

---

THE PHILOSOPHICAL DOUBLE CROSS

by Eugenia Macer-Story

Part 4

---

Text, photos & photostats copyright 1998 Eugenia Macer-Story, all rights reserved

AGENCIES OF AN INVISIBLE EMPIRE

For over a year, beginning in late 1996, your present correspondent had suspected that the interest group so obviously interfering with her e mail transmission and noisily providing telephone interference and possibly surveillance was not directly "governmental" or "intelligence agency" based.

In late January a symbol "phi" or "null" strikeout of a circle as in "no whatever" signs had been placed in blue paint on a central column of the new Magick Mirror Space under construction.

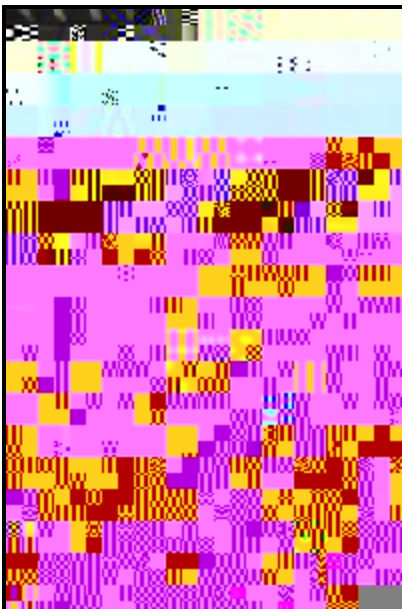

fig.3 "Null/Phi" graffiti on column

This was particularly noted as a few hours before going over to observe construction a phone call from Internet personality "Blue Resonant Human" or 'Brother Blue' had been received at the old Magick Mirror office location. Speculation of course occurred as to whether some phone and/or computer voyeur had decided to play Blue graffiti games. But as it turned out, the shape rather than the exact color of this spray painted sigil may have been the intended "message".

On February 6, 1998 a version of this same symbol using a circle elongated into a keyhole shape with a vertical strike through the circle and rendered in white lines on a black background was used in the Millennium psychic crime detection series on FOX tv as the symbol of the "Avatar" killer, a fictional villain obviously inspired by the still unmasked "Zodiac" killer who was active in the 1970's in California and was never brought to justice.

It is quite possible that the individual who placed the "phi" null symbol on a central column in the Magick Mirror Space had prior knowledge of the following basic agenda: a) The quasi-occult sigil which would be used on stage properties of an as yet unbroadcast Millennium psi detective episode and b) the email correspondence between your present correspondent E. Macer-Story and several other writers who are also interested in unsolved murders which may relate to a "black magick" cult. Particularly, the blue color of the null symbol in conjunction with a communication from Internet "Brother Blue" logged in from another area of the country just hours beforehand is of interest. BRH himself could not have painted the symbol.

One of the unsatisfactorily solved "black magick" murders I had recently been discussing by email with several writers including Adam GoRightly and Christopher Roth is the "Son of Sam" serial killings which occurred in New York City in the late 1970's. The individual who was arrested for those murders and judged insane alternately claims he was a the pawn of an evil occult mastermind and that a demon in the form of a black dog prompted his actions. Maybe the truth of the matter contains a bit of both scenarios...

One of the strange aspects of the Son of Sam slayings is that these are either "lovers lane" killings of couples or the seemingly random shooting of single women. No linking rationale except perhaps the black occult and/or madness has ever been conclusively demonstrated.

One of the books supposedly "channeled" by Commander Ceres Hatonn through the spirit medium "Dharma" is also attributed to the inspiration of "Sananda & Judas Iscarioth". According to the Commander, Jesus Christ has become "Sananda" after living to be ninety years of age following his escape to Pakistan and India where he raised a family and was buried in Srinager. On the cover of this volume it is stated that:" The information will follow the scrolls of record-making by mine beloved friend, Judas Iscarioth who was always faithful and true." Right away, of course, we are in strange territory with this material since it was Judas according the New Testament who betrayed Jesus the Christ.

Among many quasi-scriptural twists and turns included in the Immanuel channelings is a section on co-habitation and marriage which is particularly idiosyncratic. Male homosexuality and adultery are prohibited on pain of sterilization. But female homosexuality is permitted. "Lust" is also attacked in this text in an extreme and disturbing way. Under the heading "Divorce" it is stated: "He who begets a child and is not married to the woman is unworthy of life and its laws and should be punished so that he will lose his life..."

Obviously, this quasi-scriptural rationale is provocative of speculation on "lover's lane" murders and the murders of other, single persons who might be seen as sexual "Libertines". As described in the book THE ULTIMATE EVIL by Maury Terry, one of these "libertines", Roy Radin of Long Island, N.Y., was found in a desert in California in 1983, dead with a Bible containing significantly marked passages of scripture lying nearby in the bushes. But "Ultimate Evil" author Maury Terry does not make the connection between the Bible which he located at the murder site and possible insane but heavily-funded "Philosophical Cross" activity by persons following the directives of "Judas the Christ". It is your present correspondent who has made this connection after a study of actual talismans and occult literature.

