UNCUT CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Bud,

I figured it was time to say hi as we have been with the USA for two years. My other half is uncut and I love it. I was cut at birth. We are just all-American men looking for the occasional turn-on. I guess you would like to hear my opinion of FQ. I LOVE IT! I hate to wait till my lover is done reading it, but he grabs it first. He doesn't put the FQ down until he has finished the whole magazine. Then I'm usually next to be grabbed. We enjoy the local bars here in the Philadelphia area. Our favorite is Equus. We collect videotapes. We enjoy our long vacation weekends at a gay campground called "Camp Oneida" in New Milford. We would like to know more about USA foreskin events in our area.

W.H.
New Jersey

Dear Bud,

I have been a subscriber to FQ since it came out. Now, I am finally getting the courage to join the USA. I grew up in Scotland and went to a military school with about 450-500 students and I only knew one cadet who was circumcised. I am tall and slender, olive eyes, 40 and have an 8½" thick uncut cock. Since coming to America, I have been very shy about my foreskin. However, reading your magazine has helped me a great deal. I agree with you, we should be proud of our foreskins.

N.C.
California

Dear Mr. Berkeley:

I have only recently become aware of the USA and FQ magazine. I was utterly amazed that there is a magazine devoted to foreskins and circumcision matters. I have been fascinated by the subject for years and had a circumcision when I was 28, which has left me with wildly ambivalent thought, alternatively loving it and loathing it. As I am circumcised, heterosexual, I want you to know that the FQ publication is incredibly satisfying to me with excellent articles. It is good to know that there are lots of people like me who are not gay but are truly turned on by anything to do with foreskins or circumcision.

Canada

Dear Bud Berkeley,

I just returned home after a year and half to find several issues of FQ waiting for me. I think your activity is fabulous! I have been working in the backwoods of Central America where the dick abounds and it is almost (99.9%) entirely uncut, wonderfully natural meat (verga, pinga, troso, camote; whatever you want to call it). Of course, the plague has everyone petrified even in the wild outback, but this doesn't prevent guys from showing off those marvelous foreskins and performing all sorts of spellbinding feats. Ahhh, the power of the uncut cock!

C.P.
New York City

Dear Bud,

I just read "Nam Cheese" in FQ 7, page 15.

It reminded me of four incidences in the movie Platoon relating to circumcision. They were:

1. When Charley Sheen (one of the three main stars) arrived at his base camp in the jungle, the camera is panning around the camp. On the edge of the perimeter is a guy with his pants just below his naked butt, cleaning off his cock. Another guy walks over to see what he is doing, apparently the observer didn't know that uncut guys cleaned off the cheese buildup. Don't think the guy was taking a leak, they had latrines for that. Besides, how many guys piss in an area they have to work or play in.

2. On TWO occasions a guy who didn't like Charley Sheen refers to him as "Cheese Dick."

3. While on patrol, a black guy who is tired of fighting, tells the other guys he has put in request for a circumcision.

It was surprising and noteworthy that a major film would show subliminally and in the background the problem of uncut soldiers keeping clean in the jungle where there isn't much time or water for bathing.

Added to these points, it is a really good movie and recommended.

R.B.
California

Dear Bud,

I got a very pleasant surprise today . . . FQ 7 arrived. It has some great one-handed reading in it. I especially like the forced military circumcision stories because when I was in the Navy, I had a buddy who was "strongly recommended" for circ, but he resisted. They wanted to cut off his skin just because they thought it was too long. It wasn't tight. His hung a good inch beyond his cockhead. I guess they never bothered me because I wore my skin behind the head during my entire duty.

C.J.
California

Dear Bud,

Congratulations on another great issue of FQ! It's so good! Last time I wrote, I lobbied for more true hetero foreskin stories. This time, I'd like to put a word in for phimosis and safe sex stories.

As you know, I love tight skin. My glans stays completely covered at all times, soft or hard, unless I work at it. It is difficult, sometimes nearly impossible, to get it all the way back when I'm really stiff, but the more it resists being pulled back, the more it turns me on as I keep trying.

I'm HIV negative, thank God, and intend to stay that way. So I'm developing quite an interest in mutual J/O. Preston's & Swann's new book, "Safe Sex," is a good source of ideas.

When I placed my FQ ad, I was hoping that there was a small uncut J/O group in the East Bay that I might hook up with. No luck so far. I have crossed the Bay on several Sunday afternoons to beat it with the fellows at the San Francisco J/O uncut group. I also enjoy the 1808 Market Club (SF). They have a "no heads below the belt" rule which is a good idea. Unfortunately, I'm usually the only uncut one there. When I was there last, there were a couple of guys who just loved my tight, almost unmovable foreskin. One guy just couldn't take his eyes (and later his hands) off it. Turned out, he used to have a tight one, too, but got circumcised during his early 20s. But he had an excellent memory about what makes skinheads feel good. He was an expert. He would stick his finger up inside my skin, and move the slippery juices around on the cockhead. I don't think I've ever been so sensitive. I could feel the ridges of his fingerprints. Then he would pull my skin forward, and roll my glans around in its tight little sack with the top squeezed shut, just like a bag of marbles.

He played with me a good long while, trying a bit of this and a bit of that, driving me out of my mind with his wonderful hands, while his tongue worked on the rest of my torso. He took his sweet time, and it was excruciatingly exciting.

Finally, I couldn't take it anymore. I grabbed my skin and started beating off, hard. I was pulling my skin further and further back with each stroke, exposing more and more of my head. Finally, it slipped all the way back and got caught behind the corona. It was stuck. I squeezed and pushed until it was free again. The he tried to pull it all the way back. He pulled hard, but was too chicken to pull hard enough. We both pulled hard, and it finally skinned all the way back.

Boy, was I hot! I tried to slow down as I started beating off again, slowly at first, trying to make it last. But this guy had other plans. He took the tip of his finger and gently touched it to the crying wet tip of my glans while I was beating with my skin. That did it! In a flash of paradise, I shot cum all over my belly.

Since you are a member of the USA, we will put the announcement of your intended group in the FORESKIN EVENTS section of FQ. With that tight, hot foreskin waiting for a beating in the East Bay, I think you will attract a local audience of fellow uncut dicks quick!)

Dear FQ,

Thought you'd like to see my method of nonsurgical foreskin restoration. The clips are tit-clamps attached to fishing weights. The method is working slowly, and the feeling while wearing the weights clipped to my skin for a couple of hours at a time is great. The photo without the clamps shows my progress to date. Keep in mind that I was totally circumcised at birth and used to have no overhanging skin at all.

Dear Bud Berkeley,

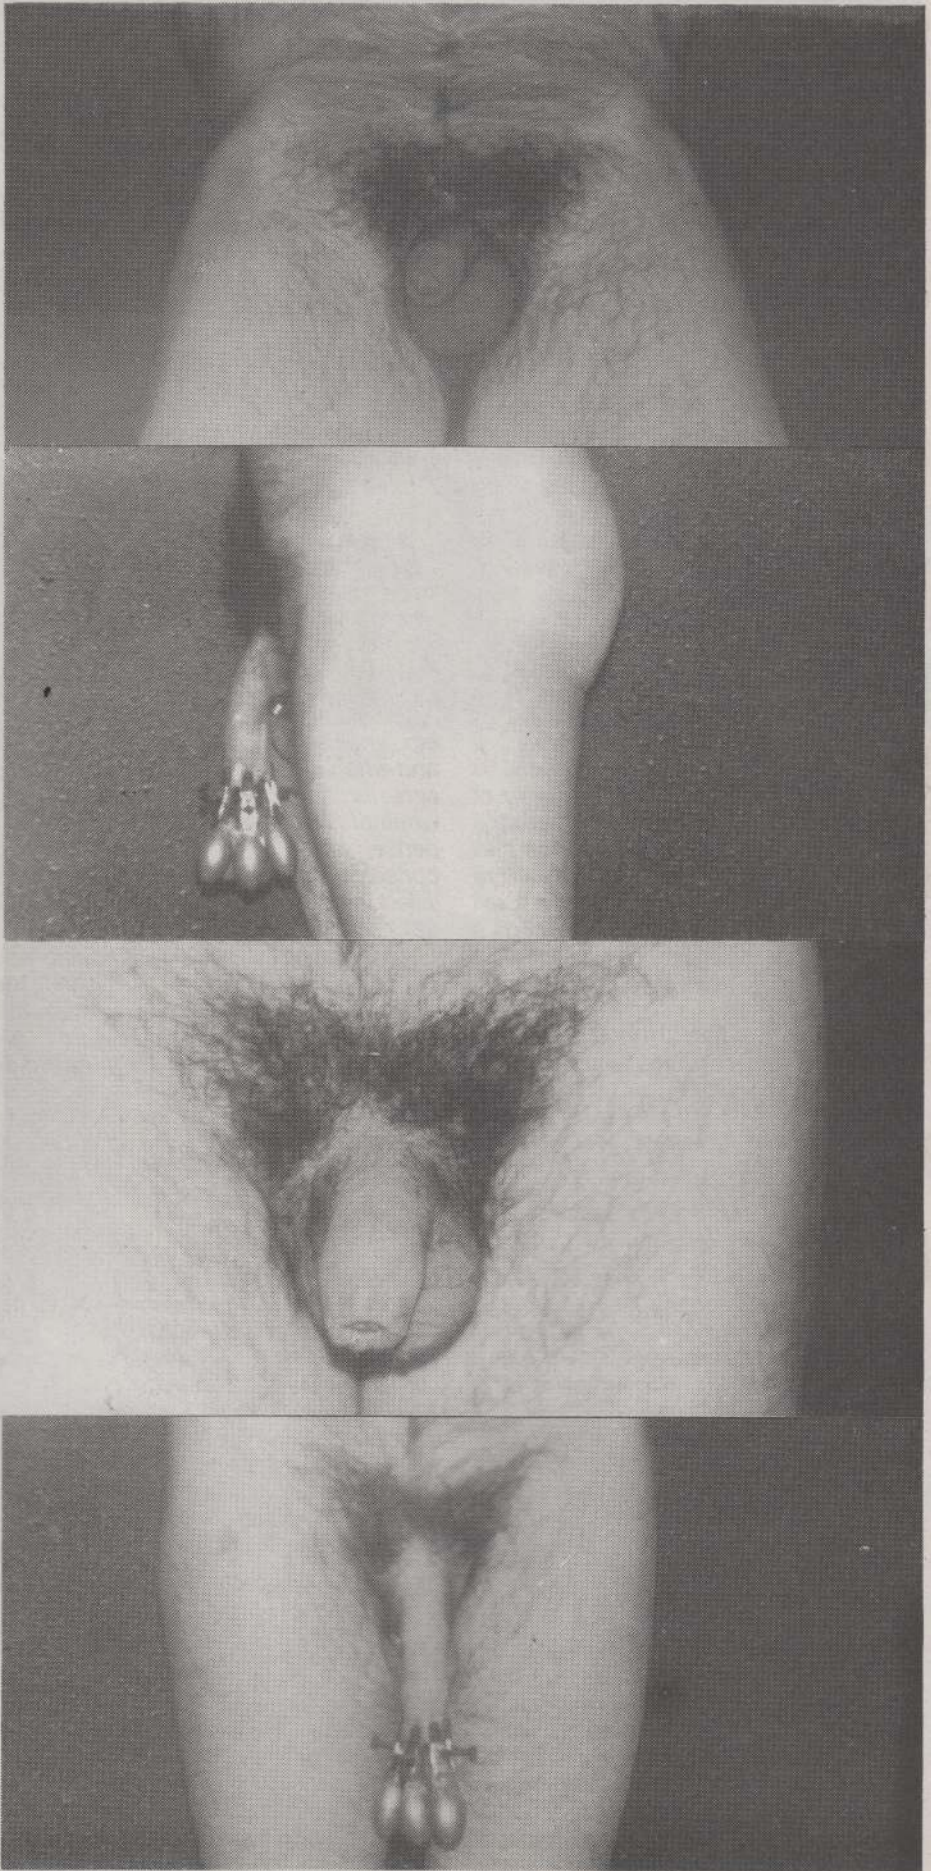

I thought your brief article re: "DAVID," and the artist Michelangelo, was superb. You surely haven't lost your touch for fine-quality writing. You are also very perceptive . . . I was one of those young circumcised boys who used to stare at DAVID and his foreskin in art books in wonderment.

P.D.
Texas

Dear Mr. Berkeley,

Regarding your article about "the David," I must, with due respect, dismiss your contention that it was (? from its first appearance) known as "the Giant." All of the half-dozen or so books about Michelangelo that I possess say that Michelangelo was specifically commissioned to carve a statue of David out of that one particular hunk of marble (that had already been damaged). I myself am sure that he knew perfectly well that all Jews were circumcised . . . and what "circumcised" looked like. However, in one of my books (Michelangelo, by Rolf Schott; Thames & Hudson, London, 1963) there is the following: "He . . . soon produced a figure bold and defiant to the point of gruesomeness. The youthful David with the sling becomes a naked, and presumably victorious, Goliath, or one of those mythical heroes fathered by a god on a mortal. The Florentines at once had a name for the athlete, alert and poised, with the arms of a wrestler and the eagle Jeeesus, it's gorgeous and it's even slightly phimosed! The German didn't get a cum shot. Too bad. I'm ready to start a fan club for him if I can learn who he is. I'd like to see FQ do a photo series on him soft and hard, plus an interview. He's USDA eating stuff.

Dear Bud,

I read with interest the story of a surgical foreskin restoration by "Richard" in the current FQ. His expression of satisfaction is unequivocal, but there are some gaps in his story.

First, why no photographs of these splendid results? I am sending you photographs of mine (surgical restoration) to substantiate my reasons for dissatisfaction with the surgery, and they show very graphically what you can expect.

Secondly, why no discussion of the scars that inevitably result from surgery? While scars eventually heal and their color fades, it is very gradual. It's hard to believe that he had the surgery in June and August, and that in November he was able to display himself in a shower room without anyone noticing the red scars.

Scrotal skin has hair, and this comes with the transplant. He says nothing about this.

You may publish this letter, and the photographs. I think that this should show your readers what the risks of surgery can be, realistically. If anyone disagrees, let him provide photographs to show the rest of us.

Here are two photos of my penis which will do for an explanation of what goes wrong in scrotal graft foreskin reconstruction.

The top view shows what to expect when the surgery goes well. Even with black and white film, it's easy to see the differences in texture between the shaft skin and the scrotal graft. The hairs growing out of the scrotal skin are clearly apparent, and the scar line between the shaft and the graft is also very noticeable. It's got no pigment at all, and doesn't blend into either the shaft skin or the graft. However, that's the good news.

The bottom shows what can really go wrong. The scarring, which is the after-effect of the hematoma, is clearly visible. The distortion of the preputial orifice which resulted is also obvious. Please note that this is four years after the operation, and after much stretching to straighten out the deformity caused by the surgery.

eyes of the all-seeing Apollo: it was 'Il Gigante.' A little later: "It radiates a nameless beauty: the pristine beauty of man in the Garden of Eden, perhaps never expressed so perfectly in the history of art." And so now we must await the reaction of your said article. I hope it will be voluminous and definitive. Perhaps it will lead to an interesting new set of facts to be added to the corpus of human knowledge.

I shall also look forward to all the further information you can amass concerning representations of Christ as an uncut child. Perhaps you will eventually be able to write an article about it for a future FQ.

M.H.
England

(Editor's note: Ahah! I knew "DAVID" would be controversial. I hope we DO receive more responses from art lovers and historians about WHY David has a foreskin. As far as my "contention" that "the David" was first called "the Giant" I must say that the problem is a contradiction of historical references. My reference comes from the American historian, Will Durant, in his book, The Renaissance; Simon & Schuster, NY 1953). Durant gives us the exact—translated—wording of the contract Michelangelo signed commissioning him to carve "the David:" "That the worthy master Michelangelo has been chosen to fashion, complete, and finish to perfection that male statue called IL GIGANTE, of nine cubits in height, that the work shall be completed within two years dating from September, at a salary of six golden florins per month; that what is needed for the accomplishment of this task, as workmen, timbers, etc., shall be supplied him by the Operai; and when the statue is finished the Guild consuls and the Operai shall estimate whether he deserve a larger recompense, and this shall be left to their consciences." (Durant's reference is listed as: Symonds, MICHELANGELO, 58).

As far as I can find, Michelangelo was commissioned to carve THE GIANT; the contract doesn't mention the name "David" at all. But, I must admit that historical facts very often get muddled as the centuries go by and different historians lend their voices. If anyone out there can give us reference to just how IL GIGANTE got named DAVID, or vice versa, please help us add "to the corpus of human knowledge."

M. H., I sincerely appreciate your letter and love your eloquent quote from Schott. I am glad to share it with my readers. You could well be right in your "contention." About amassing information about Christ as an uncut child, that is a tall order for a mere journalist! I'll need help and have a feeling you are just the one to put this information together . . . at least as starters. Anyone else want to help us? Sounds like a great article for FQ.)

Dear Bud,

Thought I'd share my reaction to a video that I just rented: "As Hard as They Come," by Thunderbolt. It's a real low-budget but good video and loaded with punky uncuts. It's a sleeper. They have a bushy-headed, blond German fellow in it. I'm just now looking at his cock. Good foreskin play! He's hung! All the actors are unknowns. If they'll just take it out of their mouths and zoom in on it now, Unlike many porn films, 9 Skins does not "hide" its cocks. . . it is designed to let your eyes feast on nine beautiful (and very different) foreskins.

The USA is able to offer 9 Skins at $39.95 (plus $2 postage and handling; it includes California sales tax) because the club shall be the video's only distributor. NO CIRC HITS THE BRITISH HEADLINES!

N.O.C.I.R.C. (National Organization of Circumcision Information Resource Centers), the dynamic and innovative anti-circumcision organization run by Marily Mylos (USA member CA80), hit the British press recently when it announced it had named the Prince and Princess of Wales the "PARENTS OF THE YEAR" for their decision to leave Prince William, heir to the British throne, and his younger brother, Henry, intact. However, there is some confusion as to whether the Royal princes' foreskins have actually survived. It was at Princess Diana's insistence that her sons not be circumcised, even though it has long been Royal tradition to have its male heirs circumcised by the finest Mohel (Jewish ritual circumciser) to be found in London. Di claimed that her personal physician saw "no medical reason" for circumcision. Di, who also reportedly is trying to convert her husband, Prince Charles, to vegetarianism, is known to have "strong ideas" which possibly are contrary to her traditionalist Queen's policies. When pursuing an answer to whether the Princess or the Queen won out in regards to the Royal foreskins, NO CIRC received a letter from Buckingham Palace stating, "Thank you for your letter addressed to my colleague, Sir John Riddell, dated 30th December, 1986. I regret that it is not possible to accede to your request." It was signed by Miss A. Bickwith-Smith, Lady-in-Waiting to H.R.H. The Princess of Wales.

