RECOGNIZING THE FATE OF MAN AND NATIONS

A.H.Fry

In viewing History from a higher level or perspective, it is easy to see how wonderfully efficient the laws of our creator and his universe are. Virtually all nations & governments are mere pawns in the remarkable schooling programs taking place for we human souls. The game plan is simple and centers around our souls gaining experience in a wide variety of situations. We are constantly confronted by choices between ethical and non-ethical conduct. After hundreds of lives experiencing the pain of an ethical acts visited against us, we inwardly know 'right' from 'wrong'. As we have more responsibility in ever increasingly complex situations, our souls progress or have regressive re run periods. Nations and civilizations are pulled along by the same laws and depend on their citizens to prosper or fall. If the majority are unethical or lazy in facing their responsibility, their cultures are destroyed and new ones are brought into being. If millions of souls in the nether world regions need more advanced experiences then more progressive environments & cultures are formed. Often only a handful of advanced souls pave the way for the rest. An example of this process in an older culture would be India. The British were used in bringing India up to date technologically. Although greed was the motive, the dominating British were used in a manner not to different from the way they used India. The almost forgotten spiritual leader Vivekananda almost single handedly brought national pride & unity to the people of India at the close of British rule. Ramakrishna, Aurobindo, Basant, Gandhi & others simply carried on this new pattern of thought. (the censored historical accounts hardly mention Vivekananda..typically)

A modern culture that endured some length of time in the fashion of Rome is the United States Of America. Like Rome, the U.S. started as a republic with a free choice constitutional foundation. As the citizens typically shirked their responsibilities and let their freedoms erode away, natural laws acted to allow self destruction and a hard lesson. Other nations were allowed to undermine the U.S. material advantages and reduce our ease. The U.S. had stagnated and the people wanted something for nothing from their corrupt leaders. Like the Roman welfare state, the U.S. counterpart was used for a very usefull lesson. Whenever an oppressive system emerges with domination as a foundation, it is doomed to a short life. Todays Communism will only endure long enough to serve as a classroom for souls that need to learn to turn against repression.

Like so many other spiritual teachers here on a 'mission', A.B.Glaser had a specific area of awareness & ability. As a sort of 'lawyer' from realms of higher authority and intelligence, he possessed a much wider range of awareness than most 'volunteers' limited to a specific mission. He was able to explain the deepest laws of nature and the physical world before his departure. In regard to the future of humanity, he explained that the present cycle of learning was coming to a close and the final days or 'time of choice' was here. Those who had benefited from their thousands of years of soul schooling could use their self control and ethics to confront immortality and the promises of the many 'Bibles' of the world. Those who still shirked their responsibility and ethics would loose their bodies as well as some of their higher level mind components. The vast majority would simply not make enough effort and flunk the course'.

A.B.Glaser's writings are available through; Incredible Inquiry Catalog ($1) 9237 Craver Morongo Valley, CA. 92256 USA

While there is great concern by many persons over the continued erosion of freedoms across the globe by the 'elite' or inner group of banking and power dynasties, this is only a necessary evil for the benefit of humanity. If humanity was not in need of their dominating influence, they would not exist. Ultimately, their plans for a one world system under a benevolent but ruthless rule, will fall as this century closes. Mother nature is very efficient at cleaning up messes and poisons. They require technology and military strength. A combination of retribution or internal destruction and chaotic weather will lay waste their best layed plans. Even today, the weather patterns are changing so drastically that simple food survival will be a problem in the mid 90's. With choice laws in tact throughout the univers, our planet and it's intelligent life will reap just what we sew and choose. As we learn to recognize the cause and effect factors in spiritual law, we can easily prophesy our fate and that of our home Earth. Further data on the upcoming cataclysms are available in various reports from; Pole Shift Newsletter, 879 Park, Perris, CA, 92370 USA

