NOTE:
Beginning at the bottom of the chart, we can assume that psychic information comes out of a kind of "second-reality universe." The information passes into and through an individual's psychic apparatus (the psychic nucleus, the ESP core, the preconscious processes), and emerges into conscious awareness as "raw" information. If the person is attentive and practiced in "grabbing" this subtle psychic information, it then can rise to full frontal consciousness in an accurate form. With the inexperienced person, the psychic information tends to get involved with various automatic thought processes which can misinterpret or misform the psychic information. Eight types of automatic processes are shown, but there are probably many more. Erroneous results are produced when the psychic information falls victim to these interfering processes.