NO CIRC STARTS "GRAPEVINE"

The South Bay Chapter of NO CIRC has started a letter-sharing service for all antircircumcisionists. Once a week they send copies of letters that people have written to such organizations as the AA, ACOG, the Army, hospitals, insurance companies, etc., as well as newspaper articles that pertain to circumcision. They issue the monthly The Grapevine, a list of magazine articles that you can request copies of, and also items, thoughts or comments that members contribute. If you would like to participate, or have anything to share, write to: Julia Atwood, National Organization of Circumcision Information Resource Centers, South Bay Chapter, PO Box 514, Redwood Estates, CA 95044-0514

SUIT INDICATES EXPANDING LIABILITY RISKS IN CIRCUMCISION

From the Ob Gyn News, Nov 15-30, 1986

Does an infant boy have a constitutional right to an intact foreskin if there is no medical reason for its removal?

Should it come to trial, a suit filed this summer in the Alameda County (California) Superior Court on behalf of an Oakland baby will test this question and could have important implications for obstetricians, who usually perform most newborn circumcisions.

In what is otherwise a standard medical malpractice suit for the alleged severing of a blood vessel during circumcision, the child's mother is suing the pediatrician who performed the procedure on her baby on the grounds that the procedure violated the boy's constitutional right to privacy, safety and happiness. The baby was seven weeks old at the time of circumcision.

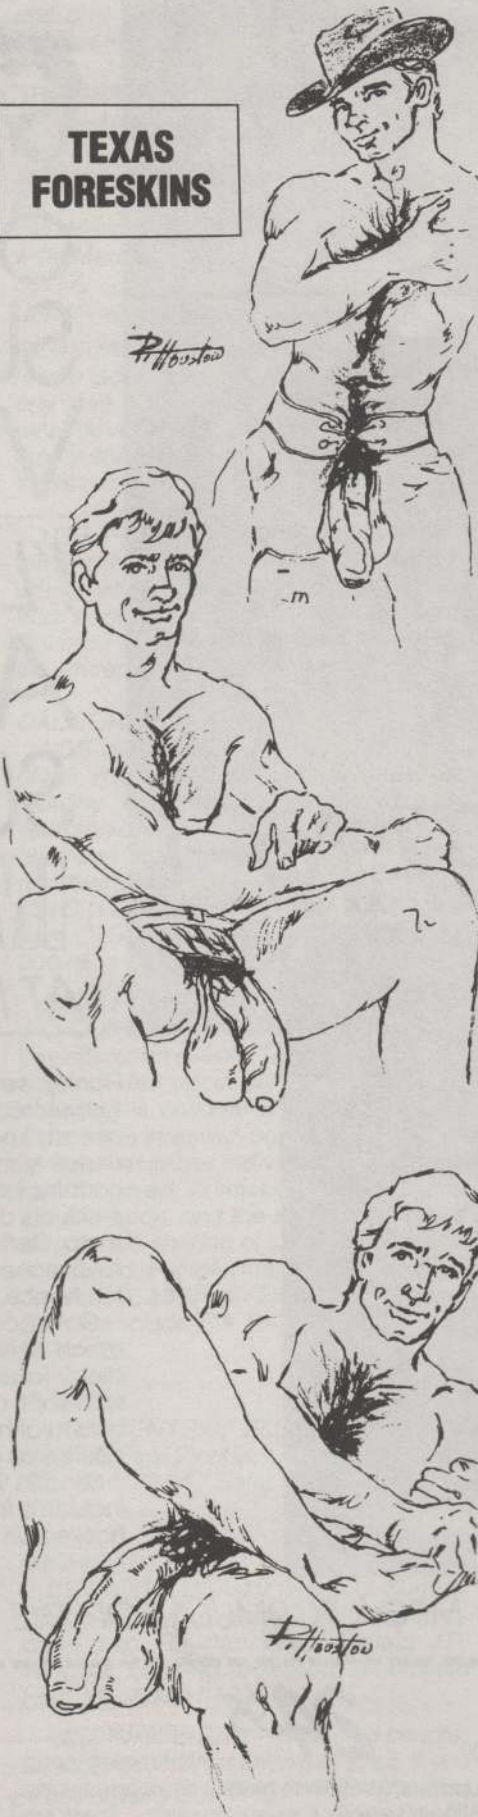

Charles Bonner, the plaintiff's attorney, said that the suit further charges the physician with "battery," defined as the touching of another person without his consent.

The physician in the case did obtain a signed informed consent form, but the charge of "battery" would hold regardless, Mr. Bonner claimed in a telephone interview.

The boy did not himself consent to the procedure, and under California law parents have no ability to consent to a medically unnecessary surgery, said Mr. Bonner of Oakland.

This is not the first time a physician who performed a circumcision has been charged with battery in California. In an earlier suit, now on appeal in Marin County Superior Court, the plaintiff, again a young boy represented by his parents, makes a similar claim of battery against the pediatrician who circumcised him. Negligence is not a factor in this case, and the pediatrician obtained a signed informed consent form before performing the procedure.

Mr. Bonner called the expansion of the Oakland child's suit beyond charges of simple negligence "a public interest effort to put other doctors on notice that routine circumcisions are not the order of the day.

"The object of the additional constitutional causes of action is to alert doctors, as well as parents, that safety, privacy and happiness are at issue in routine circumcision.

"We think the real issue is one of choice: whether or not a parent can choose for a child a surgery that is not medically necessary. We feel the child should be given some choice as to whether he wants to have his body invaded in that way," Mr. Bonner said.

As an added element in the case, the mother of the boy is suing the physician for the alleged mental anguish she suffered in connection with the whole incident. Besides compensatory damages, the plaintiff is seeking $10 million in punitive damages—a figure Mr. Bonner called an "eye-catcher."

The physician charged in the suit said in a telephone interview that he could not respond to the charges because the case is in litigation.

The case on appeal in Marin County was first filed in 1984. In that instance, the court ruled in favor of the child's physician because there was written informed consent.

That child's attorney, Richard W. Morris of San Diego, said that the question of whether a parent has the legal power to consent to a surgical procedure that has no medical purpose is the basis for the appeal.

"If not, then circumcision will have to be limited to when it is medically indicated," he said.

INFECTIONS TROUBLE BOYS NOT CIRCUMCISED

From the San Francisco Chronicle, March 20, 1987

Boys who are not circumcised at birth contract urinary infections 11 times more often than boys who are, Army researchers say.

However, a researcher in Portland, OR, said the finding runs contrary to recent research and needs further evaluation.

Ten-Year Study

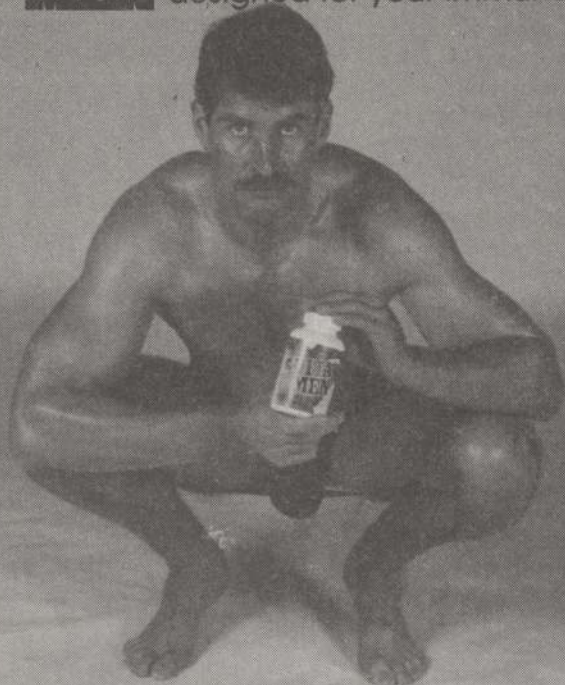

The Army study looked at all 427,698 infants born in U.S. Army hospitals during the ten-year period beginning in 1975.

Army researchers reported that as the circumcision rate fell from 85 percent to about 70 percent, the overall urinary tract infection rate rose correspondingly.

"This increase was due to the overall number of uncircumcised boys," whose infection rate was 11 times greater than that of circumcised boys, said the researchers, led by Major Thomas E. Wiswell of the Pediatrics Department at Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

The findings were reported in the March issue of Pediatrics the journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics. Contradictory Research

Dr. Martin Altschul says he has researched circumcision and urinary tract infections in 25,000 infants delivered at Kaiser-Permanente hospitals in Portland from 1979 to 1985, and his findings contradicted the study in Pediatrics.

"It showed a similar decrease in the circumcision rate without a corresponding increase in urinary tract infections," Altschul said in a telephone interview.

Dr. Ronald Poland, professor of pediatrics at Wayne State University School of Medicine in Detroit, also raised questions about the Army study.

Diagnoses Questions

Poland, head of the American Academy of Pediatrics' Committee on Fetus and Newborn, said the Army study fails to define how infections were diagnosed. He said such infections have a high rate of misdiagnosis.

"I used to try to discourage parents from getting it (circumcision) in newborn babies," he said.

"But they are worried the child will look different in the locker room or in the eyes of a future love interest. They think it's a social necessity."

USA UPDATE

Dear Bud Berkeley,

I enjoyed your UPDATE column in FQ 7 in which the fellow who responded to your explicit questionnaire told about how he proudly showed off his big, long, fat foreskin to skin-hungry dudes. It made my mouth water. One of the greatest features about FQ is that it allows men to indulge in COCK TALK. I think it is very erotic to read what other men have to say about their own cocks. One of the amazing things about your magazine is the number of hetero fellows who are willing to discuss their cocks. I always thought that straight men didn't like to talk about their penises or even jack-off, thinking that too much attention on their cocks would make them appear either immature or queer. Your magazine and the USA club seem to dispel that concept. Have you had straight men answer your questionnaire and give you the size of their penises, etc? If so, I'd sure like to see some of their answers in your column. I don't know why, but cock talk is real one-handed reading for me... whether it comes from a gay man or a straight one. Waiting Hand

Dear Waiting,

Yes, I have also been amazed at how many heterosexual men are reading FQ and my book, Foreskin. Yes, I have received as many answers to the questions on the USA questionnaire from straight men as gay... and the straights are every bit as willing to discuss their penises as the gays. I used to believe, like you, that straight men would be intimidated if you asked about their penis size, etc. That is one of the reasons I started the Uncircumcised Society of America through gay channels, expecting that the information I needed would be more easily obtained through homosexual men. Well, I was suprised. Yes, our fellow gay USA members have been very forthcoming and supportive... but so have the straights. I think that where you and I were mistaken is in not realizing that ALL men, healthy and virile, are very much involved with their own penises. It is the nature of males in all species to be proud of their bodies and it is just that pride that translates into the active role the male is expected to take in sexual relations. It is the nature of the beast to want to show off his penis; to talk about, to share it, to enjoy it. Of course, I certainly don't pretend that all straight men want to "share" sexual relations with other men (damn it!), but they do want to share the camaraderie generated by penis ownership... being men. I have also been amazed at how similar are the experiences of growing up uncircumcised; the shyness, the experimentation, the thoughts about circumcision and, for many, the eventual pride in being uncut. Many of us think that we were "the only one" going through such trauma, or that only teenage gays would feel ostracized from their peers because they failed to be circumcised. Well, our questionnaires have proven otherwise. So, Waiting Hand, get ready... here are some replies from STRAIGHT MEN!

THE FIRST:

1. Year & place of birth: 1956, South Carolina
2. Ethnic descent: English-Irish, Catholic
3. Description: 5'6½", 169 lbs., 30 waist, brown wavy hair, brown eyes, good complexion.
4. Penis size: 4 length, 2 circumference (soft) 6 length, 3 circumference (hard)
5. Foreskin description: Overhangs ½" (soft); partially covers glans, about ½" of it (hard). It can be pulled forward and also behind the corona easily.
6. Testicle description: Moderately loose sac, medium size nuts
7. Embarrassed by being uncut as a child? Yes. My four uncles, both grandfathers, two brothers and four cousins were all uncut. However, once I was in school the doctor suggested that I be circumcised. I think he suggested it to all the uncut boys he examined. I ignored his suggestion but thought a lot about it. When I was 15 a school doctor was examining me and five other boys. He had us strip and during the examination he noticed that I was the only boy uncut. He told me to get up on the table and for the other boys to gather around. He retracted my foreskin and asked them all to get a close look. He recommended that I get circumcised and it not only embarrassed me, it gave me an erection. The other boys just laughed about it and let it go at that! I am not considering circumcision now, and I cannot think of any erotic situation in which I might consider it.
8. Embarrassed by being uncut as an adult? I'm not at all shy about being uncut.
9. Sexual fantasies? I think more about women and sex with them. Any fantasies about men would be about males who have uncut penises.
10. Sexual orientation? Straight, but as an adolescent there was mutual masturbation and group masturbation. We used to find it fun to retract foreskins while skinnny-dipping when I was a kid. It was sort of a game to see whose foreskin would stay back the longest.

11. Would you allow your sons to be circumcised? Absolutely not!
P.S.: I have a minor in art and have drawn penile portraits of a number of my relatives and friends, both cut and uncut. The following is a self-portrait. You may share it with your readers if you like.

THE SECOND:

Bud, you put together one of the best references on the penis and foreskin that I have ever seen. If you ever republish the book, Foreskin without as many photos of penises, I could legitimize it more easily with my wife. I did have a problem with some foreskin swelling after intercourse a few times and went to a urologist about it. So my interest in foreskin would be "legitimate" in her view. Don't get me wrong. I like the photos and I like looking at penises, but I can't have the book on my library shelf because I am not sure my wife would share my interest. However, I have it in a "safe" spot... that is how much I think of the book!

Here are my statistics: Born 1960, New England, Scottish descent, straight and never had sex with a male but am bisexual in my fantasies in that I would love to share my foreskin someday with a man who doesn't have one of his own, as long as it can be done discreetly.

Now I'll discuss my penis: From crown to tip my forehead and foreskin are about 1" long. I can comfortably stretch my foreskin to a length of 1¾". From pelvic bone to tip of my erect penis is 6½". My erect shaft is about 5" and a hair. From my glans-corona to my urethra, my glans is 1½". My balls seem to be 2¼", but they won't hold still, so that's a best-guess. I have noticed in the locker room of my country club that my very straight friends seem to go blank and stare glaze-eyed at my genitals. Until I read your book, it never really occurred to me that these fellows might just be painfully curious about the foreskin which they never had. I sometimes feel embarrassed or odd, but I love the visual attention and wished my friends had the balls to back up their stares with a question about my cock, or even a physical approach. But, hell, all I do is stare myself... guess I'm 99% straight.

My foreskin before reading your book was barely able to cover half of my glans. Now, due to the stretching exercises I've found in Foreskin, it regularly covers my entire glans, even when fully erect. By attaching masking tape, the kind used by house-painters, and a small weight such as a one-inch socket from my pocket wrench set, my foreskin slowly stretched to its current size over a period of several months. I also say that it feels thicker and softer as well! And, best of all, intercourse with my wife is smoother with a longer, thicker skin.

As I said previously, I once had a swelling occur in my foreskin after intercourse. The urologist whom I saw did not even suggest stretching. In fact, he had no solution for me whatsoever. Since stretching, I haven't had swelling and, in fact, I think my penis is getting longer. I use this weighted stretching technique while I am doing my weightlifting in my garage . . . at a time when my penis is normally at its shortest. I feel sure that I've added a light 1/2" to the length of my penis. Even when I am cold from working in subfreezing weather, I now find that my penis at its shortest size seems larger . . . it's about 4".

I'm a good-looking young guy, sort of the executive type, and am in great shape. Do you think any of your circumcised USA members would like to give my foreskin a lookover? I'm ready to share it with another male.

THE THIRD:

1. Year & place of birth: 1949; Marin County, California
2. Ethnic descent: Swedish, first generation
3. Description: 6'3", 190 lbs., 33 waist, blond and blue eyes
4. Penis size: 4 1/2" length, 2 1/2" width (soft); 7 3/4" length, 4" width (hard)
5. Foreskin description: Overhangs 2" (soft); overhangs 1/2" (hard).
I guess nature was good to me, because my foreskin is thick and so loose it droops over my cockhead even when I have a hard-on.
6. Testicle descriptor: Fat, rounded nuts and my bag is covered with blond hair. My pubes are blond.
7. Embarrassed as a child? Yes, until I was about 16. I attended a boy's school and all of my peers in my affluent area were well clipped. I recall being teased when I first went to school and I never got over it. I was a good athlete even then, but tried to avoid the school showers. After I was well into my teens, though, and a few mutual masturbation sessions, I became convinced that I was lucky to have a foreskin. In the showers with other athletes, I noticed the other guys looking at my cock a lot and I became proud of my long, uncircumcised penis. Like most playful youths, we used to make a game of sneaking up on a guy when he was naked and grabbing his dick and pulling on it. I found that it was easy to grab onto the fat heads of circumcised dicks and give them a real tug. But when I had my foreskin all soaped up, no one could get a good grip on my dick . . . they sure tried. I suppose dick-grabbing was a way of outletting our curiosity about each other. By this time we were too old for circle jerks.

8. Embarrassed by being uncut as an adult? Not around men. I work out at a gentlemen's club in San Francisco where most of the local police and firemen have memberships. Most of the men at this club are affluent and professional. There sure aren't many foreskins in this club's showers. Sometimes I get wisecracks about my foreskin, and do you know what I do in response? I grab their dicks and get my fist around their wide, fat cockheads and pull like hell. . . . I don't give a shit whether the dick I've got in hand belongs to a cop or a judge. Some of the guys, I suspect, yell things about my foreskin just so that I might get a hold on their dicks. But, believe me, that is close as I ever got to another man's penis.

I am married and my wife likes my dick as it is. But I also do a lot of business travel and make it with a few women while I'm away. I have a thing of showing off my naked body to my women and flexing my muscles . . . sort of foreplay. It makes them hot! I usually have a got rod for them as I stand next to the bed and show them what I've got. But I had several women mention my foreskin in derogatory terms, and that not only embarrasses me, I don't like it. Sometimes if I know a woman doesn't like foreskin, I refuse to fuck her. That'll teach her!

9. Sexual fantasies? Women. Pumping pussy with my long, uncircumcised prick! I suppose I'd like to get into a threesome with a guy and his wife someday. They'd have to be turned on to my foreskin. If he was an athletic-type guy with a long, uncut dick, I think I'd like to suck on his penis while I screwed his wife. I don't know if I could ever put my mouth on a circumcised penis . . . I've seen too many of them on my buddies. But another uncut cock would be something special!
10. Would you allow your sons to be circumcised? I've got four sons. The first one got circumcised because he was born while I was in the service overseas. I didn't say too much about it to my wife, but I was disappointed. My other three sons all have long foreskins on their Swedish meatrolls just like their old man. They are attending the same school I did and I'm sure they get into circle jerks. I haven't detected any embarrassment among them about being uncut, but kids today are much more open to differences than we were. My oldest boy does seem embarrassed about his cut cock around the family though, and I feel very sorry about that. He's a strapping, handsome fellow and I'm sure he'll get over his shyness just as I did.