For most of us, it's very difficult to break away from dependence on authority figures. The State starts on us as soon as we get in school and after years of being taught to wait in lines and follow the teachers, it's only a few more steps to following a hundred other authority figures. Before the times of State schooling of course, there was the church or priests. They could instill fear in us to ensure we followed the will of the ruling 'elite'. Free men have never been very good about paying heavy taxes, fighting stupid wars, or working for peanuts. One of the 1st orders of most States then, has been to use as many clever ruses as possible to get obedience and loyalty from subjects. Early Americans were having none of this, as history shows. They set up a Choice based constitution they hoped would be tamper proof and protect the coming generations of dependent and weaker types. This document and system worked remarkably well for almost 200 years, but eventually the pressures were just too great. The clever elite got citizens tricked into wanting something for nothing...and excepting socialistic programs. With eventual control of the nations money, they slowly brought about greater control and an erosion of freedoms and self determination. Many good expose books pointed out what was happening, but the average American was so caught up in materialism & working like a slave, -few had the time, energy, or inclination to get involved. Few persons realized just how far we have slid into the pit of self destruction. The great historian Rüssö gave us a view of what happened to civilizations who followed our steps before. In his "Freedom & Domination" we can see that virtually every civilization before us fell when their freedoms eroded to a point matching ours. Most started with some semblance of a just, foundation, that allowed the citizens a reasonable degree of CHOICE. As the citizens became less self motivated and more dependent on the usual opportunistic leaders, the gradually had their freedoms taken. As soon as the usual socialistic trends showed up, it was only a matter of time before the civilization self destructed. Rome was the classic example. Most of the farmers simply gave up and came to the city to live on the dole..like the rest. They were the last of the actual 'producers' and they found themselves completely exploited & used by the non producers and corrupt polititians. As they gave up, the empire depended on outside food sources and goods. The local farmland went back to breeding mosquitos & the farmers joined the ranks at the colosseums. As Rome got weaker from great outbreaks of Malaria..brought on by the new influx of mosquitos, and by the general erosion of self determination, She collapsed quickly. Today, of course, we have an almost exact replay. Sports and the 'boob tube' have replaced the colosseums, but the 'want something for nothing' attitude of the populace has grown worse quickly...and time is running short. The 'elite' world rulers behind the scenes have viewed our nation as the last barrier to a one world system of slaves. Our wealth and middle class have always given us a little too much strength and now it's time get us down to the level of the rest of the nations. By creating huge spending programs and running us in debt, it's only a matter of time before inflation erodes away our power and wealth. Producers are discouraged and programs to provide for the weak and lazy are encouraged. The scenario is all too familiar to any historian. The only real difference today is that technology is making our death a lot more difficult than planned. Even with fewer freedoms we have better life styles due to the advanced technology. If we can keep from destroying ourselves with all the built up hardware of the military-industrial complex, we may just have a crack at the promised 'paradise'. Already there are so many new technological breakthroughs flooding in that it is difficult for the elite to remain in control of it all. The 'energy czars' have kept oil as the primary money maker but have allowed other programs like Nuclear energy, -on the scene because they could control profits...

As bleak as the picture looks, there is a good chance that the ruling elite will lose their chance at the enslavement of man. We humans are simply too well educated today. Russians and 3rd worlders are awakening to the many alternatives & rejecting domination systems. Millions will no doubt die in the struggles and chaos of the next few years, yet in the long run, ethics and choice systems will win out.

