanation of feelings on the part of the patient is impossible.

Genital modification is not, then, something to be taken lightly. Other than piercing, which is somewhat reversible, it is not an activity to be experimented with on the spur of the moment or in a drug-induced high or reckless "what-the-hell" abandon. Most major modifications are, to a greater or lesser degree, irreversible. They're not something to be entered into lightly. The person contemplating such modifications must do some thorough, sober soul-searching. "Is the game worth the candle?" Are the possible long-term effects worth the thrill of the procedure? Is his head together enough to feel that he will still be able to function after castration if the hypothesis above is correct, or might the fear of impotence make him impotent?

Or, if the hypothesis is incorrect, is he willing to seek testosterone therapy or live with a declining libido? Is he willing to live the rest of his life without a dick—sitting down to urinate or using a eunuch's quill? Is he willing to depend on other erogenous areas for sexual stimulation?

Genital modification, then, is not for the flighty or the faint at heart. Until one is able to explore his feelings and be certain of his motivation, he is best to be content with fantasies without action. When he "has his head together," he can start small—piercings, small meatotomies, etc. When he's certain of his motivation, and where he's going, he can progress to the "major leagues," confident that this is the ultimate expression of what he is, what he wants, and what he wants to be.

FORESKIN MODIFICATION

Undoubtedly, the most common method of foreskin modification is circumcision, a topic that is dealt with well and at length in FQ, so this article will not deal with infant and/or adult circumcision in a medical setting, but instead will look at some of the other common or not-so-common activities which can be classified as modification of the foreskin.

Self-Circumcision with Pinking Shears

The case study quoted here was submitted to "GT&GM" ("Genital Torture and Genital Modification"), a publication which went out of business several years ago.

The subject of this study is H.E.W., a white male, age 30. He admits to strongly masochistic tendencies, centered on his penis.

History: H.E.W. began sexual activity at an early age. When he was about eight years old he began to masturbate in company with an older cousin who was thirteen years old and able to ejaculate. Unlike the subject, who had a foreskin, the cousin was circumcised. The subject strongly envied his cousin's circumcised penis and developed a strong feeling of inferiority about his own.

They were soon indulging in sex at every opportunity, and H.E.W. never tired of bringing his cousin to a climax, usually by fellation. H.E.W. was too young for an ejaculation, but he would reach dry climaxes when his cousin masturbated or fellated him. They also engaged in anal intercourse. This activity went on for several years until the cousin graduated from high school and went away to college, leaving the subject heartbroken, as he was by this time addicted to their sexual relationship.

The subject now began to have homosexual relations with other young males, both in his age bracket and older, always choosing as partners those who were circumcised. He avoided contact with anyone who had a forekin. He was active in this way all through his high school years. He then went to college in New York City, and while in college became acquainted with a number of men, including some who were involved in sadomasochistic activities. This involvement led directly to the subject's first masochistic episode.

As he reports it, he was at a friend's apartment one night. He confided in this friend that he had always wanted to be circumcised (as the friend was). They had both had a good bit to drink, and after a little persuasion on his friend's part, H.E.W. permitted him to get a pair of pinkening shears and remove about a half inch of his foreskin. Although this was done without the benefit of any anesthetic, the pain was not too severe. There was very little bleeding and the subject reports that healing was complete in about a week.

As a consequence of this treatment, H.E.W.'s foreskin took on a curious appearance. When his penis was erect and the foreskin was retracted, it stood up in hard, knobby points. When he indulged in anal intercourse, his passive partner would complain of discomfort, as would anyone who fellated him. With the experience of the ease in which the partial circumcision had been accomplished, the subject now determined to remove his remaining foreskin.

He had by this time enrolled in a nursing curriculum at the college and was thus well acquainted with the procedures of circumcision. One night he took a circumcision clamp home with him from the hospital. He applied the clamp to his penis and proceeded to remove the rest of his foreskin. There was some swelling, but healing was again fairly rapid. He preserved the severed foreskin in alcohol and had it in his possession at the time of my interviews with him. The protruding points made by the pinkening shears were clearly visible.

Dorsal Slit

A treatment for phimosis (a foreskin which is too tight to be retracted) has been the "dorsal slit" wherein rather than removing the foreskin, it was slit, usually on the dorsal or upper side extending from the tip, back far enough to allow the foreskin to be slipped over the corona. To the best of the author's knowledge, the dorsal slit is not a common alternative to circumcision, having encountered only one case; however for those into foreskin and foreskin play, it would seem a desirable alternative to complete circumcision if all other methods of getting the foreskin to retract (e.g. stretching) fail. The appearance is a bit different (but isn't that what those who are into modification desire?) but most of the sensation of an intact foreskin is still present.

Recircumcision

Just as there are those who are into foreskins, those who wish they had never been circumcised, those who are into stretching and lengthening the foreskin—more is better—there are those who feel more is better with circumcision and desire to have even more skin removed, creating the tightest possible skin covering on the penis. Some of these people find a sympathetic M.D. who is willing to fulfill their fantasies or find someone who is willing to attempt the procedure as an amateur.

Deepening the Coronal Sulcus

The one person the author has met who was into recircumcision was also into enlarging the glans penis (the "head" of the penis) and making the glans appear larger by deepening the depression behind the corona (the ridge at the back of the glans) and on more than one occasion had had the procedure accomplished, either by a friendly M.D. or had found an M.D. willing to "patch up" the job after it had been done by a friendly amateur.

The procedures above point up the dichotomy between fantasy and fact. Surgical procedures involve the breaking of the skin, the body's first line of defense against infection, bleeding and the formation of scar tissue—a process which is not always predictable. Such surgery is not to be taken lightly; it must be well planned and the "surgeon" must have at least some knowledge of the basics of surgical procedures—infection control, control of bleeding, after-care. Most do-it-yourself surgical modifications have met the best success using a "little at a time" concept, creating only minor surgical wounds which are allowed to heal before further extensions are attempted.

Infibulation

Finally, we get to an area of foreskin modification that is at least somewhat more amenable to the do-it-yourself practitioner: infibulation. Infibulation consists of actually four piercings in pairs, on opposite sides of the foreskin which allow for the insertion of a fibula, a device for holding the two sides of the foreskin together over the end of the glans. Since the foreskin is actually a fold of skin comprising two layers, the two layers in each pair of piercings heal together, forming a single opening.

Issue 10 of *PFIQ includes a lengthy article on the historical aspects of infibulation, and an anecdotal account, "The Story of Nils as Told by Doug Malloy" appears in issue 1.

Infibulation has been used historically to ensure chastity, prevent the loss of "sexual vigor," and to guard against the "evil habit of masturbation." As we read in "The Story of Nils" and gather by simple deduction, the practice was not entirely successful in accomplishing.

Even piercing is not an activity to be practiced by the rank amateur; however, there is a multitude of information available, including a great deal of how-to articles, especially in PFIQ. Interestingly, PFIQ's "Pierce with a Pro" series has not included foreskin piercing to date.

There are also a number of persons in the SM scene who are skilled and knowledgeable in the area of permanent piercings. ENIGMA plans in future publications to go into the area of genital piercing specifically in more detail.

FORESKIN AND THE ARTIST

PETER LEKO

CUT

We have received many letters from readers complaining that the models in other magazines are often photographed with their foreskins retracted and it is difficult to tell whether or not they are uncut. We have asked famed penis artist PETER LEKO to illustrate exactly what to look for in an erect cock to determine whether it is cut or uncut. So, get out your magnifying glass and start studying those photos...you will be amazed at how many of today's models are uncircumcised.