11. Are you interested in joining an uncut club? Damned right! I'd like to meet some other uncircumcised men. I think we'd have something very personal in common. I'd like to compare notes and even try some dick pulling.

Dear Bud,

Throughout much of your writing you seem to carry the theme that the practice of circumcision is the result of eroticism. I have read many psychological theories about the Oedipus complex which tends to agree with your contention. However, as a circumcised man (circumcised at birth) I cannot possibly imagine how circumcision can be, in any way, erotic. Did you come to your conclusion about this matter as a result of reading theories about the Oedipus complex, or did it come about from personal experience?

Unhappily Cut

Dear Unhappily,

I have said many times, Cut, that it is almost impossible for a man who was neonatally circumcised to perceive the eroticism in circumcision. I have read the theories on the Oedipus complex and, yes, find that they do support my contention that erotic urges often translate into the practice of circumcision. But my first real proof of such eroticism came during the seventies when I was tour-conducting up and down the Nile. The various ethnic groups in Egypt all circumcise their boys, but not until puberty when it becomes a coming-of-age rite. The boys in such a society are taught to look forward to their circumcision with great erotic lust and, evidently that "lust" stays with them. The first time I witnessed this "lust" opened my eyes and contributed to my subsequent research into the subject of foreskin/circumcision. In one of my early newsletters published for the Uncircumcised Society of America (in 1976), I wrote the following account of that first experience:

"The Nubians of Upper Egypt are one of the most handsome people on Earth. Living in the same location long before the coming of the ancient Egyptians, repeatedly mentioned in the Bible, this extraordinary black race has lived in a state of timelessness, and gentleness, throughout the history of Egypt. Now converted to Islam, they nevertheless live to themselves in their mud-hut villages much the way they did during the days of the Pharaohs. They are, according to some anthropologists, among the world's oldest circumcisers; practicing puberty-age circumcision rites long before Moses and even before the circumcised priests of Egypt.

"Meroe is the ancient Nubian capital, and my favorite guide there is Abdhul Akkabar, an exquisitely handsome Nubian whom I have known since he was 16. He is now 21. He sails his felucca (Nile sailboat) off the steps of our hotel and his uncle, one of the chieftains of the nearby Nubian village, is the leader of the felucca fleet. His uncle's name is Boatman Mary, and he has the biggest cock on the Nile, according to Abdhul's proud exclamation. Abdhul, like many felucca drivers, loves to sodomize male tourists on the floor of their boats. While being fucked is definitely not my bag, I learned to avoid the uncle's boat. Abdhul's penis, however, is a wonder to behold; elegantly long and slender with the masterful 'Islamic' circumcision that leaves just enough foreskin to keep the glans moist. Abdhul is the natural leader of his generation in his village; most of the boys are shy and unapproachable for conversation. Abdhul's handsome face, tall stature, and outgoing personality attract the attention of even the most jaded tourist. He invited me to his little mud hut, which he built himself once he was of a marriageable age (after his circumcision), and I found it to be cluttered with unused TV sets, radio transmitters, jewelry, etc. which were gifts from 'appreciative' tour guides from all over Europe and America. His boat was always busy.

"Abdhul had organized the boys of his village into a Nubian dance group and, whenever possible, I arranged for my tour groups to spend an evening watching the dances on one of Aswan's sand islands (called 'cataracts') in the Nile, under a sky so clear and dry that it can only be experienced on the Sahara Desert. Once in 1974, during one of these spellbinding evenings, while my tourists sat on the sand around a huge bonfire watching intently as the boys danced and sang their ancient and haunting songs, the voice of a boy soprano suddenly split into the air like a thunderbolt. We watched with fascination as a tiny lad of about six sang his guttural, Arabic songs in one of the clearest voices we had ever heard. My tourists were staggered and talked about the boy on the boat journey back to the hotel.

"At breakfast the next morning I collected money from my tourists in payment of the evening's entertainment, and headed for Abdhul's village. I was supposed to pay the village elders. I found my way through the village and, with the help of a following of curious children, I found the elder's meeting hut. Abdhul was there waiting with a magnificent smile and into the hut I went. The elders were seated on the floor as I handed them the money. The boys were beginning to crowd around outside the door of the hut. I congratulated them on their performance and then asked about the tiny guy with the huge voice. After much laughter and gracious 'thank you's' for my appreciation, suddenly with great confusion and chatter, the youngster with the great voice was ushered into the hut . . . with a smile and personality as big as his voice. I told him what a marvelous voice he had and, with that, he suddenly pushed down his pajamalike pants and displayed his penis (a sign of salutation for the welcome visitor) and it was, of course, uncircumcised. Seizing up an opportunity to play my favorite role of amateur anthropologist, I asked the elders at which age they circumcised their village boys. I was shocked when one elder grabbed the boy's penis and placed his other palm about an inch or two in front of it and said, 'When it get this big!' After some discussion I determined that the little fellow had another three or four years before his puberty rites. Then I asked about the village's circumcision rites . . . and all hell broke out. Confusion and chattering and everyone began to crowd into the tiny hut talking at once. After a couple of minutes the way was cleared for a man to enter carrying what was obviously their circumcision tools. They held them up for me to scrutinize and were trying to explain how they were used. The tools were a small stone ring which was worn with age and a filthy knife. I asked if that one set of tools was used to circumcise every male in the village . . . before I got an answer, I was stunned by what I was observing. Every man in that hut, from the elders on down, was pulling at this erection under his gelaba (Egyptian caftan). I had long learned that men in that part of the world are uninhibited when they 'pull' at their penises in public; they seem to have no cultural taboo about it. Such 'pulling' is a sign of sexual excitation, consciously or unconsciously, and is a convenient warning to the educated traveler. But this was something else . . . pumping on full erections (under the cloth) while discussing the circumcision rites of their tribe? And, such behavior coming from a tribe which has been performing circumcisions forever?

"That night in my hotel room, gazing out at the brilliant starlight over the desert, I thought about those village elders and their erections. I also thought about little Ali-Baba and his pending circumcision. That night, while entering the day's event into my journal, I couldn't stop thinking about those people in the hut; probably among the most natural people in the world, uncomplicated by the painful phobias of Western society but, certainly, with their own set of taboos. Did they really get off on circumcising their boys? Hmmm! Oh well, and so to bed . . . and all those erections!" □

The Acorn Club is a "foreskins anonymous" club made up of men circumcised as adults, men interested in being circumcised, men interested in the subject of circumcision and men who worship the all-American clean-cut cock. As a result of our FQ column, we now have developed a line-up of men interested in watching, or being SIRCumcised at our festivities. If your penis tells you that you should join our club, please write to: Acorn Number One, Box 542, 633 Post Street, San Francisco, California 94109. Here are a few of our recently received letters:

ACORN VISITS AN ABORIGINE CIRCUMCISION

The personal experience of an ACORN member.

I was living in a small outback town in Australia and had become friendly with a family of which the father was three-quarters Aborigine. He had a reasonable education up to high school level and his cultural leaning tended far more towards European civilization than Aborigine ways. He worked as head stockman on a nearby cattle station (you call it a ranch), but his European wife and family lived in town.

My friendship with the family had grown from their young teenage son being a member of the junior cricket team that I had coached, and I was frequently a guest in their home. David, the boy in question, would have been no more than ¾ Aborigine. His build and features were more typically European and in complexion he could easily have passed as a suntanned Englishman.

During conversation one evening, the topic of the father's youth was raised and I learned that while the father had been raised in the European tradition, he had, as a young teenager, been obliged on the insistence of his male Aborigine relatives, to undergo the traditional Aborigine initiation rituals of both circumcision and subincision. Further conversation brought out the fact that David's two older brothers had also been through the ordeals (but without all the ritual dancing, etc.). Hesitatingly, I inquired about David and was not surprised to learn that he, too, was soon to experience the ages-old initiation.

Being an Australian, I was not greatly shocked by the news of David's pending circumcision, but it was hard to imagine him being anything but European and I thought it would be most unusual to watch him receive his circumcision. It was David himself who invited me to the ceremony. So, late one evening I joined him, his father, and brothers on the drive out of town. At about four o'clock in the morning, we reached the designated spot in the dry bed of a sandy creek where we were met by David's two uncles—one of his father's brother and the other the full-blooded Aborigine husband of his father's sister. The Aborigine uncle was to be David's circumciser.

The family members all proceeded to strip naked. Except for David, they were all circumcised and their glans were stubby Aborigine penises, broad with a flattened appearance that is peculiar to being subincised. David himself was a fine figure of a young man and had obviously inherited his male attributes from his mother's European lines. His penis was at least 3" long already, hung loosely from a quite abundant crop of coarse public hair, while his loose foreskin had an overhang of ½". The typical Aborigine penis rarely exceeds 2" to 2½" and the foreskin is generally thick and fairly tight.

David sat quietly between himself and his father while his brothers and uncles built a fire of muelga wood and let it burn until there was a goodly pile of warm ashes. By this time, the morning twilight had become quite strong and the moment the sun touched the tops of the trees on the bank of the creek, David was led forward and lay spread-eagled in the sand a few feet from the fire which was still smoldering. His two brothers sat by his shoulders and held his arms tightly. His father and father's brother squatted by his legs, ready to hold them if David should start to struggle. His other uncle squatted between the boy's legs with a new razor blade gripped between finger and thumb of his right hand while I stood by looking over this man's shoulder.

The boy lay quite calmly as the man began to pull on his foreskin to loosen it further and draw it away from the glans. Then I saw him tense his body and grit his teeth when the tip of his foreskin was gripped firmly between finger and thumb and stretched out tightly away from the head of his penis. The only sound was the faint hiss of tearing skin when the razor blade began to slice into the taut flesh.

I glanced up briefly to David's face, which showed his agony by the screwed-up eyes and the tensed set of his jaw. Then I looked back just in time to see the last slice which severed his foreskin. Blood began to trickle from the wound down across his loosely hanging balls and into the sand. His uncle deposited the severed foreskin into the fire to be burned, raked out a handful of fine ashes from the edge of the embers and began to sprinkle them on the wound.

David let out a low groan as the warm ashes stung his already burningly tender penis, but the bleeding quickly stopped and he lay there relaxing for some time. His brothers and uncles congratulated him on his bravery during the ordeal, to which I added my own congratulations. I was quite chastened by the way he had endured the pain without once crying out, and after another application of ashes about an hour later, his penis was lightly banded.

The drive back was taken rather more slowly while David lay on a mattress in the back of the utility truck with just a light sheet covering his nakedness. Back home he was put to bed for a couple of days and I was quite amazed when he turned up for cricket practice less than two weeks later showing no discomfort at all. There were clearly some powerful healing properties in that muelga-wood ash.

Then about six weeks later we set off again at the same time of day for the same spot in the creek bed. The preparations were much the same, except that this time the fire was built around a number of smoothly rounded rocks and kept burning instead of being allowed to smoulder away to embers. Once again as the sun hit the treetops, David laid himself on the sand, but this time his father's brother sat by his head holding his arms firmly, his brother sat by his legs and held them, and his father squatted over his chest.

David's father took hold of his penis with his thumbs along the median line of the bottom of the glans and stretched it upwards. The Aborigine uncle then took a grip around the stretched shaft with his fist and, with one deep slice of the razor blade lasting about ¾ of a second, laid open the urethra from the meatus to the base of the glans. David screamed with pain and the blood really came gushing, but there was not even the slightest attempt to struggle. He continued to cry while his father continued to hold open the gaping wound and screamed again as it was packed with warm ashes from the fire. Once again the bleeding stopped almost immediately.

At that, the next elder brother, a boy of seventeen, stoop up and asked to be "opened up down to the root!" I was quite stunned and watching in awe as the boy planted his feet firmly, gripped the flattened head of his penis and stretched his organ upwards. He didn't even flinch as the last inch or so of his urethra was sliced open and he lay back beside his younger brother to have his own quite ghastly wound packed with ashes.

A little while later, David started to cry again, so a hot rock was rolled out of the fire. David squatted over this and urinated on its surface. The rising steam enveloped his groin and obviously alleviated his pain. Then his wound was packed with fresh ashes. The return journey, this time with two boys lying on the mattress, was delayed for an extra two hours and taken extremely slowly over the rough roads.

David's recovery was not quite so miraculous after the second procedure, but he was still able to take part in full physical activity only a month later. I was privileged to be allowed to see the result when he had completely healed and it was quite impressive. The neatness of his circumcision scar and the slit in the bottom of his glans reflected the many centuries of experience his people have had in ritualizing their penises. He is very proud of his penis, lifting it up when showering with his teammates to show them his subincision. I suppose it is his way of proving that he is, despite his appearance, an Aborigine.

SEARCHING

Dear Acorn,

I was circumcised, at birth, in the delivery room, but the doc who docked my skin fucked up. He did take most of it, but there is movable skin on my shaft, and my scar is crooked (a little) and needs straightening.

I am heavy into circumcision fantasy, and I have to think of circumcision to get off. I would like to be cut while inhaling some poppers and other light drugs, but conscious enough to feel at least some pain. I want to see blood run out of my new scar and my scar being dressed. HOT!

Also, I have subincision fantasies and fantasies on removing my excess scrotum as to make future foreskin restoration impossible. I dig only cut cock, preferably tight with a wide scar.

JOINING THE ACORN "LINEUP"

I am a 35-year-old uncircumcised male. My foreskin is very long, thick, and has a good nipple of loose skin overhang. When my penis is flaccid (4½") my foreskin nipple extends a minimum of ⅝" beyond the tip of the glans, and upon returning to a flaccid state after sexual activity it will often hang as much as 1" beyond the glans tip. During a normal erection (7¾") the extra foreskin will still cover virtually the entire glans head, leaving just a small peep hole showing the tip of the glans. Much of this extra skin is probably the result of one of my more popular former methods of masturbation, which was basically stretching the foreskin with my fingertips until I reached an ejaculation, which would be held inside my foreskin. The tip of my foreskin is soft, very supple, and easily stretchable. I can stretch the extra foreskin nearly 2 inches beyond the glans tip during a full erection, after which it will remain extended nearly ½ inch without being held. The opening at the tip of the foreskin is very supple and stretchy, and I can stretch it open far enough to get at least two fingers from each hand (total of four, and sometimes more) completely inside the foreskin all at once, with the foreskin still covering the entire glans head and nearly 50% of the fingers, all while my penis is fully erect. That's a lot of stretchy skin.

Even though I love my foreskin for masturbation and circumcision fantasies, I truly idolize the beauty of a sleekly sculptured, distinctly ringed, well-circumcised ALL-AMERICAN COCK with its proud, flaring, liberated glans exposed to the eyes of the world, and dream of having just such a penis of my own. Although I will probably not get myself circumcised in the very near future (believe it or not, my wife actually likes my foreskin and would kill me if she knew I was even writing to ACORN), I am extremely erotically turned on by the thought of having it circumcised. The mere thought of having it circumcised gives me a powerful and almost instant erection and is now most often the basis of my fantasies while masturbating. My favorite method of masturbating is to pull the foreskin as far back as it will possibly go to give my penis the circumcised look and feel that I so deeply desire, and then bring myself to an ejaculation by stimulating just the glans head, and particularly the rim, as I imagine myself being completely circumcised with the glans head proudly and permanently exposed for all the world to have full view of, and to love and adore as I do.

I am delighted to have found ACORN and can't wait to be a member, correspond with other ACORN members, attend one of their functions, either live or on VHS tape, and have a place to share my circumcision fantasies in writing with others who are also truly aroused by the mere thought of circumcision. Until now I have had to settle with writing in to mainstream magazines like Forum, and they don't really seem to appreciate the subject of circumcision as much as I do.

I hope I have been able to give you enough brief information about my uncircumcised penis, my circumcision fantasies and my sincere desire to be a part of ACORN. If there is anything I didn't tell you about at this time that you would like to know, please just write to me anytime.

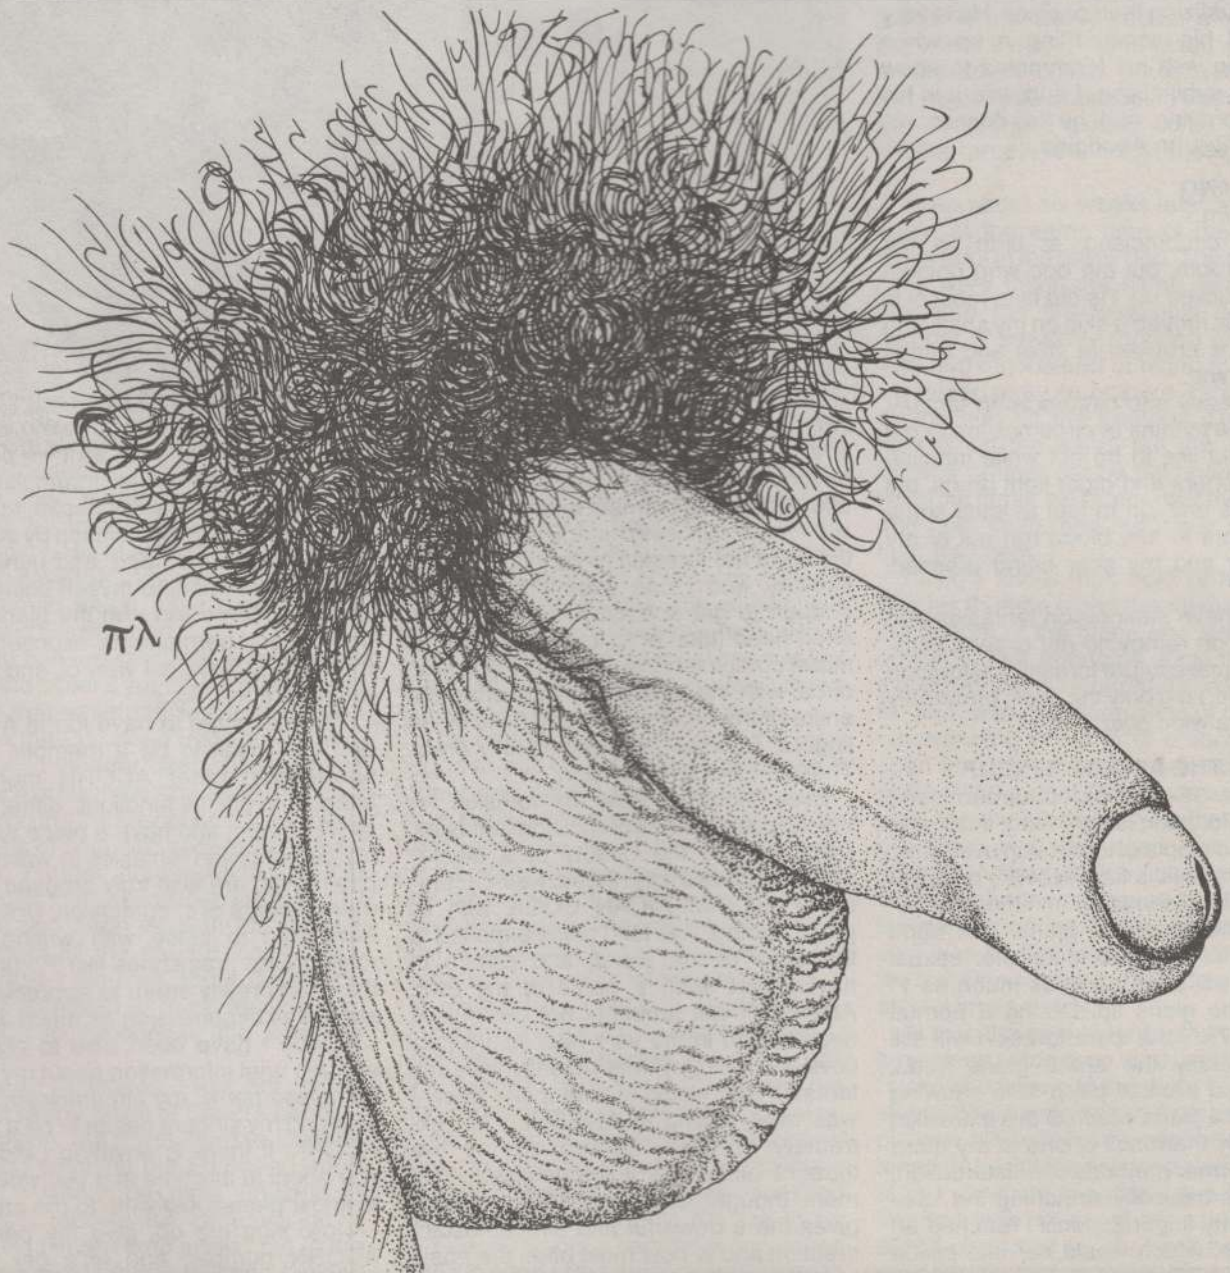

Now, sign me up, give my penis an ACORN number, and let's get things started.