The "Commander Hatonn" Immanuel channelings were published in 1995 and make mention of the travel by Jesus within a "metallic light" and the existence of Commanders Asket and Semjase of the Pleiadian Space Fleet. These Commanders are said to be female colleagues of the bisexual Commander Ceres-Hatonn described earlier in this text. The Pleiadian Space Fleet and its contacts during the 1970's with Swiss farmer Billy Meier are actually brought into the Immanuel channelings somewhat abruptly at the end of the book. But the surly personality of Commander Hatonn, as demonstrated through "Dharma" during the lectures taped in 1997, is unlike the mild and inspiring personalities of Commanders Asket and Semjase as originally described by Meier. In a similar way, the idea of killing libertines is not actually like the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth, who defended the town harlot Mary Magdalene.

One clear sign of negative sorcery and/or attempted "mind control" is excessive concern with historical issues which have long ago been placed onto the back burner by the passage of time. As any student of contemporary occult practices is aware, we now behold neo-Nordic, neo-Hindu, neo-Aztec, neo-Zen, neo-Tibetan, neo-Lao tzu and neo-Native American narratives and exercises pouring off small presses and onto the Internet. The situation connected with the "Commander Hatonn" channelings is no exception to this trend. However in the case of the Immanuel channelings it is a bit more extreme since the spirit guide "Sananda" has chosen to write an inverse version of the Christian New Testament designed to bring the present day "chela" into alignment with a quasi-Hindu modality of religious instruction during which the "chela" obeys the commands of the "guru". This is fundamentally different from both Protestant and Catholic Christian practice. Make no mistake: your present author is not a Christian apologist. But in this situation it is necessary to bring forward the twist put on the standard belief by "Commander Hatonn". This twist from brotherly love into dogmatic prohibitions which advocate the execution of the sexual "sinner" also puts a strange spin on the Pleiades Star Fleet citation at the end of the book.

Possibly controversial contactee Billy Meier was once targeted in a drive by shooting at his home in Switzerland by persons with an equally dogmatic attitude about personal behavior within the "expanded consciousness" community. Here the reader is asked to remember the speech by Commander Hatonn cited at the beginning of this article during which he/she mentioned funds to be deposited in international bank accounts and later channeled a long section of talk in a very German-Dutch sounding language.

At the beginning of the book entitled AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL it is stated that: "The document to follow is translated from scrolls which were brought forth in thy year nineteen hundred plus sixty-three by a Catholic priest of Greek heritage. The writings were recorded mostly at my side. The scrolls were preserved as well as was possible at that time and hidden beneath flat stones within the tomb in which I was placed. The priest will remain without name in protection of any heirs remaining from his household lineage. These daring few are not of thy United States of America and families are even more in jeopardy in the part of the world in which they resided or now reside."

As the reader will recall, I was passed the "Commander Hatonn" literature and tapes during a trip to Oklahoma City in February 1998. It is interesting that my initial esp reaction to the blue sigil placed on the central column of the Magick Mirror Space under development in January, which occurred prior to receiving these tapes and books, was that this mark might represent the Greek capital letter "phi". Though I cannot read classical Greek, I once committed to memory the Greek alphabet as part of a sorority initiation in college. So, faced with an anomalous symbol, the analog part of my memory dredged up the "match" with a crudely-drawn capital "phi" and the "esp" part of my cognition hung onto the "Greek" possibility strongly enough to notify my correspondent Adam GoRightly that I might have found a blue, crudely rendered "phi" graffiti.

Of course, many of the "pagan" groups, nominally wiccan and/or Nordic, use Greek deities for power purposes within their inner circle of practitioners. So the use of a "phi" sigil as power graffiti can as easily indicate improvisational witchcraft as Greek Nationalism. No slight to Greek expatriates is intended here.

For persons associated with the "Commander Hatonn" channelings have made allusions to priests and nobility of other countries as well in an effort to integrate their strategies with "world history" by retroactively readjusting world history.

The sun god king of Egypt (Ahkmaton) and the prosperity/fertility goddess of ancient Rome (Ceres) are blended without ceremony into the hyphenated surname Ceres-Hatonn so that the "Commander Ceres-Hatonn" spirit guide may become bisexually divine. This cleverly inventive spirit entity then attaches the ancient god-kings of Egypt to the modern Arabic rulers of Egypt, Iran and Iraq as well as the Parliament of Canada and the Crown of England.

It is not clear whether any actual present day Arabic and/or British dignitaries were consulted by the followers of Commander Ceres-Hatonn.. According to statements made by the Commander in March of 1997, various legal documents asking for recognition have been unacknowledged by former U.S. President George Bush and current U.S. President Bill Clinton, individuals whom the Commander claims are "clones".

In context of such assertions, the statement by British author David Icke, a person who made a guest presentation to the Hatonn group in April of 1997, that there was no real American Revolutionary War and that the British Crown still rules the USA by covert means seems to be part of an equally fantastic scenario during which even suns and planets (the Commander Ceres-Hatonn has claimed through medium "Tuella" that the Earth will leave this solar system and wander through Intergalactic space) are instantly subject to the transformative power of creative visualization.

In the midst of Mr. Icke's historical ramble, which the spirit guide Commander Ceres-Hatonn had claimed at one point to have inspired, one indignant person stood up in the audience and asserted: "I am an American!" The answer by the British Mr. Ickes to this exasperated comment was: "You are an interdimensional entity. Why are you identifying with a belief system which has been around for little more than two hundred years?" Your present correspondent should comment that Mr. Icke evidently remembers the American Revolutionary War but has forgotten the British signing of the Magna Carta. Democracy has been in process of emerging for over one thousand solar years. Mr. Icke ought to get out his history books and do some serious reading.

Onwards to part 5

Email Eugenia Macer Story