"DODOS" GUIDED TOWARD DEATH AND SACRIFICE?

Some understanding of what might form a continuity to the various attempts to re-carpet history by Commander Ceres-Hatonn and his/her interdimensional associates emerges clearly if the reader will consider this basic question and response about national as versus interdimensional identity. The Commander Ceres-Hatonn contingent and those who follow the Commander are taking interdimensional aim at structures of government which are based on individual achievement and competition rather than solely hierarchical power as vested in Royal blood lineage and/or the pronouncements of a spirit entity with "divine" ambitions.

"Commander Ceres-Hatonn" seems actually to be a forceful personality with the ability to charm a group of followers. Your present correspondent has no way to prove or debunk the reality of these transmissions. She has not met with "Dharma" or "Tuella" face to face as they channel the Commander. This report is based solely on information contained in books and public lectures.

Thus, this present discussion of "Commander Ceres-Hatonn" is not a metaphysically skeptical presentation. If the Commander is a "real" spirit guide with a Roman/Egyptian identity, there is cause for concern. Many of the ancient Roman and Egyptian deities were warlike and demanded blood sacrifice. As previously cited in this article, certain of the written pronouncements of the "Commander" specifically threaten death and/or genital mutilation if the "Commander's" pronouncements on sexual conduct are not obeyed by the population. The polite hope that this might be simply "rhetoric channeled by a frustrated housewife" is seriously diminished by the presence on the platform with the "Commander" of tapes of lectures by Iraqi sympathizers and a person from the United Kingdom who claims that a Canadian water source at James Bay will be diverted into the American Midwest thus nefariously creating a major food production area in the United States which will dominate global produce markets.

This is a very strange scenario indeed. For the midwestern area of the U.S. is already a major food production location and does not need to drain Canada. The planting of ideas that it is "wrong" for farmers in the midwestern USA to be prosperous is clearly at best confused and at the very worst constitutes deliberate sedition.

At one point, Commander Hatonn, speaking through the spirit medium "Dharma", actually calls his/her audience "dodos". Yes. There is a class of people who are stupid enough to actually enjoy worshiping interdimensional entities who claim to be the sun god . Yes. The people who then obey these Solar personages without question are dodos.

Your present correspondent, in vital knowledge of the dodo dollars, pounds, francs and lira it usually takes to purchase a round trip ticket between Australia, the USA and Great Britain, would also be somewhat of a fan-tailed ostrich if she did not inquire:" Who is paying the ticket?"

New Age peripatetic philosopher David Icke, who was a guest lecturer at the "Commander Hatonn" meeting in 1997, also distributes a book with something ((it was hard to tell exactly what when listening to the audio tape: only giggles and gasps were heard from the audience)) raunchy and/or controversial on the cover which is covered by a removable sticker for distribution in conservative locations. Mr. Icke advises his audience to become "street wise". So let's get street wise.

The "Commander Ceres-Hatonn" followers have a pre-written script which is called The Trance Formation of America and they are being asked to expand their capacity for pre-written scenarios by taking on something entitled How the USA drained Canada of food and drinking water. Well, folks: the War of 1812 is over. Canada and the USA are separate countries and they have a rather complex divorce agreement which will not soon include the annexation of the Northern Canadian Provinces for the purpose of watering gardens in Chicago, Illinois, USA. This is not only impractical politically; it is geographically impossible unless the water is flown in by dirigible and/or flying saucer.

The reader's interest will have been attracted by the title about America formed by trance. This is a book by a woman who claims to have been forced into prostitution by a mind control project in the USA and to have witnessed Bill Clinton taking a line of cocaine with a rolled up fifty dollar bill. Certainly, there has been abuse of power by covertly employed intelligence operatives worldwide. All covertly funded operations by their very nature contain the temptation to covertly raise hell. But if the reader believes the Trance Formation line without question that reader will also be found buying out used car lots on bargain day and queuing up to get the mortgage prospectus on the Taj Mahal.

Instead of following this pre-scripted "paranoia" scenario, let's play Zoroastrian chess. In making a sensible interpretation of the possibility that persons with extreme confidence in their own sorcery abilities are playing "mind games", the reader is asked to consider two key aspects of situations previously discussed in this text.

First, and most essential, during the question sessions of the warlike "Commander Hatonn" channelings certain persons asking questions of the Commander and otherwise audibly participating in the occasion demonstrated advanced knowledge of such items as the functioning of the "chakra" system for communication along with the technical yoga names for specific aspects of chakra functioning.

Secondly, kindly recall the possibility that non-governmental "agencies of an invisible empire" versed in advanced electronic and/or computer surveillance may be technically involved in "mind games" being played with writers and researchers in the area of esp, UFOs and/or paratechnical research. In this context, recall also that "libertine" Roy Radin, found murdered beside a Bible in 1983, had extensive connections to the entertainment industry.

Whoever placed the blue "phi" or null symbol (along with other markings which will be discussed later in this presentation) on the central column of the Magick Mirror Space quite possibly was aware and operating in both of these key areas of mental endeavor.

It is important to certain "professional skeptics" that they demonstrate--by whatever dirty tricks are technically available--that electronics technicians are "smarter" than psychics and/or sorcerers. Sometimes, however, these high tech tricks involve a form of sorcery by which electronic and/or mechanical devices are transmogrified into talismans for channeling and projecting subtle energy.

This type of endeavor involves the characteristic mental/material flashiness of those sorcerers who successfully operate using the power cycle "Ahriman, Lord of Darkness" in the ancient Parsee or Zoroastrian philosophy. There is, of course, a way to design psychotronic talismans in the service of Ahura Mazda, the Lord of Light. But the aim of these illuminating mental/material machines is quite different and does not involve the use of this advanced knowledge to gain covert personal power over the unwary neophyte.