FORESKIN AND THE ARTIST

Peter Leko encores! We had so many good reactions to Pete's sketches in FQ7, depicting the visual differences of erect uncircumcised and circumcised penises, that we have brought him back . . . or, shall we say, we have brought back his penises. Pete is considered a top "penis" artists and he is a member of the USA. Many of you requested that we publish some of his penises with the foreskin forward. So, by popular request . . .

“One of my sketches shows a fully erect penis with the foreskin fully retracted to expose the glans and the frenum underneath. The second sketch shows an expanded but not fully erect penis with a loose foreskin covering most of the glans, which can slip out easily without help as the erection becomes complete. The third also shows a tumescent organ not fully up, but this one has a tight sheath that exposes only part of the glans even on complete erection. It retracts all the way only if skinned back by hand and has to be pulled forward to cover the glans when the penis relaxes. The drawings also show how male genitals are unique and have their own personalities, just as faces do . . . no two are alike.”

FORESKIN RESTORATION

CIRCUMCISION REVERSAL— THE AUSSIE WAY

I was about 28 years old when I decided something had to be done about the revolting sight that confronted me every time I had a leak, had a shower or had a screw. To this day I can still think of nothing uglier or more ridiculous than a circumcised cock. I had no idea if it was possible to reverse a circumcision, but I imagined with plastic surgery it may be possible, and I made my mind up to find out. After reading various books, I could not discover one sensible reason for circumcision. In fact, I was certain that those fortunate enough to still have their foreskin had something I was missing out on.

My first step towards reconstruction was a visit to the head GP (general physician). I told him that my body had been mutilated needlessly without my permission and that as far as I was concerned it was up to the medical profession to put me back to the state in which I was born. The GP did know not if it was reversible and did not want to know. He kept suggesting that I probably had something amiss in my sex life and that surgery was not the answer. He offered me a prescription for sleeping tablets if it was bothering me too much and hinted that I was really wasting his time.

My thoughts on (most) GPs were at least confirmed; no morals, very little common sense, anything for money (especially circumcision; what a rip off!) and they had the nerve to call themselves professional people.

As my nature is stubborn and pig-headed I wasn't about to give up. The next step was to the yellow pages of the phone book. I found about five plastic surgeons listed. I wrote to all of them, explaining exactly what I wanted and waited for replies. The answers varied widely from, "Impossible, Sir!" to "Yes, it can be done." One would not give me an opinion without first seeing me. I made appointments to see each of the positive replies and obtained the necessary referral from another GP who told me he would write me the referral but honestly thought I needed psychiatric and not surgical help.

The first plastic surgeon I saw was not much help. He said that too much of my penile skin had been removed to attempt restoration. The second surgeon thought he could at least partially restore the missing skin, but didn't seem at all confident and said any grafted skin would just hang there loosely.

The third surgeon (I'll call him Dr. D. for short) was much older than the other two.

I expected he must almost be ready to retire, and I remember thinking at the time that this will be a waste of time. If two younger surgeons, educated with the latest techniques in surgery, were unable to help, then I'm not going to have any luck with a much older one. Well, Dr. D. invited me into his surgery and it was all there: the confidence and manner of a true professional. Dr. D. made me welcome, said my letter was the first request of that type he'd ever received and was sure he could help me if I wanted to go ahead, after telling me what the operation would entail. He also said he had twice restored a radically circumcised penis to a normally circumcised penis (he said that some doctors were very rough and often removed far more skin than was necessary).

Dr. D. examined my cock and said, "There's a bit of skin missing on yours too. Not much to work with. It might take several skin grafts." Then he explained how he would go about the restoration. First of all, under general anesthetic, a large slice of skin would be sliced off my backside, coming from a hairless site). Then all the remaining skin on the shaft of the penis is moved forward over the head by cutting around the base of the shaft. After moving the skin forward, the gap from the base of the shaft upwards is filled in with the graft. He anticipated three days in the hospital and warned that I'd have a fairly sore backside for a while.

At this stage, Dr. D. asked if I had any questions. I was very happy so far and the only thing I had to ask was how much am I going to have to pay for my parents' stupidity? Again I had a positive answer —virtually nothing. Dr. D. said everything will be claimable through medical insurance.

With all the facts before me, I was asked if I still wanted to go ahead with it. I didn't have to stop and think about it. "Book me in as soon as you can," I told him. After a few weeks I checked into the hospital . . . very nervous, but surprisingly not very embarrassed. All the pubic area was shaved and, after a shower, it was off to the theatre. Before I knew it, I was in recovery, feeling very groggy but had no pain. As my senses slowly returned, my first thought was to check if it had actually been done. Reaching down and around my backside, I could feel a very large bandage, very thick and about one foot square. Gently pushing on the bandage, I could feel my backside was raw, but the pain was only slight. I checked it out next; the first thing I noticed was a long plastic tube attached to a stainless steel catheter which disappeared into a huge bandage and obviously into the bladder. The only time the catheter was uncomfortable was on its withdrawal two days later. The bandage on my cock was 3" in diameter. I had no idea if my penis was swelling, as I had no feeling. I had no idea how wide my cock was now or what it looked like.

The worst part was just starting . . . the waiting. I was anxious to see my new style penis and dying to get the bandage off. Fortunately, I didn't have to wait too long. The following day the bandage on my cock was removed. I was amazed at what I saw below the bandage. No grafted skin as I expected, but a 1/2"-thick padding of rubber sponge was wrapped around my cock, and below the sponge was my newly grafted skin. The grafted skin was very neatly stitched. Several dozen very tiny stitches secured the new skin, which was also stitched in several places to the sponge. I was later told that this was to prevent an erection from tearing main stitches and that the neatly wrapped sponge held everything in place firmly.

At this stage I still couldn't see the end result; it was rebandaged. My backside dressing was also changed and was a real mess and by this time it was a bit painful to sit on. I had to learn to sleep on my left side only. On the third day I was discharged from the hospital and given a box of gauze bandages. I then headed for a caravan park near the beach to spend a quiet week before returning to Dr. D. for the sponge removal.

The week went quickly . . . still no pain in the penis at all, but my backside hurt and I had begun using disposable baby nappies to cover and absorb the ooze from the wound.

In Dr. D's surgery the following week, he quickly removed the sponge wrapping to reveal what only could be described as a very sad-looking penis; black and blue all over from bruising but no pain. It didn't exactly look healthy, battered and bumpy as it was, but even in its earliest stages it looked like a million dollars to me. The head was covered and the new foreskin was too swollen to retract. The dozens of tiny stitches came out next, leaving little spots of blood everywhere. After dusting with bacterial powder and wrapping a thin gauze around it, Dr. D. pronounced the graft a complete success. He also told me that urinating would not infect anything.

After another two weeks the bruising had gone, the graft had taken well and healed at the groins. The new skin was clearly a lighter color than the surrounding skin. I was told this was because the grafted skin is much tougher. Dr. D. also told me that it would be at least a few months before there was any feeling in the new skin, which proved to be correct.

About six weeks after the operation I again returned to Dr. D's surgery for a postoperative check and to see if more skin could be grafted. By now my remodeled cock was healthy and the new skin had settled in well, the swelling was gone and it retracted too far. I felt halfway between circumcised and uncircumcised. Dr. D., in his usual quiet but confident manner, told me he could graft more skin . . . this time further up the shaft from the end of the first graft, to where my original shaft-skin was. The second operation was the identical procedure to the first, but unfortunately not all went so well this time.

In recovery after the operation, I awoke with an extremely painful cock and sensed something was drastically wrong. The anesthetic had not worn off. I complained to the nurse, who called the doctor immediately. Within minutes I was back in the theatre, my doctor standing over me saying, "Occasionally this happens. It will be due to one tiny vein not tied off somewhere!" He undid several stitches, and I felt the pain ease instantly as blood poured everywhere. Dr. D. said, "Bad luck, but I'll have to knock you out again while I unstitch the graft and find the leak." Another needle in the wrist and I was out of it. On my next awakening everything felt normal.

The only thing I noted that was different with the second graft was the grafted skin was thinner and the donor site healed more quickly. As before, the graft took well, however it was about six months before the grafted skin really became soft and flexible.

I am now the proud owner of a fully restored, average-length foreskin, which will never be as good as an original, but definitely the next best thing. The feeling is fantastic, and despite the scars (that have almost faded) it looks and functions really well. Having been both cut and uncut, I can only say that anyone who parts with his foreskin is giving up the best part of himself. I would not part with my reconstructed foreskin for anything. All my medical expenses were covered by health insurance. The only expense I had to meet was bandages after discharge from the hospital, plus a small percentage of cost not covered by insurance. I have a new lease on life, thanks to Dr. D., and I am greatly indebted to him. To do such a superb job, I suspect Dr. D. is himself uncut (and I imagine the other doctors who lacked his interest and confidence were circumcised). To quote Dr. D., "Your operation should never have been necessary." □

TRUE EXPERIENCES

FORESKIN MISSING

I was brought up uncircumcised, as was everyone I knew in this small New England town. I discovered by the age of three or four that running my foreskin up and down my cock gave me a stiff cock and a very nice feeling. Although I was always playing with my cock in those childhood years, I was not aware that if I had continued to stroke the foreskin up and down long enough, I would have had an orgasm.

One day when I was nine years old, my sixteen-year-old cousin asked if I would like to see his cock. We were both sitting down, and when he opened his pants and took out his fully erect cock, I was speechless. I had never seen an adult cock close up, much less an erect one. It appeared massive to me, although I'm sure it was of an average adult size. My tiny cock was but a miniature of his erection, and I couldn't take my eyes off him. He asked me to take hold of it and run the skin up and down. I reached over and couldn't even get my hand all the way around it.

As I took hold of the foreskin and gently drew it down, exposing the head, I couldn't believe how big, hard and beautifully shaped his cockhead was. I knew how to run his foreskin up and down without being shown, since even at the age of nine I had been doing this to my own little cock for years. Every time my downstroke pulled his foreskin down over the swollen head, I would stare intently at its great size and beauty. After a few minutes of gentle stroking, he said to stop. I removed my hand, thinking we were done, leaving his foreskin retracted behind the head so I could continue to look at it. To my utter amazement, after about ten seconds, a spoonful of thick white cream came out of his cock.

I had no idea what was happening and he told me that when you stroke a cock long enough it gets a great feeling, cream comes out, and it's then done. I then took my cock between thumb and forefinger and ran my own foreskin up and down longer than I had ever done before and then had the first orgasm of my life at age nine. I was disappointed not to ejaculate some cream, and my cousin told me I would have to be older and have hair around my cock for that to happen. After that great day of discovery, I continued to jerk-off to orgasm about twice a week. When I reached puberty four years later, I was delighted to begin ejaculating and began jerking off every day, which I have kept up pretty much to the present. I jerked off my cousin's gorgeous big cock eight or ten more times over the next couple of years with extreme delight, from age nine to eleven. He then went off to the army, and it never happened again.

I am now 53 years old. About ten years ago my second wife of about two years told me that she thought my cock was ugly, especially when soft, since I had more than an inch of overhang. She said we should get it circumcised to get rid of all that extra skin. Soon after, I visited a urologist for a kidney problem. I asked him what he thought about circumcising me. He stretched out my long overhang and said it was probably a good idea. He said he would do it at my next checkup in a month.

A month later he did the job, and it turned out that he left enough foreskin to half cover the head when soft. I didn't like this half-cut look, although my wife thought it was a big improvement. A year and a half ago my kidney problem came back. I went to a different urologist this time. I told him I didn't like my half-foreskin and asked if he would cut it again. He said he would.

I had studied my cock and remaining foreskin thoroughly, and the day of the operation I took a laundry-marker pen and drew on my cock exactly where I wanted him to make two fairly circular cuts, remove the skin between them, and sew up the two ends. When he saw the marks, he laughed, but went ahead and followed them exactly. I am cut to my specs now, and my wife thinks my cock is beautiful. It is a really tight circumcision with only a half inch of pink skin behind the head where the stitch marks join the tougher shaft skin. The head is fully exposed now, even when my cock has shrunken to its very shortest length. The price I paid for this is that neither my wife nor I can jerk it off without a handful of jelly. This was a big price to pay after having over forty years of blissful jerking off.

The head of my cock expanded a little after the second circumcision. To hasten and increase this expansion, I found a method I've never read about. I take a piece of ace bandage an inch wide and a foot long and wrap it medium tightly around my cock, just behind the head. I put a rubber band, not too tight, on top of the ace bandage to hold it tight. This causes the head to expand to a full throbbing-erection size while the rest of my cock stays soft. I like to leave this on for a day or two at a time, often wearing it all day at work. The results are tremendous and apparently permanent. The head is at least half again bigger than it has ever been in the soft state. My wife doesn't know I am doing this and she thinks the big cock head is due entirely to the circumcisions. She loves the big head appearance, and so do I.

A very stimulating thing I started doing about fifteen years ago is to catch live wasps with a pair of tweezers and hold them close to my cockhead. One wasp can give about six powerful stings. After forty or fifty stings, my cock head would swell up larger than the biggest erection. After the first five or six stings, they don't hurt much at all, but seem to give the cock head terrific stimulation. I have them sting all around the rim, over the top and front, and even inside the hole. Before I was circumcised, the foreskin would stay retracted behind the swollen head for a day or more. I liked the looks of the extra-large head on a soft cock, and the appearance of being circumcised. My foreskin would never normally stay behind the head, but would immediately slide forward the moment I let it go. I came up with some fancy excuses to my wife as to why my cock head was so swollen and my normally long, overhanging foreskin was stuck behind the head.

If I had it all to do over again, I would never have gotten circumcised. With a long foreskin there are so many more ways to play with my cock. I have always been very fascinated with my cock and jerked off daily for many decades. I now jerk off much less, since it is so much more of a production, and my orgasms aren't as pleasurable as before. I now know that my foreskin made a great contribution to those years of jerking-off pleasure. Since I am so tightly circumcised now, I have to make the most of what I have left. It's much harder to be creative without a foreskin and with a toughened cockhead. The ace bandage trick is fun and stimulating to do and makes up for the less jerking off to which I'm now limited.

I try not to think about it too much, but I'd dearly love to have my extra-long, overhanging foreskin back. By the way, I have four sons, all of whom have their foreskins. They, of course, don't know and would never believe what I unfortunately have had done to mine.

BEST ORGASM I EVER HAD

I thought I'd share with my FQ brothers the story of my most unforgettable orgasm. It was while I was in college, when I was about twenty years old. I was a Psys. Ed. major and on several athletic teams. The only way I got into college was because I got an athletic scholarship. I suppose if you wanted to call me a dumb jock, you'd be right. So, I took easy courses and signed up for odd jobs around the campus.

I signed up to model in an art class. I had a steady girl at the time and she didn't like it, but I needed the money and I really sort of got off on the idea of showing off my bulging muscles to a roomful of women students. Believe me, I was no virgin when I came to broads, but the only time anyone really got a look at my Adonis body was in the showers with other male athletes and, hell, they were all Adonises, too. So I started showing up stark naked in art classes around campus, being sketched by students. At first I thought that only women took art classes and was surprised to see so many men taking art. Well, I wasn't embarrassed posing in front of these particular fellows, because I considered them to be sissies. In fact, I sort of figured that they might get as much a charge as the dames out of seeing me naked. I knew that I'd be too embarrassed to sit there with my equipment hanging out in front of a bunch of jocks, but these art students were different. They appreciated how I looked. I fantasized about the girls coming up and grabbing my dick while I was posing, but the thought that the fellows might be interested in my cock just didn't hit me. In fact, I don't think I really knew what "gay" was all about.

Then one day one of the art professors stopped me on campus and asked if I would pose for a special class. Why not, I decided. When I walked into the classroom, I was sort of surprised that the students were all men. Well, I went into the next room to undress, came out and sat on the usual stool in front of the class. Then the professor told me to pose with my legs spread, directly facing the men in the room. I did, and my equipment sort of sagged low as it was hanging unsupported between my legs. I thought this was an ugly pose, but it is what they wanted! Then the professor said, "Now, students, I want you to observe the penis. How many of you have ever before studied an uncircumcised penis?" I was sort of shocked, but held my pose as only one fellow in the room raised his hand.

The professor asked him, "Are you uncircumcised?" The student said no, but his older brother never got circumcised, and he used to watch his brother wash and pull his foreskin back when they showered together. The other men in the class, about six of them, all said they they had never examined an uncut dick. "Well, class, this is your opportunity to examine the anatomy of a penis which still has its foreskin." I really didn't know what to expect next, but I was sort of stunned . . . and embarrassed. I wasn't embarrassed by being naked in front of art students, even though they might have been a bunch of sissies, but the professor was talking about my foreskin. Being uncut was always a source of shyness for me. I hated it whenever another jock remarked about my foreskin, and I really cringed when a chick said anything about it, especially before I was about to fuck her. There just weren't many uncut dudes around my town when I was growing up, and there weren't hardly any at the college. I had thought about getting circumcised but was even too embarrassed about my foreskin to talk about it with a doctor. But, to my utter amazement, the thought of all those guys in the class studying my foreskin gave me a twinge in my dick that gave me the horrible realization that I might get an erection. I had always been so good about that in my posing sessions. I was always able to keep my penis soft. I couldn't believe myself as I felt my dick begin to rise!