Earth has actually been a training ground for the Soul according to many great spiritual leaders. The oldest writings we have on the planet often allude to this theme and suggest there will be a final end time and choosing. Hermese Transmigist-us was one of the 1st great spiritual writers. Much of Enoch came from one of his works-and much of the New Testament came from the book of Enoch. Hermese mentions that our forebearers got entangled in matter. Nature clothed our spirit ancestors in matter and they soon forgot their non material origins. It is assumed by many that he referred to the biblical Satan & his followers. If this is true then it explains many of the problems of humanity. Our more primitive ancestors got invaded by unethical 'gods' and through interbreeding fell from an 'edenic' state. For many thousands of years now, we humans have been struggling to understand and deal with an 'alien' system...and to return to the Creators flow line if we choose. The spiritual teacher taught that the 'Golden Rule' caliber of ethics was necessary to find our lost spiritual nature. It seems that the Creators 'Choice' system was what the original 'exiles' had rejected. Humanity has now had ample time to individually choose their sides and make their last days stand. Protection is only afforded those with knowledge. The multitudes still follow the ways of inaction and domination. They will continue to be led down the garden path as pawns. Since the majority of rulers are of what we could term 'the domination', persons desiring freedom and choice are usually fair game and targets. There is hope even in this exposure however, At a certain level, an 'aware' and spiritual person can put up awesome defenses. Christ & his fellow avatars were virtually invincible. Christ, of course, told Peter of his coming martyrdom. He could have escaped had he wished to. He easily escaped an angry mob outside Jerusalem earlier. He simply disappeared on them. A spiritual teacher named A.B.Glaser convinced me that such powers exist when he overcame numerous attacks while a friend of mine. Men died all around him and he remained untouched. In a series of interviews he gave out his simple secrets. All we had to do was follow the advice of men like Christ and 'Know ourselves'. Through balancing the mind components we could tap what Marshall Arts students call the 'Chi' energies. Since such energies would not function for persons in domination patterns, only 'ethical' beings could tap such 'superpowers'. It was all so very simple and easy, yet so very few ever wanted to take the responsibility. Throughout history humanity has always tried to escape responsibility. They wanted teachers and priests to tell them they were going to get a wonderful reward for their obedience. They wanted to sue, and use, and manipulate, and get things for nothing. They even wanted some 'spirit to come in through some 'channel and give them spiritual platitudes. It was like a circus in the 80's. Millions gave their tithes and support to glibb evangelists and slick spiritual con artists. Millions expressed their allegiance to Jesus the Christ and completely ignored the mans teachings. In his major work, 'The Lords Prayer' he mentioned that we were to build the paradise right here on Earth. Yet, millions still blindly follow doctrines of a 'heaven' in some great beyond. Hardly a logical doctrine when you think about it. What sane god would want obedient followers who were only ethical because of some 'reward and fear (hell) motivation. He could have created slaves. Being a Creator insisting on CHOICE, he simply allows us to experience what both earthly systems are like...and then choose.

No, this planet is not going to get blown out of the Galaxy through the stupidity of domination oriented technology. Your Creator is not about ready to let anything like that happen. Many times little itchy fingers have pushed nuclear detination devices which did not respond. Occasional lessons are allowed, but in the long run we humans will get our final days of shoice regardless of our stupidity & irresponsibility. A whole book could cover the many examples of 'intervention' and the workings of 'choice' laws. What we should all remember is, that the creator is coming in on the affection wave length. Even if we want no part of understanding ourselves or the situation on our planet, we can still enjoy ourselves here. All the truly great teachers knew that affection was the great door opener. For persons who are interested in whats behind the door I welcome inquiries. Alson Fry, 9237 Craver, Morrongo Valley, CA. 92370.