"Please pull your foreskin back slowly," the professor said to me. At first I didn't realize he was talking to me, because I never had to do anything but pose before.

"Who me?" I finally asked.

"Well, maybe I'll do it, if you don't mind? I want to push it back very slowly to show the class how the foreskin functions." Mind? Well . . . he didn't give me a chance to answer. He stepped forward and grabbed my dick, and I almost jumped off the stool. The class laughed. The professor held onto my cock with a firm grip, keeping the foreskin forward. I sat still but was about to die because my fucking dick was getting stiffer than hell.

"Watch this, class," the professor said as he slowly began to retract my foreskin. I couldn't help but watch too. Right in front of my horrified eyes, I watched my overhang thin out and then begin to stretch over my cockhead. I couldn't believe what was happening, as he glided my skin down over my head and exposed it right in front of all those sissies. He kept sliding my skin back until it was tight as hell. Then the asshole let go and, for all the world to see, I sat there with a raging boner with my skin retracted. "Now just sit still," he told me.

"Class, I want you to watch the skin as it moves back to its normal position, covering the entire penis." I must have had the reddest face ever on campus as I watched my skin slide up my erection. I was so dazed that I didn't notice how the class was reacting to my embarrassment. Then the professor asked me, "Would you mind if each student came forward and personally retracted your foreskin?"

"Gee, I'm not sure about that," I said. I was so horny by this time I was about to agree to anything . . . but a bunch of sissies?

"Oh, I am sorry," said the professor, "I didn't realize you'd be embarrassed. I know what we'll do. You can go into the next room and take the stool. We'll put a towel around your head so you can't see, and each student can take his turn examining the penis in private." With that he grabbed me by the arm, stood me up and, taking the stool in the other hand, led me right into the classful of men students with my dick standing up straight up in front of me with the foreskin overhanging. He pushed me through the fellows, and I noticed that all eyes were on my cock. We went into the next room and he sat me down and tied a towel around my head.

"Can you see? Can you breathe? Is it okay?" I nodded my head. I couldn't see a damned thing and I didn't want to. This was the worst thing that ever happened to me. He told me that each of the seven students would come into the room, shut the door behind them and examine my penis. He wanted me to call him in if I had any problems. I heard the door shut behind him and there I sat . . . naked with a hard-on, waiting for someone to play with my cock while I wasn't watching. My fucking balls were churning!

I heard the door open and quiet footsteps approach. Again, I just about jumped out of my skin as I felt a touch on my cock. Then this fellow whispered, "What's it feel like to have a foreskin, man?" I was too embarrassed to say anything, as he gave my dick one good stroke up and down.

Then there was nothing for a good five minutes, but I knew he was there, because I could hear him breathing heavily. Then it hit me, that bugger is jacking-off while he is looking at my dick! I almost felt like jumping up and slugging him, but I didn't want trouble. So I asked him, "Are you a sissy?"

He replied, "I'm homosexual, if that is what you mean, and I'd like to suck your cock." I don't know why, but his admission didn't anger me. I liked his honesty and, for some strange reason, the sudden realization that there was a man in front of me who wanted to go down on my penis got me hotter than ever. Then he sort of gasped and left the room.

The next guy who came in gave my dick about three strokes and then put something cold on it. "Hey, what the fuck is that?" I asked.

"Just a yardstick. I'm getting dimensions." Oh, shit, the goddamn sissy is measuring my cock! He left without saying a word. Why didn't I jump up and get dressed and get the hell out of there? Because my penis was actually enjoying all this attention.

The next guy said, "Sorry, fellow. I've never touched another man's penis before. Do you mind if I just put a finger into your foreskin? I've never seen a foreskin before and don't understand how it stretches." I shrugged my shoulders to let him know it was okay, and he began poking and prodding.

I said, "I guess you're not a sissy, are you?" He didn't answer because I could sense that he was getting involved heavily with my dick.

He shoved the foreskin back tight and said, "Oh, shit, look at that!" Then he kept squeezing my rock-hard shaft and trying to bend it. He was getting excited as hell. Then he said, "I've never done this before." Suddenly I felt his teeth on my foreskin.

"Hey, be careful!" I yelled. I could hear the professor knock on the door and say, "Time's up." The guy was pretty slow letting go of my dick and walking out of the room. First goddamn time any man put his mouth on my penis!

The next guy who came in got his fist around my whole shaft and began pumping on it like crazy and said, "Boy, if I only had all this skin to pump!"

He was a real artist and I could have let him pump on me all day, but he was about to crack my balls, and I yelled, "Quick, let go! What are you trying to do? No man has ever watched me shoot off my dick and you won't be the first. Get the hell out of here." Another knock at the door. I was almost sorry the guy was leaving.

Well, the next guy soothed my nerves and my raging, and by now aching, cock. He didn't say a word, but I felt a warmth on my dick I had never before felt. Oh, did it feel good! I knew damned well that the guy was sucking on my dick, but he was some expert. He took my foreskin in his lips and rolled it up and down as he sucked on the shaft and over the head. For some odd reason he was so good that my balls relaxed and I could take it without feeling like I was about to explode. Then there was another knock, damn it. This sissy was about to convert me! As he left, I asked him where he learned to do that, and he said, "On my older brother."

In came the next guy and stunned me by asking, "How are things on the water polo team this season?" Not only that, he started naming names of the other guys on the team! I asked how he knew and he said he tried out for the team and had watched me compete many times. Oh, fuck, a fellow jock has his fist around my cock! I was sort of hoping it would cold-cock me and I'd go soft, but instead my dick got so hard I felt as if it were going to split the skin. "Yea, this is a handsome dick you got, man. How many chicks has it fucked?" As he pumped on it, I began talking about the girls I'd fucked. I couldn't believe this. Another knock. Shit!

The last guy came in and I was so fucking hot I was about to rape him. But he didn't touch my dick. He just asked questions: "Why weren't you circumcised? How long is it? Do you jack off? Can I watch you do it?" etc. My poor dick was really needing a touch, a fist, a mouth, anything! All this little sissy would do was ask questions. I guess I was pretty rude to him and said, "Sure, I jack off, but I'm not going to do it for your entertainment. If you want to jack me off, go ahead." He got up and left.

Then the professor came in and said, "Thank you for being so patient. I know you were embarrassed. I am sorry, but I naturally assumed that being a model you enjoyed being an exhibitionist. Looking at the condition of your penis I think I might have been correct. I am sure you need some relief, so while the students are in the classroom doing sketches of your foreskin movement, you can stay in here and masturbate in private. Is that okay?" he asked as he removed the towel from my head.

"To tell you the truth, Prof, I sort of don't like jacking off by myself. I gave that up when I was a kid, except when some dame gets me so hot I can't stand it. Would you mind just standing there while I finish myself off?" He grabbed me by the arm, yanked me off the stool and led me into the classroom with my fucking boner stiff as a pipe. The students looked up startled as he led me past them and then sat me in front of them on the stool. He turned out the lights in the room and put a spotlight on me.

"You've got seven fellow students here who know and admire your penis and it would give us all great pleasure to watch you finish yourself off." Suddenly, my goddamn dick became the most important thing in the world. Realizing that I was an exhibitionist after all and that I had my audience spellbound, I grabbed my uncircumcised penis with both fists and pumped the hell out of my foreskin. It took me only about ten minutes before I could feel it stirring inside my nuts. I stood up with my thighs pushed forward, sweat pouring off my naked body and my foreskin tip snapping so fast it couldn't be seen. Then I had the greatest orgasm I've ever known . . . before or since. I almost collapsed into the professor's arm as he led me back into the other room. The students were silent. I never mentioned the experience to my friends and gave up modeling. I was afraid exhibiting my uncut dick in public might become addictive.

Now I am a married father and long since learned about gays and will never forget with fond memory those "sissies" who gave me me the best orgasm I ever had.

FORESKIN WORSHIPER

I have been a foreskin worshiper since I can remember. I am currently 32 years old. I was born and raised on a small farm in Idaho. The community in which I grew up was all farming people. There were two doctors in the town which was about 15 miles away. They comprised the entire medical community for the county of about 6,000 people. As you can imagine, everyone knew just about everyone else.

I was fortunate in that at least half of the boys I knew growing up were uncut. Shortly after I was born, the family doctor was brainwashed into thinking that circumcision was the way to go. Therefore, my older brother and I were the only ones in the family of six boys to escape the knife. My older brother had several of his best friends who were cut. He, therefore, started to wear his skin back so that he looked like the rest of the gang.

He tried to convince me that I should do the same, but I had already started to enjoy the feelings produced by slowly retracting the foreskin and then allowing it to envelope the glans again. That was just about the time that I was having a lot of trouble with my tonsils. The doctor scheduled me to be admitted to the hospital for a tonsilectomy and recommended to my parents that while I was already out that he could circumcise me. God am I glad that my parents didn't listen to him! I am, however, suprised that they didn't because all four of my younger brothers were cut at birth, and two of the four were already born. I have never asked my father about it, but I imagine that he had something to do with the decision. He was cut while in the service during World War II. He probably wanted to spare me the pain he knew would be involved in doing it at my age which at the time was about five.

I remember at the age of eight at the county fair, I pretended to have to go to the bathroom several times. I loved to stand at the urinal, which was a long trough, just to see all the shapes and sizes of cocks. I remember watching to see if the ones who were uncut would skin it back before they started to urinate. I would pinch the overhang together so that the urine would make the foreskin balloon out just a little before I would let any out.

By the time I was about eleven or twelve, I started to skin it back whenever I had to urinate. I think that it was because of all the lectures that you are supposed to wash your hands after you go to the bathroom. I felt that if urine was so "filthy" I didn't want it even touching my foreskin. I worshiped my foreskin and didn't want anything to happen to it.

My foreskin is very soft and pliable now, but it wasn't always that way. I was taught at about age four to skin it back whenever I took a bath (had to make sure that I wouldn't get any cancer). I remember that if I waited too long after I got in the tub, I would get an erection, and then it would be slightly painful to retract it all the way. I would, therefore, skin it back as soon as I got in the tub. That way it would slowly stretch as I got an erection and it didn't hurt. It just gave me a very pleasurable tight sensation.

As I got older and the skin became easier to retract, I remember waiting longer in the tub to skin it back. I used to sit in the tub and gradually add more hot water until the water in the tub was very warm. I would then skin it back and it would feel hot to the glans that had been protected by the foreskin, but would just feel warm to the rest of me.

As I started high school, I began wearing my foreskin skinned back for a few hours at a time. It was really a turn-on to have my shorts rubbing on the sensitive head every time I moved or took a step. At times I would get so excited that I would shoot my load in my pants just walking down the halls at school. That is something that someone who was cut at birth would never be able to experience.

All of my brothers are married and have children of their own. I have tried in vain to convince them that they should not have their sons clipped. I just about won out with my older brother. They decided to have their third child at home because of a bad experience in the hospital with the previous labor and delivery. After the child was born and it was a boy, they seriously thought about leaving him intact. Then his mother-in-law began telling them horror tales of people that she knew who had to be cut as adults. That, combined with the feelings he had growing up and wanting to look cut, they ended up taking him into the doctor's office and getting him cut.

I am sure that you can tell I have grown to appreciate and crave foreskin. Thanks for a way in which to share those feelings with others.

TWO WHO ARE STRETCHING IT

I've obtained some hypoallergenic adhesive tape. I pull as much of my foreskin as I can ahead of the glans and wrap a 1/2"x4" strip around it. The first time I pee it distributes the skin and, of course, balloons the foreskin. The sensation of the warm liquid is marvelous. I sort of wring out the last few drops. I can jerk off with the tape in place and the semen slowly oozes out unless I squeeze it out. The amazing part is that when I change the tape every twenty-four hours, my glans and foreskin are clean, dry and odorless even though I have jacked off within the past few hours and have pissed only minutes before removing the constricting band of tape. It is not uncomfortable, but I am constantly aware that the skin is under slight tension from the glans constrained inside it. I like the feeling. I don't smegmatize anymore. I've been taping my foreskin for awhile and already I have seen it stretch out to a longer overhang. If I get my foreskin to where its hanging to my knees, I'll stop. I used to think there's no such thing as too much foreskin, but I wouldn't want to trip over it. Although I am sure many men wouldn't let that slow them down.

I was cut in infancy, but apparently it was not one of those stretch-tight cut jobs, although I couldn't say for sure. At any rate, as an adult my cock has always had a tendency to shrivel up to where it disappeared into my ball sac and in retracting it would become covered with shaft skin. Having always admired an uncut cock, I thought it would be great if I too were uncut as I was always pleased when my cock would cover itself up.

Your FQ taught me that skin was stretchable (permanently) and that stretching could be accomplished. I wrote to BUFF and got the information and tried using their tape method. I had already invented my own tape system, but found it useless since my cock would simply retract after stretching. Consequently, I devised my own method of stretching using a weight and since then have added close to an inch of skin, so that the head of my cock is covered at all times when soft. I use the weight system in periodic "sessions." I set up the stretch every day for about four weeks and then let my cock rest for a week or so before proceeding further. I predict that I'll have my cockhead covered when hard in another year. One of the unexpected side effects—and I'm not 100% sure of this—is that my cock has increased in size from the weight stretching. It would seem to have "grown" almost 1/4". Also, I have found that stretching the skin made it stronger and thicker, not thinner as some people would think. Working up a foreskin is worth the results!

TEN FEET OF TEXAS BEEF, UNTRIMMED

On a trip to Dallas over a past weekend, I set aside the afternoon on Saturday, Saturday night and Sunday morning to go in quest of trouser snake. Having moved to California only a few weeks before, I hadn't had time to find the local habitat of succulent meat, and was more than hungry for a feast . . . particularly of the uncut variety, which I find to be more sweet tasting. The Dallas/Fort Worth area had provided an abundant supply of untrimmed Texas beef for almost fifteen years at my favorite hunting grounds. As soon as I checked into my motel, found my room and heaved my baggage through the door, off I went! Needless to say, after almost a two-month period without any meat to eat, I was starving.

I arrived at my hunting grounds a little after noon and found the parking lot crowded, which encouraged me to think that there was meat waiting for me. Upon entering the porno theatre, which is my hunting grounds, I stood in the vestibule, letting my eyes adjust to the coal-mine darkness before trying to find a seat. As I stood in the inky darkness, I felt a warm thigh press against me and heard a deep voice say, "Damn, man, where you been? I've missed you."

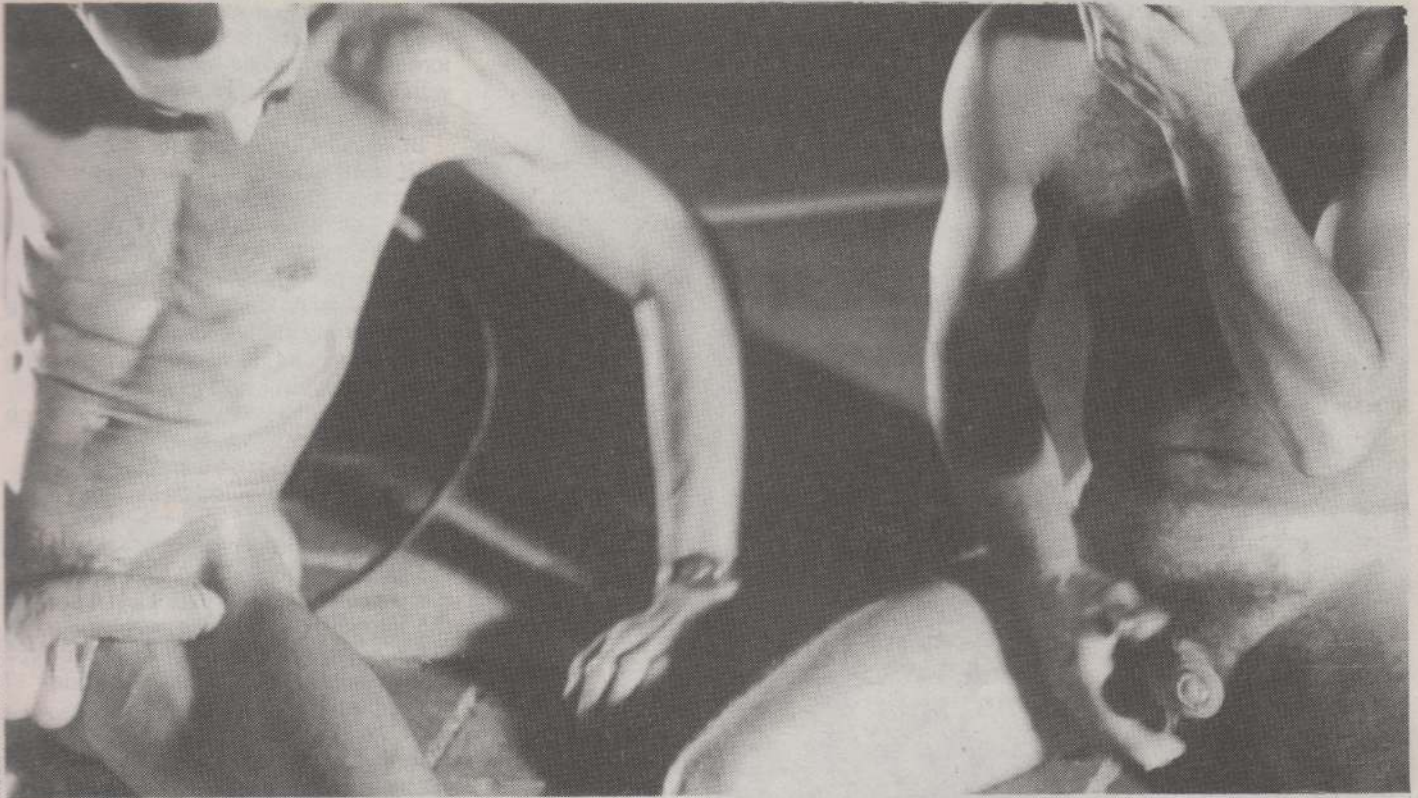

"Hi, Sam," I replied, reaching down for a slab of untrimmed Texas beef I've eaten in the past. He put the snake into my hand. I squeezed it hard to test its bone and then fondled the long, loose foreskin.

"Our seats over on the end are empty," Sam said softly in my ear.

"Lead me to it, baby. I can't see a fucking thing." He took me by my right hand while I kept a steady grip on the stiff meat with my left. Once seated, down came Sam's pants. His generous three-piece set of man tools was once again ready for me . . . just like the good old days.

"Eat my meat, baby," Sam said. "Chew on Daddy's foreskin."

Let me tell you about Sam. He is a 46-year-old, 6'6" hunk of a man who is a construction worker for the City of Dallas. Though his meat-roll is only a little over six inches, it is super fat and he has the most velvetlike textured foreskin that's ever been my pleasure to chew. It overhangs the fat round head of his penis by about two inches. When I first ate Sam's beef about three years ago, the foreskin wasn't so long, but when he realized how good it was to have me chew on it, he started on a stretching regimen to get more of it for me. Now that he has so much foreskin (he calls it his Arkansas luggage) he's only turned on by dudes who'll play with it, and I don't think there are too many around here who know how to chew on skin.