With all the technological progress of our species, things on Earth have progressed very little in the areas that count most. Instead of working for single tyrants and kings, we give even more tribute to the governments that protect us against ourselves. Without such dictatorial & repressive overseers our species would be living still as barbaric savages, caring less about the next person. True, there are probably 20 % of any given society that retains a semblance of ethics, yet this has usually not been sufficient to keep ethical new republics in tact for very long. Today, our own republic has slowly converted in to a democracy where the majority have allowed their freedoms to be eroded away for the apparent free handouts from the government. People have wanted others to take their responsibilities over for as long as there has been history. The results have come out the same. The eventual erosion and destruction of the society is as automatic as the rising and setting of the sun. The history books never tell of such automatic laws of course. No history is ever factual. History books are written for tyrants and the governments in power at the moment. Writers who present the truth have always been a danger to the state and stopped. In olden times they may have been murdered or imprisoned, today, the controlling elite simply control the publishing houses and media. To find the truth of what we have done and where we are going, we must ignore experts and books. Learning truth is as simple as observing the natural laws of our creator and his universe. The foundation laws are simple. Species of intelligence are under a mandate of CHOICE. If we break the laws of CHOICE and start domination against others, we get automatic feedback which the ancients called 'Karma'. Many of the great spiritual teachers taught such laws under concepts like 'the golden rule'. Virtually all great civilizations who lasted any length of time started out under constitutions and foundations that gave choice to citizens. To learn what transpired in the past and what will happen in the future you only need to understand the law and observe. If you see a person knowingly cheat another person, you can know that the person will lose such as they have gained in the near future. The world is full of takers and dominators who can never enjoy the wealth they have gained through domination. The principles are the same for a country. A nation like Isreal who takes over an area by force and continues oppression will never be able to keep her gains over the long run. No matter how clever the country or person, the holdings will be taken at the final tally. Rome started with a reasonably free choice system and eventually fell apart as socialism spread and the subjects wanted more and more benefits without earning them. You can gage the life of any new country simply by looking at the willingness of the people to take responsibility for their own lives and grant freedom to others. If you wish to know whether the United States will prosper or perish, look at our past actions. We will be in for some very hard lessons but our lack of hard core domination tactics against other nations will assure a continuation.... The same observations will show that communism is doomed over the long run. To learn to see what kind of governments and systems will be coming there is another foundation principle that we can use. We humans are not here just to slave for tyrants or kill time. Our souls enter bodies in cultures that give us the greatest lessons to learn to deal with. Earth is a living breathing life form that once elected to serve as an environment for our particular species and group. What we have here are millions of beings with an animal based soul and a lesser number with completely alien soul origins. In a few of the most ancient records on Earth there are references to this new 'ademic' stock that became ensnared in matter and forgot that they were beings and intelligences with a home and base far removed from Earth. In legends we get a glimpse of what some of the early arrivals could do. There are many manuscripts that rival the 10001 Nights collection in the exploits of our 'gifted' ancestors. Whether you find the Earth soul based cultures in a biblical 'land of nod'... or in the 3rd world peoples of today, the story or picture you can weave together will be similar. The Children of mother Earth want to go back to their simple way of life where they can be guided by instinct... like the rest of the animal species of Earth. They will use technology and work for rulers but they will not make the technology or feel comfortable dominating others and using their labor to enrich themselves... By looking at a nation and their technology & goals, you can tell then just what types of souls inhabit the nation. To understand the origin of the great confusion and chaos on Earth, it is helpful to take all of these factors of background, soul origin and system allegiance (as to Free Choice or Domination) and start categorizing the people involved. You may have a situation where persons have animal based motivation or where they have completely conflicting intelligences of an 'alien' origin. ## HINDRENCES TO SELF FULFILLMENT

AF#4

From the time we 1st learn the language, we are gently programmed into doing things we don't enjoy. By the time we grow up we have lost 90% of our pleasures and don't even realize it. Affection, is the number one emotion on Earth and very few humans can even get enough affection in their lives to gain any joy or pleasure. Since most of our lives are involved in our work, the idea that most of us don't enjoy our work either is pitifull. Several surveys in recent years have shown that the majority of U S workers are not enjoying their work. With the hospitals constantly filled and the stress elleviating chemicals flowing like a river you would think we would know better. After all, great spiritual teachers like the Buddha have advocated 'right livelyhood' & using affection for thousands of years now. Common sense should tell us our creator never intended that we be slaves to some domination patterns we never set up. Our creator gave each of us a very different set of likes and abilities. It was so perfectly designed that just the right number of Bakers and candlestick makers would be using their favored abilities if they worked at what they enjoyed. Think about it. If we all had a little piece of what we were entitled to under the creators CHOICE system, we could all share enough food, land and natural housing to carry on at what we liked to do. In post war Germany after WW11, a guaranteed life support stipend was given to the Germans for a year or so. Many figured that they would not want to work under such circumstances but they were wrong. After a few weeks of adjustment all humans enjoy doing usefull creative things. Today, virtually all wars and turmoil could stop if the governments would set up a guaranteed life support system. Any thing other than the bare essentials could be obtained through another type of money or credits. Under a system like this 99% of the worlds poeple would be working at something. In a matter of a few years it would be at something that satisfied them. At the moment of course, the brilliant leaders back of the suppressive 'elite' or military industrial complex would never think of giving up their personal monetary advantages in the present domination oriented systems. To get what the creator freely gave us in the way of food and natural bounty, we will have to put pressure on the governments and this of course is unlikely after years of mental training. Year after year, the majority will simply fall more deeply into the prescribed patterns and wipe out more and more of the emotions they are left with. Fortunately for persons who are not completely brainwashed, there is a way out of complete servitude and dependence on the usual systems. Once a person realizes that enjoyment and balance of their drives comes 1st, they can get involved in what they enjoy doing and watch the automatic rewards come in. The rewards may not always be money but they will often be worth as much in value as money ..even if the money may be a bit short. Look around you and see the truth. Most persons who really get involved in what they enjoy and are good at, do pretty well materially. It's almost as if there is a hidden law involved.

Balance is the big secret ingredient in getting fullfillment and attaining goals. You have a constant stream of contradictory thoughts streaming into you brain constantly. You shoul learn to temper these drives. You may have a compulsion to get out and work all the time to make money. This is a fools game however, as you should realize. If you keep driving to the point that your animal body gets sick and wipes out your health the money you saved will do you no good. What you should strive for is a little time off and creativity along with the work drive. Sure, your going to get some negative feedback from your friends and mate. Yet, if such feedback gets out of hand you may be better off with new friends and a new mate. After all, do you want to spend the rest of your life trying to satisfy others. Must you remain a serf and slave to a mate just through fear of not finding a better model? Use a little creativity and rest assured you will do fine. Get out a paper and make a list of what you want and then mentally put in an order every now and then. If your goal is to free yourself from domination, there is no power in this universe that can halt your progress...other than your own weakness. If you like being a slave to others fine. Remain in fear and servitude. You will be right at home with the rest of the sheep and slaves. Lack of a good education in being a paper pusher for the masters may worry you but it shouldn't You can get more out of a book in a day than what you can get in most schools in weeks. Look around. What good did an education in the usual mill do for the really creative and successfull persons you know?

If there was ever a place to try the mettle & ethics of a species of intelligent life, it is Earth. Humans tend to ignore the evidence of our only being pawns in a giant cosmic game, yet the signs and records are all around us. Most of the world's lasting spiritual writings have pointed to a dual set of power structures behind our worldly systems. The Bibles of the world are filled with doctrines in opposition to each other. The 'eye for an eye' domination teachings are invariably balanced with ethical doctrines based on 'granting choice' principles. All persons who read bibles or watch the latest Star Trek movies are invariably presented with such choices and mentally embrace the principles they have chosen. In the case of great teachers or avatars like Jesus the Christ, the message is simple. Follow an ethical 'golden rule' conduct... or fall into unhappiness & futility with domination actions. Enoch and certain early Hermetic works go into more detail on the origins of 'good' and 'evil'. According to tradition, our ancestors found themselves trapped in matter and had to learn of their non-material natures through life after life of experience. Eventually, the recognition of truth could allow a return to immortality & pleasure. Satan and thousands of his followers seemingly got exiled to Earth for abridging free choice laws. Once they rejected choice and became enmeshed in matter, they no longer had a memory of their former status. It was expected that only thousands of years of 1st hand experience could show them the futility of the dominion systems arising out of their curiosity & ignorance. History shows us that dominion systems never endure over the long run. Our own nation is currently following the same path as Rome as we begin our downward spiral now that our constitutional freedoms have eroded. For ten thousand years of recorded history the records show the same cycles. People don't usually want the responsibility of thinking for themselves and keeping clean leaders. Politicians promise something for nothing and manage to take a little freedom for each and every one they give. There have always been the 'elite' and masterful manipulators that could feed on human weaknesses. It wasn't really the manipulative leaders' fault from a higher perspective. They were only pawns in the cosmic classroom. Great teachers usually pointed this out and advocated self choice and responsibility to overcome the corruption. Some still point out that the people are the government and this is true in a deeper sense than intended. Our forefathers were aware of this and tried their best to set up a foundation that would be hard for the domination patterns to easily break.