Sam relaxed as I stretched his foreskin down, opened it and stretched it using both thumbs. "Please, Sugar Mouth," he said, squeezing my shoulders, "let me feel those teeth." So, not even looking to see if we had anyone near us, down I went, burying my face in man-bush. Talk about a feast after famine! I barely came up for air. In thirty minutes, Sam was two fantastic loads lighter and was begging me to give the poor snake a rest. As we rested, my hand still holding his now-soft but still-thick cock, a man sat in the seat next to me.

By now my eyes were adjusted to the darkness, so I could tell he was a younger man in full western gear from hat to boots. "Howdy," said my new neighbor. "Isn't your name Dan?" I looked at him closer and couldn't remember him for love nor money. Then, taking my hand, he put it plunk down on the rock-hard eight inches of cowboy meat he had poking right out of his skin-tight jeans. It had a distinct sharp curve to the right and a foreskin that just barely covered the drooling, wide-eyed glans. "Remember that there rod?" He asked with a sheepish grin.

"Now, I remember! Richard, right?"

"Damn! You are right. You told me you never forget a piece of meat. Where have you been, old boy? That there skin has been hankering for some of your action." Now I knew I had returned home, as I sat there with two hunks of untrimmed Texas beef, one in each hand.

Let me tell you about Rich. He is married, twenty-eight years old, the father of four and the husband of a lady who won't give him head. The poor guy could hardly crawl out the door the first time he went home with me. He was so turned on that he didn't even go soft each time he shot his load . . . and he shot at least six times! I chewed on his foreskin so much I thought I would wear a hole in it, but he kept hollering for more. He left my house with his dick still on bone, almost ripping through his jeans. In fact, I don't think I've ever seen this cowpoke with soft meat.

He watched while I gave Sam one last chew and then I spent the next hour and a half munching on Rich's beef. I practically ate off his skin. Again, the fucker never lost his hard-on and I'll swear he pumped six loads down my throat. Then he said it was enough because he had to go home and fuck his wife that night, but first he wanted me to show him Sam's techniques of foreskin stretching. So we sat there while I tugged and yanked at his skin while he watched like a kid in school. He got up, stuffed his still-rigid meat into his jeans and said, "I'll have more skin for y'all next time you come to town!" I spent the next two hours too busy to talk, or else my mouth was being used for something else. I ate eight slabs of beef! Of the eight, only three had been trimmed . . . I had actually been able to chew on a total of seven foreskins that afternoon. Almost enough to make me want to move back to Texas! Well, before my system went into protein shock, I decided to leave the theatre and have supper.

After supper at a salad bar, I was ready for some more meat. I returned to the theatre and ran into another old friend, Roy. As Roy hauled out his long, slender circumcised eight-incher and waved it in my face, I knew I was glad to be back at my hunting grounds. Roy gets off on having his bulbous cockhead kneaded between oiled palms. So, he handed me the oil, I slopped it over his long dick and, for kicks, all over his enormous low hanging sack of nuts.

I was really working that meat roll over and before we knew it we had an audience. The man sitting on the other side of me unzipped my pants and pulled out my cut seven-incher. While I rolled Roy's skinned meat through my fist, the guy started eating my meat. He then pulled out his own dick to start beating on it. I gave it one look and asked, "What is your name, Sir?"

"James," he replied as he took his mouth off my dick.

"Well, James, is that foreskin I see on your meat, Sir?" He stood straight up and right in my face pointed the most beautiful overhang of foreskin I had seen all day. It was on a seven-inch hard bone, but there was so much foreskin it still bunched up in front of the cock in a rosebud. I kept slapping away at Roy's cut cock with one hand, while I gently began to chew on James's overhang. The audience was falling out of their chairs watching. Roy shot cream into the air, but I didn't stop eating James's skin for a second. He squirmed and moaned as if no one else was in the room.

Then a young, fresh-faced punk in 501s came up right next to us and got a close look at me chewing foreskin. I could see him out of the corner of my eyes as he unbuttoned his Levi's and pulled out a fat five inches and began to stretch out a foreskin as if to say "See, I've got one too!" Without removing my teeth from the overhang I was chewing, I reached over and grabbed the punk's dick. It was so slick I could hardly get a grip on it. He stood there while I stroked his skin all the way back to his balls about six times and he suddenly shot off and sprayed all over my clothes. He yelled "Oh shit!" and literally fled while his wet dick was still hanging out of his 501s.

James was still having his foreskin eaten when I noticed a young black stud watching the action. Suddenly the movie screen turned bright and I spotted a glistening off the black fellow's broad, wet cockhead. My eyes followed downward over the contours of a huge, thick, very long roll of succulent meat. Here it was, the illusive, legendary trouser Boa Constrictor waiting to wrap itself around any living thing! Hopelessly hypnotized, my mouth flew open and out dropped poor James's beautiful foreskin which I, the stalwart, intrepid hunter that I am, headed for bigger game.

During the next half hour or so we had little conversation. I even forgot to ask the man his name . . . I usually like to know the name of the meat I am eating as you probably noticed. But this black penis seemed to have a life of its own. It rose in front of me like a tower, a ten-incher at the very least. It was etched with pulsating veins, capped by a foreskin that very easily could be stretched an inch beyond the thick, juicy, magenta head. I came all the way to Texas for this man . . . and I was going to eat to my heart's content. I stretched him out, chewed, sucked, licked, nibbled, kissed and generally made love to this heroic specimen of mankind. I had almost forgotten about the young black man on the other end of the uncut pole, when suddenly I heard him moan. He reached down with two large work-roughened hands, and held my head very gently as if to hold my mouth still. He then pulled his long penis out of my mouth and said, "Would you like to give my nuts a lick?" I sucked his balls up quick. I got both of them in my mouth and at the same time pulled on his foreskin. That got him so excited I thought I'd better return to the meat quick. By the time that long tube hit my tonsils, he donated two very heavy, hot, large loads of lava to the cause of staving off sperm starvation. After that, I couldn't eat anything else if I tried. I headed for my motel.

Sunday's grand finale went like this:

1) A young Mexican with a long, thin uncut cock that got so hard it was like a marble. I must have gotten to him before anyone else, because he had a pouch full of cheese.

2) A fiftyish businessman type whose meat was very fat with the floppiest foreskin I've seen. I could have played with it for hours, but he was in a hurry. He was on his way home from church.

3) A platinum blond (or silver grey) man of 46 who said, "I like it rough. Bite and chew that goddamn skin with your teeth. Let me see those teeth dig into foreskin, man! Twist and pull on my balls. Squeeze 'em hard!" The harder I came down on his meat with my teeth, the more he yelled "Rougher!" I gnawed on this fellow for a good hour and was beginning to wonder what I had to do to crack his balls. Finally he screamed, "Circumcise my meat, man!"

Shit, at this point I'd have done anything, and so I shouted back, "You got a knife?"

"Hell, no." He screamed. "Circumcise me with your teeth!" Oh fuck, I thought, this is going to take forever. But no sooner did I touch his foreskin with my teeth again when he gushed out enough protein to supply me all the way back to California. I was pooped.

At the Denny's next to my motel that night, I counted up how many pieces of Texas beef I ate during my weekend visit. I totaled nineteen. Too bad I couldn't make it an even twenty. At a six-inch average, that would have been 120 inches, or ten feet of hard, drooling manmeat. I tried to imagine a ten-foot cock with a two-foot overhang. In my reverie I wasn't even aware of anyone sitting next to me at the counter until his knee brushed mine. I looked over at him, not pulling my leg away from him, and returned his smiling greeting. He was a trucker staying . . . guess where? Yessir, at the same motel I was. Al turned out to be the horniest, most loving, gentlest somebody I've met in a long time. His wide but not-too-fat eight-inch beauty with its tight, silken foreskin was a delight. Even with his tight, nicely shaped foreskin, he was able to stretch it out, and he docked my cut cock into his, keeping us locked together while we necked and kissed. To my utter delight, he was covered with curly hair all over his nice, solid body, even the tops of his feet and toes, not to mention his delectable ass. We fell asleep while our cocks were docked. The next morning was wonderful. We exchanged loads, and I got my last taste of foreskin in Dallas.

So I had my ten feet of Texas beef, mostly untrimmed. One hundred twenty succulent inches. Who said the Big D doesn't have its share of foreskin on its manbeef? Well, guess what? I might not return after all, because Al trucks to California and wants us to make it a steady thing. He's got the skin and I sure know what to do with it! So, back to California. . . I'll never forget my ten feet of beef! It was a real Texas-size meal. □

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

ENIGMA—Erotic Neoprimitive International Genital Modification Association—is a communications network of persons into genital modification in its many forms on both the fantasy and reality levels. It does not promote nor condone unsafe practices either to oneself or to others. It realizes, however, that every person is ultimately in control of his own destiny and supports freedom of choice in sexual orientation, activities and proclivities so long as this freedom does not infringe on the same freedom of other persons.

ENIGMA seeks to foster and facilitate communications between like-minded individuals through its various publications and personal ads. Every effort is made to verify the genuineness and honesty of its members, contributors and advertisers; however, no responsibility or liability is assumed either explicitly or implicitly for the information included within its publications or communications.

LETTERS TO E.N.I.G.M.A.

Editor's note: Response to the ENIGMA column in the last FQ has been gratifying. Approximately 100 responses have been received which either mention seeing the article in FQ or can be attributed to FQ. A few excerpts follow:

I recently purchased issue no. 7 of FQ and discovered that there are apparently others like myself in the world. I circumcised myself when I was 22 and have been into genital modifications. I have a well-pierced dick and a modified piss hole. I also have a lover/soulmate who is into the same scene. We have been together for the past sixteen years. When you are a crooked pot and find a lid that fits, you tend to hold onto it.

—K.A., CA

You bet! Please send more information on your organization, ENIGMA.

—R.B., MN

Have just read your introduction article in FQ—great to see that another taboo is finally out of the closet. We are on the subscription list of Drummer, Mach, and DungeonMaster guess we'll have to add FQ now!

—M.F., CA

I'm interested in membership in ENIGMA. I'm interested in meeting guys that would be interested in one-way or mutual modification. I'm interested in the whole list of activities except being castrated or total emasculation.

—B.C., CT

I'm presently a U.S.A. member. I'm cut and been stretching for two years along with Buff's literature, a speculum, and a vacuum pump. I've been a body shaver for 16 years (I'm now 33). On April tenth, I'll be seeing my plastic surgeon for revision circumcision.

—D.A., CA

Please send me a membership application and more information on "Genital Modification," especially meatotomy, urethral enlargement, splitting the glans penis, locks, tattooing, implants and castration as mentioned in issue 7 of FQ.

—J.L., CA

Saw your ad/article in FQ 7. Wow! I thought I was the only pervert on earth into this. Good to know there are all those f/skin buddies all over the world and a club like yours. I have one permanent piercing (frenum) which I have enlarged to form a loop with my G-string, but regularly pierce my balls, sac, shaft and glans for a sexual turn-on. I then let the piercing heal until the next time.

—N.R., OS

WOW!! YES, this is a fan letter! My sensations while reading "PBO" in the Inferno Run Book, were doubly amplified by the news of ENIGMA in FQ 7. While a "major modification," as defined by Doc, is beyond my realities at this time, I have a frenum piercing, done by Jim Ward two years ago. I have shaved my own genitals several times and have had four others shave my genitals for me. I have been on the lookout for a permanent hair removal method for some years—yes, I know, electrolysis—but who has the time, money, and/or equipment?

—R.B., NY

You must have been psychic when you wrote this letter. "Shaving—The Symbolic Castration" is this month's technical article and "PBO" is the featured fiction. Hope you enjoy both.

—LaFarge

The description of your organization that I read in FQ 7 (Statement of Purpose) aroused me more than any written words I have read since 1980.

—G.G., NC.

Yes, sirs, your organization is just what I've been dreaming about for years, so please rush me your application for membership. I am self-cut and partially subincised. There is just nothing in this country to satisfy my passionate interest in genital modification and nobody I have met who doesn't think I'm some sort of freak or nut-case. I just thank God that there are people like me in other parts of the world.

—J.C., OS

I can't tell you how pleased I am in finding out about ENIGMA! If you saw my dick right now, you could see just how pleased I am. I'm very much into genital modifications. If I may quote from your FQ article, I am hoping some day to meet (or, do I dare hope, perform on) a guy who has a "ball-free crotch, a totally smooth crotch, (or) balls with no dick." The last would be my most favorite. Unfortunately, so far it has been limited to only my own personal fantasies since I have been mostly unable to locate others with the same interest. From the general topic of genital modification, I have had to limit my interest to merely circumcision, and that at least got me into U.S.A.

—W.A., NY

... Also, I'm really anxious to see the ENIGMA newsletter. Since you're working with Desmodus, Inc., is there any chance it will develop into a full-blown magazine, as FQ did? That would really be something! Especially since the subject matter at hand really needs a good visual depiction... can you just imagine the "Reader's Photos" section!

—S.C., VA

I'm going to toss this one right back to you. What this endeavor becomes depends on you, the members and readers. You submit the material, and if we think we can get it through the U.S. mails, we'll publish it.

—LaFarge

I thought FQ could not be improved until I got the new edition with your feature. WOW!! Send me info and membership application—QUICK!

—J.M., MD

Just finished reading your article in FQ 7. Fantastic! I loved every little bit of it. I've been wanting something like this to come along since God knows when!

—K.T., IL

As you can see, there are folks out there who are "into it," and this editor is committed to making this thing go. The real success of the venture, though, still depends on reader participation and contributions. If you want pictures, you've got to send pictures in. (Please sign them on the back and say something like "You have my permission to publish.") If you want letters to the editor, you've got to send in letters; if you want hot fiction, you've got to send in manuscripts. Keep those cards and letters coming in, folks.

SHAVING— THE SYMBOLIC CASTRATION

"What's all that hair doing there?"

"A little dick like that doesn't deserve hair!"

"Boys and eunuchs don't have hair on their dick and balls. Only men have hair!"

"We'll get that area all 'prepped' for surgery just in case. . . ."

"We'll have that dick smooth as a nine-year-old."

Pubic hair and body hair in general are looked upon as a symbol of masculinity. Young boys watch eagerly for those first few scraggly sprouts of hair at the base of their dicks which signal the onset of puberty. The time of becoming a "man"—the ability to procreate. They peek and even overtly stare at their buddies in the shower after gym class to ascertain who has reached this status and who will be the next to attain this mark of manhood.

The removal of body hair, especially in a sexual format, is a deprivation of masculinity, making the hairless person less of a "man." What difference is there then between the Master (or Mistress) who keeps a slave's body shorn of hair or has it permanently removed and the owner that requires that slaves be castrated other than degree and/or permanence? Both are depriving slave of a degree of masculinity to denote status and/or ownership.

Shaving, then, is a symbolic castration—a modification of the genital area to suit a personal desire. It provides a noticeable, albeit temporary, effect, both visually and sensorily. It is a constant reminder to all who see and feel of an altered status—of not being fully adult male. If allowed to grow back, the itching and scratchy growth of the returning stubble serves to intensify the sensory effect and the dominance of the person who did or required the shaving.

The sensation of shaving is in itself erotic to many. The scrape of the blade on an already-sensitive area is unique, combined with the psychological effect in knowing that a sharp object is so near to the genital appendages (especially if a straight razor is used). The potential for permanent damage (modification) to the sensitive parts is, though remote, omnipresent.

Removal of body hair, especially pubic hair, may be accomplished in many ways, and most people need little instruction in the techniques. After all, most men have been shaving their faces daily since shortly after those first few scraggly hairs appeared; however, other parts of the body offer new terrain and new characteristics. A brief review and some warning are probably in order:

1. HEALTH CONSIDERATIONS: Any type of shaving involves the possible risk of drawing blood. Since blood-to bloodcontact is a method of disease transmission, especially AIDS transmission, the utmost care must be taken so that no shaving device is used on more than one person without being terminally sterilized between persons. This need is best met by the use of disposable razors, or some type of device in which the cutting instrument is changed between each use.

2. "PREP" RAZORS: These are plastic disposable razors used in hospitals for "prepping" patients prior to surgery. They are available through medical supply houses and friendly nurses and operating room technicians. They do not result in an extremely "close" shave which may be seen as a disadvantage; however, since they don't shave closely, they usually don't require lather and present a minimal risk of "nicking" especially on very irregular skin surfaces such as the scrotum.

3. DISPOSABLE SAFETY RAZORS: Again, we have the advantage of disposability; however, these were not really designed for removing long hair, especially, some say, the "dual blade" models.

You may want to begin with a "butch" haircut using conventional scissors, a prep razor, or clippers. Disposable safety razors do give a close shave and will probably require shaving lather or some lubricant to prevent "razor burn."

4. CONVENTIONAL SAFETY RAZORS: Everyone has favorites, both in razors and blades. As long as blades are changed between persons, there is little danger of disease transmission; however, the nondisposable mechanism should be carefully cleaned between uses. Otherwise, the difference between conventional and disposable safety razors is primarily one of personal preference.

5. STRAIGHT RAZORS: These are a lost generation of razors except for barbers and Grandpa, but they present a certain aura of the unknown and dangerous because of the presence of a very sharp, unprotected and unshielded blade in such close proximity to the genitals. One slip, and this symbolic castration might not be so symbolic after all.

The conventional straight razor such as Grandpa used is a real pain in the ass, unless the user is skilled in the arts of honing and stropping. Good straight razors are expensive, require a great deal of care and probably would not benefit from the heat generated by an autoclave. A good cleaning with hydrogen peroxide, 70% isopropyl alcohol (70% rubbing alcohol), or hot soap and water would probably prevent the transmission of viruses.

Some degree of skill is required to manipulate a straight razor. A little training from someone already skilled is probably in order before you try out your technique on some hapless bottom. To practice, try to shave lather off of an inflated balloon. When you've mastered shaving the balloon try it out on yourself, and start on reasonably flat skin first before attempting the intricacies of the scrotum or the intertriginous areas between the scrotum and the legs.

Straight razors with disposable blades are available from barber and beauty supply shops and from Sandmutopia Supply Company and eliminate all of the hassles of honing, stropping, sterilization, etc. This writer has found them to be very satisfactory since his skill with a razor strop and hone is limited, to say the least (except on the receiving end of the razor strop—my father used a straight razor).

6. ELECTRIC CLIPPERS: If fantasies include barbers and barbershops, the buzz of the electric clippers has a certain degree of erotic aura and can be effective in some instances, especially as a prelude to a closer shave by another method. Various types of electric clippers are available through barber and beauty supply houses, department stores (home haircutting sets), etc. A word of warning—the small, narrow trimmers are apt to "bite," digging in and cutting the skin painfully.