The origin of dominion systems is a simple tale that is recorded in many ancient texts. The more valid records state that an alien intelligence 1st descended into matter and could not get back out again. Identities without bodies found various life forms on Earth that were very adaptable and took on these bodies. Animal Man of the period lived in a simple state of perfection much like animals today. They work on act and react 'instinct'. Only after Man was contaminated with an outside intelligence did he get caught up in servitude. Our species is still sweating for manipulative leaders outside the Edenic garden. Unlike animals around us, we don't use our confused 'instinct'. We grapple with several choices and have options for every encounter and danger. Almost invariably we have the option of using ethics and consideration or using selfish gain motivations. Great teachers continually pointed out that we would decide our future by our choice. By retaining ethics and granting choice to others we would more easily reach a state of great mental power and self control. It is higher level mental power that is a hidden key to toppling the engrained power structures of the present world. The favored unit value system is money and persons with enough mental ability don't need money. They can mentally manifest what they need. We aren't relying on some shaky accounts of Jesus the Christ as an example of this either. Dozens of spoonbending kids have surfaced every time Uri Geller and similar examples get on TV. One illiterate spice merchant who filled government granaries and performed 'miracles' before experts and thousands of mid-Easterners was only one example what human concentration could do under control. We to the money system if enough people get their spiritual act together. Should this happen it would only be a re-run of the past however. Quite a few ancient manuscripts indicated that a number of ancient 'Lords' and 'gods' had the power of mind over matter. Akishic record readers tell us that their powers were taken from them after they continued to misuse these powers over a couple of thousand years.

AF#4

Sooner or later the inviolate laws of choice finally right a situation of imperfect- or domination. The exiled 'gods' were only given so much time to adjust to their new situation and learn the error of their new dominion patterns. Once their powers got cut off, they were really shaken up. They quickly put together languages and educational systems for their despised slaves. Since they were caught in a birth and death cycle they hoped to upgrade inferior humanity enough to once again someday handle the higher wattage necessary for great mind power. The ruling leaders who still carry over the inner savvy of their former godhood status are still on the same track. They are forcing humanity into very restrictive patterns that force a lot of brain work. They know that knowledge and technology are multiplying at an astounding rate and that in the next few years they should once again have their great empires and abilities back. It is almost paradoxical that the two diametrically opposite systems on Earth both have much the same goals. This is why there is so much confusion for spiritually oriented persons. They hear some group spouting off about making a paradise here and get sucked into years of wasting their time for some clever domination oriented leader. Higher level Mind over matter abilities and a paradise on Earth are goals of both the FREE (Choice System of the creator) and the domination system of the hierarchys now in control of Earth. The subtle differences are hard to catch but a look at works like "Urantia" will spell it out in more detail. Domination systems always have leaders and rulers. It is assumed that underlings will never have the smarts for self control. In a sense this is true of course. Most of humanity will never shoulder such responsibility. The great spiritual teachers spoke of the solution to this problem in a final 'end time'. In as much as most persons have had souls who have been given every opportunity to better themselves and learn what the game is all about, there was a time limit involved.

From indications the ending cycle is not to many years off. Simple math will show that the present number of souls is roughly equivalent to the total number of all the beings who previously lived. Since the 20's enlightened scientists have also been aware that a pole shift was coming up at the turn of the century. As weather cycles begin to get chaotic and change completely, any person willing to do a little research can see that nature is about ready to clean up the planet and do away with most of humanity. Such cycles have a rejuvenation effect and get minerals back to plantlife. But then that is a longer tale and easy to verify and study elsewhere. What we should keep in mind is that we carry several "Mind" components and will always have negative domination oriented thoughts getting fed to our brains. It is how we act on such thoughts that determines our future. If we can remain ethical and in choice patterns, we can start getting inner guidance toward greater mental powers. Ethical conduct keeps us from getting caught in Karma..or laws which automatically restrict dominators. With at least 3 of our minds at work in harmony, we can get triple the amount of wattage to our brain. At around 20 watts we can move matter mentally. EKG machines hooked up to miracle working 'gurus' show these patterns at work for skeptics. Make no mistake though, handling your minds and matter is not easy after a lifetime of dominion training. You will listen to this type of information and have one of your minds put in a dozen reasons why this is all nonsense and lacks logic. Invariably, you will get that 1st little split 2nd recognition of truth from your soul awareness....just before your logic interferes. After all these thousands of years you should be making valid choices based on inner soul awareness. Perhaps this little scenario will guide you into a little stimulation. A crash course for the 'latter days'. In any event for thousands of years I struggled with dead end domination systems set up by my domination oriented exiled leaders. I finally made a commitment that is often a bit hard to bear in a world run by domination factions. I suspect that fewer than 15% of humanity will ever get their act together well enough to gain immortality and use of mind over matter under free law control. Now that you have a glimpse of what the game is all about, perhaps I can offer some further suggestions in your choices and defenses. A.Fry 9237 Craver, Morongo Valley, CA 92256 USA