7. DEPILATORIES: These are creams, lotions and powders which are formulated to soften and dissolve hair so that it can be washed off even with the skin line. By nature, they are caustic chemicals. If they can dissolve hair cells, they have a high probability of at least irritating other cells such as the ones skin is made of. They're designed primarily for use on the tougher skin of the face and legs and are very apt to cause irritation and even blisters in more sensitive areas, especially if left on too long. Use with care, follow the package instructions carefully, and test on a small area before doing a whole crotch or larger area.

8. ZIP WAX: This method is for the strong at heart. A low-melting-point sticky wax is applied warm to a hairy area, allowed to cool and then pulled off, hair and all. Since this method pulls the hair "out by the roots," regrowth is much slower and tends to be less "scratchy" because it is new hair that is being produced by the hair follicle; however, the pulling-out process is not painless, to say the least. If pain is your goal, have at it. Again, follow the package directions carefully. Wax that is allowed to get too hot results in a painful burn.

9. ELECTRIC RAZORS: Except for a quick "touch-up," forget it. They're useless for long hair and really don't give a close shave.

10. ELECTROLYSIS: Drummer 11 has an article on removal of pubic hair by electrolysis. The process is not simple, not cheap, and not guaranteed to produce lasting results with a limited number of treatments. It makes a good fantasy trip, and if you're really interested in long-term removal and have the extra bucks and time to spend, you might want to give it a try.

DungeonMaster 26 has an excellent article on shaving, discussing in more detail the various methods and techniques, including how to use a straight razor.

A smooth crotch devoid of the hairy markings of masculinity: It is a return to innocence, a temporary deprivation of manliness and something that will certainly be remembered every time a person takes a leak, takes a bath, or undresses in public or private. It's a symbolic castration, but one that, with the exception of electrolysis, has no lasting effects if individual interests change. □

“Prophylactic Bilateral Orchiectomy—Box 000, this magazine.” The ad in the S&M magazine was simple and to the point for anyone who understood a bit of medical terminology as I did. My curiosity piqued, I fired off an answer to the ad asking for additional information. In a few days, I received in the mail, a professional-looking information packet from Dr. Smith. It contained several pamphlets on cancer of the prostate, its symptoms and treatment, and a pamphlet of research statistics indicating that since many prostatic cancers were testosterone dependent, bilateral orchiectomy (surgical removal of both testes) was the treatment of choice and that indeed, men who had previously lost both testes were at significantly reduced risk of developing prostatic cancer. Dr. Smith’s card was included with a phone number to call for a “free consultation.”

The packet appeared complete professional and above-board; however, since the subject of castration had been one of my long-term fantasies, and since I apparently had nothing to lose but my nuts, I called for an appointment.

The office was in an innocuous-looking downtown professional building. The waiting room contained the usual assortment of mixed clientele and antique magazines. I waited patiently as one patient after another was called. It soon became apparent that I was to be the last patient of the day. Finally, at about 5:30, the male nurse who seemed to be the only other staff present in the office handed a couple of prescriptions to a harried-looking pregnant woman with two unruly children in tow, ushered them out the door and called my name. I noticed that he locked the outside door before directing me to examining room two. Once in the examining room, he took my temperature, blood pressure, pulse, etc. before sitting down to take a rather complete medical history from me. As I enumerated the usual childhood diseases and accidents, I couldn’t help but notice that he was a rather striking blond, perhaps in his early thirties with a rather nice build that was apparent even in the white uniform he was wearing. Finishing the history, he instructed me to take off my shirt and wait for the doctor. Leaving the papers he had just completed on the small desk in a file folder, he left the room.

I hadn’t waited more than five minutes before Dr. Smith came in. He was a distinguished-looking man in his forties with a touch of gray in the dark-brown hair of his temples. His skin was bronzed and he was a fine physical specimen, exuding an aura of masculinity. He proceeded to review the forms in my file and then give me a quite thorough physical examination including a rectal exam and a rather lengthy examination of my genitals, including a lot of poking and prodding. I couldn’t help it—I sprang a rigid hard-on right there in his office. Making no comment, but not telling me to put my clothes back on, he indicated that I should sit on the edge of the examining table, and he took a seat at the desk directly across from me.

“You’ve read the information I sent you, I assume,” he asked me. I nodded my head “yes” and he continued. “The idea of a prophylactic bilateral orchiectomy—castration or gelding if you will—is somewhat new in the field of cancer prevention—”

At the words “castration” and “gelding,” my already-hard prick gave an involuntary jump and a pearly drop of lubrication oozed out of the piss slit and dribbled its way down the underside of my cock—a symptom not unnoticed by the observant Dr. Smith.

“And it’s rather drastic merely for preventive purposes. Now, tell me, in your own words, just why it is you think you might want this surgery.”

I started to parrot back the information I had so carefully memorized from Dr. Smith’s packet when all of a sudden, under his penetrating gaze, I just blurted it all out. “Hell, Dr. Smith,” I said, “castration has been a fantasy of mine since I was a boy on the farm. The idea of being castrated like we did pigs, gelding horses and steers on the farm is a real turn-on to me. I fantasize about how I’d look with just my prick hanging from a shaved crotch, ball-less with even the ball sac removed and one single suture line running from the base of my dick back toward my asshole.” I’d said it. Perhaps I’d ruined everything, but I’d said it. I sat waiting to be kicked out of the office under Dr. Smith’s penetrating gaze.

Finally, he spoke, “I’d rather guessed that,” he said in an even, apparently emotionless tone of voice, “from the reaction I’ve just witnessed in your genitals. But, aren’t you afraid that after castration you’ll lose your ability to become aroused or reach orgasm?”

“From everything I’ve read,” I replied, “the ability to ‘get it up’ is primarily in your head. If you think you’re going to be impotent, you probably will be; however, if you think, as I do, that surgical alteration is a way of taking your sexuality into your own hands and being what you want to be, then it shouldn’t have any negative effect on your functioning and should, indeed, have a positive effect.” I was vehement now. I’d decided to play this thing through to the end, regardless of the consequences.

“You indicated when you called for your appointment that you were answering my ad. I assume you’re gay and somewhat into S&M," he said.

"I'm very much into S&M," I replied, "and certainly gay."

"And you're certain of your desire to be castrated?" he asked.

"I've been certain ever since I was sixteen years old," I answered. "My high school buddy and I were playing around in the barn that summer and I talked him into putting one of the elastrator rings we used on bull calves around my nuts. I was ready to leave it on until the things rotted and dropped off, but he 'chickened out' and took it off. We never played much after that. I think I scared him off, but I've always been sorry I didn't leave the damned ring on."

"That really turns you on, doesn't it?" commented Doc as he observed my reaction every time Neil came in sight. "Let me tell you a little more about our little group. Everyone in the group is required to have a major modification of either his genitals or those of his slave in order to be a member of the group. We define major modification as the removal of any major part such as the testes, the scrotum, the penis, or the glans penis, or alterations such as subincision all the way to the scrotum, splitting the penis to at least half of its length or splitting of the scrotum so as to completely separate the testes into two separate sacks. Even Masters must have at least a minor modification which we define as piercing in the head or the shaft of the penis. You'll see many of the possibilities when the rest of the group arrives later.

"Once in the group, a member is required to maintain contact with the group until he dies. In order to save embarrassment, I provide free medical care to every member of the group. We meet every two weeks for socializing and play and more often if there are 'procedures' scheduled. A procedure is when we actually do the modifications. Normally, I do the surgery and Neil and one or more of the other members assist me. All members are welcome to observe the procedures, and we seldom have any absences. Procedures are always scheduled on Friday evenings so that the member can stay here and be cared for during the weekend. My facilities here are so complete that we've never had to hospitalize one of my 'patients.' Local anesthesia is optional; we figure that anyone who thinks he needs to be put to sleep for the procedure really isn't ready for it. Half the fantasy is being able to watch it done. Now, any questions?"

"The only question I can think of," I replied, "is when can I become a member? When can you schedule my procedure? I've never in my wildest dreams ever thought that something such as this even existed, let alone that I could be a part of it. I want to join."

"After you've had a chance to meet the other members tonight, and they've had a chance to meet you," Doc answered, "we'll have a short meeting. If they all agree, we can schedule your procedure a week from this Friday night."

I was "as nervous as a whore in church." What if the other members didn't like me? What if I didn't measure up to their expectations? But, I decided that the only thing to do was to be myself, and as one-by-one they arrived, I found my decision to be the correct one as I became more and more at ease with these men who had decided to be what they wanted to be and what made them feel good.

First to arrive were Bob and Phil. The doorbell rang and I moved in alarm as if to cover myself. Only with the intrusion of the bell had I suddenly become aware of my nakedness.

"Relax," said Doc, "Only members have a key card which opens the gate at the end of the lane. Remember, I used mine to let us in when we arrived."

Neil got up to greet the visitors at the front door while Doc and I waited on the deck. I trembled in anticipation, not knowing what to expect. Neil returned followed by Bob, leading Phil on a lead anchored to the chain between Phil's tit rings. Bob, obviously the Master, was also genitally intact with the exception of a large barbell which apparently went vertically through his cock at the base. One-half-inch stainless-steel balls on each end of the bar caught the light of the setting sun.

"Present yourself for inspection by the candidate, gelding!" Bob commanded of Phil, who immediately came to stand in front of my chair with his hands behind his back. "Feel around if you like," Bob offered. "This is my eunuch slave and I'm proud of him."

Tentatively, I reached my hand forward to fondle Phil's genitals. The thick brown hair on his crotch matched his closely trimmed head making him appear rather normal at first, but as I explored what appeared to be a very small ball sac, I found it to be completely empty. Two small scars showed where his balls had been removed by Doc's skilled hands. I learned that Bob and Phil had been the most recent recruits to Doc and Neil's little enclave, and that they did not either consider themselves at the end of the respective journeys into the realms of modification and alteration, but were as yet undecided as to what step to take next. Indeed, I was to learn that most of the members considered themselves to be at some midpoint in their journey, some progressing faster than others, but most savoring the potentials of further procedures.

The conversation grew animated as additional members arrived and I wallowed in the limelight—the center of attention, exploring with them their fantasies, their experiences, their turn-ons, their headspace.

Harry was the next to arrive. Contrary to his name, his pubic hair was absent as were his balls and sac. His circumcised dick had a strange, flattened look, much wider than it was thick. When he lifted it up for my inspection, I discovered why. He had been subincised—the entire urethra (the piss tube) had been surgically opened up to the base of his dick. His dick now served no functional use other than pleasure as the opening through which he pissed was now at the base of his dick. He couldn't even pee through his dick anymore. As I talked with him, I learned that Harry had had two procedures. The first was the subincision. After the subincision, he discovered that even though he sat down to urinate, the piss dribbled over his ball sac and always had to be wiped away when he was done. He had solved this problem by having the second procedure in which the balls and sac were removed. Now, if he sat down and lifted his useless dick, he could urinate in a stream. He demonstrated his potency for me by jacking off to orgasm lying on one of the benches surrounding the deck while the others stood around urging him on. "Jack that useless cock!" they chanted. "What do you want done to that flat meat next?" "Maybe we'll split it end-to-end so you can have two dicks you tie in a knot."

As the light had failed with the setting sun, torches around the deck had been lit, and the flickering torch light now reflected off the sweating swarthy skin of Harry as he beat his meat in exhibitionistic ecstasy and glinted in the aroused eyes and faces of the totally masculine men, in spite of their sexual equipment, or lack of it, which gathered around him. With a groan, Harry reached orgasm, the pearly white cum spurting out of the opening at the base of his dick and running between his legs.

As it got even darker, the group moved inside so that I would not be deprived of the visual turn-on of seeing all there was to see of those yet to arrive. Laughing and joking we moved into the farmhouse.

The doorbell rang a third time. I could see through the door into the hall as Neil admitted Joe, a complete bald biker type with a build to match, dressed from head to foot in black leather tastefully accented with shiny chrome chains. Joe waved at those of us assembled and turned to face the closet as he undressed and carefully folded his leathers and put them away. I caught a good view of a firm full, tight ass as he bent to place his boots on the floor of the closet. I thought I had grown accustomed—even blasé to the idea of modification, but my eyes popped as Joe turned to face the group and walked into the room. Not only was his head hairless, his whole body was without a single hair. That's not all that was missing either! As my gaze moved to his crotch, I found it vacant—nothing—only the bronzed skin of his totally tanned body. His cock was gone, his balls were gone, his sack was gone. He was the total and ultimate eunuch. Joe had been Doc and Neil's first recruit to the group. Several procedures had brought him to his present state. If anyone had reached the end of the journey, it was Joe, but even he did not rule out the possibility of even more modification should another possibility be conceived.

Joe was into being fucked in the ass and reported to me that his modifications now allowed him to become totally involved in his first love, being fucked, unimpeded by the distractions of climax, orgasm or genital sensation. It had never been so good.

John and Mark were the last to arrive. The head of John's dick had been completely split to just behind the corona and the two halves were now held together by an ampallang. Mark, his bottom, had undergone two procedures, carefully planned to bring him to his present state. Upon entry into the club, he had had one ball removed and his scrotum reduced in size. Following that, electrolysis had been used to remove his beard and all of the hair from his neck down (electrolysis does not count as a procedure in the club). Finally, the head of his already rather small prick was removed, leaving him with a stub only about two inches long soft and three inches long and about three quarters of an inch in diameter hard. With his short-cropped blond hair, round face and slight lithe body, he reminds one of a small uncircumcised prepubescent boy until he masturbates that little boy prick on the command of his Master and shoots a load of thick, ropy man-cum two feet into the air.

As the socialization continued, I almost had to pinch myself several times to be assured that I wasn't dreaming. Men mingled about, wandering between the brightly lit interior of the house and the torch-lit outdoor deck, laughing, joking, conversing; all stark naked and all taking a certain exhibitionistic pleasure in displaying their various modifications and alterations. Nobody was bashful about sex either, though we all kept it safe by modern standards, condoms were in good supply and freely used. Joe leaned over a bench on the deck and was fucked by almost every dick in the place, from the boylike Mark to me, the only one in the group still cursed with a normal set of genitals. Groping, sucking, pinching, licking, twisting all were the order of the day.

A keg of beer had been tapped, a few joints were passed around and several bottles of poppers appeared. I had just begun to feel the effects of several hefty tokes on the joints when several hands gently grabbed me and laid me on my back spread-eagled on the floor. As unknown hands held my arms and legs in position, little Mark straddled my head with his feet and lowered his boylike crotch to my face. As I licked his headless prick Bob began to fondle my cock and balls. The verbal rap began—

"You want to be like us—balls gone, and sac gone?"

"We'll shave that crotch clean—hairless, ball-less, sacless!"

"Lick that boy, suck that boy dick!"

The fondling of my balls became more urgent; the pressure increased; hands began to fondle, pinch and twist my tits; I groaned my pleasure into Mark's crotch.

"Yeah, he likes it—he loves it!"

"Twist that man prick!"

"Squeeze those useless balls!"

"Make him beg us to cut those balls off so they can't hurt anymore!"

The pressure increased; my groin ached; the pot really began to hit; I floated—suspended in space—conscious only of the pain, the pleasure, the twisting, the pulling, the squeezing. The boy prick was in my mouth, it twitched, it winked open.

"Yeah, man—split that sac!"

"Slide those nuts out!"

"Slice 'em off!"

"Trim that sac!"

"Castrated!"

"Gelded!"

"Fuckin' eunuch!"

"Fuckin' eunuch!"

It rose in a crescendo—the voices, the pressure on my nuts, the pain.

It started deep in the pit of my stomach; it rose through my groin; as if time were standing still, it ascended my rock-hard dick; it reached the top.

Dr. Smith's stern expression softened as he looked at me. "You do seem firm in your resolve," he said, "and, in addition, you seem to have done your 'homework' pretty well. Much of what you say is true. I think we may have something of interest to you." He picked up the intercom on his desk and after a moment said, "Neil, will you come in here for a minute?"

Neil must have been waiting for the call, for almost immediately, he appeared at the door. "Come on in," Dr. Smith said. Neil closed the door behind him and stood waiting. "Neil is not only my office nurse," Dr. Smith continued, "he's my lover. We started a little club of men with interests similar to yours about a year ago. We've grown now to eight people including Neil and myself. Our ad was a way of discreetly locating a few more quality people to join us. We plan to keep it very exclusive and of course very secret, but it's my opinion that you are just the type of person we are looking for. Do you agree, Neil?"

"Most certainly," Neil replied, "I began to get the hint from the way he looked me over while I was taking his history."

"Very well then," Dr. Smith said, "but I must warn you that this is the 'point of no return.' If you join us, you will undoubtedly get your fantasy fulfilled and may very well be led even farther. If you want out, now is the time. In order to protect our confidentiality, we must insist on absolute secrecy from this point forward. Should you choose, you are free to leave now. Both Neil and I will deny anything that has taken place in this office and will prepare your medical record in such a way that if it is ever brought to the attention of the authorities you will be extremely lucky not to be put away in a psychiatric institution for the rest of your life. What is your decision?"

Without a moment's hesitation, I declared, "Count me in!"

"Fine," replied Dr. Smith. "Neil, perhaps the gentleman would like to see a sample of my work. Drop your pants. I think our prospect might be particularly interested in your alterations."

Neil dropped his pants and raised his shirt. I stared open-mouthed and in awe. His crotch was hairless, (I'd noticed electrolysis was one of the specialties listed on Dr. Smith's card). A gorgeous uncut cock was topped off by a pierced foreskin through which hung a stainless-steel ring about an inch in diameter and at least a quarter of an inch thick. Under that beautiful soft six-inch cock hung nothing. Neil's balls and ball sac had been removed as in my fantasy. Only a thin scar straight from the base of his cock between his legs attested to where there had once been the balance of his manly equipment.

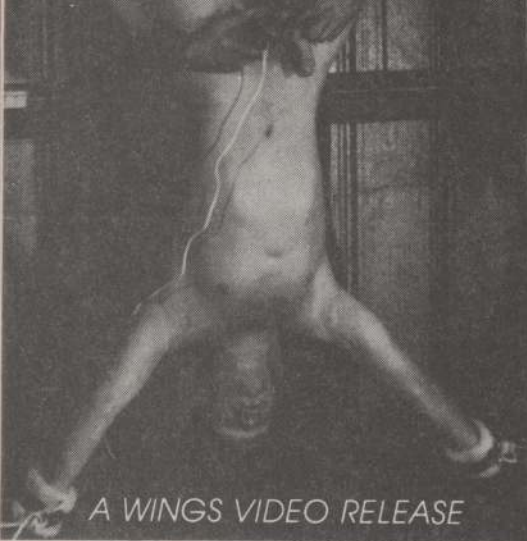

Dr. Smith's next statement snapped me back to reality. "Neil was my first recruit," he stated, "or rather, I was his first recruit. We met about five years ago when he came to work for me. It took him about a year and a half to talk me into fulfilling his fantasy and it turned out to be a real turn-on to both of us, but it took us until last year to even consider expanding the group. Now, both of you put your clothes back on. Neil and I have some steaks to grill at our house and we'd be pleased to have you join us. We can fill you in on more about our little group there. The others will be coming by later and you can meet them."

I wasted no time in accepting the invitation, my head swimming with what had just happened. I could hardly wait.

I followed Neil and "Doc," as I learned he preferred to be called in the group, out to their place in the country. It was a large farmhouse surrounded by several outbuildings. I learned from Doc that he had inherited the place along with the farmland that went with it from his family. The farmland, with the exception of the wooded area north of the house, and the land the buildings occupied had been rented out to nearby farmers. The rental income, along with a lucrative practice, enabled Doc and Neil to live in a more-than-comfortable style.

We had a couple of drinks while Doc fixed the steaks on the grill, followed by a delicious meal on the outdoor deck. The entire property was well screened from the road and neighboring farms, and I learned soon after we arrived that total nudity was de rigueur on "the farm." Doc and Neil went straight to their bedrooms upon entering the house in order to remove their "trappings of the modest society" after showing me where to hang my clothes in the spacious hall closet. I soon learned that Doc's genitals were essentially intact. He was circumcised, however, and the head of his dick was tastefully adorned with an ampallang, an apadravya, and a Prince Albert, all in surgical stainless steel.

It was pleasant and relaxing dining alfresco and au naturel. The evening was warm with just a hint of a breeze carrying the fresh scents of the country across the open deck. Try as I would, I couldn't keep my eyes off of Neil's crotch as he moved gracefully and comfortably around serving drinks and setting and clearing the table, his pendulous ringed dick swinging freely from a ball-less and hairless crotch. My own dick, which had softened somewhat on the ride out, grew hard every time I gazed on this, my own fantasy fulfilled.

With a scream, I erupted—like Mount Vesuvius. I came, and came, and came, pumping until my balls were dry—drained, and I floated suspended as if on a cloud.

It was quiet; the pain was gone—only the memory. The touch continued; I opened my eyes and blinked at the brightness. Eight faces surrounded me, smiling, touching, caressing. I smiled; I relaxed. Word were superfluous—unnecessary—inappropriate. The silence remained a communion with like minds as I had never experienced before.

Doc was the first to speak. "I think we're ready for our meeting now. I already have Bob and Phil's vote. They'll sit with you while the rest of us adjourn to the deck for our decision."

Many hands helped me to the couch, and I sat between Bob and Phil as the others moved out to the deck closing the doors behind them. We sat in silence, only touching—caressing, words still totally inadequate to express my feelings. My emotions raced—inexpressible. The moment had come; was my lifelong fantasy to be fulfilled; was I ready for it?

The doors opened. Doc entered, followed by the others. He approached me; he spoke. "It's unanimous, as it always must be, we want you—as one of us—are you ready?"

The moment had come; it was now; and I knew it; I was ready. "I'm ready," I said, "I also want to be one of you."

"Then the procedure, the official initiation ceremony, will be a week from Friday. Neil and I will meet with you between now and then to discuss the details."

I thought the time would never pass. It was the longest week and a half I had ever lived, broken only by a meeting with Doc and Neil midweek. At their suggestion, I asked for and was allowed a week's vacation after the procedure in which to completely recuperate. I went about my everyday business, but my mind constantly returned to what was to happen. I put things in order so as to enjoy the initiation without distraction, constantly afraid, like a child who fears he will die before Christmas, that for some reason it might not come off.

Friday came. I left work at three and hurried home. There I packed a small bag with essentials for the weekend and took a long and meticulous shower. I was packed, bathed, dressed and waiting at the door when Doc and Neil picked me up at five. The feeling in the pit of my stomach was partly due to the fact that I had skipped lunch on Doc's advice—I was to have nothing to eat until after my procedure—and partly due to the anticipation that I felt.

We arrived at the farm at six. As I stripped off my clothes and placed them along with my overnight bag in the hall closet,

Doc and Neil went upstairs to their bedroom to do likewise. I was just turning from putting the last article away in the closet as Neil descended the stairs, his proud ringed dick swaying from a ball-less hairless crotch. "That's the way you're soon to be too, buddy," I said to myself, "Your time has arrived."

Neil took me directly to the basement to show me around and make the necessary preparations. On first glance at the bottom of the basement stairs, it looked like any other basement. To the right was a laundry room and to the left was a furnace room complete with the usual accumulation of basement clutter. Then, Neil opened a door directly in front of us and flipped on the lights. My amazed eyes beheld a large, completely equipped operating room. A massive table dominated the center of the room with covered tables around it. Lights, cables and tubing snaked out of the ceiling, and cabinets of equipment stood against the walls. An adjoining room, visible through a glass partition held sterilizing equipment and other pieces which I wasn't able to identify.

"We're completely equipped," Neil said in answer to my unspoken question, "We can even administer general anesthesia, should in an emergency the need arise; however, we've never had to use that capability. Even Joe's total penectomy and Mark's partial penectomy were done under only minimal local anesthesia, but, as Doc already told you, we feel part of the turn-on is watching and feeling the procedure."

Neil placed a sterile drape over the table, put on a gown himself, and directed me to get on the table. He proceeded to scrub my groin from my navel to just above my knees and down between my legs with a brown disinfectant soap. Completing this first scrub, he lathered my crotch and shaved it clean of all hair. He then repeated the scrub paying particular attention to my cock and balls. I had watched the entire scrub and shave in a large mirror placed above my head in such a way as to give a clear view of my groin. I was just raising up while the sterile drape under my midsection was replaced when Doc and the rest of the members walked in. I waited in anxious anticipation as Doc and Neil, who was to be the "scrub nurse" completed a lengthy hand scrub and were helped into sterile gowns and gloves, and masks by Joe who had been selected to be the "circulating nurse."

As they were preparing themselves, Harry, who was to be my "anesthesiologist" took his place at my head with an inhaler of poppers and a water pipe loaded with marijuana. I had elected to have my procedure with only pot and poppers. A local anesthesia was available on the back table, and I had been assured that the minute I expressed the need, the procedure would be stopped while it was administered and then resumed again. I was determined, however, to carry through with my resolve and not ask for it. I wanted to feel every cut and tug.

I puffed away on the water pipe and was just getting that "floaty" feeling when everyone else was in readiness. My dick was pulled up and taped to my stomach out of the way, and leather restraints were fastened about my four extremities and around my waist to insure that I didn't move at some critical moment. Harry gave me a hit of poppers, and Neil handed Doc a scalpel from the equipment table that had been wheeled in place over my stomach. The time had come.

I watched as the scalpel was drawn vertically down the left side of my scrotum directly over the ball which rested there. A thin trickle of blood was quickly controlled by cauterization in Neil's skillful hands as the skin separated revealing the inner sac containing my left nut. The pain was there, but almost enjoyable and certainly erotic. Gloved fingers provided gentle pressure at the back and sides of my scrotum, and the entire inner sac popped out through the opening. The inner sac was painlessly slit (pain receptors are present only in exterior skin) and the bluish-grey testis popped out with the cream-colored epididymis attached to the back of it terminating in the cord connecting the ball to my body. The artery, vein and vas deferens were individually tied with absorbable suture, and with a quick slice of the scalpel my left ball was severed from my body and placed in a stainless-steel bowl on the back table. I had felt a tug in my lower abdomen as my ball was stretched from my body. Now I felt a release of that pressure as the cord retracted into my groin. The excess inner membrane was trimmed away, sutured shut and any stray bleeding controlled with cautery.

"It's half over baby," said Harry as he administered another toke of pot followed by a hit of poppers. "How are you doing?"

"Just great," I replied. I could feel my dick, rock hard and throbbing against my stomach.

The process was repeated on the other side. As the quick slice of the knife severed my right ball from my body, I heard Doc say through his surgical mask, "That's it, friend. You're now officially a eunuch, a gelding. All that's left is the cosmetic work."

Beginning at the top, Doc and Neil began trimming away the excess scrotum with surgical scissors and making one fine suture line downward from the base of my cock, trimming, suturing and cauterizing as they went. As they were putting in the last suture, the orgasm began and one of my last fertile ejaculations splattered against my chin.

A small dressing was placed over the suture line and I was gently lifted to a stretcher and carried upstairs to the living room where a modern hospital bed awaited me. Reclining, with my head slightly elevated, I became the center of attention for the initiation celebration and dinner which followed. I ate well of a light meal while everyone joined me, sitting around reliving my procedure, especially the part where I had reached orgasm at the end without even touching my cock. This was a new experience for them. It had never happened before.

Electrolysis followed, and my groin is now completely hairless. My fantasy has been fulfilled. Only my dick hangs from a completely smooth crotch. Only a fine suture line extending back and down from the base of my dick attests to the fact that I once had a sac containing the nuts so valued by straight men—men who have missed the joy of being completely free—ball-free—free to take their sexuality into their own hands. My fantasy has been fulfilled for the present, but what is to come next? I haven't decided yet. I think I want to keep my dick; it gives me so much pleasure, but there is much I can still have done to it to make it uniquely mine.

Three more members have joined the group since I became a member. John has already had his ball sac completely split so that he has a separate sac for each nut and is in the process of having his cock similarly split. When he's done with this stage, he'll have two cocks and two ball sacs. Who would want more?

Tom and Gary were our latest recruits. Tom, the Master, has been completely subincised and is in the process of having his ball sac split and his balls repositioned to the sides of his dick, hoping to avoid Harry's problem and still keep his balls. Gary, the slave, on the other hand has already lost his balls and scrotum as I have and next Friday will have all but about an inch of his dick removed. Tom does not want him to be completely sexless as Joe is, but wants him constantly reminded of his status as a slave.

That makes twelve of us. We're a tightly knit group and enjoy each other and our own personal modifications to the utmost. It still gives me great pleasure to go about my everyday business, knowing that between my legs lies a clean crotch with only my dick hanging out of it. I look at my straight friends and square gay friends and say to myself, "If they only knew—if they only knew what they are missing."

We're still looking for our thirteenth member. We're determined that our membership will be limited to thirteen men. That thirteenth member must be someone special. Someone who will fit in with the rest of us—someone who is willing to be what he wants to be. Someone who is ready to make the commitment.

Interested? Watch Drummer and DungeonMaster. Maybe you'll see our ad there. Don't miss it. All you have to lose is your nuts and maybe a little bit more. □

THE WORLD'S FIRST "NO HANDS" MALE MASTURBATOR FOR UNDER $40

STROKES UP AND DOWN YOUR PENIS ... ALL BY ITSELF!

Once you've introduced your penis — hard or soft — to the incredible new Oro-Simulator, your hands never touch your cock! The ingenious remote activator does all the work for you! All by itself, the Oro-Simulator slides wetly, slickly up and down, dances enticingly back and forth, even screws crazily, wildly, round and round! No hand, no mouth and ass hole could ever mold themselves as intimately, or cling so completely to your cock! Nothing but the specially designed Oro-Simulator could wrap itself around your penis like your very own second skin — stimulating simultaneously every single sensitive nerve ending anywhere and everywhere on your cock! The sensation is absolutely unbelievable — like the best blow job and the wildest fuck you've ever had or ever imagined, both recreated all over again, all at once and at the same time! The "no-hands" Oro-Simulator goes to work immediately and when the time comes to climax you'll have the most soul shattering, nerve rending, hotly spasming explosion of unbridled sexual ecstasy you've had in years!

SOFT OR HARD — KEEPS ON STROKING IN ANY POSITION! EVEN WHILE YOU CHANGE POSITION!

Once you've put your Oro-Simulator on your penis, it stays on and keeps working. Change from one position to another...the Oro-Simulator doesn't care. It continues to cling, hot and wet, gliding silkily up and down, stroking with ever maddening intensity back and forth until your vision blurs with total excitement and your balls are screaming to let go!

Unlike a mouth or ass hole the Oro-Simulator never lets go, never gets tired, never gives up, never stops moving unless you want it to! The pleasure is relentless, ever increasing, all consuming — at precisely the speed, motion and position that feels best for you!

AN INCREDIBLE BARGAIN!

We know of only one other masturbator that frees the hands from the penis and works by remote control like the Oro-Simulator. This other unit costs from $400 to a full $900 depending upon the model. The Oro-Simulator was originally figured to be very competitive at around $100. We are sure you will see Oro-Simulator offered elsewhere at $69.95. We are pleased we can now rush one to you for the all inclusive price of $39.95! So, for the same price or less than clumsy, old fashioned battery or electrically operated, hands-on masturbators, you can now own and enjoy the one and only Oro-Simulator.

- "No Hands" Action!
- No Batteries!
- Built-in Power Supply!
- Stays on Your Penis in Any Position!
- Fits on Hard or Soft Penis!
- Completely Portable!
- Cleans Up in a Minute!

USERS TELL US

"It gives me control over the speed and amount of movement but with my hands off my cock, it feels like there's a real man sucking down there."

"I like the great variety of movements. Because the speed and stroke length are constantly irregular, the sensations are like being sucked off or fucking."

ACCURATE MEASUREMENTS ARE IMPORTANT

Measure your penis at full erection. Wrap a piece of string around your erection about one inch from the head. Overlap the string so that you can mark both sides. Lay string on ruler and check the measurement. NOTE: If your measurement is on the border line ORDER THE LARGER SIZE.

THE MALE MEMBER

A quick study and amusing survey of the facts and fables surrounding the male sex organ in various cultures, centuries, and species. From its exact location (bizarre in some animals, not to say perverse) to its modus operandi (often arresting, as in the case of the male octopus, who slaps the face of his lady with each of his tentacles, then remorsefully detaches his sex organ and leaves it firmly implanted in his mate—a classic case of hit and run), The Male Member offers a host of surprises, showing that both nature and human culture can be truly loony when it comes to sex.

"A cigar is smoked not only with the mouth, but with the hands, the eyes, and the mind." CHROME ASS EGGS

Custom cast in solid bronze and then chrome electroplated and polished to a silver mirror finish that will not flake off and is virtually indestructible, these eggs are 2.3" long, 1.7" in diameter and weight about 1.2 lbs. A small hole penetrating lengthwise is just the right size for a leather thong. You can link two or more together like a "string of pearls" or put one in and leave its attached mate swinging outside.

The egg shape allows for easy insertion and removal which, by the way, is not a problem—gravity sees that they come out. Just don't lay them into the toilet bowl or you'll have shattered porcelain and a wet floor! Invent your own games with this unique and stimulating anal toy.

ANAL PLEASURE & HEALTH

In these days of doubt and fear it is always a pleasure to find a book that gives positive, sound, research-based information on anal sexuality while dispelling the myths. It is commonly believed that people who regularly enjoy sensual or erotic anal stimulation inevitably run a greater risk of developing medical problems. The belief is that one must choose—either anal pleasure or anal health. For many, the strength of this conviction has been intensified even further by the AIDS crisis.

However, in spite of AIDS, it is still possible to enjoy anal stimulation in a self-affirming and healthful way. To do so requires challenging the anal taboo, a deeply ingrained, unquestioned prohibition against becoming intimately familiar with the anal area and its erotic potential.

In Anal Pleasure & Health, the reader will discover that there is no inherent conflict between anal pleasure and anal health. On the contrary, a person who wishes to expand his/her capacity for enjoying anal stimulation is advised to take virtually the same steps as the person who desires optimum anal health.

Dr. Morin covers such forbidden topics as anal self-exploration, locating and exercising anal and pelvic muscles, stress and tension release through anal stimulation, proper douching and lubrication techniques, physiological aspects of "fisting," confronting the taboos concerning feces, homophobia and masculine/feminine roles, oral-anal stimulation (rimming) and even suggestions on finding a sympathetic physician.

Now in its second edition, Anal Pleasure & Health contains full research data, bibliography, and an entirely new section on common medical problems of the anus and rectum which includes a comprehensive discourse on AIDS and coping with the crisis. Dr. Morin's research has shown that both anal pleasure and health are not particularly difficult for most people to attain when they are given adequate information, a sequence of simple recommendations and a little encouragement—all of which can be found in Anal Pleasure & Health.

ELECTROTORTURE/ ELECTROPLEASURE IN YOUR POCKET

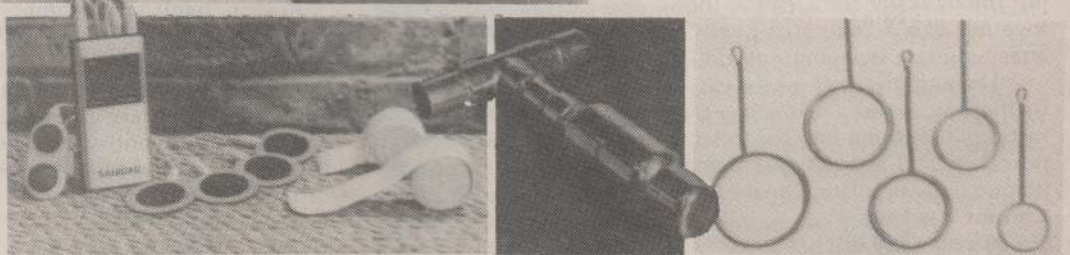

This unique instrument uses a 9-volt battery to generate stimulating electrical impulses. Manufactured in the Orient for passive muscle exercise, it has even more interesting applications on other parts of the anatomy. One of the two controls regulates the intensity of the pulse from a gentle tickle to a jolt that will make him sit up and take notice, the other regulates the frequency of the pulse—a feature lacking on similar but much more expensive and much less portable "antique" relaxicisors.

Use the WalkMaster with a friend or by yourself. Use it in the playroom, the bedroom, or wherever you wish. You can even get wired up, slip it in a pocket and go off for a walk, to a bar, to the opera, or wherever!

Specialized accessories that can make your WalkMaster, or any other Electrotorture/Electropleasure device more versatile include CopperMesh Wrap, the LaFarge Electrifiable Cockrings, and the Electrifiable Butt Plug. The CopperMesh Wrap is a 5' long strip of copper mesh stockinette. It is perfect for wrapping around a leg, the waist, or wherever you wish. The LaFarge Cockrings are a set of five steel rings ranging from 1" to 2" in internal diameter. Each ring has a permanently attached insulated lead ready to accept an alligator clip. Use one in the usual position and another just behind the cockhead—or use your imagination. The Butt Plug is assembled from copper fittings, then chrome plated. A small loop at the base allows for the attachment of an alligator clamp. With the Butt Plug as one electrode and a LaFarge Cockring as the other, you get an electrical prostate massage! Talk about Electropleasure!!!

On a remote island in a paramilitary stockade well equipped with torture devices, information is extorted from helpless victims by a fiendish doctor, played by Fledermaus. Lots of stimulation and no simulation.

"... a look at serious S&M as performed by some of its most serious practitioners..."

—Aron Travis, Studflix

"... it is the best S/M video or tape... It is hot!"

—Victor Terry, DungeonMaster

"Not for the squeamish."

—JimEd Thompson, Drummer

"This is one S/M video that will probably meet and exceed your wildest fantasies."

—Pat Califia, Friction

All performers are adults who practice consensual erotic S/M in real life. There is real torture, only the coercion is simulated.
